FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR

VOL. LVIII. NO. 13

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1924

PRICE SIX CENTS

The Men's Club connected with the Church of Good Tidings held their monthly meeting in the church parlors Monday evening. A supper was served at 6.30 by Mrs. John Leighton, Mrs. Ralph Wilder, Mrs. Gerald Procter, Mrs. Eva Brush and Mrs. Lindley Dean. The Men's Fellowship class of Pilgrim church were guests. Ed. L. Green of the Better Business Commission gave an interesting talk.

Arthur, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilder of Wessagusset road had a narrow escape from serious injury when he attempted to cross the street late Monday afternoon in Bicknell Square. In avoiding an automobile and a trolley car coming in one direction he failed to see the Ford coupe owned and operated by C. H. Belcher of Quincy, which was coming in an opposite direction. Mr. Belcher was unable to stop his car in time to prevent knocking the boy to the ground. Fortunately the injuries amounted only to scratches, bruises, a general shaking up and a badly frightened boy. This accident is probably the first of a series of many that will occur at this greatly congested square during the coming season. Early in the season as it is now at certain hours of the day it is almost impossible for a grown person to get across the street in safety.

Miss Evelyn Bailey of Manomet road has been confined to her home by illness during the week.

The annual May breakfast given by the ladies of the Universalist parish under direction of Mrs. Lottie Sampson was as usual a successful financial affair. Breakfast was served by a corps of ladies connected with the sewing circle from 6-8.30 and a large number of people were served an excellent menu.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Malcolm and family of Wiatamut road moved to their new home in Hingham on Thursday last week.

Mrs. John Lawrence of Bridge street entertained a party of friends Wednesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Lawrence. Mah jongh and whist were played and refreshments served.

George Adamson of Newton street has purchased the Wolfe house on Birchbrow avenue and will occupy it once.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the King Cove Boat club will hold an all day meeting at the clubhouse next Wednesday.

Thomas Allen and family of North street moved Thursday last week to their newly completed bungalow on Shaw street.

For the week of May 5-10, new shares are being offered by the South Weymouth Co-operative Bank.—Advertisement

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Holt of East Milton were guests on Thursday of North Weymouth friends.

It is time to think about your Gladioli—prices from 50c a dozen up, cheaper by the hundred. A. C. and A. T. Scott, Grant Street Gardens.—Advertisement

"Nothing but the truth" was presented to a large and appreciative audience at Pilgrim vestry Wednesday evening by the Monday club. The proceeds are to be divided between the Pilgrim church and Church of Good Tidings. An orchestra led by Percy Ames furnished music.

The fire department was called out Monday afternoon to extinguish a fire that got beyond control of workmen burning rubbish on the Edelstein dump on North street. Speedy work of the firemen saved the big barn belonging to Mr. Edelstein.

Odd Fellows Observe Their 105th Anniversary

Last evening at the Odd Fellows Opera House, there was a joint celebration of the 105th anniversary of Odd Fellowship by Crescent lodge, Steadfast Rebekah lodge and Wompatuck encampment attended by over 100 ladies and gentlemen.

At 6.30 there was a caterer's supper. The decorations were by Bro. Charles Spear.

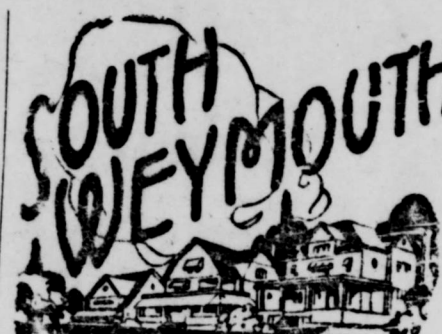

The entertainment in the evening was a very pleasing one, a return engagement of White's Revue Company, who gave a musical program of 15 numbers, greatly enjoyed.

On the reception committee were: Harry C. Belcher, Harold E. Kelso, Charles H. Phillips, Harry Horsley, Lotta W. Bearce, Littleton Fogg.

The committee of arrangements was a large one including five from each of the lodges as follows:

Crescent Lodge—Harry C. Belcher, N. G.; Harold E. Kelso, V. G.; George H. Draper, P. G.; Charles E. Merchant, P. G.; Charles E. Kilburn. Steadfast Rebekah—Lotta W. Bearce, N. G.; Littleton Fogg, V. G.; Mildred E. Dizer, P. N. G.; Mabel Maynard, Eleanor Kelso.

Wompatuck Encampment—Charles H. Phillips, C. P.; Russell T. Knox, P. C. P.; Harry Horsley, P. C. P.; Henry Horton, Andrew Auld

Herbert E. Stetson, a native of Sumner, Maine, late resident of Deer Lodge, Montana, died this week at the home of his brother, E. H. Stetson, 524 Main street, South Weymouth. Prayers were offered at the house Wednesday at 11 o'clock by Rev. F. A. Poole. The funeral service will be held at the home of a sister, Mrs. R. S. Bauer, in Champaign, Ill., and interment will be in Deer Lodge, Montana. Mr. Stetson was a prominent mercantile business man there, and a member and elder of the Presbyterian church. He leaves besides a wife, Harriet E., four daughters, Mrs. O. D. Spear, Mrs. R. S. Bauer, Mrs. J. V. Bennett and Miss Gladys Stetson and one son, R. H. Stetson.

In response to a very welcome request, the church school of the Old South Union church will establish a branch school in the Community Building of Pond Plain Sunday at 9.45 A. M. A most cordial welcome to all. Yours very sincerely, Mrs. Horace B. Norcross, Mrs. Lena Pratt, Mrs. J. A. Rogers, committee of Religious Education, Pond Plain Association.

On Monday evening the young people of the Second Universalist church held a "Rainbow Bazaar" and sale in the church vestry in the afternoon and evening. In the afternoon there was a baby show and souvenirs were awarded to Phyllis Warren, the youngest baby, 7 weeks old; Elinor McGaw, the brownest eyes; Henry Gallagher, the curliest hair; Margaret Connors, the bluest eyes, and Raymond Montgomery, 10 months old, weighing 30 pounds. Each baby was given a pink. At 6.30 o'clock a cafeteria supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Herman H. Welting, Miss Susie Carrell, Mrs. Percy Sargent and Mrs. George Sargent. An entertainment was given by Miss Besie Sargent, reader; Ruth Cushing, dancing and Grace Nash, pianist. The various sales tables were in charge of the following committee: fancy, Helen Richards; domestic, Louise Gay; mystery, Doris Churchill; popcorn, J. William O'Donnell; ice cream, Ralph Hollis; cake, Alice Gay; candy, Mrs. Winfield B. Baker; punch, Miss Adele Shepherd.

The Girls Library Society held a very successful whist and mah jong party in the Fogg library on Wednesday afternoon with twelve tables of whist and two of mah jong. A sale of home made candy was in charge of Miss Miriam Barnes. This society was formed some years ago under the direction of Miss Sarah Tirrell and its object has been to purchase children's books for the library.

The following clipping will be of interest to those interested in sports, "I understand that Cliff Stowers, formerly a Williams college star, who won the New England Intercollegiate quarter mile crown a year back, and whose home is in Weymouth, now is working in Newark. He plans to try for the Olympic team and will wear the colors of the Newark A. C." Clifton Stowers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stowers of Columbian st. At the East Weymouth store of Donald G. Wilbur Shoe Co. its many customers will be pleased to hear that Joseph F. Hobson is there to look after their wants. Mr. Hobson is well known in East Weymouth and he will be pleased to show the fine line of shoes and hosiery that the Wilbur stores carry.—Advertisement

The annual parish meeting of the Second Universalist Church Society of South Weymouth will be held in the church Thursday evening, May 8, at 7.45 o'clock. A free supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock, which will be followed by the business session when a good deal of important business will be transacted.

CITIZENS ALLIANCE TONIGHT

The regular spring "conference dinner" of the various committees of the Weymouth branch, Citizens Alliance of Massachusetts, will be held Friday evening, May 2, at 6.30, at the Union church Building at South Weymouth. Hon. Frank G. Allen, president of the Massachusetts State Senate, will deliver an address on "Respect for law, and enforcement of law". Mr. Allen is a very forceful and interesting speaker and a treat is in store for all those who attend. There will be special music in charge of Roy Leavitt of Rockland.

MARKET REPORT

As a guide to the busy housekeeper the Gazette-Transcript will publish the prices in the Boston market as of Tuesday of the week the Gazette-Transcript is printed:

Every city should know something practically one-third of every family budget is spent for food. "Receipts concerning its food supply, since and Sources of Boston's Food Supply" is the title of a circular recently issued by the Division of Markets. Copies may be secured by writing to the department.

At the vegetable counter: Spinach, dandelions, and kale, each three lbs. for 25c; Southern string beans, 30c lb.; new carrots, 10c lb.; native cucumbers, 20c-25c each; Carolina asparagus, 35-40c bunch, large bunches, 55-60c; Texas Bermuda onions from Texas have just arrived on the market, and are retailing .08-10 lb. Pre-Bermuda onions were from Cuba. The new onion from Texas are better.

At the Fruit Counter, Florida oranges are scarcer; California navel oranges are plentiful. A good size to buy is the .49 per doz, 176 in a box; native rhubarb is retailing .25 per lb.

At the Meat Counter. Both beef and pork prices are on the upward trend. Beef undercuts, .28 per lb., are a good buy. Bacon may be purchased at a saving of .15 per lb., with the rind left on. Veal legs are retailing .28-38 per lb., according to weight.

New at the Fish Market. Scup have followed fresh butterfish; fresh salmon, fresh mackerel, fresh Spanish mackerel, Cape bluefish, are among the new fish to appear on the fish market. The present demand is for fresh mackerel, at .22 per lb.; Eastern halibut, .40 per lb.; shrod, .20 per lb.; Jack shad, .20 per lb.; and haddock, .08 per lb.

Try this recipe for fruit cookies—1½ cups granulated sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup chopped English walnuts, ¼ lb. dates, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 2 tablespoons warm water, 3 cups flour. Mix quite stiff and drop by spoonfuls on buttered tins. Bake in moderate oven.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

Monday evening the executive committee of Weymouth Post held the regular bi-monthly meeting at the Town Offices, East Weymouth. A large number of the committee was present.

Memorial Day was the chief topic of discussion. The Legion has about forty graves to care for, 26 of which are in Weymouth. Besides these there are buried in Weymouth a number of men who enlisted from other towns. These graves will also be cared for.

It was recommended that the Post ask the citizens of the town to refrain from holding athletic competitions on the morning of May 30 out of respect to those for whom the day was dedicated.

Plans for the Post field day were discussed, and it is the hope of all that this year it will be bigger than ever. It is a far cry from our first field day down in North Weymouth to the carnival that we had last year, but now that we are on the Grand Circuit we want to stay there. Your help is needed. Without you we may have to go back to the amateurs.

The next meeting will be held at the G. A. R. hall, East Weymouth, Monday evening, May 5. Make this your Legion night. Come and bring another comrade with you.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

At Hingham Saturday night the automobile operated by George Wetmore of 326 Essex street, East Weymouth, struck a pole on Lincoln street. Wetmore, his wife, and three daughters were thrown to the roadway. Marion, 8, received a fracture of the skull and died at Weymouth Hospital where they were all taken.

Edna, 4, and M. S. Wetmore escaped with scratches. Grace, 3, was cut on the face. Mr. Wetmore was dazed by the force of the impact but apparently received no serious injury. The crash tore the body of the car from the chassis. Thomas O'Donnell of South Boston discovered the plight of the family and brought them to a nearby doctor's office after which they were sent to the hospital.

AUTOIST FINED

On Saturday in the Quincy court Louis J. LaBrecque of Weymouth was fined $150 in court for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor at Quincy. He was found not guilty on a charge of drunkenness. The case arose out of a collision in which LaBrecque's car figured on Adams street on the night of April 21. LaBrecque's counsel asked Judge Avery to suspend the execution of the sentence until Monday and the judge agreed.

CHAUTAUQUA DATES

The dates for the Weymouth-Braintree Chautauqua for 1924 will be August 20-26. The Swarthmore Chautauqua Association have completed the schedule for the American circuit and these dates are final. The early announcements of these dates will enable all who are interested in Chautauqua, which means the entire town, to arrange their summer vacation so that they may be home for Chautauqua.

MAJESTIC THEATRE, BOSTON
 "The Highwayman", a sparkling romantic comedy which launches its appeal largely to the feminine theatre-going contingent, will have its initial exhibition at the Majestic theatre, Boston, Monday night, when Joseph Schildkraut, brilliant young actor, opens an engagement with what is described as a distinguished company.

Mr. Schildkraut, well known and in high favor with local playgoers because of his striking performance of "Liliom" and other notable characters will be seen in the title role.

"The Highwayman" is a vivacious spoken comedy of delightful flavor, wherein there is much that deals with love and plundering of woman's hearts, rather than worldly goods. The stunning Joseph is said to be an adept bandit where love is concerned. Nor does he neglect to demonstrate his ability in outwitting the landed gentry for the "one woman".

WOMEN GIVE OUT
 Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Weymouth woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches, and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Weymouth woman's experience:

Mrs. Nellie Parnell, 47 Richmond street, says: "Several years ago I was in a bad condition with my kidneys. They were sore and there was a dull, heavy feeling through them. My kidneys acted too freely and I was languid and tired. I could hardly stoop on account of sharp pains in the small of my back. I read of Doan's Pills and the results others had received from them. I used several boxes and my kidneys became normal. The pains left my back and I was completely rid of the trouble".

Price 60¢, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Parnell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FRENCH TOWNS LACK PHONES
 Many Rural Centers Are Without Them Owing to the Scarcity of Money.

"An American is readily excused if he comments on the inferiority of the French telephonic system, when he compares it with that of his country," declared M. Paul Laffont, French postmaster general, in a recent interview for the New York Herald.

"More than a third of the villages and the smaller towns of France," M. Laffont continued, "cannot be reached by telephone because they have none. Those that have—and quite large towns at that—can be reached only after hours of waiting, and sometimes not at all. With certain cities abroad, such as Vienna and Lisbon, there is no means of getting into communication, because no lines run from them to any town in France."

This condition the postmaster general attributed to lack of funds for telephone development. The government, which owns and operates the telephone system in France, he explained, has had to devote the greater part of its budget since 1871 to "the reconstruction of the devastation of war and defensive preparation against further devastation."

The French government has therefore been able to allot only a small percentage of its total budget for telephone improvements; and as M. Laffont significantly remarked: "In France it must be remembered that there are no private telephone and telegraph companies."

CUSTOM HOUSE HAS TROUBLE

Christmas Trees, Pin Cushions and Chimes Come Up for Tariff Rulings.

Christmas trees, pin cushions and chimes are among the troubles of the court of customs appeals. These particular Christmas trees are made of feathers of ducks and geese and a customs man assessed them for duty as "manufactures of quill." The treasury wants three times as much duty, on the ground they are manufactures in chief value of feathers, says the Nation's Business.

The pin cushions are peculiar, too. Instead of being the orthodox variety, they are fashioned into the semblance of tomatoes and apples. The treasury wants them assessed with duty as artificial fruit, instead of manufactures of silk.

A set of chimes was imported to be given to Yale university. The chimes were assessed as musical instruments, but the donor thinks they should be admitted free of duty as philosophical instruments.

It is perfectly clear that, no matter how hardworking tariff-makers may be, they cannot succeed in foreseeing all the forms of merchandise that will be offered for import into the United States.

Parachutes for Mountain Climbers.

Mountain climbing will lose most of its perils, if not all its thrills, when the suggestion of F. E. Loudy in Science and Invention is carried out. Both the dangers of climbing and the difficulties of descending will be removed "if the Alpinist will carry a 17-pound pack on his back containing one of the regulation United States army parachutes. This parachute opens by merely pulling a cord, conveniently placed with a large ring on one end. The new parachute is fully opened after a drop of 60 feet and a man has actually jumped from the low altitude of 75 feet from a flying boat traveling at 100 miles an hour. The breaking of a lifeline or a fall from a precipice need have no terrors now if one has a parachute. In case of a sudden storm or a perilous descent it will be safer and quicker to get down by means of the parachute."

Game and Fish in Alaska.

If you go up to southeastern Alaska the fare from Seattle to Ketchikan is only $35, meals included, and the steamer lands you right on the threshold of the biggest game and fish country in North America. Plenty of black-tailed deer in season; bear as thick along the salmon streams as cottontail rabbits in the bush of the Middle West states; every sort of duck that flies; the streams squirting with trout and salmon; clams squirting from every little beach along the coast; big, juicy crabs for the netting; all sorts of berries in late summer; to say nothing of the mountain goats up around timberline on all the higher hills, and moose back from the coast among the inland swamps and lakes.—Adventure Magazine.

Bagdad to Aleppo by Motor Bus.

Motor omnibuses are now running regularly between Bagdad and Aleppo although the motor road is officially unprotected. The distance between Bagdad and Aleppo, by way of Mosul is roughly 560 miles. The buses seat eight passengers. The omnibuses run by way of Mosul and take five days although ordinary cars traveling up the Euphrates valley take only three days. The principal desert shells have undertaken not to molest the omnibuses in return for a lump sum down.

New Device for the Deaf.

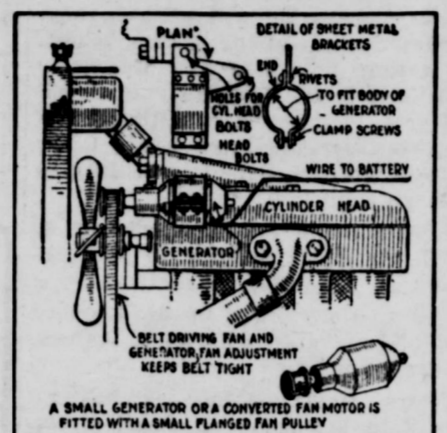

The osophone is a new invention which its inventor claims will aid the hard-of-hearing to hear over the radi and telephone. It consists of two electro-magnets mounted on flexible soft iron laminations and two pieces of hard rubber bits which when placed between the teeth or on the bony structure of the head conduct the sound to the auditory nerve.

AUTO GENERATOR EASY TO INSTALL

Device for Recharging Storage Battery Can Be Attached at Small Cost.

An electric generator for recharging a storage battery on automobiles not so equipped, can be easily installed by the car owner at small cost and without any radical alterations to his engine. The advantages of such an installation are obvious: It permits the use of electric light and provides a separate source of current for the ignition as well as current for an electric horn, cigar lighter, and any other attachments that may appeal to the owner.

One car owner who added a generator was sufficiently experienced in electric work to rewind the motor of a small fan so that it would serve as a generator. If it is not desired to do this, a small generator can be obtained second hand at a moderate cost from a dealer in wrecked and dismantled cars.

The generator is attached to the car, as shown, by a strap that encircles the generator and is held by the cylinder head bolts. The strap is of heavy gage sheet iron and need not be particularly rugged, as the belt drive does not place much strain on it.

A pulley is fixed to the shaft of the generator so as to come directly in line with the fan pulley. The drive is obtained by increasing the length of the fan belt and running it jointly over the fan and generator pulleys. The fan pulley adjustment is used to obtain the belt tension required.

This method of attachment and driving will apply to practically any engine.

If the generator is in good condition and the belt adjustment correct, the device will prove practically fool-proof.—By George A. Luers in Popular Science Monthly.

Grease Cups Useful in Keeping Out Much Dirt

Grease cups serve an extremely useful purpose in bearings that are exposed to dirt, because the grease is continually working out of the ends of the bearings, which tends to prevent the entrance of dirt. Care must be used to screw the cups down until the grease begins to show at the ends of the bearings. Also the utmost care should be taken to keep the supply of cup grease clean; keep the pail or other receptacle in which it is kept covered. Grease cups should be wiped off before they are unscrewed, so that dirt will not be carried up inside.

Cracked Cylinder

For the car owner who likes to do his own repair work here is an interesting way to repair a cracked cylinder: Drill a small hole at each end of the crack and tap it for a copper plug. Scrape the surface near the crack until the metal is bright. Cover the crack with soft copper filings and melt them in with a blow torch. Use a flux of rosin dissolved in alcohol.

BROOKLYN BOY IS QUICK CHANGE MARVEL

Photograph shows Isadore Choleff of Brooklyn, N. Y., who won the tire-changing contest recently held in Brooklyn by an association of automobile supply owners. He ran away with first honors by changing 60 tires an hour or a tire a minute. Photograph shows him in the act of changing one of the tires on an auto after removing another, all of which he does inside of one minute.

Safety in a Nutshell

A fifteen-year-old girl of Detroit has written these slogans for automobilists:

"Drive right and more pedestrians will be left."

"Watch your 'step on it.'"

"Taking the other fellow's dust is better than 'to dust returneth.'"

"Six feet have awaited many a driver who wouldn't give an inch."—Boston Transcript.

Spring Overhauling Is of Greatest Importance

Unfortunately, the increasing year-around use of the car has served largely to eliminate the annual spring overhauling performed by those motorists of a decade or so ago who religiously "put their cars up" for the winter. While electric lights and self-starters, hard-surfaced roads, closed bodies and other cold weather comforts have brought the modern automobile into its most effective field of usefulness, it, nevertheless, requires as rigid inspection, adjustment and general overhauling as did the "horseless carriage" ancestors of today's motorcar.

Therefore, regardless of whether a car is used twelve months in the year, or but seven months out of that twelve, the spring is the best season for such inspection and overhauling. The action of cold, snow and frozen ruts affects many parts, including the engine, cooling system, steering gear and tires.

The man who keeps his car in perfect mechanical condition will also take pride in its appearance. No piece of furniture receives more care in its original finish than does the modern automobile. In consequence, the motorcar should receive the same care with wax and polish as does the grand piano—more, in fact, for the former is subjected to the action of heat, cold, rain, mud and tar, whereas the pampered musical instrument is protected from the elements.—H. W. Slauson, in Leslie's.

Loosening of Bolts Not Difficult to Prevent

It is a common faulting of so-called stove bolts to become loosened after a comparatively brief period of service in holding together wooden and metal parts. The failure is apt to come through the loosening of the head in its seating, this permitting the nut to obtain enough slack to rattle loose on its thread. A simple way of preventing this difficulty is to enlarge the slot across the head of the bolt, cutting the ends pretty deep by the aid of a file and then bending over a short length of copper wire, of the size to fit in the slot. In this way a couple of ridges are formed on either side of the head, which effectively prevent its turning so long as a reasonable amount of pressure is brought to bear upon it.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

People used to commit suicide by blowing out the gas. Now they stay on it.

To avoid the enormous Ruhr tax German residents in that district are giving away their automobiles.

Though fuller's earth is generally used to stop cone clutch slippage, ordinary talcum powder will answer quite as well.

When putting an additional weight to a car, it is necessary that a careful adjustment of the brakes be made for the extra burden.

Exercise especial care in crossing in front of a street car or in passing it, as you cannot tell what may be coming on the other side.

The alarm from box 32 at 9.30 o'clock last evening was false, evidently a May night prank of boys.

Francis Morales died at the Naval Hospital at Chelsea Wednesday. He was born in this town 46 years ago and was a son of Agnes and the late Leonardo Morales. He enlisted at the time of the Spanish American war in Co. K, 5th Mass. Regiment, and served until the end of the war. He is survived by his mother, a sister, Mrs. Marion Winslow of East Weymouth, and two brothers, Herbert and Harry Morales. He had been in poor health for a long time and had just recently been granted a pension. For the last few years he had lived in Quincy.

Mrs. Robert Locke of 4 Allen street, East Braintree, who has been seriously ill, is now on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Florence Overocker of Kansas City is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Locke.

James Fitzgerald of 39 Summit street, for several years crossing tender at the Nantasket Junction station (the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R. is by an automobile late Saturday night as he was standing in the road fagging the crossing. He was rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital where it was found that no bones were broken but that he was bruised from head to foot. He is now at his home and it is thought will be confined to his home for sometime. Mr. Fitzgerald met with a similar accident at the same place a few years ago.

Mrs. Margaret Towler, 59, widow of James Towler, died at her home in East Braintree Monday. She leaves a son, Robert Towler. The funeral took place Wednesday morning from the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. Fr. John B. Holland celebrated mass. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery.

After being off duty for several weeks following an operation for appendicitis, Miss Helen Caulfield resumed her duties at the Weymouth telephone exchange Monday morning.

The Weymouth Light and Power Co. will begin the work in a few days of extending the lines up Summer street, a mile beyond the present limit, which will be good news to the residents of that locality, who have wanted electric lights for several years past.

A maybasket party was held at Sacred Heart hall Wednesday afternoon. The picture "Cinderella" was given. The may basket table was in charge of Mrs. Dunning; punch, Mrs. Della Caulfield; cake, Mrs. Edward Mulligan; candy, Mrs. Flynn.

The Men's Club of the First Universalist church met Wednesday evening, April 23, in Lincoln hall with a large attendance of members and their wives. After supper was served by the Ladies Social Circle William N. Craig of Weymouth gave an illustrated lecture on "Some seasonable Horticultural Thoughts" in which he demonstrated his thorough knowledge of plants and flowers and which proved exceedingly instructive to the audience.

The game of pool is just like life, in all its variation; it's often wiser to play "safe" than risk a "combination". Sometimes the balls roll all our way, and then it's easy picking; but if they help the other man, what is the use of kicking? We study carefully the game, and for advantage watch, then just as we are going fine, oh, hang it all, we "scratch".

The South Shore Young People's Christian Union met at Lincoln hall Monday evening, April 28, with an attendance of 75 from the different unions in the league. A business session was held at 8 P. M. with Carl Olsen of Quincy as president and Helen Bicknell of Weymouth as secretary. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Norwell, the date to be determined later. The entertainment consisted of some sleight-of-hand tricks done by Carl Olsen, followed by an amusing program by the young folks from North Weymouth. Refreshments were served by the local union after which dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

CLUB and SOCIAL

—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilde of Bridge street, North Weymouth, returned Saturday from three months cruise through the Mediterranean. They report a most enjoyable and interesting trip. At the various ports of call in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean they made side trips to points of interest. The two weeks spent in the Holy Land were of especial interest and included a five days boat trip on the upper Nile, a visit to the Pyramids and the Sphinx. Camels were used on the last stage of this trip. They also visited the Valley of the Tombs of the Kings, where they were especially fortunate in being permitted to enter King Tut's tomb which was open to the public from March 11 to 20 only. Mr. and Mrs. Wilde left the steamer at Venice and spent the remainder of the time traveling through Italy, Switzerland and France; sailing from Southampton on the S. S. Reliance which arrived in New York Friday morning last week.

—Weymouth Circle, Daughters of Isabella held a card party in Knights of Columbus hall on Tuesday evening. Progressive whist was played at thirty-three tables. Honors went to Miss Ruth Healy, A. D. Peters, Miss Helen Cummings, Mrs. Alice DeCoste, Miss Bessie Griffin, Miss Gerrior, Mrs. Riordan. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Genevieve Wall, Miss Julia Looney, Miss Nellie McCarthy, Mrs. Nellie Leary, Miss Elizabeth Fahie, Miss Catherine Cleary and Mrs. Margaret Coyne. The proceeds will be used for the pop concert which will be held May 12.

—Susannah Tufts chapter D. A. R., held its monthly meeting on Monday with Mrs. Harriet B. Voorhees. Mrs. Jewell, the regent, presided. Mrs. Ida F. Waterhouse of Quincy read a very interesting paper on "Tutor Flint, an old resident of Quincy. His name was Henry, but as he was a tutor at Harvard for fifty years he acquired the name of 'Tutor'." A goodly number was present at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Perkins and Miss Lucy Crane.

—The Ace of Clubs met April 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth at Hingham. Honors went to Blanche Jackson and Florence Wadsworth. A luncheon was served by the hostess.

—Merton Loud of Park avenue is convalescing from two weeks illness with which he has been confined to his home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiffler of Brookline, former residents of North Weymouth, have returned from a three-months' visit with relatives in South America, and have recently been the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Raepier Wilder of Narragansett road.

—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tower entertained on the 19th relatives from Kansas City, Mo.; Detroit, Mich.; Bridge-water and Brockton.

—The bridge party given under the auspices of Braintree chapter, Order Eastern Star, was well attended and a social success. Souvenirs for whist went to Mrs. S. K. Warners and Mrs. Emily Philbrook. At bridge to Mrs. George H. Eggleston, Miss Alice Johnson, Mrs. P. H. Wiley, Mrs. W. A. Torrey, Miss Edith Arnold, Mrs. F. P. Lord and Mrs. S. J. West. There were thirty tables at bridge and five at whist. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mabel C. Hastings and Mrs. Mabel L. Cox, assisted by members of the chapter. This evening Braintree chapter observes its fourth anniversary. There will be a birthday party and the program will be in charge of the brouers of the chapter.

—The Primavera Whist club was entertained at the home of Mrs. James McKinnon of North street on Tuesday evening. Prize winners were: Mrs. Thomas Dolan, Mrs. Herbert Hill, Mrs. William McCarthy, Mrs. Fred Nolan.

—The regular meeting of the Philaetha Associates was held in the church vestry on Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served by Miss Trussell, Miss Nason, Mrs. Farrington and Mrs. Evans.

—Lester W. Tower spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tower. He has returned to Amherst, M. A. C.

—Miss Grace Nash took part in the minstrel show given at Somerville Monday evening by the employees of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

—Mrs. Charles E. Gale of 140 Webb street opened her home Friday afternoon for a card party in aid of the Army and Navy club drive. There were 120 present. Souvenirs at mah jong were awarded Mrs. W. P. Sanders of East Braintree, Mrs. Frank Hoyt of Brookline, Mrs. Bosworth of East Weymouth, and Mrs. Carleton Barnes of South Weymouth; at bridge to Mrs. McIntosh of Wollaston, Mrs. J. G. Spear of Braintree, Mrs. Holgate of East Braintree, Mrs. Thayer of South Weymouth and Mrs. Bullock of Weymouth; at whist, Mrs. Bates of Weymouth, Mrs. Smith of Weymouth, Mrs. Becklin of Weymouth, and Miss Annie Connell of Weymouth.

SOME SMILES

THAT QUESTION OF AGE

A pretty sixteen-year-old flapper attended a dance the other night and while taking lunch afterward at a cafe saw one of the leading citizens of the town in the cafe.

"I never was so shocked in my life," she said in recounting the experience, "as when I went into the restaurant and saw him there. Think of him being there at 1 o'clock in the morning."

Seasonal Cheer.

"What you need, man," said the doctor, "is a complete rest."

"What!" The busy patient sat up agitatedly. "Why, I can't go away, doctor; it is impossible."

"I didn't suggest it," said the medico.
"What I said is that you need a complete rest. Send your family to Europe, sell your car and burn your golf sticks."

AND MAYBE ALL SLATE

"That dealer has me on the slate for five tons of coal, but I haven't gotten it yet."

"Oh, you'll get it—slate and all!"

But Not Already.

Some day a paper scarcely will cause the world to fret.
The poor old paper mark may be
Of some slight value yet.

Restraint.

"Before we were married you called me an angel!"

"I know it."

"And now you don't call me anything."

"You ought to be sincerely glad that I possess such self-control."

Would Cheer Him Up.

Daughter—Pa, when I promise to marry Jack do you want him to come and ask your consent?

Father (of seven girls)—No, not my consent, but I'd appreciate it if he came and broke the good news.

A Matter of Opinion.

He—Is she progressive or conservative?

She—I don't know. She wears a last year's hat, drives a this year's car, and lives on next year's income.—
Modern Grocer.

Good-By, Old Scout.

Hunter—Does this path lead into the anchorage swamps?

Native—Yes; dere's twelve wot went in dere in er year, who never came out. If yer see any of 'em, give 'em fair warning.

AFTER THE SHOW

"His voice has remarkable timbre."
"I've always wondered why it reminded me of a sawmill."

The Best of All.

The joy that lifts life higher.
With fairer scenes in sight:
A book; a friendly fire;
Home's world, of pure delight.

A Wonderful Scene.

Producer—I have enough chorus girls hired to make the big centipede scene a hit.

Author—The centipede scene?

Producer—Yes, 100 limbs.

Life's Little Surprises.

"It surprised me that Ed married Nell. He hardly knew her."

"It would have surprised me more if he had married her, knowing her as she really is."

Too Much Resemblance.

"Don't you think that young man is nice, mamma?"

"I do not, my dear. He looks too much like your father when he was a young man."—Le Rire.

Doing It Up Right.

Mrs. Eskimo—Where have you been the last six months?

Mr. Eskimo—I was sitting up with a sick friend all night.

O, Fudge.

Young Swain—Are you really quite happy with me, sweetie?

The Maiden—Oh, yes, but your brother has a much better shave.

DONDERO-KELLY

Miss Margaret G. Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Kelly of East Water street, Rockland, and Andrew C. Dondero, son of Mrs. M. R. Dondero of Curtis avenue, were married on Saturday at the Church of the Holy Family, Rockland, by the Rev. E. J. Fagan, pastor, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The couple were attended by John F. Kelly, brother of the bride, and Miss Louise Hayes of Brockton. The bride was attired in a cocoa canton crepe, trimmed with chenille crepe with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Hayes was attractively gowned in taupe colored canton crepe, trimmed with fig-c-eps and wore a hat to match. Her bouquet was sweet peas. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home which was attended by relatives and friends. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and ferns, and the bride couple received beneath a floral arch. An orchestra provided music. The bride's gift to her maid was a handsome engraved ring and the groom presented the best man with a gold scarf pin. A luncheon was served to the guests by Mrs. Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. Dondero left for a trip to New York by mo-or and upon his return the groom will continue his garage duties.

OLD COLONY UNIVERSALISTS

The quarterly meeting of the Old Colony Association of Universalists met at Canton Wednesday, April 23, with large delegations from the different churches in attendance. The pastor of the Canton parish, Dr. Charles Conklin, and his people, had made great preparations for the reception of the delegates and visitors, who were delighted with the warm reception they received.

The convention was called to order at 11:30 a. m. by Rev. L. W. Attwood, the president, who invited Revs. S. E. Franc of Plymouth and John B. Rearson of Quincy to lead the devotions. Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., of Wakefield, gave a fine address on "The Value of Universalism," as seen in its power of consolation in the crises of life; its freedom of thought and action for the individual; as the only basis of the brotherhood of man, and in its certainty of achievement. Rev. F. S. Walker of Norwood followed with an address on "Some Fundamentals of the Christian Religion," stating that Jesus is the only authority for these and that they are clearly outlined in His Sermon on the Mount and in the Golden Rule. The speaker drew attention to the fact that the spiritual and moral development of the human race had not kept pace with the achievements of science, and that herein lies a real danger to society.

Rev. A. E. Wilson of Braintree read a beautiful allegory of his own composition illustrating the path to power and Rev. William Dawes Veazie of South Weymouth gave a vigorous and illuminating address on "Present Day perils and their challenge to the church".

After a splendid dinner served by the ladies of the church a business session was held when donations were made to the Doolittle Home for Aged People at Foxboro and the Bethany Home in Boston. Rev. William Dawes Veazie was elected as a member of the executive committee in place of Rev. C. E. Butterworth of Brockton, who is leaving the district. Mr. Veazie invited the association to meet at South Weymouth in June and this invitation was accepted. Dr. Conklin introduced Winthrop Leonard the oldest member of the local church who related some interesting reminiscences of his life-long connection with the Canton parish. The meeting adjourned at 4 P. M.

NEW ENGLAND BAKED BEANS

YES! It is possible to buy the famous New England dish in cans! There is no longer any need to spend hours of time and dollars worth of fuel in baking them at home.

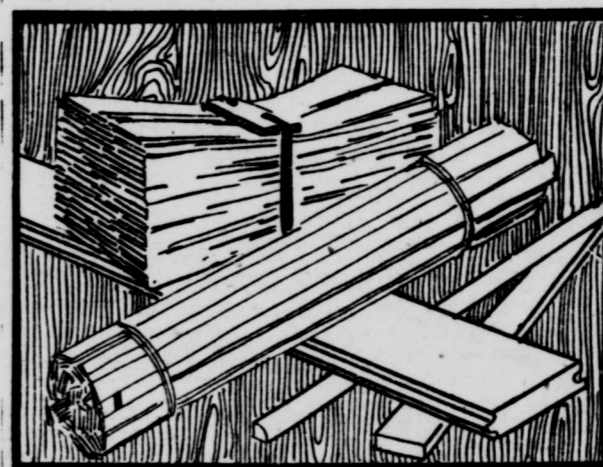

OAK HILL Beans may be had either plain with pork, or with a rich tomato sauce, and with this further advantage: you flavor them yourself to suit the taste of your individual family!

Try adding plenty of onion salt or an onion chopped and browned in butter, two table-spoons molasses, one table-spoon mustard and salt and pepper. It gives them a real home-flavor.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

—The H. G. L. club held their weekly whist party at the home of Mrs. William Dacey of Putnam street Monday evening. The prizes were taken by Miss Helen Dacey, Mrs. William Dacey, Mrs. James McAlpine, the consolation going to Mrs. Alexander Gold. Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening spent.

—A party for the girls and boys of the primary department of the First Church Sunday School was held in the First Church chapel Saturday afternoon. The Camp Fire Girls were present to assist Miss Isabel Jones in the consolation going to Mrs. Alexander Gold. Refreshments were served and a jolly time was enjoyed by all.

—The Weymouth Heights Girls club will meet with Mrs. Irving Hunt of East street next Monday evening. Miss Isabel Jones gave a card party at her home Thursday afternoon last week, the guest of honor being Miss Spear from Passaic, N. J. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable afternoon spent.

—The members of the First Church choir held a roast beef supper in the First Church chapel Wednesday evening. Harry Johnson acting as chairman. An appetizing menu was enjoyed, after which a social hour took place.

—A fire alarm last Friday evening called North and East Weymouth fire departments to extinguish a fire at the Weymouth Heights station. The interior of the building had been smoldering for some time before it was discovered, the fire starting on the first floor and going to the top. However, the quick work of the firemen prevented the fire from breaking out on the outside and the damage was confined to the interior.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Merrill of King Oak hill are enjoying a visit from Mr. Merrill's mother and sister from Woonsocket, R. I.

—Miss L. A. Humphrey is convalescing from her recent illness.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The last council meeting was held in Foxboro and eleven members of Weymouth unit attended. The Foxboro unit was an ideal hostess and the meeting was helpful and enlightening.

Tonight is our dance and we are hoping for a record attendance. The hall and the music are OK and all that is necessary is a group of dancers and also "lookers on".

At our next meeting we shall have our first initiation of members and let us have every member present. It is a simple but impressive ceremony and gives us all a chain vision of our work and standards.

QUINCY THEATRE

John Barrymore comes to the Quincy theatre Monday for three days in the thrilling romance of the beau ideal of all times "Beau Brummel". The portrayal by America's most distinguished actor is comparable to the legitimate presentation the late Richard Mansfield gave the remarkable play of Clyde Finch. It has romance, intrigue, adventure, comedy and tragedy, is lavishly staged, gorgeously presented and superbly acted. It is the beau brummel of photoplays.

NANTASKET BUS LINE

The Boston city council voted favorably on Monday on the jitney application of J. B. Hermon to operate a bus line from Upham's Corner to Franklin park to Nantasket beach. The proposed fare is 50 cents. Unless permits are obtained in Weymouth and intervening communities passengers cannot be accommodated in those places.

PILGRIM HIGHWAY

The bill of Representative Sandberg's appropriating $450,000 for the construction of Pilgrim parkway, between the Wollaston beach and Quincy Point was reported favorably Monday by the ways and means committee. The bill provides assessments as follows: State, 35 per cent; metropolitan district 20; Quincy 15; Norfolk county 15; Plymouth county 5.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

News came from Dedham that Charles J. Farrell of Weymouth was arraigned in the Superior court before Judge John Brown on Wednesday, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor at Weymouth April 24, 1922. He was found guilty in the lower court and appealed and in the higher court on Wednesday was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction.

No contest for Alternates

Gov. Cox High Man on Republican Ticket

At the Presidential Primaries on Tuesday 472 votes were cast by the Republicans, and every candidate received over 400, there being no contest for delegates at large.

Gov. Cox led the field with 439 votes, Senator Lodge was second and Mrs. Bird third.

For alternates Mrs. Thayer was two votes ahead of Mrs. Putnam for first place.

For delegates from the 14th district our townsman, George L. Barnes, received 433 votes out of the total of 472, which was more than Mr. Keith and Mr. Sprague together. Only 36 votes were cast for the latter.

For alternates Mrs. Nichols fell behind Councillor Wright 26 votes, but both were elected.

On the Democratic ticket Senator Walsh received 57 of the 68 total. As in the State, Mr. Cole who was not in "the group" ran second with 49 votes, the low candidate being Mrs. Meehan.

The vote by precincts, both Democratic and Republican will be found on this page.

Keith and Barnes Elected by Republicans

The Republican totals in the 14th district were as follows, the first two being elected as delegates:

Roger Keith, Brockton	5868
George L. Barnes, Weymouth	5592
Eugene H. Sprague, Quincy	1935
The Democratic totals were as follows, the first four being elected:
Frank A. Manning	2048
Arthur A. Hendrick	1497
David W. Murray	1347
John H. O'Connell	1140
William L. Gleason	1119
William H. Powers	806
Charles F. Riordan	552
C. M. Clifford	482
P. F. McMahon	454

SELECTMEN

The Board of Selectmen held the weekly meeting at the town office on Monday afternoon. All members were present. It was voted to appoint Joseph Sewall a patrolman for the provisional term of six months. Petitions were received for repairs on Front street and for draining and grading Webb street from the intersection of Richmond street to the intersection of Commercial street.

Notice was received of a hearing to be held at the State House May 8 on petition of A. J. Richards & Son to build and maintain a pile wharf on Weymouth Fore river.

The Town Council was instructed to confer with the Bethlehem Steel Corp. in regard to the oil nuisance on the Weymouth shore.

Fred Webb was granted a permit to keep, sell and store gasoline.

A petition was received from William K. Parker for a gasoline license and a hearing will be held Monday, May 12.

Chester H. Rogers, Sabastine Fassio and T. W. Sentry were granted pool and billiard licenses.

Chester H. Rogers was appointed a special police officer.

Amy Sylvia, Harry Hall and Fred L. Clark were granted victuallers' licenses, and Clifford L. Green a fish, fruit and vegetable license.

It was decided that the price of hiring be 10 cents a dozen and $1 a bushel to citizens of the town and 25 cents a hundred to non-residents.

NEW ENGLAND RALLY

The monthly rally of the N. E. district of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will meet with the East Weymouth branch on Saturday, May 10.

The services will be held in Faith Mission chapel, 28 School street, East Weymouth, 10.30 A. M., 2.30 and 7.00 P. M. Morning worship prayer meeting. Afternoon missionary address by Rev. F. E. Brickley of Providence. Evening address by a spirit-filled business man also from Providence. Delegations are expected from Boston, Brockton, Providence, the Attleboros, Foxboro and Milford.

The public is cordially invited to all these services. They will be live and inspiring. Special music and singing by quartets and solos afternoon and evening.

WHEN YOU WERE A BOY--

did you have a savings account of your own?

The father who has his boy's welfare at heart encourages him in saving regularly.

This regular saving will make a careful boy of him, and form a habit of thrift valuable to him in later years. Are such results not worth a little effort?

$1.00 or more will open a savings account for him.

Ask the Weymouth Savings Bank Man, --

He will tell you all about how to start a Savings Account, how the Bank helps it grow by adding interest.

It certainly is a pleasure to know that you are on the road to success through your own efforts in saving.

PILGRIM HIGHWAY

Weymouth is interested in the bill reported by the legislative committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles on Tuesday on the petition of Representative Sandberg for the construction of the Pilgrim highway in Quincy to North street, Quincy Point. The bill carries an appropriation of $470,000. The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The proposed study of the probability of a boulevard across Boston Harbor, from Squantum to Pemberton, was given a hearing Tuesday by the committee on ways and means which will pass on whether the money received by the department of public works should be appropriated.

OLD SOLDIERS MEET

The Stockton, Cal., Independent says: "When Walter H. Sargent, formerly of the 12th Massachusetts Infantry, saw the name of A. J. Vining, formerly of the 24th Massachusetts Infantry, in the Independent a few days ago in connection with the Grand Army encampment, he began a hunt. Yesterday he located Mr. Vining and for the first time since 1861, sixty years, they greeted each other. The vigorous veterans attended school together shortly before the outbreak of the war in 1861, when they enlisted and served together. Mr. Sargent resides near Stockton, while the friend he had not seen for sixty years, hails from San Francisco."

NEW TIMETABLE

Announcement is made by the management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, effective 2 A. M. Sunday, April 27, and continuing until 2 A. M. Sunday, Sept. 23, the train schedules of the New Haven will be changed to conform to the Daylight Saving Law of Massachusetts and the Daylight Saving ordinances of the city of New York and many other cities through which the company operates.

The law requires the operation of trains upon a standard of time as fixed by Congress. Effective during the period of Daylight Saving, the hours of all offices, including freight offices, shops, storehouses and other departments will be set ahead one hour.

"A house is built of wood and stone, of posts and sills and piers. But a home is built of loving deeds that last a thousand years; A house, though but a humble hut, within its walls may hold A home of priceless beauty, rich in love's untold wealth of gold."

Do you realize the value of tomatoes in your meals? Authorities say that we should eat them, either fresh or canned, at least three times a week. As a source of those valuable vitamins about which so much is heard nowadays, tomatoes are hard to beat.

If you do not want milk to sour, keep it cool, clean, and covered continually. Remember, too, that sour milk, buttermilk, and sour cream are valuable in cooking; so do not waste any.

Don't be finicky. Be willing to try new foods. Certain good foods widely used and enjoyed in one section are almost unknown in other sections.

It is a wise woman who saves the water from cooked rice, macaroni, or vegetables, and uses it in soups and sauces.

If you plant a flower garden this spring, you won't have to envy your neighbors' display of flowers this summer.

Most men dig their graves with their teeth.—Old Chinese proverb.

—No man is really successful until his mother-in-law admits it.—Life.

—Extreme blue laws should be tied with more red tape.

FEDERATION NOTES

Club women are interested in the announcement that the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs will present the name of Mrs. John D. Sherman for president of the General Federation at the convention to be held in Los Angeles in June.

Mrs. Sherman has served the organization for 16 years in various capacities and is widely known and greatly beloved. She began her club activities in the Chicago Woman's Club holding various offices and had held the offices of recording secretary, General Federation.

and of second vice-president in the 1909 with Mrs. Philip N. Monroe, then president of the Federation, she visited the clubs in the Panama Zone. In 1920 she became chairman of the Department of Applied Education, the largest in the Federation. She is now directing a National Garden Week. Her slogan is "The U. S. A. the Garden Nation of the World in 1920."

Early in the war Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane appointed Mrs. Sherman to represent the Federal Bureau of Education in the United States School Garden Army, and she also served as the one woman member of the National War Garden commission during the war.

Mrs. Sherman is interested in forestry and secured the comprehensive planting plan for the Lincoln Highway. She has taught parliamentary law and has written a book on Parliamentary Law and Procedure, which is considered an authority on the subject. These are but a few of her many activities.

Mrs. Sherman's ancestors came from England and settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1635. She was born in Albion, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman have one son. During the war he was a lieutenant, acting as pursuit pilot in the 217th Aero Squadron. They live in Estes Park, Colorado.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES

Ruffles and ribbons are not only in bad taste, but they keep mothers busy at the ironing board. Children's clothes should be simple. It is not only better taste to keep them free from many ruffles and ribbons, but it also saves much heartache for one, frequently the mother, who has to launder them.

This is the belief of the workers in dress design at the state college at Ithaca.

"In every fashion magazine there is usually a page devoted to little one-piece dresses, which are attractive as well as easy to make," pointed out Miss Scott of the staff, and a child always looks attractive in a plain smocked slip-over or a little figured frock.

Balance, line and mass, Miss Scott says are important in dress design. A sport dress with pockets on both sides and a plain skirt shows the effect of true balance. A dress with the fastening on one side also illustrates balance, but the kind of balance obtained when the eye imagines that it sees the same lines on the other side of the figure.

"Long lines emphasize height," she says. "But many persons commit the fault of mingling vertical lines with horizontal lines; others add embroidery which is even worse."

"Because you are fat does not mean that you can't wear pleats. A stout woman, if she uses discretion, may trim a plain dress with pleated material and look as well as her thinner sister."

"Much has to do with the use of mass. Masses in smaller amounts are good, but a mass of checks and a mass of plain material, or a mass of lines running around like those on a zebra, are atrocious."

GARDEN HINTS

Many gardeners lay off their gardens by the eye and by guessing spaces between rows; some would seem to be crossed and poor judges of distance.

The gardener who will guide his rows by a garden line stretched on two small posts and regulate the spaces between by marks previously measured off on his hoe handle, can obtain a result of which he will be proud.

A neat garden adds much to the owner's pleasure.

Rows running the long way of the garden are easier to cultivate, especially with the wheel hoe, but if the family is small so that only a little of each vegetable is used at a time or if one can work in the garden only a few minutes a day, short rows may be better.

OH BOY!

—When you've been doing your dullest to meet your accounts promptly to build up a good rating, and trying to hold down expenses by taking cash discounts, and meeting your pay roll on the dot,

—And when a lot of perfectly good fellows didn't appreciate the courtesy rendered for which you have to pay promptly, and when all these good fellows' small accounts together run into the thousands,

—And when you'd about decided these fellows didn't appreciate the courtesy you'd shown them in carrying their accounts way past a reasonable time, when you were on a cash basis with all but a few good friends, —And THEN, one Tuesday morning, you get a check in full from each of these good fellows, and know they DO appreciate and that you can still count on them—

—Oh Boy! Aint it a Grand and Glorious Feeling?

—Display space used with a proper illustration has both an attention compelling force and a selling angle that is possible in no other form of copy.
The person who questions the selling value of display space is hardly worth wasting time with. They are driving a one-horse shay, eating bulk oatmeal, bathing when the water gets warm in the creek, and depending upon the pony express to give them rapid transportation.—Exchange.

TWO sound business reasons stand behind minimum rates on telephone toll calls placed for a number and not for a name.

One is that the number call involves less work by our people. That makes it faster. And that, in turn, lets us get more work out of our wires. The saving we share with you.

The other reason is that number calls are so fast and so satisfactory that their volume steadily grows.

This is especially true of toll calls within the Providence-Worcester-Manchester radius, where local operating methods lend simplicity and speed to your service. See Page 6, Boston Directory. For a toll call within this circle, pick up the receiver, give the number, and listen for the reply.

If you don't know the distant number, ask your local Information. From every angle, it's just like a local call.

Wouldn't It Be Strange?

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Somewhere in the attic Madge Yates had found an old "memory book," an unwieldy, dusty old scrap book in which were posted programs, snap shots, sketches, bits of childish manuscript that she had collected during the two or three years that she had taught the third grade of the Lynnechester elementary school. Her career as a school teacher had been cut short by the arrival of Tom Yates in the little suburb of Lynnechester and the business of keeping a house, rearing a family and making Tom Yates perfectly happy had crowded out for a time memories of those busy days fifteen years before.

It was not until her friend and neighbor, Theodora Drew, chanced in a few days later that she took the old book down, finished dusting it and opened it to examine more closely the souvenirs it contained. Theodora Drew had taught the fourth grade—in the days before Jack Drew had come to Lynnechester to rob the elementary school of a second young teacher.

They sat together on the window seat looking eagerly—too interested for many comments.

"I'd almost forgotten that!" Madge would say. And Theodora would exclaim over some other picture, "Don't you remember that?"

Then they turned a page that showed a series of snapshots taken on a bright June day when the third and fourth grades had joined ranks for a picnic in the woods.

"Little Peggy Pepper and Ronald Gregg," said Madge Yates pointing her finger at a picture of a round-faced, round-eyed little girl of about seven standing beside a little boy a shade taller—who stood beaming, and tousle-haired, evidently very glad to be on a picnic and very glad to have his picture taken beside Peggy Pepper.

Beneath the picture Madge had written, fifteen years before, "Wouldn't it be strange?"

"Wouldn't what be strange?" asked Theodora, looking at this inscription.

"Why did you write that?"

"Because," explained Madge. "We always said that Peggy and Ronald were sweethearts. They looked so nice together and always wanted to be together and that day of the picnic you said 'Wouldn't it be strange—if they should be really and truly sweethearts?'"

"Of course they never were," commented Theodora. "Baby love affairs never do pan out, I never knew it to happen. Look at you and Tom and me and Jack. We'd never even heard of either until after we'd started teaching school. We probably shouldn't have liked them if we'd been brought up with them."

"Still," persisted Madge. "It would have been nice if Peggy Pepper and Ronald Gregg could have continued sweethearts, they looked so sweet together. Both had such blue eyes. Just think what eyes their children would have had!"

So the plan was cooked up between Madge and Theodora. Somehow in some way they decided to bring the childhood sweethearts together again and Theodora assumed the task of locating Ronald while Madge promised to produce Peggy if she was anywhere this side of the Panama canal zone. Without much difficulty Peggy was located at the home of her aunt, in a suburban town some twenty miles beyond Lynnechester, and Theodora, after discovering what university Ronald had attended, traced his whereabouts through the corresponding secretary of the alumni association of that university. He was a hard working and promising younger member of a law firm in the city.

Theodora managed to get him on the telephone one day.

"Perhaps you don't remember me, Mr. Gregg," she said finding herself strangely embarrassed to talk to the little boy whom she had once sent to stand in the corner or patted approvingly on the back. "I used to teach you in the fourth grade out in Lynnechester. I was Miss Smith then. Well, it's this way—we were thinking over old times and we thought it would be nice to get some of the girls and boys together that used to come to school to us. Everyone is having reunions—so why shouldn't we?"

"Fine idea," said Ronald Gregg.

"When is it to be?"

"You'll come, won't you?" went on Theodora, and then she put out the feeler that was very important. "I suppose you're married by this time, so you must bring your wife—"

"Deed not," interrupted Ronald and Theodora felt that her trouble had not been taken in vain.

"Wouldn't it be strange," she asked Madge Yates a few hours later, "if something did come of it? I got him to promise to come out for dinner tomorrow. You'll have Peggy for dinner at your house and then we'll get together here right after dinner. They certainly used to love each other if children ever did. But then I don't know that things ever do work out that way."

"It's worth trying," laughed Madge, and then: "What unregenerate match-makers we are!"

Peggy at the home of Madge Yates and Ronald Gregg at Theodora Drew's were both surprised to find themselves the sole guests. They had rather expected a reunion, but it was explained that this was but a preliminary to such an event. There'd be a little committee meeting afterwards.

"One of the girls who used to be in the fourth grade is having dinner with Madge Yates," Theodora explained to Ronald. "Perhaps you remember her—little Peggy Pepper, used to be a little sweetheart of yours?"

"Rather," said Ronald with an accent on the last syllable that showed enthusiasm at the prospect of meeting her.

"Have you ever seen her since you left school?" asked Theodora.

"Once or twice," said Ronald, and then Madge with Peggy under her wing arrived for the faked-up committee meeting.

Ronald and Peggy shook hands and Theodora and Madge changed significant glances. They still looked as well together as they had fifteen years before.

They did not have much to say to each other, however, but this did not seem surprising or discouraging to either Madge or Theodora. Plans for a reunion were discussed and finally when the clock pointed to ten Peggy Pepper rose to leave. There was a train at 10:30 that she thought she would catch and Ronald decided to take a 10:40 train for the city. So Theodora with Madge beside her insisted on carrying them down to the station in her car and left them at the little suburban station waiting for their respective trains.

Back in the car and part way home Theodora discovered Peggy's handkerchief. It was all lace and embroidery so Theodora decided it must be returned. Together she and Madge went back to the station, parked the car and went in search of Peggy and Ronald. They were not in the waiting room nor on the platform. They walked searching up the platform to a knoll of trees and bushes and there in the shadow were Peggy and Ronald, Ronald with one protective arm about Peggy's little shoulders.

Theodora coughed and Madge cleared her throat.

"Excuse us, please," said Madge. "We didn't mean to come spying but you left your handkerchief—"

"Well, of all things," Theodora was saying. "We thought maybe you'd get to like each other again but we never suspected that things would move as quickly as this."

Peggy and Ronald stood facing them, both laughing.

"The joke's on us all," said Peggy. "You see Ronald and I have been engaged for a year or so—and we're going to be married in two weeks. It seemed such a lark both coming to Lynnechester—"

"Well I never," said Theodora. "I always thought something would come of it," said Madge.

Reformation in England Was Brewed in Coffee

The reformation in England was brewed in coffee by crop-haired roundheads, while the cavaliers rolled in the taverns. Voltaire, Robespierre, Danton and other leaders of thought and action in the French revolution planned the overthrow of despotism over the coffee cups.

In the reign of Charles I. and later, a puritan or member of the parliamentary party, was termed a roundhead. Roundheads wore their hair cut short, and they were so called in derision by the cavaliers, who usually wore long hair, either their own or wigs.

America became a coffee-drinking nation when the tea went into Boston harbor, says the Detroit News. Tea, in the minds of the colonists, was inseparable from unauthorized taxation and oppression. Coffee, the cup which cheers but does not inebriate, stimulated the bold adventure of Lexington and Concord.

In 1777 Frederick the Great of Prussia issued a proclamation to his subjects which read:

"Everybody is using coffee. If possible this must be prevented. My people must drink beer. His majesty was brought up on beer, and so were his ancestors and officers. Many battles have been fought and won by soldiers nourished on beer, and the king does not believe that coffee-drinking soldiers can be depended upon to endure hardship and beat his enemies in case of another war."

Parr Lived 152 Years

Thomas Parr, an English agricultural worker, lived to the prodigious age of one hundred and fifty-two years. The fermented flowing ale of old England was given credit by all authorities for having caused Parr's years to flow so long and so gently. The cause of his demise was the excitement of a ride behind a team of horses, the one and only experience of the sort he ever had, according to the Detroit News.

However, Parr did marry young—according to his own opinion. He lived a bachelor until he was eighty and then wedded for the first time, living happily for 32 years with his bride until her death. Eight years after his first wife's death, when he was one hundred and twenty years old, he married again, and continued active and in the possession of all his faculties and functions until his end in 1635, at the age of one hundred and fifty-two. He left several sons by each wife, all of whom reached ages far beyond the ordinary three score and ten. One of his grandsons lived to be one hundred and twenty-four.

Parr's solid nourishment, besides sides of beef and trenchers of farm vegetables, consisted largely of a very nutritious loaf called "meslin bread." Meslin bread was like Scotch bannocks; it was rough diet and it needed plenty of ale to wash the crumbs down the throat.

Enamel Your Kitchen and Bathroom Furniture

Do you know that you can easily and inexpensively enamel your kitchen and bathroom furniture? And do you know that you can do the work yourself with splendid results? We have an enamel—it's called Linduro Enamel—that is intended for such work. This enamel is very easy to handle, it flows freely from the brush, levels perfectly without leaving a sign of a brush mark, and dries to a satiny finish—a finish that you want to rub with your fingers because it seems so soft and smooth.

Low Brothers
LINDURO ENAMEL

This excellent enamel is also intended for woodwork and it is ideal for that purpose because it is so easy to keep scrupulously clean with just ordinary soap and water. Why not enamel your kitchen or bathroom furniture? You can do it in jig time with Linduro Enamel. Come in and we'll furnish you with the necessary materials.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop Six, Braintree, B. S. A., the newly organized Boy Scout Troop, had its first hike last Saturday. In spite of the wet weather, the boys were anxious to be off and shortly after seven o'clock were eagerly telephoning the scoutmasters to find out whether or not the hike would take place.

In charge of Scoutmaster Winslow King, and conveyed by several automobiles, the boys left Union Church about nine o'clock and were taken to scouts from Norfolk Downs (Troop 10, Quincy). A half hour's hike through the woods brought the boys to a rendezvous near the Braintree Dam.

A suitable camping place was found and packs unloaded. Then began the task of building fires preparatory to getting dinner. Owing to the high wind and the wet condition of the woods, this was an unusually hard task for the beginners. Each Quincy boy took two Braintree boys in hand and instructed them in the art of fire building according to approved Boy Scout methods. Before long several cooking fires were going and each scout cooked his own dinner.

The mingled odors of fried steak, bacon, ham and eggs, etc., served to whet the already sharp appetites and some boys found it necessary to fall back on the substantial sandwiches that thoughtful mothers had provided for filling.

After dinner Scoutmaster Palmer joined the party. Various games were played and a visit made to the Rifle Range where the boys were cordially received and given an opportunity to watch the target practice going on. The rest of the afternoon was spent in games until four o'clock.

Then the fires were put out as carefully as they were made, the troop assembled and marched in formation to Braintree depot where they disbanded. The Quincy boys taking home, and the East Braintree boys through the kindness of a friend were taken home by auto. The first hike of Troop Six was voted a big success and plans are already under way for the next outing.

The following boys have been added to the roster of Troop 8, South Weymouth: William Whitten and Walter M. Smith.

The following scouts successfully passed the tenderfoot test: Walter Smith, Warner Abbot, Larry Putney, Allan Crawford, William Whitten, John De Courcy, Raymond French, Winston Howe, Norman Howe.

Walter Baker, Hugh Ferguson and Arthur Finch passed the tenderfoot test in Troop 1, Weymouth Landing.

Everett Price of Troop 1, passed merit badge test in signalling and Russell Cowing of Troop 2, East Weymouth, the merit badge in craftsmanship in wood.

Morgan Stetson of Troop 2 passed the test for first class scout.

—Many Weymouth people are enrolled among the 100,000 satisfied customers who trade with Pill Bros. at Quincy. This week their specialties are garden and farm tools and garden hose.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Being One of a Series of Talks or Bills and the Prompt Payment Of Them. Do you owe any Bills That Are Overdue?

"LET'S HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING"

No credit man will turn a debtor down who tells the TRUTH. For TRUTH is the foundation of CREDIT.

YOU owe an account—YOU have owed it for several months—it is long past due—You want to pay it—circumstances, perhaps, have been against you—then in all fairness to the credit man make a frank statement of your conditions.

You will find the credit man willing to help the honest debtor, if he can. More often his hands are tied. The debtor will not make any attempt to make PROMPT PAYMENT of his account. He, therefore, can not expect any consideration at the hands of the Credit Man.

If you are not willing to make a 'clean breast' of your actual conditions, you have not good reason for hushing you will receive any consideration of the hands of the credit man.

It is useless to dodge the issue for every credit man in Plymouth, Norfolk and Barnstable Counties are acquainted with your method of paying credit obligations. He knows just how you stand with every firm doing business in both counties.

If you don't pay—if you won't be honest enough to give facts—if you don't make any effort whatever to reduce your indebtedness, you may be sure that the credit man is "GOING AFTER" the money due his firm.

Sometimes drastic measures are necessary to collect an account. You can save yourself lots of trouble and much embarrassment by paying your bills promptly, or by giving the credit man valid reasons for your delinquency.

Don't let your bills accumulate! KEEP THEM PAID UP EVERY MONTH

South Shore Teachers Entertained Here

The South Shore Schoolmen's club were guests of the men teachers of the town at the Norfolk Club, South Weymouth, Wednesday afternoon where bowling, billiards and general conversation made up two hours of good fellowship.

At 5.30 the men were taken to the High school. Inspection of the new building followed. The spacious hall, wood working rooms for the boys' industrial work and cooking laboratory for the girls' home making course aroused especial interest and favorable comment, the general sentiment being that the town of Weymouth should be proud of a High school building and equipment so modern and practical in every respect.

At 6.30 a palatable dinner was served to about fifty, during which there was jollification and singing under the leadership of James W. Calderwood, school supervisor of music.

Immediately after the dinner the men assembled in the hall. Orchestral selections by Miss Orelly Melville, Robert Bates and Lester Lindblow preceded the introduction of the speaker of the evening by Frank E. Holt of Whitman, the president of the club.

Through the kindness of Arthur C. Heald of the Steison Shoe Co., the club was very fortunate in procuring Thomas F. Anderson, secretary of the New England Shoe & Leather Association. His address on "Conditions in the Shoe Industry Today" was straightforward and enlightening and the hearty approval of the club was manifested by a rising vote of thanks.

MINSTREL SHOW

The minstrel show Tuesday evening in Pilgrim vestry under the auspices of Squad 2 of the Philathea Associates, brought out a large crowd who were well entertained by the performers who so ably carried out the program. Jack Salzgeber, interlocutor; Alfred Gardner, Lyman Pratt, Ernest Saunders, Velma Ford, Maud Jones and Muriel Gladwin, ends, and a table chorus of 18 men and women made up the circle. The tamborine chorus and drill were especially fine those taking part were Isabel Young, Anna Austin, Dorothy Dasha, Madeline Blackney, Rita Alexanderson, Louise Lewis, Doris Parker, Orelly Melville and Minnie Flockhart.

Virginia Pratt, Evelyn Libbey, Esther Rosetter, Eleanor Brayshaw, Charles Soule, Ralph Wilder, William Gray and Bradford Jones as the Little picaninies looked like they were just up from Dixie Land. Clarence Parker, James Sullivan, Laughton Dasha, John Swanson, Raymond Nash and Edgar Saunders, as kitchen dunces and in the wooden soldier drill with the tamborine girls were numbers well received.

The novelty dance by Alice Doyle and Rubena Arbuckle and the cake walk by Eleanor Saunders and Elberta Parker were very amusing. Herman Collyer and Murray Parker as a colored lady and gentleman were recalled several times in their specialty act.

The program was interspersed with readings by Orelly Melville; solo singing by Raymond Stein and Muriel Goudey, and toe dancing by Ruth Taylor. Everett Hayden presided at the piano, and Myrna Chamberlain of Wollaston directed the performance.

LOVELL'S CORNER

—John Neilson, the jeweler, of 784 Pleasant street, has secured passage on May 24 for a visit to his old home in Sweden, where he has two brothers and two sisters that he has not seen for 36 years. He expects to return in October.

—Little Miss Melba Sample is ill at her home on Pleasant street with chicken pox.

—A concert under the direction of Mrs. Charles Lovell will be given by the Rund Trio on Friday evening, May 16, at the Porter church.

—The Epworth League held their monthly business meeting in the vestry Monday evening.

—The Ladies Aid will hold an all-day meeting in the vestry next Wednesday at which time the ladies are planning to clean the kitchen and pantry. All are invited to be present.

—The store of W. B. Chalke & Sons at Lovell's Corner is adding many new departments and the store is becoming very attractive. The latest is a new soda fountain, where starting tomorrow all kinds of cool and refreshing drinks as well as ice cream will be served.—Advertisement

—Miss Elizabeth Ellis of Fall River is spending the week with her cousin, Mildred Ellis of Washington street.

—Cards are out announcing the engagement of Roland Smith to Miss Dorothy V. Simonds, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Gowdy of East Weymouth, formerly of Fitchburg.

—Rev. and Mrs. Julian Wadsworth, a former pastor of the Porter church, called on friends here Tuesday afternoon. They have been doing reconstruction work for the past five years at Chateau Thierry, France, and expect to return again to their work in August.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

—The Ladies Benevolent Society of the First church held a food sale in the chapel on Thursday last week.

—The Weymouth Heights Girls club will hold gentlemen's night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hunt next Monday evening.

—The Christmas club met with Mrs. William Henley of King Oak hill Monday evening.

—Mrs. Charles Macker is ill at her home on King Oak hill.

—A representation of girls and boys from the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Church will attend the annual May festival of the Woman's Board of Missions to be held at the Union church, Boston, on Saturday. Miss Florence B. Nash, Miss A. J. Taylor and Miss Harriet Loud will accompany them. The Juniors at the festival will make their annual missionary offering.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hager of Commercial street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born May 1.

—The H. G. L. club was entertained by Mrs. William Mullen of High st. Monday evening. Whist was the feature of the evening, the first prize taken by Mrs. Alexander Gold, the second by Mrs. William Mullen, the third by Miss Mary McDonald and the consolation by Mrs. William Dacey. Refreshments were served and a jolly time spent.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends for their beautiful floral tributes and kind acts of sympathy in our recent sorrow.

Weymouth Boy Drowns When Canoe Upsets

The community of Weymouth Heights was saddened on Sunday, May 4, when news came that Donald McDowell, age 19, had met with an accident which resulted in his passing away. Donald was out in a canoe with his chum, Peter Adamson, 18 years, son of David Adamson of 412 Commercial street, Weymouth Heights. Peter had just purchased the canoe and the boys were trying it out. They started from the American Chemical Company's wharf in Weymouth back River, and were just beyond Fort Point, heading for shore in order to land, when the canoe was caught in the trough of the sea and overturned. The boys then struck out to swim and had got within 200 yards of shore when Donald, it is thought, was taken with a severe pain seriously affecting his heart, which caused his death, and he disappeared. His body was found in a short time, but it was impossible to revive him. Peter reached the beach in safety.

Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McDowell of 11 Church street, Weymouth Heights, being born and brought up in Weymouth. He received his education in the Weymouth schools, attending the High school for two years, class of 1923.

For several years Donald was a Boy Scout being an interested and active member of his troop.

Since his boyhood he has been associated with the First Church in Weymouth Heights, being a member of the Sunday School for several years, a Junior Christian Endeavor for a period of time, then graduating into the Senior Christian Endeavor Society. At the time of his passing away he was a member of the choir of the First Church. He had served other churches in Weymouth with his excellent base voice.

For two years he has been in Company K of the 101st National Guard Infantry of Hingham. Recently Donald had accepted a position with the Weymouth Motor Sales Company and had been with them but a short time. Donald will be greatly missed by his associates for he was the leader of all their good times. Donald, so jolly and witty was liked by everybody. In his optimistic ways, always smiling and happy, he was a "good pal" to all his fellow-friends and he enjoyed life to the utmost. At all times Donald has shown a spirit of willingness to serve others in any way he could and his characteristics of thoughtfulness and helpfulness will be remembered by many.

A military funeral service was held at his late home on Church street Wednesday, May 7, at 2 o'clock. Co. K of the 101st National Guard Infantry of Hingham attended the service in a body and stood guard over their departed comrade. The pastors officiating were Rev. Stanley Marple of Weymouth Heights and Rev. William Hyde of Weymouth. There were many beautiful floral tributes, showing the esteem and respect at which the youth was held.

The interment took place at the Old North cemetery, the bearers being six of his comrades of the guard, namely Albert Schofield, George Kelsey, Ralph Moulton, Peter Adamson, Allan Perrow and Vincent Perrow. The deceased is survived by his parents and a sister Dorothy.

FIFTY YEARS RAILROADING

George A. Round of Bates avenue, South Weymouth, completed fifty years railroad service on Saturday, May 3. Mr. Round was congratulated by officials and clerks of the freight claim office, N. Y. & H. R. R., where he is employed.

He entered the service of the Fitchburg railroad on May 4, 1874, in the auditor's office and served with that road until Jan. 1, 1894, when he was appointed a travelling auditor of the N. Y. & H. R. R., subsequently he was chief clerk at Newport, R. I. station for five years and came to the freight claim office Oct. 20, 1906.

Mr. Round recalls that at the time he entered service there were eight distinct railroads running into Boston, and fifty years ago was prior to telephones, electric cars, and Sunday papers. There were no Sunday trains and reference to an old time almanac shows that South Weymouth had two trains daily except Sunday and from Boston.

PLYMOUTH COUNTY KICKS

The Brockton Enterprise says: The city of Quincy is the prime mover in the project for the construction of the so-called Pilgrim highway through that city. There is no doubt but that it is needed. Traffic officers on some of the metropolitan crossings think they have a hard job, but they have never seen traffic moving South Shoreward on a Saturday afternoon and Sunday through Quincy square. There the cars go a half dozen ways at once over a width of highway that measures about as wide as any in the country. The figure of $1,000,000 for the project has been cut in half, but under this limitation a great deal can be done in getting a parallel highway to the South Shore started.

Plymouth county is interested in this road to the extent of 5 per cent of the cost, for the legislative bill to give authority for it puts this proportion of the expense on this county. Some towns in Plymouth county will benefit from the relief of congestion of traffic which flows through Quincy to them. This county will be assessed $22,500. The city of Quincy will pay $20,000 and Norfolk county will pay $15,000.

Plymouth county had to pay a big sum toward a new bridge recently in Norfolk county. Now it is expected to help shoulder the expense of a Norfolk county highway, at a higher figure than Norfolk itself. The county commissioners are opposing the bill and justly, for there is no reason why this county should pay a higher price for a Norfolk county improvement than Norfolk itself.

AMERICAN LEGION

A stand of colors which saw service in most of the major offensives of the World War was lost in a fire which destroyed the Bolivia, N. Y., American Legion clubhouse. The building had been presented to the post and had been handsomely furnished. It had only been occupied for three weeks.

Hoquiam, Wash., streets will be decorated in the future by the American Legion. A franchise for the purpose has been granted by the city government. Flag sockets will be erected at regular intervals along the sidewalks into which flags of uniform size may be hoisted on staffs of equal length. This scheme of street decoration already has been adopted by many Legion posts in Iowa.

A public library will be erected on the new townsite of American Falls, Idaho, by members of the Evansport of the American Legion. Whether the old building will be moved from the former site to the new one, or whether a new building will be constructed is not yet determined, but the Legion men will care for the library project, in order that it may become a memorial to World War soldiers who gave their lives in combat. The town must be moved on account of an investigation project which will require use of the present site.

Professional athletics on the morning of Memorial Day may be abandoned at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., if the requests of the American Legion to the city council are successful. Harold K. Joseph, commander of Lafayette post, made the request. The veterans also asked that the commemorative tablet for World War dead now on the city hall be removed to the lawn in front of the Legion home.

A request will be made of the government of France to erect an observatory on the battlefield of the Brandywine, three miles south of West Chester, Pa., which is to memorialize General Lafayette and his services to this country in the Revolutionary War. The movement was launched by members of the American Legion in Chester county, who are seeking improvement of Brandywine field as one of the historic shrines of America.

Rich Cape and Frock for Dainty Little Miss

This darling frock for little sister is designed in radium silk of soft old gold color, trimmed with white and accompanied by winsome little cape that matches.

White Satin Blouses Now Bidding for Favor

Now that black satin has come into especial favor for dresses and some are shown with the white vests, it seems opportune for the advent of the white satin blouse. Undoubtedly it will have many uses in the wardrobe. Most successful among these is the blouse which extends over the hips in usual fashion, but cut into vest points at the front and provided with pockets or at least one for the ubiquitous watch fob. Noteworthy in a group of these models seen recently was one with trimming in acrid embroidery done in black floss on the white satin, the pockets covered with the design and a panel of it in the front where it would be effective with a suit or coat.

Costume blouses are frequently of black satin with trimming motifs of Chinese inspiration lending color to the general effect of the Oriental cut. These are in evidence in the collections in Paris and are perhaps the newest thing that the display of spring blouses has to offer. Blues and pinks are enriched with motifs in silver and gold among the lighter color schemes. Paris also offers some of the shorter flared pointed blouses in black satin richly embroidered.

Georgette blouses have manners of their own in trimming and decoration suitable to the fragile or rather sheer fabric, for in reality georgette is extremely durable. Fine tucks and the use of plaques are both part of the designer's way of treating them. In a blouse of salmon pink georgette, for instance, one finds a deep, oblong inset of fine tucks outlined with fagoting and a band of embroidery at the bottom of the tucks, which are perpendicular in direction. With so much elaboration above the hip pockets are simple silks with a narrow, straight edge of embroidery.

Models for Young Ladies Are Chic and Snappy

This season's styles are particularly happy in their models for misses. The designs are chic and snappy, the materials charming and comfortable, the colors refreshingly pretty. There have been seasons when the young woman just out, or she that was just to make her debut, was either overelaborate or stupidly childish and unattractive in her dress.

The tendency of fond parents to bestow all at once the ornaments a girl may require one at a time, or to keep her as long as possible in the Junior class, has transgressed, at times, the rules of taste and fine proportion in the fashions designed for young women. But these rules have become standardized and are now representing the best talents of the leading artists of Paris.

There is an obvious compensating joy in their creating and most interesting, engaging things are shown in the new models; things lovely and expressive of youth in their design and colors. Many of the new ideas intended for young women are equally good for women at large, and there is no monopoly on the palette of colors from which they are developed.

Desk Accessories

The busy woman with much correspondence to care for will rejoice in the new accessories for her desk. Large envelopes of colored leather are plainly stamped in gold, "Paid," "Unpaid," "Answered," "Unanswered," etc. Each envelope is made of a different colored leather, such as rose, blue or tan, so that the search for the missing letter or unpaid bill is greatly facilitated.

Opals Are Chic

People evidently are losing their superstition about opals. At any rate, long chains of round, milky opals are considered chic. The opals are alternated with rose quartz or black onyx.

Hand Bag of Moire

The little moire hand bag is more and more favored. Its latest development is a handsome medallion of real petit-point in the center of the front.

IMAGINARY DOG

"Pap," said a colored youth, "Ah'd like you all to expatiate on de way de telegraph wo'ks."
"Huh! Dat's easy 'nuf, Rastus," said the old man. "Hit am dis yere a way: Ef dere was a dog big nuf so his head could be in New Yo'k an' his tail in Bostin', den ef you all tromp his tail in New Yo'k he bark in Bostin. Is you understand Rastus?"
"Yessah! yessah! But how am de wireless telegraph?"
For a moment the old man was stumped. Then he answered easily. "Prezactly de same, Rastus, wid the exception dat de dawg am 'maginary."

AT THE FAIR

"That showman said his show had the biggest bill of any show on the grounds."

"What did he have?"
"An old pelican tied to a stake."

Very.

The ingenue, so coy and pink, As seen in all stage camps, Is most refreshing, don't you think, When half the girls are vamps?

The Usual Thing.

Mrs. Borden-Lodge—You'll like this place. My boarders are just like one big family.

Mr. Newboarder—Do you mean to say they quarrel and backbite and borrow clothes and money from each other like that?

Hard to Forget.

Mildred—Grandma—It's a very narrow path that leads to heaven?
Grandma (very stout)—Yes, dear, straight and narrow.
Mildred—How did you manage, grandma?

The Lost Bet.

Billy—I hear a noise down-stairs. I'm sure it's a thief tryin' to steal our turkey and the plum pudding. I'd bet it's a man.

Mother—Don't be an idiot, Billy. A man, indeed! It's only your father.

THE CRYING NEED

The Speaker—Our population has decreased! The crying need of this community is—Voice in Rear—More babies, old top!

Heard on the Highway.

The burdens will be lighter And all the work well done, If you make the country brighter By following the Sun.

Certainly Appropriate.

Mandy—What yo' all going to call your new baby?
Rastus—Weatherstrip.
Mandy—Weatherstrip? How come?
Rastus—He done kep' me outa the draft.—Harvard Lampoon.

Pursued Him.

"How far do they trace their ancestry?"
"The grandfather, a bank director, was traced as far as China; there all traces were lost."

Little Admiration, Though.

"I get as many as twenty or thirty telephone calls a day."
"My, how popular! All admirers, I suppose?"
"No, wrong numbers."

A Puzzle for Mother.

"Wife, can you tell me why I am like a hen?"
"No, dear. Why is it?"
"Because I seldom find anything where I laid it yesterday."

NEW AT THE WHEEL

Motorist (tooting horn)—Hey there, you wouldn't know a fog horn if you heard one!
Pedestrian—Maybe so; but I know a greenhorn at a glance!

Money Embarrassments.

If you've no money, men will ask Why debts remain unpaid. If you have lots, they'll set the task Of telling how 'twas made.

To the New Cook.

"I shall expect to be treated as one of the family."
"Don't risk it, my girl, unless your cooking is above criticism."

Oh, Those Girls.

Edith—Jack is one man in a hundred.
Ethel—That you've flirted with, I suppose you mean, dear.

WOMEN GIVE OUT
Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Weymouth woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches, and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Weymouth woman's experience:

Mrs. Nellie Parnell, 47 Richmond street, says: "Several years ago I was in a bad condition with my kidneys. They were so, and there was a dull, heavy feeling through them. My kidneys acted too freely and I was languid and tired. I could hardly stoop on account of sharp pains in the small of my back. I read of Doan's Pills and the results others had received from them. I used several boxes and my kidneys became normal. The pains left my back and I was completely rid of the trouble".
Price 60¢ at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Parnell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LIGHTS USED ON DIFFERENT CARS

Various Little Details Owner
Should Know to Save Lamp Troubles.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

The lightning bug is brilliant. But it hasn't any mind. For it blunders through existence. With its headlight on behind.

Poor little lightning bug's headlight is standard equipment, as is his one speed (forward) transmission. Consequently Nature, not he, is to blame. Regardless of his defect the title of my story stands pat. I still maintain that there are headlights on the front of an automobile just as there are light heads behind the steering wheel. To illustrate.

Jones used to buy bulbs for his car which either threw out as much illumination as a glow worm, or burnt out almost immediately. It cost him quite some money before he found that even the ornery little headlight bulb had to be humored exactly as did the engine.

What Jones didn't know was that every car has an individual lighting system of either a six-volt, twelve-volt or eighteen-volt plant; that the manufacturer either connected each lamp socket to two separate wires (double contact base), or used the metal frame-work of the car for return, running only one wire to each socket (single contact base).

House Lamps Uniform.

Jones thought that motor lamps could be bought as one buys his house lamps. That lamps for home lighting were uniform in certain communities. That both cellar and parlor lights were of the same voltage? He was right about the home lighting, but wrong about his automobile lamps.

One day he ran into an accessory store where the salesman knew his business. This chap passed Jones a few questions that got him all bawled up:

"What voltage is your battery? Do you want a single or a double contact lamp and what candle power? Or, do you want a B or C lamp?" inquired the salesman.

"I don't know," stammered Jones. "I thought—"

"But you shouldn't guess at an important thing like that," snapped the salesman! "It's fellows like you that buy blindly and then run down the lamp manufacturer simply because you don't know what type lamp is needed. You can't buy any of our lamps until you find out what kind your car should carry."

Jones Acknowledged Mistake.

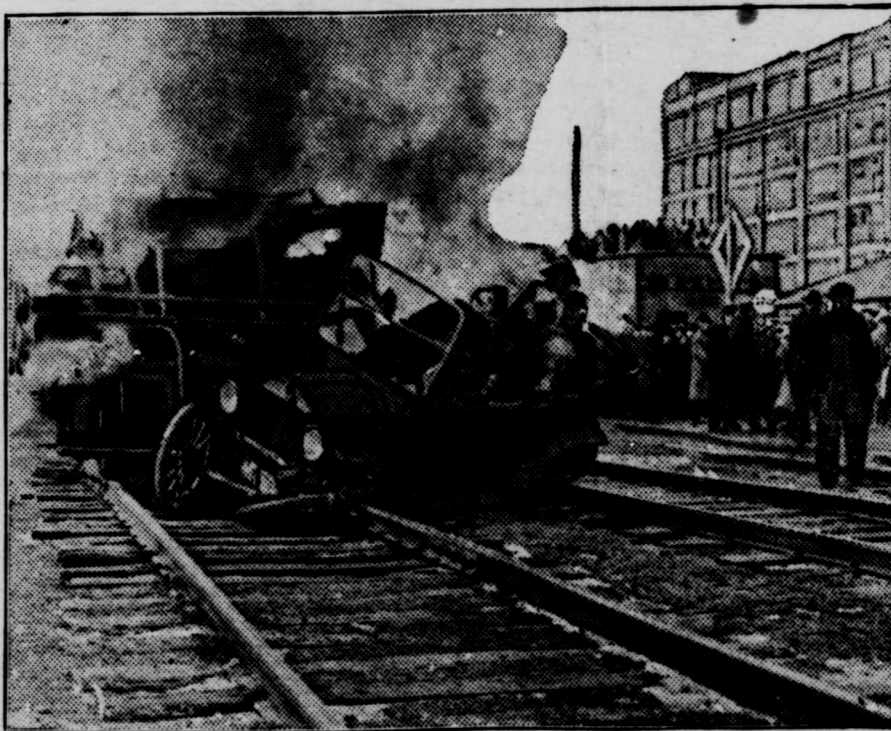

Jones went home furious. As soon as he quit seeing red he dug up the car's instruction book and started to read it. Interested, he went over to the local library and made a thorough study of motor lamps in general. Then he went back to this salesman and bought his lamps, apologized, thanked him for saving him future money, and installed the new lamps. His lighting troubles have all disappeared. He acknowledges that he was at fault—that he went about his headlight troubles with a light head—and that the manufacturer did make good lamps.

Reader, are you in Jones' predicament, or did you become acquainted with your lamps in time to save money and temper? That salesman sure had the right idea. He woke Jones up and Jones reciprocated by becoming a steady customer.

Force of Sudden Stopping

When a motor car is running 15 miles an hour and is brought to an abrupt stop, the impact is equal to that of a body striking the earth from a height of 15 feet. When a car is running 50 miles per hour and is stopped in its tracks, the impact is equal to that of a 120-foot fall.

DEATH TOLLS PAID AT GRADE CROSSINGS

There is always some otherwise than sane person willing to take a chance at a grade crossing and gamble with death. How many of these chance-taking folks there are is attested by the death tolls payable at railroad crossings. Here is a visualization of what happens to those who do not stop, don't look and don't listen when they come to grade crossings, but take a chance to beat the train to it. The party in this car took the chance. They disregarded the flagman's signal. The inevitable smash and loss resulted. It was the most realistic grade accident which could happen. The stunt was staged by the New York Central railway in connection with the automobile club of Corning, N. Y., at Corning, as a warning to those who are apt to become careless when coming to a grade crossing. The figures in this case were dumfles. They didn't know better—don't be a dummy. Be careful.

Rules Insuring Safety

Look out for children.
Drive on the right side of the road: it's just as good as the left.

When making minor repairs, stop the car where it can be seen from both directions.

Warning signs are never put up as ornaments. Always read and obey their messages of caution.

Be sure that "dimmers" really dim. It is dangerous for a motorist to drive into a blinding glare.

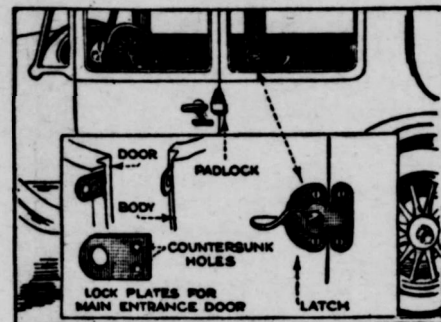

Try to help, instead of hindering, the traffic officer. He has a tough job, but is always ready to offer assistance.

Always use discretion, having the car under control at all times and be considerate of pedestrians and other motorists.

Security Against Theft Afforded by Neat Lock

Many small closed cars are not provided with door locks, and the owners do not always want to pay the price demanded for handles of the locking type, or regular pillar locks.

A car of this type may very easily be locked by means of a padlock, however, thus making it a safe place to leave clothing and packages, as well as affording additional protection against car theft. As indicated, the left front door is provided with two flat-iron lock plates, one being screwed in a recess cut in the door edge, the other in the casing, so that the screws are covered when the door is closed. The remaining doors are fitted with simple latches, or sliding bolts, which are fastened before leaving the car.

These fittings are inexpensive, and, with a neat padlock of good make, do not detract from the appearance of the car, while adding to its security against theft.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Ordinary Adhesive Tape Will Stop Water Leaks

When water leakage develops between the rubber hose and the outlet from the cylinder jacket, or where the hose joins the radiator pipe, it can be obviated by wrapping the joints with ordinary adhesive tape. The proper method to follow is to remove the clamps, tape the joints and shellac the tape. When the shellac is dry the hose clamps should be replaced. Be sure that the clamp draws up in a perfect circle. If it is out of shape and will not draw up properly it will bunch up the rubber hose so that leakage will begin again before long.

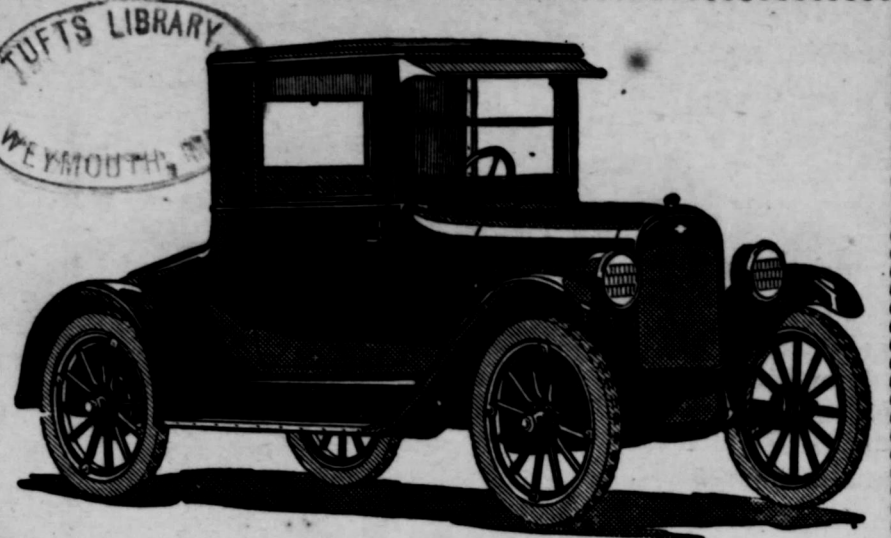

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Trouble comes when the jay walker meets up with the joy rider.

A collapsible water bucket for filling the radiator should be included in the equipment of every car.

Shellac, as well as graphite, is always helpful for preserving rims, and facilitates the removing of tires.

The horse may be passing out, but it is still a good idea, when approaching a railroad crossing, to whoa.

OLD COLONY GAS CO.

AFTER FOREIGN TRADE

A. W. Little, vice-president of the Sietson Shoe Co. of South Weymouth, will represent that company at the eleventh National Foreign Trade convention at Boston on June 4, 5, and 6. Mr. Little already has registered as a delegate. He is much interested in foreign trade, with which the entire shoe industry especially in New England and New York, is deeply concerned. A large volume of American shoes, slippers and moccasins goes to foreign lands annually but it is believed that this business has far greater possibilities. The rapid growth of South America, where manufacturing is at a minimum, affords one of the best fields, it is felt, for the sale of New England shoes. Also the market there has been developed to some extent. Closely allied with the export shoe problems are the problems concerned with the importation of raw and semi-finished materials, like hides and leather, on which New England factories are becoming more and more dependent. These problems will be fully discussed at the coming convention at Boston.

—Mrs. Matilda Johnson, widow of Hans Johnson and sister of Carl Everson, died Tuesday, aged 52. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 from her late residence, 481 Summer street.

—The 5-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keefe of Common street who has been under treatment for the past three months at the Children's Hospital was brought home yesterday and has completely recovered from her illness.

—Frank H. Richards, the well known local contractor and builder of Walnut avenue, is at the New England Baptist Hospital for treatment.

—Miss Ethel Keene, who has conducted a millinery store for several years at Mechanics Falls, Maine, has on account of ill health, closed out her business and returned to her home in this town.

—The ladies of Trinity Parish will hold a May supper, entertainment and social Monday, May 19, in Pythian hall, Weymouth; supper from 6.30 to 7.30.—Advertisement.

—A son was born a few days ago to Mr. and Mrs. George Mahoney of 78 Front street. Mrs. Mahoney before her marriage was Miss Helen DeNeill of Broad street.

—Herbert Sylvester for years employed at the Hollis garage, has taken a position at the Qualey garage, Braintree.

—Miss Evelyn Glover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Glover of 172 Washington street, and William Russell Griffin of East Braintree were married last Saturday evening by Rev. J. Caleb Justice, pastor of the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree. The groom is a member of Troop 1, Boy Scouts, of this town. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin are to reside in Quincy.

—The local fire department had a very busy time of it Tuesday in the afternoon. They had a run of four miles in answer to an alarm from box 35 for a lively brush fire at Greeley park, South Weymouth, and they had a hard time extinguishing the fire which for a time threatened to destroy a number of the cottages in the park. At 9 P. M. they were called to fight another big brush fire in the rear of the home of Frederick Sherrick on Summer street. They had just got through fighting the fire when they took another run of three miles to box 62 which was found to be false and had hardly got back to the fire station when box 143 came in, meaning another run of three miles, only to find that that also was a false alarm.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Killman were married 25 years Monday, May 5, and they celebrated the event by an informal reception at their home, 182 Washington street. A large number of friends called during the day and evening and extended their congratulations and left many handsome reminders of the occasion. In the evening there was a program of vocal and instrumental music and a lunch was served by their daughters, the Misses Diantha and Velma Killman and their son Wade Killman.

—Annual Fair of Tent 32, Daughters of Veterans, will be held May 15th and 16th in G. A. R. hall, East Weymouth. First night, Drama by Home Talent. Second night, "Granite City Four." Useful and fancy articles, food, candy and ice cream for sale.—Advertisement.

—Frank H. Morgan, who suffered a shock last Saturday, died at his home, 125 Allen street, East Braintree Tuesday night. Deceased was born in Gloucester 62 years ago. When a young man he came to Weymouth and entered the employ of B. F. Smith, druggist. A few years later he started in business for himself and a number of years later sold out to C. D. Harlow. He then entered the brokerage business, retiring a few years ago. His genial disposition made for him a host of friends. He is survived by his wife and a son, William B. Morgan. He was a member of Delta lodge of Masons of Braintree and Alpha chapter and South Shore commandery, Knights Templar, of Weymouth. The funeral will take place from his late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—For the week of May 5-10, new shares are being offered by the South Weymouth Co-operative Bank.—Advertisement.

—At the East Weymouth store of Donald G. Wilbar Shoe Co., its many customers will be pleased to hear that Joseph F. Hobson is there to look after their wants. Mr. Hobson is well known in East Weymouth and he will be pleased to show the fine line of shoes and hosiery that the Wilbar stores carry.—Advertisement.

—Wallace Bicknell of Hollis street is ill at his home with an attack of scarlet fever.

—Mrs. H. H. A. Beach of Hillsboro, N. H., has been spending a few days as the guest of Mrs. Florence E. Dyer of Main street.

—The Y. P. C. U., of the Second Universalist Church held their annual May Party in the Fogg Opera House on Friday evening last, Miss Louise Gay, chairman of the committee on arrangements. A one-act comedy, "O Helpless Man" was given by Stewart, Wicher, Grace Gay, Olive Ra'ph and J. William O'Donnell, under the direction of Miss Helen Simpson. Luncheon was enjoyed until a late hour, and there was a sale of ice cream and cake.

—Abigail Adams Rebekah lodge held their regular meeting in the Odd Fellows building on Wednesday evening, Mrs. Edith L. Denbocder, N. G., presiding. At 6.30 o'clock supper was served under the direction of Mrs. James Steever, followed by the usual business session. Leslie R. Smith of the State Department of Agriculture gave an illustrated address on "Agricultural Fairs".

—Miss Leona Marden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Marden of Pond street, and Charles J. Spakowski of North Abington were married on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride by the Rev. William D. Veazie, pastor of the Second Universalist church. The couple were attended by Miss Edwiga Spakowski, sister of the groom, and Dwight Marden, brother of the bride. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the members of the immediate families of the bridal couple and a few special guests and Mr. and Mrs. Spakowski left by motor for a wedding trip to New York. Upon their return they will reside at 68 Pond street.

—Members of the fifth grade of the Edward B. Nevin school pleasantly surprised their teacher, Miss Elizabeth Hallahan, when they hung a beautiful May basket to her at her home on Main street on Thursday afternoon, containing delicious confections and fruits. She was also presented with a bouquet of cut flowers. The pupils were entertained with music and games and refreshments were served by Miss Hallahan assisted by her sister, Miss Emily Hallahan.

—Dr. Bertha L. Guild of Torrey street has been called out of town on business for several days.

—Stereopticon lecture on Rome, Venice, and other Italian cities was given by Dr. York of this place at the Pond Plain Association Building Sunday. This was the last meeting for the season. Meetings will be resumed in the fall with a list of good speakers.

—The entertainment committee of the Norfolk Club has issued notices for open house next Tuesday evening. Games, eat's and a general social mix-up.

—The Norfolk Club has a tennis committee which will endeavor to put South Weymouth on the tennis map. Arrangements are being made for a tournament on Memorial Day, starting at 10 A. M. Finals and ladies' whist at 2 P. M.

—Mrs. Byron Allen of North Abington has been spending the past week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frost of Park avenue.

The minstrel show which was in the Pond Plain Improvement Assn hall on April 22 will be repeated in the Association Building Thursday evening, May 15, when the proceeds will be turned over to the Weymouth Hospital. Several changes have been made in the program and Edward G. Caswell will replace Hilliard H. Goodale as an "end".

—United States are good tires. So say Sargent Bros., Main street, South Weymouth, Porter Filling Station, Lovell's Corner.—Advertisement.

—Mr. and Mrs. Willie Blanchard of Union street have moved into the house on Reed avenue recently purchased from Mr. Libby. Mr. and Mrs. Libby and Mr. and Mrs. Wright are now occupying their new home on Union street.

—In preparation for their annual autumn sale members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Pond Plain Improvement Association met with Mrs. L. A. Winchenbach of Main street on Wednesday for a sewing session.

Concise Stated:

In 1895, Howes Brothers, now a Massachusetts Corporation, established a commission sole leather business, which has been consistently successful.

The business of this Company is unlike that of the average industrial; its character corresponds more to one of the functions of a National Bank. Money is advanced on hides, which have a quick market; the hides are insured and sent to tanneries and later the leather is sold on commission.

The capital of the Corporation is $3,000,000; undivided profits as of Dec. 31, 1923, $1,310,136.46; of the above capitalization, $1,500,000 is First Preferred Stock—the balance is Second Preferred and Common—there are no bonds.

Average net earnings for nine (9) years to Jan. 1, 1924, were $215,844 or equal to 2.25 times the First Preferred Dividend requirements—excellent for a purely commission business.

CLUB and SOCIAL

—The Service Star Legion, Old Colony chapter, will hold an open meeting at the All Souls church, Braintree Monday, May 12, at 2 P. M. The chief feature of the afternoon will be a food sale. Who has forgotten the Christmas food sale held at the Union church, East Braintree, last December, where the delicious cakes and preserves were snapped up in the twinkling of an eye? Tell your friends and neighbors about it in order that they may not lose an opportunity to get a bargain and at the same time promote a worthy cause. Every penny spent at this sale will help to buy flowers to place upon the graves of the World War veterans or to bring a little sunshine to their disabled "Buddies" confined in hospitals perhaps for life.

—The May recital given by the pupils of Miss Arita Taft Holgate at the Bates Opera House last Friday was much enjoyed. Miss Holgate has had a very successful winter after her study under Mr. Louis H. Chalif of New York as was shown by the pleasing numbers on the program. The "Une Reine de Mai" was especially pretty and Miss Holgate was presented a basket of flowers by her pupils and friends. Miss Arita Holgate served a dinner party to several guests Friday night at her home, 78 Commercial street.

—The Ace of Clubs met April 30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Swanson. Winners for the evening were, Arnold Swanson and Charles Wadsworth. All enjoyed a May basket lunch.

—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Dondero returned on Wednesday from their wedding trip to New York.

—Mrs. Mary J. Cushing quietly observed her 86th birthday anniversary at her home, 416 Main street, on Thursday, May 1. She was the recipient of a postcard shower and a number of gifts. Owing to the fact that she has been an invalid for some time, only a few of her intimate friends were permitted to see her. Among her gifts was a set of 14 books from her daughter, Mrs. Fearing of New Rochelle, N. Y.

—A well attended whist party was held by the Weymouth Catholic club Thursday evening last week in Sacred Heart hall. T. Mielbye of South Weymouth won the first prize a gold piece. Other winners were, Dr. William T. Wall, Mr. Carr, Miss Mary Mielbye, Miss Moore, John Heffernan and Mr. Nash. The spectator's prize was secured by Mrs. James Donovan.

MONDAY CLUB

The executive board of the Monday club of Weymouth has appointed the following as chairmen of committees: Current events—Mrs. E. R. Sampson Education—Mrs. Dora S. White Home Economics—Mrs. G. Leighton Social—Mrs. Elliott L. Tobey Federation secretary—Mrs. Alice Jewell

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

This has been an active time for the Unit as it has had a dance and its first initiation of members. The dance was charming with a delightful company and an orchestra that would make a mummy dance. Everyone present enjoyed the evening and the members also appreciated the financial aid it gave the treasury.

As for the initiation it passed off very smoothly and was carried out with the right spirit of respectful attention to all details with the fine work of the color bearers adding a touch of beauty to the whole affair. No real American can see the colors go by without a thrill and to those of the Auxiliary whose loved ones went overseas or did their duty on this side there comes a feeling that cannot be expressed.

As this month brings Memorial Day, with its remembrance of comrades transferred to the other shore and the tasks of that day the women of the Auxiliary are to give the boys of the Legion a lunch that day. The Unit offered a dinner as usual, but the boys suggested a lunch to make it easier for the women and they shall have a good one for them on that day. The next council meeting will be at Jorwood and Weymouth is expected to be present with its usual large company. This will be Saturday, May 24.

BOWLING

Madison A. A. suffered a double defeat at the hands of the fast East Weymouth P. O. bowling team on Wednesday evening at Monroe's Alleys, Quincy. The Sharkey All Stars showed fair form at the end of the first match, but it was too late and were entirely outclassed in the second match. With all hopes vanished the Sharkeys were crushed beneath a heavy shower of pins. Thomas and Petze starred in the first match and Garofalo walked away with all honors in the second match. Thomas of Braintree, bowling for Rugles, who is suffering a sprained ankle, had high average of the evening.

North WEYMOUTH

—News has been received from Springfield of the birth of a daughter on Saturday, May 3, to Mr. and Mrs. George Webber. Mr. Webber is a former resident, and is connected with the Stetson Shoe company.

—Mr. George Redding of North street has severed his connection with the A. A. Co., and is visiting his parents at their home in Cambridge.

—Thomas Meighan in the "Pied Piper of Malone," a Pathe News and comedy reel, will be given at Pilgrim church this evening.

—Edward, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Foley of Bradley road, is at the Carney hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis last Wednesday.

—Miss Christine Rickert of Curtis street is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from her duties at the First National Bank of Boston, and is on a trip to New York and Washington.

—Mrs. Albert Gladwin of Bridge street has had as a guest during the past week Mrs. N. C. Haskett of Amherst.

—The large barn on the Nash property at Thomas' corner is being torn down and a garage will be erected.

—Comb. 1 was called to East Weymouth on a false alarm about 10:30 Friday night.

The monthly meeting of the North Weymouth Welfare association will be held at Engine hall next Monday evening.

—United States are good tires. So say Sargent Bros., Main street, South Weymouth, Porter Filling Station, Lovell's Corner—Advertisement.

—Annual Fair of Tent 32, Daughters of Veterans, will be held May 15th and 16th in G. A. R. hall, East Weymouth. First night, Drama by Home Talent. Second night, "Granite City Four." Useful and fancy articles, food, candy and ice cream for sale.—Advertisement

TREMONT THEATRE

"The Ten Commandments", a motion picture combining ancient spectacle and modern drama, produced by Cecil B. De Mille from a story by Jeanie Macpherson, is now in its third capacity month at the Tremont theatre, Boston. The presentation with musical accompaniment has been arranged by Doctor Hugo Riesenfeld. The making of the epic occupied ten months on various West Coast locales and the services of more than 5000 persons. Previous movie records were eclipsed by the size of the buildings, the engineering feats, the variety and complexity of the scenes, narrative of miracles it was thought and the reproduction from the Bible no moving art could simulate. Among these are the Israelites' dry shod passage between the walls of water of the Red Sea, and the giving of the Commandments on Mount Sinai.

ENDING THE AGONY

A certain wealthy senator got into a dispute in Washington with a hotel clerk about a difference of $1.20 in his bill. After going into every angle of the supposed overcharge for more than an hour, the senator gloomily paid the bill and went his way. Just as he passed out of the front door a motor car tire out in front blew up with a loud report like a pistol shot. The young hotel clerk clapped his hands to his brow melodramatically, and cried:

"Good-night! The senator has shot himself!"

"My wife has forgotten how to play the piano."
"You're to be congratulated."
"Not so—my daughter has just started to learn."

Strange is Right.
It's a strange age

Who still can blush
Without the aid of paint.

Reversing the Order.
The Popular Fiction Writer—I'm ready to take up my new novel, Miss Keytap.
His Typist—Good! Would you mind dictating the last chapter first, Mr. Thrills, I'm just crazy to know how it turns out?

A Beggar's Advantage.
"Why is a strong man like you found begging?"
"Ah, madam, it is the only profession in which a gentleman can address a beautiful lady without the formality of an introduction."

Why He Hesitated.
"If you're not feeling well, why don't you go to your doctor? Can't you trust him?"
"Oh, yes, I can trust him; the trouble is he is not altogether willing to trust me."

Not the Slightest.
"A woman can put so much meaning into a look that one wonders why she ever takes the trouble to say anything," remarks an exchange.
No trouble at all, brother—it's a pleasure.

A UNIQUE HAT
"What an interesting hat—so unique!"
"Yes, isn't it? She made it of straws saved from last summer's ice cream sodas, and each straw has on it the initials of the fellow who paid for the treat."

A Picture of Father Time.
Oh, friend, the whiskers you display
Leave us a bit dismayed.
We wish you'd throw the scythe away
And get a razor blade.

Limited Conversationalist.
The bore—I think this weather is awful!
The girl—You shouldn't grumble at the weather. If it wasn't for that you would have nothing to talk about."

Subtlety.
"What must I talk about to a lady to please her?"
"Her beauty!"
"And if she has none?"
"About the plainness of others."

An Agreement.
"At last my wife and I have agreed on something."
"For the luvamike, what is it?"
"We both agree that I was a fool to buy that second-hand car."

Atmosphere Changed.
Wife—You used to rave about how fair I was.
Hub—Yes, but now you do nothing but storm.

Old-Fashioned Modesty.
"Am I the first man to beg a kiss of you?"
"Yes, the others were bolder, they just took it."

STATE FEDERATION

Miss Alice F. Titus, retiring chairman of the press and publicity department, has been invited to take part in the press programs at the biennial convention to be held in Los Angeles in June.

State Federation headquarters has moved to the Kensington building, 687 Boylston street, Boston, where the rooms are on the third floor.

For the Marion Chase Baker Fellowship, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis reports the receipt of $1644.

While the program of the annual meeting to be held in the New Ocean House, Swampscott, May 14, 15, and 16, will consist largely of reports, showing what the various committees have accomplished during the year yet there will be some good music and addresses by prominent men and women.

Mr. Sherman Rogers will speak Wednesday evening, his subject being "Leaders versus Drivers"; Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker will speak on "International Obligations of American Women". In the evening Mrs. Caesar Misch, president of the Rhode Island State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on "The Evolution of Education" and on Friday evening Miss Helen B. Risdon's topic is "Better Homes in America".

THE ORPHEUM

"The Spoilers", which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, Saturday, May 17, is said to be a stirring picture of Rex Beach's celebrated novel of the historic clash that occurred in the Klondike when crooked politicians tried to rob the miners of their properties. This book was a sensation in its day and when a decade ago Selig made a film of it, that too was a big success. The 1923 "Spoilers" which was produced by Jesse D. Hampton for Goldwyn is declared to be one of the finest and most thrilling photoplays ever made.

There is a remarkable cast of stellar players, headed by the manly Milton Sills, the beautiful Barbara Bedford, and with blond Anna Q. Nilsson as the sympathetic Cherry Malotte. Noah Beery, the powerful villain of many a movie, is said to be at his suave worst in "The Spoilers". Robert Edeson, Mitchell Lewis, Ford Sterling, Rockcliffe Fallowes, Robert McKim and Sam De Grasse are some of the other well known players in the cast. Miss Bedford is the girl from the States with whom Mills, as Roy Glennister, falls in love. Miss Nilsson, a girl of the dance hall, who roams from camp to camp in the Northland, "asking odds of no man".

Director Lambert Hillier has adhered closely to Beach's story, which was founded on historic facts as viewed at close range. Critics have said that if anyone wants to see before his eyes the rough, reckless and ready life of Alaska it was in the days of the gold rush, he can see it in "The Spoilers".

MARION DAVIES AT HER BEST

A photoplay that has never been surpassed for heartfelt tenderness, romance and sprightly comedy is Marion Davies' new Cosmopolitan picture, "Little Old New York", which has been booked at Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, on Thursday, May 15. Miss Davies in the dual role of Patricia and Pat O'Day, was said by the newspaper critics of New York, London, Toronto, Los Angeles and other cities where it was first shown, to have scaled new pantomimic and acting heights, and to have achieved a success even greater than that which she scored as "Princess Mary Tudor" in "When Knighthood was in Flower".

"Little Old New York" is a photoplay which holds a special appeal for every American, no matter where he lives. One of the big incidents in this picture is the first trip of Robert Fulton's steamboat, the "Clermont", up the Hudson River, amid the hoots and howls of derision of the thousands of people lined up along the river. The first steamboat itself is shown with historical accuracy and its trip up the Hudson was detailed much as it actually happened.

In the story told by "Little Old New York" appear such famous historical characters as John Jacob Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Henry Brevoort, Washington Irving, Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat; Delmonico, and many others. They appear on the screen as realistically as if they had just stepped out from the printed pages of history.

Woven around such historical personalities and happenings is the story of a little Irish girl who, disguised as a boy, comes to America to lay claim to a fortune bequeathed to her brother Pat, who died on the trip over to New York to claim the fortune. Disguised as her dead brother, Patricia arrives in New York and falls in love with the step-son of her uncle, who would have inherited the fortune if Pat O'Day had not arrived within a specified time to claim the inheritance. Miss Davies, masquerading as the boy Pat, is faced with the difficulty of assuming a boyish swagger, yet at the same time experiencing all the feelings of a young girl falling in love—and having to keep that fact hidden from everyone. Miss Davies handles the role with fine feeling and acting ability. She makes the character of plucky little Pat shine with sparkling humor. There is much comedy caused by the constant battle between her natural feminine instincts and her determination to assume a boyish swagger. The big spectacular climax comes when the daring Pat is rescued from a mob of 1000 men who wanted to whip her, for having stopped a prizefight by ringing a fire bell to keep the man she loves from losing the money he had wagered on the result. This money was needed to finance Robert Fulton's new invention of the steamboat.

Office of the Department of Public Works—Divisions of Waterways and Public Lands. State House, Boston, April 25, 1924.

Notice is hereby given that A. J. Richards & Son has made application to the Department of Public Works, Division of Waterways and Public Lands, for license to build and maintain a pile wharf in Weymouth Fore River in the town of Weymouth, as per plans filed with said application; and Thursday the 15th day of May, 1924, at 2 o'clock P. M. and this office, have been assigned as the time and place for hearing all parties interested therein.

For the Department,
WILLIAM F. WILLIAMS,
Commissioner of Public Works

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of CHARLES FRANCIS GUTTERSON late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Bertha S. Gutterson of said Weymouth, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving surety on her official bond;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourth day of June, A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Joseph R. McCoolle, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

President Allen at South Weymouth

The most successful and enthusiastic meeting which the Citizens' Alliance of Weymouth has yet held took place in the Parish house of the Old South Union church, South Weymouth, last Friday evening.

Supper was served to nearly 200 men and women by the ladies of the church. Patriotic songs were sung between the courses.

Following the dinner, President John F. Robinson called the meeting to order, and after reviewing some of the achievements of the Alliance, explained, as he has done at other meetings, the object of the organization. This he defined as "encouraging and furthering obedience to law; not to some laws, but to all the laws of town, state, and nation." This, he contended, is a valid object, thoroughly sane and patriotic, and scarcely open to objection on the part of any citizen who has taken the Freeman's oath; and he stressed the purpose of the Alliance to encourage and foster obedience through reminder, suggestion, and education, on the assumption that the large number of our citizens wish to be law-abiding and patriotic, and resorting to measures for enforcing obedience to law only when other measures have failed. The address of the evening was given by the Hon. Frank G. Allen, president of the Massachusetts senate. It was a frank, straight-forward, unequivocal pronouncement in favor of clean, honest, economical government, and a high-grade, responsible, loyal citizenship.

Deplored the corruption among government officials who do not recognize that "public office is a public trust," he nevertheless declared that the vast majority of public officials are honest and responsible, and he found the great menace to the American form of government in those citizens who are too indifferent to the public welfare to cast their ballots in the primary and regular elections, and in those other citizens who are disloyal to the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the land, as they obey and support only the laws they like and treat with contempt the laws that do not meet their judgment or interfere with their desires. He showed the confusion that inevitably results from this illogical position, and the impossibility of maintaining an American institution on this basis. If the law is on the statute book, it is treason to disobey it, or to foster disobedience. If the law is not a good one, it may be repealed by the regular processes provided. So long, however, as it is the law, the good citizen will obey it and support its enforcement against those who would disobey it.

He deplored the fact that Massachusetts is one of only three states which has not provided laws by which the Eighteenth Amendment, now a part of the fundamental law of the country, may be enforced in their respective commonwealths. It is at variance with all our history as a loyal state of the Union to be so shamefully disloyal here, and he hoped the people in voting in referendum No. 3 next autumn would ratify the enforcement measure already passed by the General Court and signed by the governor.

Referring to conditions under constitutional prohibition, he declared that, in spite of the way enforcement is hampered because of the lack of enforcement legislation, conditions are much superior to those that prevailed before prohibition was enacted. He said he had been a large employer of labor, and he knew from first-hand contact that the old "Blue Monday" in the mills and factories had disappeared.

It was the unanimous opinion of those present that they had listened to an urging call to high-grade American citizenship, to a citizenship which subordinates private inclination or desire to the public good, and that we have in the president of the senate a public official who measures up to the highest American standards of honor and statesmanship.

The membership of the Weymouth branch of the Alliance has passed the 500 mark, and is still growing, which indicates a wholesome spirit of respect to our country's laws among our citizens.

MRS. MARY FLANNERY DEAD
Mrs. Mary Flannery, 76, wife of Edward Flannery, died Tuesday at her home, 481 Broad street. She had been in poor health for a long time. Mr. and Mrs. Flannery celebrated their golden wedding a few years ago. Besides her husband she leaves three sons, Rev. Fr. James H. Flannery, pastor of St. John the Evangelist church, Hopkinton, Joseph Flannery of Brockton and John F. Flannery of this town; also two daughters Mrs. Esther Hinckley and Miss Sarah A. Flannery, both of this town.

LIQUOR SEIZED
About 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon Chief Pratt with Officers Boyle, Butler, Hunt, Sewall, Coyle, made a trip to the North Weymouth shore and interrupted the loading of a truck that was found on the premises of the Bayview Inn.

Search of the Inn and barn revealed 2000 five-gallon cans of Belgium alcohol. The stuff was about to be taken away in a truck, owned by Samuel Levine of Chelsea. The value of the liquor was placed at $10,000.

ANNUAL FAIR

The annual fair of the Citizens Association of Precinct Four was held Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 24, 25, 26. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. The candy table in charge of Mrs. John Heffernan took the form of a candy kitchen, its wares being displayed behind the curtained windows of the booth with a flower box of poppies at the base. Mrs. Lincoln Stowell with her committee sold her cakes from beneath a wistaria colored booth lighted with a huge wistaria shade. The ice cream table with Mrs. Cassius Tirrell chairman, was decorated in shell pink and white suggestive of luscious strawberry ice cream. The butterfly booth with its varied bright colors showed the assorted articles which the fancy table under Mrs. Mary Tirrell had on sale. The apron table in charge of Mrs. Forrest Torrey was daintily festooned in pale green and white. Grabs were sold by the Chinese laundry method behind an appropriate booth, lighted with lanterns, the dainty Chinese costumed lady, Mrs. Thomas Culbert, sold her checks and delivered her parcels. Red, white and blue in masculine severity decorated the grocery table, of which Edwin Adams had charge.

The first evening a very fine concert was given, directed by Miss Katherine Melville with Miss Mary Cullinane and Thomas Cullbert, soprano and tenor soloists. Miss Mary Garrity, dancer, and Miss Marion Husbands, reader.

Friday evening Mrs. Carl T. Elsner presented the play, "No men wanted", Mrs. Florine Ducker and Mrs. Etta Stone taking the parts of two bachelor girls, and Mrs. Elsner herself the part of the amusing colored maid Pryncela Abercrombie.

Saturday evening the Jazz Jonah orchestra played for dancing, which goes without saying, was generally appreciated and enjoyed, after which the remaining articles of all tables were auctioned off.

Thursday ended a very successful affair financially because they made a goodly sum to swell the treasury and socially, since everyone enjoyed both the hard work and the pleasure connected with it.

S. OF V. AUXILIARY

Auxiliary 31, S. of V., will meet in G. A. R. hall Monday, May 11, in the afternoon at 2. There will be a whist party, and at 8 in the evening a business meeting.

The Auxiliary presented Troop 3, Boy Scouts, with a flag at the Methodist church May 1. The president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Almira Robinson, assisted by Mrs. Lizzie Cowing, made the presentation speech, and Scoutmaster Eddy received the flag and responded.

The many friends of Mrs. Stodard are pleased to hear that she is able to leave the Charlesgate Hospital and has been removed to her home.

MAY BREAKFAST

The ladies of the First Universalist church at Weymouth had about 200 out to the May breakfast. The menu was a varied one and the guests could have eggs in any style or baked beans, or cold meats, or griddle cake or whatever they wished.

Town Insurance

More Expensive

The weekly meeting of the Board of Selectmen was held Monday afternoon. All members were present.

Newland Holmes appeared before the board as representative of the Forestry Committee appointed at the annual town meeting and asked that the committee be allowed the sum of $25 for expenses in entertaining the State Forester. The Selectmen voted the sum asked, to be taken from the miscellaneous fund.

John S. Bryant of 541 Washington street asked for a permit for a gasoline station and a hearing will be given.

A hearing will also be given to petitioners for the acceptance of the laying out and acceptance of Birch-brow avenue at North Weymouth, and also on petition of C. Irving Bates for permission to erect a six-car garage in the rear of 191-193 Washington street at Lincoln Square. The abutters on lots 35 to 42 inclusive, Babcock avenue, submitted a petition that the town accept the gift of ten feet of land on that avenue for widening the above named street from 30 to 40 feet.

A petition was received for a fire alarm box at the corner of Standish road and Ramblers way and an article to that effect will be inserted in the warrant for a special town meeting to be called by the Selectmen in the near future.

Victuallers licenses were voted Mrs. Julia Brush Hart, Bridge street, North Weymouth; Milo B. Comstock, Massachusetts and Wessagusset roads, North Weymouth; Mrs. Harriet Hemingway, 79 Richmond street, Weymouth Landing, and James Tillmanstein, Jackson Square, East Weymouth.

John W. Coyle of 255 Commercial street was appointed a special police officer.

Lucia Bagley was given a permit for an entertainment May 8 and 9.

A communication was received from the County Commissioners stating that they had received complaints that the drawbridge on Quincy avenue had been kept open for an unreasonable length of time and suggested that if necessary to facilitate traffic that more help be employed to open and close the draw or an electric system be (Continued on page thirteen)

WHEN YOU WERE A BOY --

did you have a savings account of your own?

The father who has his boy's welfare at heart encourages him in saving regularly.

This regular saving will make a careful boy of him, and form a habit of thrift valuable to him in later years.

Are such results not worth a little effort?

$1.00 or more will open a savings account for him.

Ask the Weymouth Savings Bank Man, --

He will tell you all about how to start a Savings Account, how the Bank helps it grow by adding interest.

It certainly is a pleasure to know that you are on the road to success through your own efforts in saving.

WEYMOUTH, MAY 9, 1924

WEYMOUTH STREETS

The street department has made a much needed improvement at the junction of Pleasant and Ralph Talbot streets where a larger drain pipe has been laid to properly carry off the larger amount of drain water that collects at this point.

Near Lovell's Corner on Pleasant street the roller and men have improved a rough spot.

Many of the gutters have been scrapped and the streets patched ready for tarvia that will commence when the new machine arrives.

For the many miles of streets that Weymouth has, all one has to do is to go into surrounding towns nearby or far away and see the difference.
Weymouth streets are in very good condition with only a few bad spots that will soon be fixed.

Probably nothing prevents prompt improvement than lack of equipment.
Some people in Weymouth feel that all the road work can be done at once, but it is impossible to work one roller or one set of equipment in all parts of town. Unless the workmen have more equipment the work must wait, for it takes time to move it to one part of town, say North and South, and instead of moving it back and forth every few days with a good program mapped, improvements are made in one part then moved along to the next, but all this takes time.

VERY SENSITIVE

A famous author and an ambitious young beginner arrived together at a seaside hotel. On the second day of their stay the author took the landlord aside and said: "I want to talk to you about this young friend of mine. He is now in the writing game and earns very little money. As a favor to me I wish you'd make his bill as small as possible."

The landlord, highly gratified at the great man's friendly attitude, promised to do as requested. He was about to go when the author added: "By the way, don't let my bill be any bigger than his. It would humiliate him.
Boys like that are extremely touchy."

A GOLF MUTT
I think that old
Bill Green's a mutt,
He chuckles when
I miss a putt.

Dizzy Birds.

The woodpecker was a jailbird.
He got it on the head:
This is an age when one can't be
So openly a "red."

Relapse.

He—What do you say to a honeymoon in Europe?
She—But, Ernest, you know how afraid I am of seasickness.
"Yes, but you ought to know that love is the best remedy for that."
"Perhaps—but—think of the return trip."

Sweet Revenge.

A woman bought a cent paper of pins and handed the man a $10 bill.
"I'm sorry," she said, "but I haven't got a nickel."
"Don't worry, lady," said the 5 and 10-cent store man, grinding his teeth;
"you'll have just 100 of 'em in a minute."

Might Well Have Paused.
"Why didn't you get an automobile?"
"Because I don't know whether or not I could manage one."
"You didn't let that consideration stop you when you wanted a wife."

Misfortune.

Crawford—I understand he's in very hot water at home these days.
Crabshaw—Yes, he headed a committee to pick twelve famous women and he forgot to include his wife.

WHY NOT?

Hey, boys!
Come on in out of the rain!

A Black Tale.

The Widow Crow found wearing black was quite beyond endurance;
She said: "I'll buy some gayer things
With Hubby's life insurance."

Veterans.

Flapper (after the accident)—It was all your fault. I've been driving carefully. I've had two years' experience.

Old Boy (picking himself up)—But I've always walked carefully. I've had sixty-eight years' experience.

Obliging.

"What did you say when Jack threatened to kiss you?"
"I told him I'd just like to see him."
"And then?"
"Well, Jack always tries to do what I like."

The Specialist.

"So you're a specialist."
"Yes. I've discovered that is the way to get fancy prices for doing what the family doctor is supposed to do as a part of the day's work."

Financially Educated.

"What did your son learn at college?"
"Well, sir, he can ask for money in such a way that it seems like an honor to give it to him."

EVERYBODY ELIGIBLE.

The Mister: Do
you belong to the Sons of the Latin-American Revolution?
The Don: I wouldn't belong to anything as common as that.

Economical Production.
A farmer viewed his garden patch
And said, "What bliss we'd view
If airplanes could lay eggs and hatch
As moths and beetles do!"

Appropriate Smells.
Lady (inspecting Stuart house, to agent)—It seems to smell very musty.
Agent—Slightly, ma'am, perhaps, but not more so than is in keeping with the period.—Punch.

Experienced.
Madge—Is it safe to let Charlie manage the car with one arm?
Marjorie—I guess so. He's mighty handy with the other.—Judge.

TROTTERING SEASON OPENS

The Old Colony Driving Club opened the season of 1924 at the Fairgrounds at South Weymouth Saturday afternoon, under most favorable conditions. There was a large attendance and some fine racing.

The race in Class D trot and pace was a lively one. Baby Bond, J. F. Lynch's bay mare, won the first heat, but had to give way to J. W. Totman's brown gelding Belfair in the second.

She came back, however, in the final heat after an exciting contest. Another exciting race occurred in Class E. trot and pace, between Joseph Frank's gelding, Budd Todd, and Charles Cavanaugh's black mare, Viola. Budd Todd won the first and final heats and Viola the second. In each heat the two contestants came the judges had hard work determining under the wire so close together that they which had won. The summary:

NEVER HEARD OF HER

The movies look to all sorts of sources for their material and there have been diggings in many strange fields. One talented young writer thought of trying out mythology. So he went to his general manager with the story of Diana.

The general manager viewed with some interest the illustration presented.

"Who is she?"
"Diana, goddess of the chase."
"Well, she's a pretty fair looking, but we ain't making any more chase pictures."

A SOUND ARGUMENT

Mr. Pester—No! I can't afford two thousand dollars for a car.
His Wife—But it will be a real economy. Just think how much it will save this season on my walking costumes.

A Wallflower.

"And how do you like codfish balls?" I said to Sister Jennie.
She said, "I really couldn't say—I've never been to any."

No Ear for Music.

"Has your daughter finished her musical education?"

"I suppose so," answered Mr. Twobble, "but sometimes when she is playing one of those classical pieces it seems to me that she is starting to learn all over again."

Answer, Short and Snappy.

Housewife—Every morning it's the same story, Lena, always late. How many more times am I to fret about this?

Lena—Ten times, Mrs. Sharp. Today is the twentieth, I leave on the first.

Taken at Her Word.

Angelina—I don't like you when you're sentimental. Can't we be just good pals?

Edwin—Fine. Lend me a couple of bucks, pal. I went broke showing my girl a good time.

Changes.

Brown—These last few years have certainly worked wonders in the life of a farmer.

Smith—Yes. How so?
Brown—Formerly the farmer blew out the gas, now he "steps on it."

NOT LIKE THE MEN

Woman's work is never done.
And she doesn't get time and a half for overtime, either.

May It Be Ever Thus.

With glowing cheeks and sparkling eyes,
That youth vivacious hath—
Attended by her stately groom,
She took the bridal path.

The Very Place.

Sweet Young Thing Driving Through Suburb—Would you like to see where I was vaccinated?

He (with enthusiasm)—Sure.
S. Y. T. (pointing toward house they had just passed)—Well, right in there.

His Contribution.

Stewan—Oh, say, Miss Tea Kettle, can't you cut out that old stuff and sing something up-to-date.

He Found Out.

Why call it Roaring River?
He wondered o'er and o'er.
But when he came to pay his bill
You should have heard him roar.

Fortissimo.

"Phwat's that noise, Mrs. Mulcahy?"
"It's me, daughter Maggie runnin' up and down th' scales."

"Begorra, she must weigh a ton."

Knew It Already.

"Now, Johnny, don't your conscience tell you you have done wrong?"
"No, grandma; I knew it already."

Get the Most Out of Toll Calls

COMPLETING for you something like 60,000,000 toll calls a year, we ought to have a pretty keen idea how your telephone toll needs are best met.

On talks over a hundred miles, notwithstanding a 25% higher rate, you do well to place your calls for the person with whom you wish to speak.

There are two exceptions. If at destination there is surely someone with whom you can have satisfactory talk—or if your calls are so frequent that occasional failure is out-weighted by lower rates—then your call may be made "station-to-station." That is: by number if you know it; "will-talk-with-anyone" if you don't.

Inside the hundred-mile radius, the advantage of number calling grows—especially now that our local operators in Greater Boston give practically local service on the major part of your number toll calls.

The wise telephone user, nowadays, acquaints himself with this new service. Have you put it to work for you?

MR. CAT AND MR. FOX

ONCE there lived near a wood a big cat who was not afraid of dogs. All the cats were afraid of him. He grew so bold that he thought he was braver than any animal around.

One day he decided to live in the woods and live with the wood folks, and he had not gone very far when he met a fox. "Good-morning, friend," said the fox, "are you looking for a home?"

"Yes," replied the cat. "I am far too brave to live around those cats and dogs outside the woods. I can scare any of them, so I have decided to become wild and live in the woods."

"Um," said the fox, all the time thinking how he could use this silly cat to help him in some way. "Well, come to my den. It is large enough for us both until you grow big and get a tail like mine, and by that time you will find a home of your own."

"I should like a tail like yours very much," replied the cat, who had not taken his eyes off of the bushy tail of

ing but green stuff must you eat if you expect to get a tail like mine. You had better run out and eat your fill of grass and then run down the path to the river and drink all the water you can hold."

Though he did not care for this part of the plan, Mr. Cat cast one longing glance at the bushy tail he so coveted and out he ran.

When he returned Mr. Fox sat with his feet on the stove, tipped back in his chair, smoking. "Now wash the dishes and tidy up the place and then we will go to bed."

Mr. Cat was so hungry that he slyly licked the bones Mr. Fox had left and he was glad to go to sleep and forget he was hungry.

The next morning bright and early Mr. Fox had him out of bed to cook his breakfast—two plump chickens he had brought home very early.

"Exercise, my friend," he said, "plenty of it, or you will never grow a bushy tail. Perhaps you do not get enough exercise. Suppose you come with me tonight and help me get a chicken. That will give you a little more exercise than you get here."

Mr. Cat did not think it was lack of exercise that kept him from growing the bushy tail; but he trotted along with Mr. Fox that night up to the farm.

When they reached the poultry house Mr. Fox said: "Now you run in and drive them out and I will catch them. I am quicker than you at catching chickens."

While inside, Mr. Cat stepped on a trap, which held his foot fast.

"Ha! ha!" laughed Mr. Fox. "I thought as much," he said, jumping back to a safe distance.

"Come here and help me out of this thing!" cried Mr. Cat, beginning to understand that Mr. Fox was friendly only to himself.

"I guess not, my friend," replied Mr. Fox. "I hope your tail grows big and bushy and you won't have to wait long to grow wild. You will be wild enough in a few minutes with the trap fastened to your paw." And off he ran, leaving poor Mr. Cat very unhappy.

"So you are the one that has been catching my chickens," said the farmer, when he released Mr. Cat the next morning. And if the tracks of Mr. Fox had not been found it would have gone hard with Mr. Cat.

But Mr. Cat had no wish to run away. He stayed right there at the farm and in time he caught all the mice and rats that bothered the farmer and his wife and always he was on the watch for the fox.

One day Mr. Cat was looking at a fox that he had caught and he noticed that he was looking at the eye of a fox that he saw, hoping it would be the one that had the fox, "but how can I ever hope to have such a handsome one as you have?"

"Easiest thing in the world to get if you are willing to follow my instructions," said the sly fox.

By the time they reached the den Mr. Cat was willing to do anything to grow and have a tail like the fox.

"We had better not lose time," said Mr. Fox. "The sooner we begin the treatment the quicker you will grow wild and get your bushy tail. The first thing to be done is for you to do all the work, I mean exercise—you must get plenty of exercise, build the fire and cook the supper!"

Mr. Cat was willing and he was pretty hungry, so when the chicken was done he hurriedly drew up his chair beside the fire and passed his plate.

"Oh, I forgot to mention that another thing to be strictly followed is a vegetable diet," said the fox. "Noth-

JOHNSON-POLSON
Harry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Johnson of Weymouth, and Miss Ragnhild T. Polson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Polson of Brockton were married Monday afternoon at the Montello Lutheran church. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Cary street, and the young people left for an auto trip to Maine and Niagara Falls, returning by way of Springfield. They will live for a time at Wessagusset.

Mr. Johnson is a veteran of the world war and a member of the Weymouth Post, American Legion. He is manager of a store at Weymouth. Miss Polson is employed at the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co.

WRECKED IN QUINCY
A Quincy paper says:—An auto was wrecked on Adams street late last week when the machine skidded and brought up against a tree opposite the Goucher homestead. As far as is known, no one was hurt.

The machine was found abandoned by Patrolman Joseph Griffin, who reported the discovery to headquarters and hung two lanterns on it for riding lights. The police say the machine is registered to Edward W. Jameson, 552 Overlook road, East Weymouth.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

PUTTING BABY ON THE BED

IT IS commonly believed, in New England, at least, and probably in many other sections of the country, that if the first time a baby is taken visiting it is placed on a married couple's bed there will be a child born to that couple.

This is a phase of a world-wide superstition which has not only been handed down to the civilization of today from our primitive forbears, but exists in an almost identical form among nearly all civilized races. It is an excellent example of how the primitive mind, working in unrelated peoples, ignorant of each other's existence and far asunder in point of location, arrives at a common conclusion. In some savage tribes barren women are given a carved image of a child or a bundle of rags done up in imitation of a baby, to fondle; and in all such tribes there exist analogous customs for producing fruitfulness in married couples—with the exception, perhaps, of the lowest type of savages, the Australian aborigines.

The superstition is the purest form of primitive sympathetic magic of the so-called homeopathic type—like produces like. It is interesting to note that the American Folk-Lore society finds this superstition common today in sections where, once upon a time, they were grievously given to burning witches.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

CARRIE

CARRIE may almost be regarded as a purely American name, though her origin is discovered in the Karling romances of the Teutons. Curiously, the meaning of the name is translated as "man", and Carrie's etymological predecessors were almost universally masculine names. The various Charles' and Carls who figured in English and Teutonic history are close relatives of Carrie.

Carrie was evolved in England after Charles had been brought there by the brave Lady Derby from the house of La Tremouille, into which the daughter of the unfortunate Charlotte d'Albret had carried it. The Anglicized version, Carolina, became the most popular of the two names, since it was borne by the queen of King George II, who brought it through Germany from an Italian source.

Carrie, an English diminutive brought to this country by the christening of the Carolinas among the Thirteen Colonies, caught the fancy of Southern residents to such an extent that it is now given in baptism as a totally independent and etymologically intact name.

The beryl is the talismanic stone belonging to Carrie. It is said to make her amiable and inconvertible, and to give her the power to hold the love of her husband. Tuesday is her lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

A PRAYER

AS YOU nobly proved your country's Faith,
And kept in full your rendezvous with Death,
So may God grant that in these days of strife
I, too, may keep my rendezvous with Life.
And hold those high ideals of sacred pride
Safe and secure for which you fought and died.

—Albert S. Gardner, a former resident, recently returned from the Panama district, has been the guest of local friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Crawford of Central street have returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where they have been spending the winter.

—The Mission Circle connected with the Second Universalist church held a successful food sale in the church vestry on Saturday afternoon in charge of a committee of which Mrs. Roy Sherman was chairman.

SELECTMEN

(Continued from page nine) installed. It was voted that the chairman call a joint meeting of the boards of Selectmen of this town and Braintree to consider the matter.

The Board of Fire Engineers reported that they had organized with Herman O. Collier as chief, and Harold A. Hawes as clerk, and that they had appointed Francis Coolidge superintendent of the fire alarm which was confirmed by the Selectmen.

The Board will meet with the State Highway Commission Thursday afternoon to consider the matter of a catch basin and other improvements at Main and Park avenue, South Weymouth.

The Board was notified that the rate for the blanket fire insurance on the town buildings had been set by the New England Insurance Exchange had been placed at 57 cents a hundred per year. The rate is much higher than was expected on account it is said of there not being a sprinkler system and fire doors in the new High school building.

It was thought that the $8000 voted at the town meeting for insurance for a term of three years would be sufficient but instead of $8000 the cost will be much greater and the matter will be left for the town meeting members to decide at the special town meeting.

GEM THEATRE

Little Nello, a down-trodden, but unbeaten boy; pariah and outcast of the community—but unshaken in faith and unharmed in his heart. Through scenes of poverty, mistreatment and false accusation, this unconquerable spirit moves—always one hundred per cent boy, bubbling with mischief, animated, daring, brave, affectionate and as true as love.—Jackie Coogan in his new Metro picture, "A Boy of Flanders" Saturday, May 10.

"Laugh and the World Laughs with You"—See Buster Keaton in his new comedy for Metro, "Sherlock Jr." at the Gem theatre, Sunday, and you won't be able to stop laughing—it's the funniest thing you've ever seen! Viola Dana in "Don't Doubt Your Husband."

Every woman who ever lived has known a man for whose sake they would make any sacrifice—go through any torture. Can you imagine Pola Negri—mistress of every emotion from mirth to madness—fighting for the one she calls "My Man"? Here is a situation which will catch every woman from "Frisco" to Long Island and Cape Horn to Hudson Bay. Girls with ideals, mature women with husbands, old people with memories—all will welcome it. And every man will want to go to see what manner of man the brilliant Pola Negri thinks is good enough to fight for, live for, steal for, and if necessary die for. "The Shadows of Paris" Wednesday, May 14.

THE ORPHEUM

That mystery and suspense may be just as effective in the silent drama as on the speaking stage is evidenced by the film version of Edward E. Rose's mystery play, "The Rear Car" which Clarence Badger directed for Goldwin under the title of "Red Lights." The play had a successful stage career with Richard Bennett in the leading role in the West and Taylor Holmes in the East. Many critics pronounced it the best mystery play since "The Bat." "Red Lights," the screen version, keeps the action more suspenseful than did the play because the director took full advantage of the opportunity of depicting many scenes and episodes which could not be shown in the stage version. The picture is coming to the Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, Saturday, May 10, and is one that every picture-goer who is fond of melodrama, of mystery and of sensational spectacle should not miss.

QUINCY THEATRE

The irrepressible Kid Broad, who has probably given sports writers as much copy as any fighter of history broke right out into rhyme during the filming of the prize fight scene for "The Great White Way," Cosmopolitan's picturization of an H. C. Witwer story, featuring Anita Stewart, T. Roy Barnes and Oscar Shaw, coming to the Quincy theatre Monday Shaw plays the role of Joe Cain, the fighter. Just before he stepped into the ring in the fight scene, he received the following telegram:

"Good luck, old boy, I hope you win; Kid Broad's outside and can't get in."

The Kid did get in, however, and appears in a minor role in the film.

The funeral took place from the home Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. Caleb Justice of the Union Congregational church conducting the service. Interment was at Village cemetery.

—The many friends of Mrs. Maria Hart of Hart avenue will be pleased to learn that she is fast recovering her health after a very severe illness. Mrs. Hart has been remarkably active for a woman of her years. She is the oldest member of Reynolds Woman's Relief Corps, and notwithstanding her age, rarely missed attending a meeting of the corps.

—Charles O'Connor of Whitman, a former resident, has been in town calling on friends.

—Hubert Dowson was elected captain of the Tufts varsity tennis team last week.

—Mayor and Mrs. William A. Bulivant, John McKay, Mrs. Margaret McKay, Miss Adella McKay and Mrs. Dolly MacDonald, all of Brockton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William K. McKay of Field avenue on Sunday.

—Mrs. John Gagon, who has been confined to her home on Elliot street threatened with pneumonia, is now on the road to recovery.

—James Fitzgerald of Summit street, crossing tender at the Nantuxet Junction station of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. for several years, who was hit by an auto while on duty two weeks ago, and thought at the time to have been fatally injured, is now able to sit up and his speedy recovery is looked for.

—It is expected that in a few days papers will be passed conveying the well known Joseph Loud estate on Commercial street to a well known promoter, who will at once cut the estate up into house lots. The estate which is one of the most sitely in town is especially adapted for house lots as it comprises 100 acres of excellent land and there are three houses on the property.

—The Gem theatre girls, Alice McKay, Helen Donovan and Ruth Curley held a very successful dancing party at the Gem dance hall Monday evening. There was a big attendance and the affair was a social and financial success.

—The May breakfast at the Universalist church Thursday morning last week.

—Edward Drown and family have moved to Ashby, Mass., where Mr. Drown has taken a position on a large farm owned by the captain of the company of which Mr. Drown was cook during the World War.

—John F. Dwyer has been in Brownsville, Vt., for a few days where he purchased a carload of valuable cows. Mr. Dwyer lost a cow valued at $500 a few nights ago. It was of registered stock and was waiting for the registration papers to arrive before he shipped it to the new owner.

—John Sullivan, who for years has traveled through this district for the Bacon Paper Co. of Waltham, is back on the job after an illness of several months of neuritis.

—Relatives and friends from this town attended the funeral at the sonnets home, Chelsea, last Saturday of Frank Morales, a Spanish war veteran and former resident of this town. He was buried with full military honors in the cemetery connected with the home.

—Three Warren Charles L. Merritt and his men have removed the last two of the big elms that for years stood either side of Washington Sq. Mr. Merritt estimated the trees to be at least 100 years old.

—Mrs. John W. Harper of 75 Front street is on a visit to friends in Augusta, Maine.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Flower Circle of the East Braintree Methodist Episcopal church will be held at the home of Mrs. Asa-worth on Monday evening, May 12.

—Lytton Dowson was graduated from Bryant & Stratton's business college last week and at once secured a position with a firm in Boston.

—The May breakfast at the Universalist church Thursday morning last week was largely attended and very successful. The tables made and sold 100 May baskets.

—The response to the call for subscriptions to the painting fund of the first Universalist church is meeting with a fine response, and very soon the work will be started. The committee met Wednesday evening to make final arrangements.

—Sunday morning "Mothers Day" will be observed at the first Universalist church with appropriate music and sermon.

—Rev. C. W. Allen and Rev. J. L. Dowson attended the "Fighting Parsons Club" luncheon at Commonwealth hotel. Both these gentlemen were active in the World War. Mr. Allen was in the Y work and Mr. Dowson spent eight months in France as captain in the Red Cross.

—Mrs. Alice Calkins of Weymouth has petitioned for divorce from Roy Calkins of Braintree and for custody of their child. She charges gross and confirmed intoxication. They were married July 1, 1904.

Tailor-Made Is Most Important

Newest Fashion Note Promises to Be Forced Into Early Discard.

Because the tailor-made note is the newest one in fashions of the moment it is stressed as the most important, says a fashion writer in the New York Herald. Already the makers are complaining that it will be overdone, that the afternoon clothes for older women and the evening gowns are being neglected. It is too much copied and exploited, they say, to long endure.

This may in a measure be true, but the unobtrusiveness of the dark colors used will be a factor in preserving its popularity and usefulness, and sometimes after a flare of overpopularity a mode settles down into being an accepted fact, and a simple mode has many more chances of survival than the more extreme types copied for the sake of novelty.

A tailored dress made to order is a thing so difficult of imitation that there is not much chance of it being duplicated to any great extent. There are as many ways to adapt it to the individuality of the wearer as there would be if it were an afternoon dress and no one advocates abolishing them because they have become wearisome. Certainly a review of the ones offered by the makers in Paris reveals an endless number of ideas and decidedly more than in some of the other types.

In the first place the silhouette of the tailored dress is very much diversified by the addition of circular flounces at the front or all the way around, by plaits and by panels of all descriptions, by being pinched in at one side or at both and by hanging straight in tunic fashion. Sleeves also present all the variations that it is possible to have in the daytime, from the ultra-smart long tight-fitting ones with sharp-pointed cuffs to dresses almost without sleeves.

Simple Dress Most Successful.
Phillippe et Gaston has been very successful this season with unusually simple dresses. In them the long, narrow belted waistline is used and the long, fairly tight sleeve. In one dress the main feature of the decoration consists of insets of the rep running in contrary direction to the rest of the material, beginning with a perpendicular cut of material in the blouse and horizontal in the skirt. A long, very narrow vest is of white tuck material, with collar to match. With this simple dress, quite complete in itself, is a straight jacket with bands of crosswise material running the length of the fronts.

The inset vest is a marked characteristic of the tailored mode from this house, for it again appears in a model of dark blue rep with vest of white silk embroidered in severe points all around the edges. So deep is this vest that the lower part of it is crossed by the belt. In this model note, too, the increased height of the collar and the manner in which it stands frankly up around the chin.

All that has been said about the straight unchanged silhouette seems to be merely a matter of comparison. In many of its latest manifestations it cannot be called straight and still make use of the circular flounce without varying in some degree. The straight unbelted dress sometimes combines with this circular flounce in an acceptable manner.

This is a form of the tailored or simple day dress that Drecoll makes use of in a successful model which has for its chief decoration insets of finely plaited material. The color scheme of this dress is dark blue tunic, which is belted and ends just below the knees. A white scarf is part of the design of this dress.

Shadow plaids in black with linings and pipings in colors are frequent. A black-and-white plaid, or rather a black ground material with a scarcely visible cross bar in white, is made with a detachable cape of the same material lined in red and trimmed with red kid at the sides simulating a girdle.

O'Rosen, who is counted an authority in suits, has presented his spring versions of the tailored type. The slightly fitted or pinched-in jacket is among the ones which have caused comment. It follows the generally accepted straight lines except that at each side above the slot pocket a little inverted plait catches in the fullness in an easy manner. Another suit by this maker has panels at each side of the front, ending in a curved bound pocket trimmed with small buttons.

Several of the other makers are showing suits accenting the curved manner in a slightly fitted line which, contrary to the treatment of O'Rosen, allows the bottom of the jacket to set out from the hips with a suggestion of a flare.

Two Small Plaits at the Sides Give the Slight Pinched-In Effect in This Suit.

Dress With Wide Flare.
A Doucet sheath dress makes use of an entirely different silhouette, one in which the wide flare at the bottom is not to be ignored. The sheath extends well down over the hips with a pinched-in movement and a consequent slight blousing at the normal waistline.

From the dipped line at the front a circular apron hangs in rather set folds almost to the bottom of the close fitting skirt. Following the atmosphere of the circular apron are sleeves with a circular flare attached at the elbows. The neck of this dress is indicative of the trend to rounder lines than that of the bateau, just escaping being classified as the latter.

A dress very much like the last one described has a plaited tunic instead of the circular apron, thus keeping the silhouette in the straight class rather than the flaring.

Lenief makes concession to the circular silhouette in a chic model with wide embroidered collars and cuffs and full circular skirt hanging in folds almost like box plaits. Navy blue crepe de laine is the material of this dress and the collar is white georgette embroidered in blue, with a bright blue tie of crepe worn in an artist's bow and hanging nearly to the waistline.

A wide sash pulled tightly about the hips is greatly in evidence in many of the models both for afternoon and for the earlier hours of the day. Its essential difference from the wide girdle of the current models lies in the fact that it is used frequently with a straight waist above and as part of it. Below the girdle the skirt, apron or plaiting appear independent of the portion above. In other words, it is part of the waist and is not merely a width of the material tied around a straight chemise dress. Just how this effect is achieved is not easily seen, but the result is new and rather attractive.

Attractive Dress of Beige Crepe.
A coat dress of beige crepe by Lenief has an unusual line running from one side of the standing collar to the opposite side of the waist, forming a triangular inset at the side of the surplined top of the dress, the revers being lined with black satin. At the left side of the dress a wide flat bow of the satin serves as fastening and heads the circular part of the skirt. This circular flare appears at the left side only.

One can scarcely imagine anything more satisfying in its simplicity than the dress for morning wear by Jean Patou. It is, as are many of these morning-hour gowns made of rep; in this model navy blue is used and the trimming is a revival of the wool embroidery of a few seasons ago.

In Oriental Manner

More and more women are wearing their hair in the oriental manner. This is, of course, much like the Spanish, except that for evening a veil or scarf is used instead of a high comb, the whole effect being sleek and low instead of sleek and high.

On Dressing Table

Quite an acquisition of the dressing table is an oval basket of rose or blue leather that holds four small bottles with enameled tops. The bottles are shaped so that they fit snugly into the oval.

Play "For Women Only"

By GRACE P. ABBOTT

(© 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Montrose, herself, was very little disturbed by the advent to her ancient halls of learning of one Frederick Lee von Slecht. In fact, she seemed to remain in her usual state of serene tranquillity due a centenarian, even though so great a personage traversed her picturesque campus. But the small world that buzzed and hummed and swamped her stately brick building was thrown into the greatest furor of its time because of Frederick Lee von Slecht.

A stock company of the variety that visits the small cities was playing its usual repertoire before packed houses, consisting, no doubt, chiefly of the Montrose numbers. Nevertheless the program had gone along smoothly. The college boys had, to be sure, sat well down front, the better to watch the unusually pretty "leading lady" cough her way through Camille to come out the victorious, albeit, abused heroine of East Lynne, while they favored the orchestra with generous showers of peanut shells. The college girls had, of a necessity, sat farther back in giggling groups of shame-faced admiration for the not-to-be-denied charm of the "leading man," hero of each and every occasion. The program had gone well, until Thursday when it was announced that "for the Thursday afternoon engagement we will present the social problem play, 'Why Girls Leave Home,' for—ahem—women only."

The dean of the girls of Montrose had given her ultimatum Wednesday night directly after dinner, not a girl from Montrose was to go to the Thursday afternoon performance. As if one of them had had the slightest idea of doing so—until they had heard the ultimatum!

"Honestly, Betty, it makes me sick. It is so foolish."

"As if it would really be any different or any worse than any of the 'plays.'"

"It's just the being forbidden like children."

"I know it! Of course, the boys aren't allowed, either. In a way they are forbidden more than we are. I wonder how they feel about it."

"They wouldn't have gone anyway."

"Well, Betty, that's just what you said about us. Neither would we—it's the being forbidden."

"That's right. I wonder how they do feel about it." And so lost did the two girls become in their speculations as to the state of mind of the masculine half of Montrose, they quite forgot their own loss of liberty.

The buzzing of subdued voices ceased. A profound silence filled the room.

The president rose. "My dear Mrs. Colter, Professor Bromfield, Doctor Hastings, and Miss Osterham, let us give this matter our united efforts; let us reach safely and honestly a conclusion based on sound facts. You say, Mrs. Colter, that you announced that no one girl was to attend. It was well understood by all?"

"Yes, President Robinson, I did, and Martha Hollis and Betty Lawson were at my table within my very reach at the time. I can't understand—they never seemed—" and with a deep sigh for their apparent duplicity, Mrs. Colter sat down.

"Now, Bromfield," the president resumed, "you say that you found this note on the floor of your room after class Thursday morning and that neither Von Slecht nor Harold Bett showed up for 'lab' work Thursday afternoon?"

"Yes."

The note reads—
"Ah, yes—I hear you girls aren't allowed to find out why girls leave home"; then in different writing: "Well, neither can you boys," and in the first writing again, "But we can if you will help us—in fact, we'll show you how we can take you in and thereby take 'em all in.'"

"Miss Osterham, you say that on your way home from shopping Thursday afternoon, you saw the two girls in question, heavily veiled, come boldly out of the theater, and walk toward the college?"

"Yes, shopping, yes, out of the theater. I would know Betty's suit anywhere, and I'm not likely to be mistaken about the only chinchilla coat in town."

"And yet, you, Dr. Hastings, say that Miss Lawson and her friend were in your Spanish class until 3:30 at least?"

"Exactly; the hour was more likely 4 o'clock."

"It is indeed strange. Here is what the theater manager has written me. The two girls went in, heavily veiled, and, suspecting trouble, he kept close watch. His letter reads: 'At the end of one of the most tragic scenes a deep, gruff voice was heard distinctly to say, "Oh, forsooth." I went to the scene of the disturbance, which was the extreme right of the hall, and there sat two harmless old ladies. Later in the performance, in another thrilling scene, a man's deep voice on the extreme left said clearly, "Prithee, sweet Percival, shush.'"

"The veiled girls were in the center, front. On the left were three rows of empty seats. Yet I felt somehow that those college boys are to blame. We must find out about this," and pressing a bell, the president went after the four culprits.

Betty and Martha entered in downcast silence and sat beside Mrs. Colter.

Von Slecht and Harold Bett sat in equal mortification beside Dr. Hastings. The unusual case was set before them; the note and letter read; the facts told. Then, turning to his right, the president asked the girls, "Were you girls at that matinee?" What was his amazement when a deep voice, apparently from Miss Lawson's throat, answered, "Indeed, no!" Betty started to weep. Martha giggled. Mrs. Colter rose, and then, sighing deeply, resumed herself.

"I am sorry," began Von Slecht. "We are both sorry," interrupted Harold Bett.

"But it is mostly my fault," continued Frederick.

"We both went," Bett insisted.

"But I did the talking," added Frederick. "Just as I did then for Miss Lawson. We borrowed the girls' clothes—"

"Against their will," interrupted Bett.

"And the show was so silly that I had to live it up and so I used the one talent I have, of throwing my voice in different places. It is a gift, and I really can do wonders with it," he added in explanation.

"It was, really all of our faults—yours, President Robinson's and Mrs. Colter's, because you forbade us. We would never have thought of going of our own free wills, but forbidden—well, you see."

Mrs. Colter gasped.

Miss Osterham very nearly swooned.

Professor Bromfield's glasses clattered to the floor.

Dr. Hastings beamed upon his favorites of Spanish class.

President Robinson swallowed audibly a couple of times and then all eyes were turned in sudden startled surprise at the huge bust of Cicero by the windows, from whence came in deep tones, the sage remark, "Why girls leave home!"

Silence.

"President Robinson, again I am sorry. I couldn't seem to help it. Punish me and then let the rest go," Von Slecht had spoken.

"Perhaps, after all, Miss Lawson was right. Perhaps Cicero speaks wisely. This time I will let you all go." And it seemed that President Robinson and Dr. Hastings exchanged a quiet smile.

Use of Soft Coal Is Making Blonde Cat Rare

To the increasing use of soft coal biologists lay the present preponderance of brunette cats. Animals gradually assume the protective coloring of their physical environment, say the biological boys.

Once the most valued house pussy was the long-haired Angora of pristine purity, but cats are growing darker in color and the black cat is no longer scarce enough to be considered an omen of bad luck.

It is not the combination of biology and soft coal alone that is casting a shadow on the future of the white cat. This process is slow, but human nature and soft coal mixed make a much speedier agent.

While cats are fastidious, owners who take pride in their pets depend more on soap and water than the flexible feline tongue to keep them clean, and blonde pussies naturally require more attention. As the use of bituminous increases it has been found that brunettes look cleaner with less effort, therefore fewer blondes are surviving the period of infancy.—Detroit News.

Spoon Valued at $100,000

When forks were unknown spoons played a very important part at the table. Spoons of the Thirteenth century, and even later, had handles terminating in a knob, knot, acorn or other odd and cumbersome devices.

About the period of the Restoration, of which so much is said in English history, a great change was made in the forms of spoons, says the Detroit News.

In some of the unique patterns the "spoon" part was divided into two, three or even four parts, and the handle always split or twisted and turned up, instead of down and back. Spoons of that period were all blunt, instead of being pointed, as is the form generally seen at present.

The most curious and remarkable spoon in the world, perhaps, is a "coronation spoon," preserved among the other royal relics in the Tower of London. The bowl is of gold and the handle of silver. The handle is split down the middle and set with many kinds of precious stones. The relic is valued at upward of $100,000.

"Fooling" an Evil Spirit

If you accidentally put on an undergarment "wrong side out" it is said to be an omen of good luck. This belief is held by many people who are entirely free from conscious superstitions. Very old people will tell you that when they were children old people used to say that undergarments worn wrong side out "kept the witches away," according to London Tit-Bits.

This superstition is a survival of the practices by which our barbarian ancestors sought to "fool" evil spirits. Joined to that was the idea of the evil eye. By wearing his garments inside out a man disguised himself, as it were, and the evil spirit failed to recognize him and passed him by.

Also, the evil eye would be attracted by the singularity of a garment worn wrong side out and let its baleful glance rest upon that instead of upon its wearer.

The largest loaves of bread in the world are those baked in France and Italy. They are often as much as six feet in length.

trimmed with red. From the bateau neck line straight tucks extend well below the hip line, where a square section is outlined with a narrow band of the tucks, the square having the effect of a large patch pocket. At a line just above the knees the circular flounce is set on. In this dress it is used at the back as well as in the front. Narrow bands of the material constitute the sleeves, the tucking running the up-and-down way of the sleeves. Very simple this dress, but perhaps one of the most interesting of Drecoll's simple models.

Multiple Bracelet Sets New Fashion

Rich Decoration Favored in Jewel Wearing—Beads Are Popular.

The old order changeth—even in jewelry, where from time immemorial every conceivable stone could be worn in almost any manner. Today many of the jewelry fashions of earlier years have joined the oblivion of the past, and are quite as demode as the mid-Victorian chapeau, according to a writer in the New York Tribune.

Few women, for example, are wearing headresses now, either jeweled or fantasy. Diadems and coronets have gone out of fashion. They are not in accord with the shingled bob or the sleek flat coiffure of the day. One never sees a jeweled dog collar now, except perhaps upon an English dowager, into whose toilette the present-day fashions never enter.

Flat jewels, set in gold or platinum, have also lost some of their ancient glamour. The modern woman prefers to wear her precious baubles in the form of beads strung on fine chains of platinum with circles of brilliants mingling with the sparkling balls of fire and color. Sometimes a long string of faceted emeralds is worn between two matching strips of pearls. Again it is a chain of emeralds and brilliants, cut in graduated sizes and terminating with a marvelously jeweled tassel ornament.

A score of emeralds and diamond bracelets will often be worn on one arm. Sometimes the note of color is given by a pair of huge earrings—sometimes it is a large pendant or a brooch as big as one's hand that blazes from the shoulder or the front of the corsage.

Another jewelry fashion of the moment is the wearing of multiple bracelets in shaded tones to match the dress, or to accentuate some note of color in the fabric or trimming. These highly colored ombre bracelets are made of enameled metal. Developed in rainbow tones or in various shades of one color, they are worn in groups of dozens and placed on one arm, which they entirely cover from wrist to elbow.

Organdie and Lace for This Collar-Cuff Set

Organdie and lace are combined in winsome manner to make this simple but charming collar and cuff set, which is liked by the majority of women.

Inset Vest Is Shown in Sweater Models

As almost every dress, including those intended for afternoon wear, has some suggestion of the inset vest it is not surprising that we find the same idea in the sweater. A suit or dress, whichever one may choose to call it, is made of fine white jersey, the slip-on blouse pulled over the plaited skirt is embroidered in brown and yellow, a large Egyptian motif used in the center of the shirt bosom vest is doubly noticeable bordered with a wide band of brown, with the design picked out in white and yellow. A narrow edge of the brown binds the skirt and the scarf has a wide border of the embroidery.

Dyed Lace Is Liked for Afternoon Gowns

There is a craze for dyed lace. This forms an important part of the self-tones and semi-tones in many of the new models for softer gowns, the handsome afternoon and informal dinner gowns particularly. The laces are to be had in every possible color and shade, wide or narrow, the preference being for Spanish laces, some in the most lovely yellows, from pale gold to orange; some in violet, blue, rose and the lighter shades of brown, beige, champagne, café-au-lait, gray, taupe and smoke.

One of the most attractive tea gowns seen this season was made of light brown chiffon and wide lace, lighter in color, all over corn-colored satin, with touches of dull gilt.

Of Cloudy Amber

Perfectly enormous beads of Chinese cloudy amber form a barbaric chain. The beads are irregular in shape, and except for their range in color from ruby to lemon look like chunks of wood.

Flesh Slippers

Flesh satin makes up an attractive pair of the newest evening slippers, to be worn with nude hose.

New Coat of Twill Cord, Flannel Cuffs, Border

Listed among the smart semi-sports models for spring is this wrap developed in navy twill cord, with white flannel cuffs and border, stitched in black, and with white ermine collar.

Kinds of Gloves That Cover Dainty Patties

Gloves for informal wear are elaborately embroidered in highly contrasting colors this season, but for semi-formal occasions the well-dressed woman prefers plain handwear, with embroidery either to match the leather or slightly darker.

Belge mocha, with embroidery to match or in a slightly darker brown shade, constitutes an important part of the metropolitan woman's wardrobe.

Fashion authorities report that gloves of white glace kid are being worn in rapidly increasing numbers where modish women congregate. Unsullied white is the order of the day, with no contrasting embroidery or stitching.

Women are giving increasing attention to mousquetaire gloves in twelve-button and sixteen-button lengths, in beige or white mocha. While short and long dress sleeves remain equally popular, many women are wearing short gloves with either type of sleeve. Particularly during the present style era, however, the woman who is really well dressed has long gloves for wear with short sleeves and vice versa.

New gauntlets, beige colored, have white kid or mocha cuffs, in which designs have been cut to show a contrasting leather underneath, accenting the motif.

Some of the latest kid gauntlets have the cuffs lined with velvet.

Autumn's Silhouette Is Still in Limelight

The lines of the daytime mode, whether for formal or informal wear, do not indicate any radical departure from the silhouette of last autumn. Only the variations are different and instead of the circular cut of the last season there are now ingenious panels which in no way interrupt the straight outline.

The suit is a most prominent item in the spring collections. Jackets to suits are short and so are the skirts, so that there is a general impression of brief trimness on these first models.

Both skirt and jacket adhere closely to the lines of the figure. Plaited suits are being shown in numbers—and by plaited suits it is meant that both the skirt and the jacket are plaited—generally with unstitched plaits caught down with bands, after the manner of those introduced by Renee last autumn. These suits are made of both silk and cloth and are generally a dark blue color with contrasting blouses. Half-inch box plaits and tiny knife plaits are particularly favored and these may be arranged in sections or in all-over form.

Buttons as Trimming Straight Down Front

In a mode of their own are the dresses with rows of buttons as their main motif in trimming. Now a long line of buttons is not a form of decoration to be carelessly scattered over a dress without either rhyme or reason, so frocks are designed with this sort of trimming in mind. In the majority of the models the buttons form a straight line down the front of the dress. A tuniclike frock of green crepe uses the buttons to fasten the tunic to the knees. In design this dress is rather Chinese, with standing band collar and wide sleeves fastened with a narrow hand cuff.

Shaped Like Chest

In imitation of Loxor breast bags, women are carrying wrist bags of lightweight wood or of materials that imitate wood. The bags, shaped like chests, are hand painted with bright designs.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Being One of a Series of Talks on Bills and the Prompt Payment Of Them. Do you owe any Bills That Are Overdue?

"LET'S HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING"

No credit man will turn a debtor down who tells the TRUTH. For TRUTH is the foundation of CREDIT.

YOU owe an account—YOU have owed it for several months—it is long past due—You want to pay it—circumstances, perhaps, have been against you—then in all fairness to the credit man make a frank statement of your conditions.

You will find the credit man willing to help the honest debtor, if he can. More often his hands are tied. The debtor will not make any attempt to make PROMPT PAYMENT of his account. He, therefore, can not expect any consideration at the hands of the Credit Man.

If you are not willing to make a "clean breast" of your actual conditions, you have not good reason for thinking you will receive any consideration at the hands of the credit man.

It is useless to dodge the issue for every credit man in Plymouth, Norfolk and Barnstable Counties are acquainted with your method of paying credit obligations. He knows just how you stand with every firm doing business in both counties.

If you don't pay—if you won't be honest enough to give facts—if you don't make any effort whatever to reduce your indebtedness, you may be sure that the credit man is "GOING AFTER" the money due his firm.

Sometimes drastic measures are necessary to collect an account. You can save yourself lots of trouble and much embarrassment by paying your bills promptly, or by giving the credit man valid reasons for your delinquency.

Don't let your bills accumulate! KEEP THEM PAID UP EVERY MONTH

MEG'S CAREER

By ELIZABETH JONES

(Copyright 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Light; trees touched with crimson. GOLDENROD aglow, across the sun bordering the road. A young woman leaned against the country fence and admired, her blue eyes widening. She drew a breath of satisfaction and returned to study a picture in the making. She smiled wanly and fastened the cape she wore more closely about her throat. As she took up her brushes an automobile stopped in the road before her. A man sprang to the ground and to the woman's side.

"Could you direct me to Windon?" he asked; his tone was pleading.

"The girl shook her head regretfully. 'I am sorry, I am unacquainted with the roads. Back there at the farmhouse, where I am stopping, they could no doubt tell you.'

"Thank you." Still the stranger lingered. His gaze had caught the picture, a reflection of the scene about them. He advanced to take a better view. "I hope you do not mind," he said, smiling back at the artist.

Meg was ever humble regarding her work. "I try to hold the scene which delights me," she said hesitatingly. "I am afraid I am not very successful."

The man turned to her enthusiastically. "Successful! I should say you are. You ought to study art."

"I have studied," she replied, "a year abroad."

"Pardon—and then?" His interest was kindly.

He bent closer to the picture. "I am still interested," he said. "Have you exhibited?"

"My skill is not perfect. I am endeavoring, however, to sell my pictures. You think this picture might be worthy to offer for sale?"

"Decidedly." The man's tone was gratefully emphatic. Meg bent again to her work, a pretty flush of anticipation gave place to her former pavor. "You have helped me," she told the young man. "Good-by, and thank you."

"Success to you," he returned. Then he glanced back to remark whimsically. "Queer how a thing of beauty like that painting which stirs one's pulses to helpful admiration may be difficult to dispose of to advantage, while some 'jazz' song, like for instance, 'Oh, Nora Has a Sultor,' will bring a fellow a fortune in a night."

Gerald Hasbrook went thoughtfully back to his fine car. He was certain that this frail little creature needed good cheer. He wanted to know more of the frustrated artist, so he stopped at the farm house she designated.

Mrs. Simmons of the farm house was as hospitable as he had hoped she might be. Gerald Hasbrook spoke of Meg's painting.

"The dear little creature!" Mrs. Simmons eagerly responded. "She came out to me at the direction of some of her city friends, people who have boarded with me in summer time. Miss Meg Sprague was advised by the doctor, who had cared for her aunt, to seek country air at once."

Gerald Hasbrook hurried back to the field where goldenrod reflected the sun's rays, where crimson-touched trees bordered the road. The young woman he sought was folding her easel, preparing to depart.

Gerry, as his friends knew him, took the fence with a spring and was at Meg's side.

"I just wanted to tell you," he said, breathlessly, "that I'll be coming back this way several times and I'll stop over at the farmhouse to see if your painting is finished."

When he brought to her word later of the sale of her picture she was a new creature in her happy courage.

"You are to do another," he told her, "at once."

Meg was well satisfied with the transaction and paid Mrs. Simmons advance board on the spot.

As days grew more chilly Meg carried her easel to the sheltering border of the wood.

Gerry's big car stopped frequently at the roadside and she had grown to listen for his step. Often he would find her happily humming the little nonsense song, "Oh, Nora Has a Sultor in Old Kilkenny Town."

The jingling music came to her from passing wagons where farmer lads whistled it on their way home at evening and from school girls softly singing down the long road.

Gerry stopped at the farmhouse one day. "I want to take you and Mrs. Simmons in to a city matinee," he said. "The composer of some of those fool songs is to sit in a box while an entertainer sings his stuff. Thought you'd like the ride."

"Meg was glad to go—glad to be with Gerry. And to Mrs. Simmons the outing was an event. From her place beside Gerry in the theater later Meg heard calls for the composer and saw Gerry himself arise to acknowledge them. When the applause his presence drew forth died away, she looked up at him wondering and whispered:

"Gerry! Gerry! You—all the time. And you joked about making a fortune in a night."

Gerry clasped her hand in the friendly darkness. "That fortune will come handy in taking my wife away from winter snows to a summer country. When will you come with me, dear?"

And very carefully and tenderly Gerald Hasbrook concealed the paintings he had purchased. The huge box, none but himself might open.

"She will never know," he said, "and all's fair—in love."

AMERICAN LEGION

Weymouth Post held their regular meeting Monday night at the Grand Army hall, East Weymouth, with a large number of the members present.

Commander Johnson presided over the meeting which was given over mostly to preparations for Memorial Day.

Mrs. Warren, president of the Legion Auxiliary addressed the meeting for a few moments and asked that all those comrades who would attend the dinner which the Auxiliary unit of Weymouth Post furnishes to the boys who march May 30 to please notify her in advance so that they may be prepared.

It was voted to adopt the new Post cap as uniform to go with civilian clothes. These caps are dark blue in color with a border of gold. The style is the same as the overseas type of head piece worn by the A. E. F. When ordering one of these caps the comrades are requested to mention their head size.

Comrade Howard Millet of Weymouth Heights was reported sick at his home. Victor Nosiglia was reported as undergoing an operation at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

The commander read a letter from T. J. Kelly, chairman of the citizens committee on membership in which he stated how pleased his committee was with the results of the recent membership drive. The letter was accompanied by a check for $287 which was donated to the Post building fund by the members of his committee.

It was voted to accept the invitation of the Rev. Mr. Veazie to attend the memorial services at his church on Sunday, May 25.

By a unanimous vote the adjutant was instructed to write letters of protest to Senators Lodge and Walsh and to Congressman Frothingham protesting the clause in the Naval bill which would eliminate the building of naval vessels in other than the Navy Yards. Were this bill to pass with this clause in it, it would mean the death of such places as the Fore River shipyard. Without government work the Fore River yard could not exist and as many of the citizens of Weymouth are employed there the Post feels that it is right in protesting the bill.

PROTESTS FROM WEYMOUTH

The Selectmen at the regular meeting Monday afternoon voted unanimously to send the following telegram to Senators Henry Cabot Lodge and David I. Walsh at Washington, D. C., in view of the fact that an attempt is being made to put through a "rider" in the Naval Appropriation bill to shut out all private corporations, which would mean a loss of work to the Fore River Ship Yard which has in its employ a large number of people from this town. The telegram read as follows:

We, the Selectmen of the town of Weymouth, desire to register a protest against Article 63 on page 57 of the House of Representatives bill 6821, lines 12 to 20 inclusive, which states that no part of the moneys herein appropriated shall be used or expended under contracts hereafter made for repairs, purchase or acquisition by or from any private contractor, of any Naval vessel, machinery, article or articles that at the time of the proposed repairs, purchase of acquisitions can be repaired, manufactured or produced in each of any of the Government Navy Yards or arsenals in the United States. (Signed)

Selectmen of Weymouth

Weymouth, Mass., May 6, 1934

At the meeting of Weymouth Post, 79, American Legion, held Monday evening the matter was brought before the Post by Commander Irving Johnson and it was voted unanimously to send a similar telegram to the Massachusetts Senators at Washington.

PRICE SIX CENTS

GIFT APPRECIATED
On Wednesday, Chief of Police Arthur H. Pratt received from the Weymouth Light and Power Company a lung motor valued at over $200. It is suitably inscribed with the name of donor. Several cases are on record where the lung motor has saved lives from inhaling gas, from drowning accidents and from electric shocks and every town should have this equipment.
Chief Pratt has acknowledged the gift to his department and in another column requests prompt notice in case of all accidents where service may be rendered.

KING COVE DRAMATICS
The King Cove Dramatic club presented "Patty Makes Things Hum" at the clubhouse Monday evening with the following cast:
Captain Braithwaite, Katherine Pratt
Captain Little, Lillian Dorley
Mr. Green, Mildred Fuller
Mrs. Green, Leta McClain
Mr. Smith, Dora Everett
Mrs. Smith, Minnie Whitford

Patty Helen Braithwaite
Marion Wilkinson
Mildred Everett
Hope Dunbar
Evelyn Coombs
Bertha Clifford
Eleanor Whitford gave fancy dances between the acts.

TO REFUND TAX
It is probable that a bill will pass the Legislature for a distribution of the surplus $2,000,000 collected by the State to pay the soldiers' bonus. If so Weymouth will receive $8062, Braintree $5508, Rockland $4021 and Hingham $2866.

—There was a large audience present at the Gem theatre last Friday evening when the three-act comedy "Professor Pepp" was given under the auspices of the First Universalist church. There was also a sale of candy. Those in the cast were: Lyman C. Williams, Franklin P. Whitten, Raymond Ewell, Lewis Loud, Lester Lohnes, Benjamin Loud, Lytton Dowson, Norman Craig, Gladys Vining, Carrie S. Robinson, Charice White, Priscilla Mayo, Isabelle Evans, Ethel Smith, Barbara Loud, and Grace Smith.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF WEYMOUTH HOSPITAL OVER 250 BABIES BORN AT HOSPITAL

The New Raymond Addition and the Hospital Grounds to be Open for Inspection, Thursday, May 22

On May 22, 1922, the Weymouth Hospital, at South Weymouth opened its doors for the reception of patients. On May 22 next, between the hours of 2 and 5 in the afternoon, the hospital grounds with the new Raymond addition will be open for public inspection, and we trust that the people will take this opportunity to visit the hospital and become acquainted with the facilities that it has there. The work that the hospital has accomplished in its two years existence is shown by the superintendent's report as follows:
Requests for hospital accommodations increased to such an extent, that last year it became necessary to plan for the construction of an addition. By the generosity of Almon B. Raymond of South Weymouth, in giving to the hospital the sum of $10,000 an addition of fourteen rooms was made possible, and the addition is now completed and ready for occupancy. Through the generosity of Josiah Q. Spear of East Weymouth, one of the rooms in the new addition has been furnished and endowed.
The hospital has received many donations from its generous friends in money, hospital equipment, furnishings and personal services, for which the officers desire to express their grateful thanks. The larger money donations not previously mentioned are as follows:

George E. Keith Shoe Co.	$1000.00
Stetson Shoe Company	1000.00

WEYMOUTH, MAY 16, 1924

Insurance of Town Property

A week ago, at the meeting of the Board of Selectmen, the clerk reported that a much larger sum than that appropriated at the annual town meeting, viz., $8000 would be necessary for insuring of the town buildings, the rate of 57 cents a hundred being much larger than had been anticipated, largely on account of the lack of fire doors, etc., at the new High school addition.

At the meeting this week, R. H. Hoffman, who has had charge of the matter of ratings, etc., and a representative of the N. E. Insurance Exchange, were present, together with Superintendent of Schools P. T. Pearson.

The exchange representative went over the subject and made suggestions that would materially reduce the rate, such as fire doors, etc.

Superintendent Pearson stated that fire doors and in fact nearly all the suggestions of the insurance representative had been arranged for by the building committee. It was the intention of the committee to place doors in the long corridor separating the old from the new building; this alone means a saving of ten cents a hundred on the new building.

The cost was included in the contract for the addition, so that the present sum of $8000 will probably cover the cost of insurance. It should be stated also that the total amount of insurance to be carried is a great deal larger than what was anticipated as it was an estimate and not an inventory. So that if the amount appropriated is not sufficient to cover the cost of insuring it will be because that the inventory foots up a much larger sum than was estimated.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of
DANIEL F. SULLIVAN
late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, Intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Margaret E. Ash of said Weymouth, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourth day of June, A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, Joseph R. McCoolle, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

KNOCKS AND BOOSTS

By Nick C. ad

Some people pay for dancing at others dance for pay. It is unpleasant to have to pay to dance, and then have someone walk all over your feet. It is profitable to keep off the other dancers' feet, too. That is what Dan Lynch strives to do. It is proved that he succeeds by the fact that he has a balance on the credit side—after the fiddler has been paid. He collected $50 first prize at Alp. a hall Quincy, in 1921 and $40 second prize in 1922, besides 45 other prizes at various times and places. He did not enter the Alpha contest last year, but intends to do so this year. Many of the best prize dancers around Boston are entered for this classic. Miss Esther O'Brien of Boston is Mr. Lynch's partner.

Charles Maloney won the deciding game of the K. of C. billiard tournament. Score, Maloney 150, Lynch 115. Maloney captures first prize with Danny Lynch a close second. Both players receive billiard cues for prizes. Leary, McIntosh, and Curtin were all serious contenders for honors up to the very finish.

One ex-service man (not a Legion man) says that before he went into the army he was a one-minute egg, but now he's a seven-minute egg.

MOTHERS' DAY

Mrs. Carrie F. Loring, past president of Reynolds Corps 102 of East Weymouth and past department president of Massachusetts and Mrs. Jennie Keene, Mrs. Lizzie Burr, Mrs. Elizabeth Sholes and Mrs. Della Caulfield, color bearers of Corps 102, were invited to participate in the official observance of Mothers' Day by the city of Boston and State on Sunday. At 2 P. M. they attended the reception at the Copley Plaza tendered Mrs. Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, the originator of Mothers' Day. Following the reception Mrs. Jarvis was escorted to the Common where exercises were held at the Parkman bandstand. The Weymouth ladies with their colors had the honor of being first in the line of escort.

OPERA OF ELIJAH

Critics and music lovers who have attended the rehearsals of the opera Elijah to be staged at the Boston Opera House May 16, 17, and 18 are prophesying a climax to Music Week quite beyond general expectations of an interested public.

The Rev. Earl E. Harper, chairman of the executive committee of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches in charge of the event, has declared that Boston never got together such a notable chorus and such a renowned group of soloists in one grand production.

BAPTIST ENTERTAINMENT

On Wednesday evening, May 23, an entertainment will be given in the vestry of the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Sunday School. A good program has been arranged which consists of the following:

Piano solo, "Menuett in G" by Padernesi
Raymond L. Holbrook
"Handkerchief drill" by eight boys
Male quartette selection "Tis Morn"
Sketch "The champion of the sex"
Eight young ladies
Male quartette "Yachting Glee"
"Hayseed drill"

Six girls and six boys
Sketch "A close shave" Six young men
Piano solo "Salut A Pesh" Hungarian an march" Raymond L. Holbrook
Mrs. Rupert L. Stone will be the accompanist for the evening. The entertainment is under the direction of Elwood M. Gerrold. Home-made candy, punch and ice cream for sale. Admission, adults 20cts. Children under 14, ten cents.—Advertisement 2t, 20, 21

POWER, luxurious roominess, low upkeep and long life at low price! . . . a world-famous Six, the outstanding sensation of motordom today at $1045.

Now ride in it. Feel the thrill of its powerful six-cylinder L-head motor. Note that it embodies features found only in the most expensive cars. Consider that it is a product of a $90,000,000 company with 72 years of fine vehicle making to its credit.

Compare it with competitive cars at near its price; then with cars that sell for several hundred dollars more. Compare it for beauty, comfort, roominess, upholstery, for obvious refinements.

Compare it, too, for ease of handling, flexibility, power, quietness and lack of vibration. Don't take anyone's word that this car or that car at its price is "just as good." Find out for yourself.

WEYMOUTH AND E. BRAINTREE

A son was born Monday, to Letter Carrier and Mrs. George Glosier of Prospect street.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the A. O. H. held a meeting Monday evening, May 5, at Pythian hall. After the business meeting there was a May party and social, with music, dancing and refreshments.

The Massachusetts Universalist convention will be held at Attleboro Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 20, 21, 22. Delegates from the First Universalist church are John P. Hunt, Mrs. Sarah Fogg, Mrs. J. L. Dowson, Mrs. Frederick Cate and Mrs. Emma Hall. Sunday School Association meets Tuesday; Women's Missionary Association on Wednesday and the church convention on Thursday. A fine program has been prepared. Lodging and breakfast are provided for delegates.

The play "Professor Pepp" given by the First Universalist church young people at the Gem theatre last Friday evening was a success. Bad weather interfered with the attendance somewhat, but a substantial sum was realized notwithstanding. There was an excellent cast, and each character was well portrayed, the audience being greatly delighted with the play itself and with the manner in which it was presented.

Mothers Day was observed at the First Universalist church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. J. L. Dowson taking Moses' mother as an illustration of a loving, loyal and religious mother, and applying the lessons to present-day conditions. The quartette rendered appropriate music during the service.

Francis Walsh of Edgehill road, East Braintree, won the cup as champion bugler of Old Colony council at the annual meeting in Hingham armory May 9. He is official bugler of the council at the Manomet camp in the summer time. He is a member of the sophomore class of Braintree High school and a cornet player.

Louis F. Bates has bought of Mrs. James H. Flint the large tract of land in East Braintree known as Norfolk Hills, off Norfolk Square, and intends erecting a number of houses.

At the meeting of Delphi Temple Pythian Sisters, held at Pythian hall Monday evening. Supper was served by Mrs. George M. Davis, Mrs. Harold Drown and Mrs. B. F. Johnson. A business meeting followed at which several candidates were elected to membership.

Arthur "Pal" Moore of Kensington road is driving a handsome new Cleveland six.

Miss Marguerite Donovan, daughter of Mrs. J. J. Donovan of 288 Washington street, formerly of Quincy, celebrated her 11th birthday Sunday by entertaining a party of friends from Quincy, Boston, Braintree and Weymouth. Games and music made up the entertainment and refreshments were served.

Mrs. George R. Kempl and daughter, Miss Katherine Kempl, sail in two weeks for abroad where they will travel for the next three months visiting all the European countries.

Mrs. Sadie Gavlin is out after being confined to her home on Front street by illness for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Susie Belcher of Holbrook has been visiting Mrs. H. F. Perry.

A cross wire caused the burglar alarm on the outside of the Weymouth Savings Bank to start ringing at 9 o'clock Monday morning and at once a big crowd gathered expecting that the bank was being robbed.

Mrs. Justin Thayer, 52, died in Whitman a few days ago. She was a former resident of this town, a daughter of the late Joseph I. Bates and a sister to Louis F. Bates and Alexander K. Bates.

Quite a delegation from this town attended the Chicago White Sox vs Boston Red Sox baseball game at Fenway park Wednesday. Bill Barrett of the Weymouth A. A. basketball team is left fielder of the Chicago team.

John Aldredge, who was for years superintendent of the machine shop at the Fore River shipyard and who has for several years held a similar position at Port Arthur, Canada, has been in town calling on friends. Mr. Aldredge and family are contemplating returning to the United States.

John S. Williams for the past 20 years in the undertaking business in this town, has sold out his business to Calvin C. Shepherd. Mr. Williams, with his family, moved to New York where he takes over a business July first that he recently purchased in that city.

Miss Ethel Keene, who on account of ill health, recently closed out her millinery business in Mechanics Falls, Maine, and returned to her home in this town, is rapidly regaining her health.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

Allan C. Emery of the Mt. Vernon House is in Texas on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hanscom accompanied by Miss Isabel Jones and Fred Lunt were in Lynnfield on Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dickinson.

A group of ten Junior Christian Endeavorers connected with the First Church in Weymouth attended the annual May festival of the Woman's Board of Missions held at the Union Congregational church, Boston, last Saturday. There were present over 500 Endeavorers, the total missionary offering for the day being over $1130. The Weymouth Heights endeavorers made a missionary offering of $20.

The H. G. L. club was entertained at a whist party given by Mrs. Bessie Marce of Cohasset on Monday evening. The first prize was taken by Miss Mary McDonald, the second by Mrs. Joseph Black, the third by Mrs. R. Hager of South Boston and the consolation by Mrs. Alexander G. J. Refresments were served and an enjoyable evening spent.

Mrs. John Freeman entertained the Christmas club at her home last Monday evening. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

Funeral services for Raappale J. Barcelo were conducted from his late home, 44 Forest street, on Monday afternoon by the Rev. William D. Veazie, pastor of Second Universalist church of this village. Mr. Barcelo was 70 years of age and had been a resident of this town for several years, making his home with his son, Charles W. Barcelo. Interment was in the Lakeview cemetery on Pond street.

Dr. Bertha L. Guild has returned from a business trip and has taken possession of her recently acquired property on Union street.

The annual parish meeting of the Second Universalist church was held in the vestry of the church on Thursday evening preceded by a supper served at 6:30 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Weiting. One of the most important questions to be introduced at the business meeting was in connection with considering the advisability of buying a parsonage, and it was voted to purchase the W. S. Barker property on Fogg road which adjoins the church property.

The St. Francis Xavier parish will hold its May party in Fogg Opera House on Monday evening, May 26. The concert to be rendered by the St. Celia quartet of Boston will be followed by dancing. The music will be supplied by Elsmore Nash's orchestra.

The officers of Combination 5, W. F. D., for the coming year are: engineer, Bertie T. Loud for Ward 5; Thomas H. Melville, engineer for Ward 4; Merton L. Loud, captain; Kenneth E. Brennan, first lieutenant; Louis H. Ellis, second lieutenant; John P. Kennedy, clerk and treasurer.

Combination 5 has responded to three calls during the past week. An alarm from box 443 early Sunday morning was for a serious fire that destroyed the small slipper factory on Mill street, owned and operated by Hans M. Hansen. The fire had gained considerable headway before the flames were discovered and the department experienced some difficulty in controlling the situation.

The prompt arrival of combinations 3 and 5 saved the adjoining property, but the loss will run into the thousands of dollars. Saturday morning combination 5 was called on a still alarm to a brisk fire that nearly destroyed the milk room of the Wessagusset farm on Front street.

The lost person alarm from box 61 on Tuesday evening was for Warland Dawes, 7 years old, off Forest street, who had been missing for a number of hours. It is understood that he took an auto ride unknown to his parents and returned shortly after the alarm had been sounded. Last evening a benefit whist party for the radio fund was conducted in the Engine hall.

Miss Muriel Burke of Union street is ill at the New England Hospital for Women and Children, where she is receiving surgical treatment.

J. Lawrence Brennan of Central street has been discharged from the Weymouth Hospital where he has been receiving treatment for an infected leg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Connell of Highland place are the proud parents of a daughter born on Saturday, May 3, at the Weymouth Hospital.

Mrs. George Marshall of Union street has returned from Keene, N. H., where she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles Robbins.

Mrs. J. A. Carlet has returned to her home on Pleasant street, having been a patient in the Bay State Hospital where she submitted to surgical treatment.

The Misses Lida and Evelyn Thayer were pleasantly surprised at their home on Tuesday, May 6, when their friends from the office of the Stetson Shoe Co. tendered them a miscellaneous shower in honor of their approaching marriage. Refreshments of ice cream, fancy cookies and punch were served. After a social evening the guests departed wishing them much happiness in the future.

Plans for a May festival to be held May 26 were perfected at a meeting held by a representative committee of the parish of St. Francis Xavier last week.

At the whist party conducted by the ladies of St. Francis Xavier church last week; forty tables were in play.

Mrs. Warren E. Palmer of Avon has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Frost of Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Doble of Union street are now occupying their recently completed residence on Reed ave.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman of Randolph street have left for Albany, N. Y., where Mr. Chapman has accepted employment.

A branch Sunday School has been opened by the Old South Union Congregational church in the Pond Plain Improvement Association building with Mrs. H. B. Norcross, Mrs. Lena B. Pratt and Mrs. J. A. Rogers in charge.

Mrs. Frederick Clapp of Randolph street is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harold Mann of Rockland.

Hosmer L. Freeman of Union street has left for New York where he is to sail for Alaska, June first, for a six months voyage aboard a private yacht, serving in the capacity of first mate.

Miss Katherine Brady, who has been spending the winter in Boston, has opened her home on Reed avenue for the summer.

John Metcalf and family of Pleasant street have removed to Ralph Talbot street and are making extensive improvements to their newly acquired property.

Mrs. B. F. Courtney of Park avenue is making a visit in Fort Wayne, Ind., where she is the guest of her son.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bearce of Pleasant street are the parents of a son born on Sunday, May 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Slaven (Alice O'Connor) formerly of this town, now residing in Chicago, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

C. S. Bigelow of Main street has bought for occupancy a new bungalow on Park avenue.

G. A. R. VET

Henry Pratt, 77, Civil War veteran, dropped dead Thursday afternoon in G. A. R. hall, Brockton. He had been chatting with fellow members of Fletcher Webster post, G. A. R., when he collapsed. House officers from the central police station, directly across the street were hurried to his aid, and two physicians called, but he was dead when they arrived. The body was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minot H. Bates, 190 Prospect street, where he had been living since the death of his wife less than a year ago.

Mr. Pratt was a native of Weymouth but had lived in Brockton for the last 23 years. He enlisted in Company G, 4th Massachusetts Cavalry, in February, 1865, at the age of 17, and took part in several engagements in the spring of 1865. He was discharged that fall. He was a member of Weymouth lodge of Odd Fellows.

AUTO THIEF

On Monday night the attention of the police department was called to a car bearing a Rhode Island registration standing on Lake street. On arriving at the spot one man under the influence of liquor was placed under arrest. Next day he informed the police the car had been purchased in Hanover.

Later information was received from the Providence, R. I., police that this car had been stolen over two months ago.

One other man who was with the car disappeared before the police arrived and he is thought to be the one who disturbed ex-Secretary Hanley's rest about 1.00 A. M.

Mr. Hanley was awakened, and on looking out of a window he saw that somebody was making away with his automobile. Hastily dressing he ran out the door with a hammer as his only implement for protection and jumped on the running board of the car. While he was opening the door on one side of the car the thief was jumping out the other side.

Owing to his telephone being out of order he hastened to the police station and on returning the thief had disappeared. The police have a good description of thief and it is hoped that they will be able to arrest him.

Later on Robert Coleraine who lives in the same neighborhood reported that a Lovell Diamond bicycle practically new had been stolen and it is thought that the same one committed that crime and made his escape on the bicycle.

NORTH WEYMOUTH

Norman McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKenzie of Bridge street, celebrated his seventh birthday last Friday. Miss Kimball, Norman's teacher, was present and with his twelve small guests, games and refreshments were enjoyed.

The May festival of Miss Lucci Bagley at K. of C. hall May 8 and 9 was an enjoyable occasion.

A class of candidates were initiated Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of Weymouth lodge L. O. O. M., at G. A. R. hall.

A large class of candidates will be initiated by Div. 9, A. O. H., at K. of C. hall this evening. After the work an entertainment and collation will be served.

The annual two days fair of the Daughters of Veterans opened yesterday at Grand Army hall, a drama being presented in the evening. This evening the Granite City tour will be the attraction.

Miss Alice Murphy of Hawthorne street had as a guest for the week-end her classmate, Miss Elinor Thayer at Dean Academy.

Rev. and Mrs. Earl E. Story will return this evening from the general conference of Methodist churches at Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark were pleasantly surprised at their home, 22 Randall avenue, by brother Red Men, it being the 28th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Clark was presented a solid gold Red Men's charm suitably inscribed and Mrs. Clark with a cut glass water set. Oscar Saunders was toastmaster. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Haywood.

On Monday evening, Mrs. M. P. Cann and Earl Cann entertained the Weymouth chapter branch, No. 2, of the M. P. C. of A. at their home at 63 Chard street. After the regular business meeting whist was played. The highest honors were won by Mrs. Eugene Sullivan and Mrs. May Poulin. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess. Games were enjoyed until a late hour. The next meeting of the chapter will be held with Miss Gwendolyn and Wilson Poulin, 7 Gardner place, East Weymouth.

At the First M. E. church next Sunday the Rev. C. D. Meade of Ft. Worth, Texas, will preach at the morning service and the Rev. M. L. Simpson of Miami, Okla., at the evening service.

STRAWS

Correct in every feature—distinctive and stylish.

Straws that make the wearer proud.

PLAY BALL!!!

Again the voice of the umpire is heard, and the swat of hickory against leather is sweet music to millions of fans from the rock-ribbed coast of Maine to the Golden Gate.

The baseball season of 1924 is on. May the best teams win.

Note how fit the players look, after their period of training—how smart and trim in their brand-new uniforms.

PLAY BALL--With style--says Old Sol--the universal umpire.

He is giving the signal to "play ball" with that old battered felt hat that makes you look like--well, you know how!

Strike out man!!!

Lam that felt hat into the discard, that's where it belongs—make a "home run" by getting one of these smart "up-to-the-minute-and-a-second-ahead" straw hats that will give you the same trim, smart look and timely appearance as those fellows out there on the "diamond."

Brigham-Hopkins and Mallory straw hats, all of them right for the right head and right for the right occasion, they're waiting for you. Priced at "That same tire down again"

Science discovers how unseen "lumps" in the rubber cause a weakness in ordinary tires

PREMATURE blow-outs, stone bruises, and holes, tread separation—what's back of all this tire trouble, anyway? The Thermoid Rubber Company recently made a discovery of far-reaching importance. They learned that the weakness in ordinary tires is due to the uneven mixing of the pure rubber gum with the necessary strengthening materials. They found that in this mixing process millions of minute "lumps" are formed—every "lump" a weak spot that causes the tire rapidly to weaken and "blow out."

This discovery the Thermoid scientists made the basis of an important contribution to tire-making. They perfected Crolide—a rubber compound that reduces "lumpy" formations to a minimum—that eliminates premature tire troubles. Crolide Compound is today used exclusively in the manufacture of Thermoid and Rexoid Cord Tires. Either type gives maximum mileage under all road and weather conditions. You are invited to call and see these tires for yourself—also the famous Crolide Compound Tubes.

GALLANT-BURKE

The marriage of John F. Gallant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Gallant of 721 Commercial street, East Weymouth, and Miss Madeline Burke, daughter of Mrs. Anna Burke of 60 Bay street, Whitman, took place in Whitman Sunday. The ceremony was performed at the rectory of the Church of the Holy Ghost at 7 P. M. by Rev. J. J. Starr. The couple were attended by Miss Mary Thibodeau of Whitman and Norman Butler of East Weymouth.

The bride wore tan georgette crepe with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid wore gray canton crepe with hat to match and carried pink roses. The groom's gift to the best man was a watch chain and the bride presented the bridesmaid a sterling silver bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallant left for a wedding trip to New York and on their return will reside at 721 Commercial street, East Weymouth.

MRS. EDWARD FLANNERY

One of the largest attended funerals ever held in this town was that of Mrs. Mary Flannery, wife of Edward Flannery and mother of Rev. Fr. James H. Flannery, pastor of St. John the Evangelist church in Hopkinton, which was held from the Church of the Immaculate Conception in East Weymouth last Friday morning, the church being filled with friends of the deceased. Rev. Fr. Edward Conroy of St. Eulalie church, South Boston celebrated mass. Rev. John L. Duran of South Weymouth was deacon, Rev. P. J. Dawson of East Weymouth was sub-deacon and Rev. William T. O'Connor of West Quincy master of ceremonies. Other clergy-men present were Rev. M. J. Cuddihy of Quincy Point, Rev. Edward J. Fraher of Hyde Park, Rev. M. J. Ganahy of Dorchester, Rev. Dr. Ernest M. O'Connor of Framingham, Rev. John J. Powers of Lowell, Rev. C. I. Riordan of East Weymouth, Rev. P. J. Scannell of Neponset, Rev. Joseph A. Brandle of Methuen and Rev. J. L. Driscoll, curate at Fr. Flannery's church in Hopkinton.

There were many beautiful floral tributes. The interment was at St. Francis Xavier cemetery. The committal

WHEN YOU WERE A BOY --

did you have a savings account of your own?

The father who has his boy's welfare at heart encourages him in saving regularly.

This regular saving will make a careful boy of him, and form a habit of thrift valuable to him in later years. Are such results not worth a little effort?

$1.00 or more will open a savings account for him.

Ask the Weymouth Savings Bank Man, --

He will tell you all about how to start a Savings Account, how the Bank helps it grow by adding interest.

It certainly is a pleasure to know that you are on the road to success through your own efforts in saving.

THE SELECTMEN

The weekly meeting of the Selectmen was held Monday afternoon, all the members present.

It was voted to instruct the Chief of Police to place an officer on Sundays at Neck and Bridge streets.

A petition was received from Wilton A. Loud for a gasoline station on Main street, South Weymouth, in front of the residence of Cassius Tirrell. A hearing will be held.

A license was granted to the Weymouth baseball association for a minstrel show at Fogg Opera House, and for a minstrel show and dance at the Gem theatre.

A license was granted E. S. Hunt & Sons, Inc., to manufacture firecrackers.

A hearing was held on petition of Charles C. Hearn for a druggist's license to sell intoxicating liquors at 312 Bridge street, North Weymouth. There were no remonstrants and the license was granted.

The board was notified that E. T. Hartman of the State Public Welfare Commission would address the members of the Town Planning Board at the Town Office this evening.

The petition of the New England Tel. & Tel. Co. for a location for poles on Hillcrest road, Randall avenue, Putnam and School street, was granted.

The Nowica Ice Cream Co. was granted a victualler's license.

A joint meeting of the board with the Selectmen of Braintree and Superintendent of Streets Osterbury of that town followed the regular meeting, the conference was called at the request of the County Commissioners, who have received several protests that the drawbridge on Quincy avenue had on several occasions been kept open longer than it should have been. The bridge is in charge of Superintendent Osterbury and he stated that it was impossible on account of its great weight for any one gang of men to work the draw without a rest for sometime between the opening and closing of the draw. It was intended when the bridge was built that the draw be operated by electricity, but it was not done.

A committee was appointed to ascertain the cost of installing electricity and also the cost of putting in some new piles on one side of the stone work, the present ones having been pulled out of place.

OWLS WIN AGAIN

The Owls took another scalp Sunday afternoon defeating the Indians of Dorchester 6-2 at Overlook park, North Weymouth. The battery of the locals were Sullivan and T. Ash and the visitors were unable to score until the eighth inning. The summary by innings:

Owls' 0 0 4 0 0 0 0 2-6
Indians 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2-0
Runs made by T. Ash 2, Coleran, McKinnon, McKim, Watson, Dorey home run. Two-base hits, Ash, McKinnon, G. Devoe, J. Devoe. Struck out, Watson 15, Sullivan 9. Umpires, Taylor and Francis.

On Saturday afternoon the Owls will play the Middleboro Town Team at Middleboro, leaving Bicknell Square North Weymouth, by jitney at 1 P. M.

—Feed the child well and wisely and many of the usual ills of after years will not trouble.

POP CONCERT

The third annual pop concert of Weymouth Circle, Daughters of Isabella, held in Bates Opera House, Weymouth Landing, Monday evening, Mrs. Genevieve Wall, have worked the committee under the direction of untiringly for the past few weeks on the decorations, which were very elaborate. The balcony was latticed, the color scheme being American beauty and yellow. Twined throughout the lattice was a display of gorgeous flowers and ivy leaves. Suspended from the lighting fixtures were large flower boxes, overflowing with flowers and throughout the hall were large crepe paper butterflies suspended on invisible wires. The table decorations were bud vases containing rambler roses.

There were sixty tables occupied on the floor and the vari-colored gowns of the ladies gave the hall the appearance of a massive garden. The balcony was well filled with spectators. The refreshments were in charge of Miss Mae Gordon, Miss Mary Hartnert and Miss Catherine Riley and the Egan, Irene White, Anna Fogarty, Irene Donovan, Ruth Shanahan, Mrs. Anna Sullivan and Mrs. Ida Donovan. The ushers were: the Misses Julia Looney, Nellie Donovan, Elizabeth McCarthy, Nellie McCarthy, and Mrs. Ida Donovan.

Music for dancing was furnished by Collins' singing orchestra of Marlboro, assisted by Miss Alice McDonough, solo dancer.

The committee of arrangements comprised Mrs. Genevieve Wall, chairman, the Misses Elizabeth Fahie, Mary Gardner, Anna Brennack, Helen Cuniff, Margaret Fahie, Catherine Leary, Caroline Gallant, Lillian Smith, Lora Hackett, Alice Burns, Catherine Riley, Mary Hartnert, Esther Scully, Agnes Lyons, Catherine Lonergan, Catherine Lyons, Elizabeth McCarthy, Nellie McCarthy, Julia Looney, Nellie Donovan, Mary Mielbye, Mrs. Helen Cummings, Mrs. Nellie Leary, Mrs. Mary Harrington, Mrs. Dorothy Doherty, Mrs. Ida Donovan and Mrs. Margaret Coyne.

YOU ARE INVITED

It is with a great deal of interest that we learn of the plans of the Old Colony Gas Company for the opening of their new building on Quincy avenue, East Braintree.

A Home Economics Exposition with many new ideas is to be held from June 9 to 14 inclusive. Mrs. Carolyn Webber Bixby, a well known Domestic Science expert, will be in charge of the model kitchen and will gladly help with any of the problems of the home.

A very novel idea comes in the offer of the Gas Company to the various women's organizations whereby the company will send to the treasurer of each organization a check for 25 cents for each woman attending, through the efforts of their organization.

Many organizations are already at work as it gives them a great opportunity to raise a little extra money to carry on their work.

—Not all other influences put together can equal in profound effect upon the welfare of the household that exercised by food and the attitude of mind regarding it.—Ellen H. Richards

HOW TO GET RID OF RATS IN THE HOUSE

Thorough Cleanliness Discourages Presence.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Thorough cleanliness and orderliness discourage the presence of rats and constitute a strong incentive for them to seek other quarters. To eliminate food and hiding places entirely is to eliminate rats. This is not always possible, but the nearer the approach to this condition the more simple the rat-riddance problem becomes.

The most important means of eliminating food and shelter are to store foodstuffs in rat-proof containers, to dispose of waste and garbage in tightly-covered vessels and to prevent the accumulation of trash, refuse and other similar material. Not only does lack of food and shelter reduce the breeding of rats, but increased hunger renders poisoning and trapping more effective.

The most efficient means known to the department for destroying rats is by poisoning, and poison is recommended for the purpose wherever it can be used with safety. Powdered barium carbonate is an inexpensive mineral, and seems best adapted for poisoning rats. It is both odorless and tasteless, and baits containing it are readily taken by these pests. It also has the advantage of being slow in its action, so that rats affected by it usually have time to leave the premises in search of water or to return to their burrows before they succumb.

A variety of baits used separately not only gives the rat a choice of foods but tends to make it less suspicious. One kind of each of the following classes of food mixed with barium carbonate is recommended:

(1) Meat or other animal substance.—Hamburg steak, sausage, fish, liver, bacon, or cheese.

(2) Vegetables and fruits.—Thin slices of muskmelon, apple, tomato, or cucumber, canned corn, or squash or pumpkin seed; or mashed banana, boiled carrot, or baked sweet potato.

(3) Cereals.—Rolled oats, bread, corn meal, flour or cake. Kitchen scraps and garbage can be worked into the ration to advantage.

Baits should be fresh and preferably of good quality.

The powdered barium carbonate should be thoroughly mixed and worked into the soft baits in the proportion of 1 part of the mineral to 4 parts of the selected food. Add water when necessary to make the baits moist. Baits moistened to the consistency of a soft mush are particularly acceptable to rats in dry weather.

Barium carbonate should be sifted over sliced baits and rubbed well into them with the fingers or a knife. The slices should be thin and should be moistened if necessary in order to attain as nearly as possible the 1 to 4 ratio. Soft baits may be mixed with the hands or with a spoon.

A teaspoonful, or its equivalent, of each of the three or more kinds of baits prepared, should be exposed in places frequented by rats. In buildings baits should be set on strips of paper or boards where they may be easily removed.

A convenient and successful method of exposing baits is to place a teaspoonful in each of a number of small paper sacks and drop them in places accessible to rats or frequented by them. The sacks should be closed by twisting the top. Baits distributed in this manner serves to allay the suspicion of rats and will be taken by them more readily than if exposed in the open.

Barium carbonate is a relatively mild poison, but the danger from accidents cannot be overemphasized. Keep it out of the reach of children and irresponsible persons and from domestic animals and fowls.

VERY SIMPLE MATTER TO PREPARE COOKIES

Housewife May Imitate Cakes Made by Baker.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is a simple matter to prepare fancy cookies, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The top may be decorated by pressing onto each cookie before baking a plump raisin or pieces of other dried fruit and dusting lightly with sugar. Ground nuts may be strewn over the top, or halves of nuts, such as pecans, English walnuts, and almonds be pressed onto the surface either singly or in form of a design.

Again, the cookies may be coated with a plain icing when they come from the oven and halves of nuts or fancy forms in the shape of stars, diamonds, etc., cut from fruit paste may be used to further decorate the cookies. The plain icing may be mixed with shredded coconut, ground nuts, or a mixture of nuts and dried fruits and spread on top or between two plain cookies. Marshmallow frosting, soft chocolate frosting, maple frosting, may all be used as a filling between cookies. In fact, the housewife may imitate a number of fancy cakes of the confectioner if she wishes to spend a little extra time and care on her baking.

The following recipe for rich cookies makes a good basis for fancy cookies, which are so useful to have on hand at holiday time, for afternoon tea, or the unexpected caller.

Rich Cookies.
1 cupful sugar 2 to spoonfuls
¾ cupful butter baking powder
2 eggs ¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoonful Spice or flavor to water suit taste
2½ cupfuls flour

Cream together the sugar and shortening; add to this the well-beaten eggs, the flavoring, and the flour with which the salt and baking powder have been sifted. This dough will be about the consistency of that for drop cookies. If rolled cookies are desired, omit the water, and increase the flour to three cupfuls, or enough to make a dough stiff enough to roll thin. Cut and bake as usual. Dried fruits, nuts, etc., may be added if desired.

Somebody has called the family breakfast the backbone of the nation.

The hot school lunch and bright pupils have a peculiar affinity for each other.

TALL WOMEN NEED TALL TABLES AND SINK

Women of Different Statures at Sinks.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The right working height for each individual woman is a matter of great importance for the comfort of the homemaker. When planning a new home, have the fixed working surfaces, such as the sink, tubs, kitchen cabinet and pantry counter, placed at carefully determined levels. Tables which ordinarily came in standard sizes, can be raised by means of blocks or casters. In adjusting oneself to equipment already purchased it usually pays to have the height of the working surfaces altered if one is very short or very tall, or if the original builder placed the sink or other working surface at badly chosen levels.

The illustration, showing three women of different statures at sinks of different heights, is an excellent proof of the need for variation in working levels.

Extension specialists, directed by the Washington Agricultural college and the United States Department of Agriculture, have found by experiment that the young girl who lacks an inch of being five feet tall should have the sink set so that its bottom, which would be at a point 6 inches below her elbow, comes 31½ inches from the floor; a woman of medium height, 5 feet 3½ inches, would work best if the bottom of the sink were 34½ inches from the floor, while a tall woman, 5 feet 8 inches in height, would not be able to work comfortably unless the point 6 inches below her elbow, the bottom of the sink, is 36 inches from the floor.

GIRL SCOUTS

The South Weymouth Girl Scouts are still carrying on despite the numerous interests that demand their time when spring arrives.

Captain Metcalf planned a treasure hunt for her troop that came off on Thursday last week. The trail was blazed by those whose ingenuity tested the alert minds of those who were to follow the signs along the way. Treasures, too, were hidden and buried at points signified and what interest could be keener than that shown by these bright girls determined to win by a treasure found.

Althea Holbrook unearthed a scout belt, Dorothy Peterson found a swing kit, Mary White a scout's metal mirror, and Alma Roach a second sewing kit. When the hike led out of the woods, a campfire was lighted, meats cooked to go with the prepared sandwiches and the rivalry of the hunt was happily discussed while the appetites were being satisfied.

The annual state review of the Girl Scouts will be held at the arena Saturday, May 17, where state inspection will be held and those fortunate enough to attend may witness the advantage every girl scout has thru the physical and mental culture and discipline required of her.

It is a pity that the audience must be limited for the exercises, the people interested, the speakers who address the Girl Scouts and their leaders should go a long way toward interesting those who are not already interested in this great movement for the advantage of our girls and so our coming women.

The state review is an annual affair. Let us plan now to take it in another year and encourage our girls by showing our interest in them.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

"Enemies of Women", Cosmopolitan's motion picture of the war novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, the Spanish novelist, is to be shown at the Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, Thursday, May 22, after unusually successful showings on Broadway, in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, and other cities.

Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens head a notable cast. Other players in the picture are Pedro de Cordoba, Gareth Hughes, Gladys Hulette, the late William H. Thompson, William Collier Jr., and Ivan Linow. "Enemies of Women", which has been rated by photoplay critics as one of the finest productions of the year, contains numerous scenes actually "shot" in Monte Carlo and Paris. The war scenes, especially the sinking of ships by submarines, are declared to be unequalled. Since the settings were directed by Joseph Urban, reports of their magnificence and lavishness may be accepted as accurate.

The action of the story takes place in Russia, Paris, the war front, and in Monte Carlo. Barrymore gives one of the finest characterizations of his illustrious acting career, it is said, as Prince Lubimoff, a selfish Russian noble. Alma Rubens is seen as the Duchess de Lille, a beautiful exotic, who lives only for men.

REX BEACH'S

The Spoilers

Directed by Lambert Hillyer

A JESSE D. HAMPTON PRODUCTION

Excitement and thrills, suspense and conflict are said to be simply crowded into "The Spoilers", Jesse D. Hampton's production of Rex Beach's famous novel of Alaska, which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, on Saturday, May 17. By the critics this film has been termed one of the masterpieces of the screen.

There is every reason to believe that "The Spoilers" is everything that has been claimed for it, as it boasts an unusually notable cast, headed by Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Barbara Bedford, Robert Edson, Noah Beery, Mitchell Lewis, Robert McKim, Sam de Grasse, John Elliott Ford Sterlang, Louist Fazenda, and Rockcliffe Fellows.

"The Spoilers" was written by Beach from actual observation of the turmoil that followed in the Yukon when crooks jumped the claims of the miners and looted them of their gold for months until justice was restored. His novel is an authentic record of the historic gold-rush to the Yukon and in transferring it to the screen Director Lambert Hillyer has lost none of the atmosphere of the recklessly dangerous life among those courageous fortune seekers.

Much has been made of the thrilling realistic fight between Milton Sills and Noah Beery in this 1923 version to eclipse the fight between William S. Hart and Tom Santschi in the first "Spoilers" a decade ago.

MEN ARE SO QUEER

By CORONA REMINGTON

(© 1924, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Fares, please."

The street car conductor held out his grimy hand and waited.

"Why, I paid when we got on," Jim Wadlington explained.

"Yes, I know; but we've come to the end of the line. Going back to the city now."

Barbara Forth jumped and caught up the little box of lunch that lay on Wadlington's knees.

"We wanted to get off there," they said in chorus, rising and starting toward the end of the car.

"Only two squares to walk back," the conductor smiled as he pulled the bell cord and had the car stopped.

"Bad case," Barbara heard some one say as they passed out.

"Bad case is right," Wadlington agreed when they were on the street once more. "I'd lost all track of everything."

"Oh, this is wonderful!" exclaimed Barbara joyously. "Smell the fresh things. There's honeysuckles here somewhere." She took long whiffs of the fragrant air like a dog on the scent of prey.

They wandered along until they came to a little brook that ran beside the road.

"Let's follow the brook," Jim suggested, and they turned and picked their way along the grassy banks of the little stream.

"This is going to be the greatest day of our lives," said Barbara when they at last sat down for lunch, "and I've been keeping the best news for now, and you'll never guess what it is."

"I couldn't, but I know it's something great. I can tell by the way your eyes dance and by the pink glow in your cheeks. Bab, you're actually excited."

"I am—it's the greatest thing, and I'm so happy. Jim, they've made me manager of my department. I no longer work for wages. I now draw a salary, if you please!"

Jim was strangely quiet when he heard the news, and somehow Barbara felt disappointed. She had thought he would be so proud of her, and so happy.

He looked at the worried, childish eyes and the tousled bobbed hair in front of him and shook his head as if puzzled. How could anyone who was so dainty and who looked so irresponsible be so efficient? he asked himself. "Love and protect!"—what protection did she need?

"I suppose you're making almost as much as I am now," he said aloud after a while.

"Fifty a week," she answered, hurt.

"I get seventy-five," he said in a tone she could not understand.

"Jim, are you—are you jealous of my work?" she asked after a moment.

"No, no, not at all. May I have another sandwich?" He dismissed the subject, and Barbara was forced to talk of something else. In a little while Wadlington was his happy, care-free self again, but Bab could not so easily forget. For her the day was spoiled—the day she had looked forward to for so long—and it was with a sigh of relief that she finally settled down in the homeward-bound car. She made no further attempt to keep up the conversation, nor did he, and it was with difficulty that she managed to keep the tears back.

At last they were in town again, and he left her at her door without asking for another engagement, as was his custom before leaving.

One second she told herself that it was an oversight, the next that it was intentional, and for days and days she drifted back and forth in an agony of suspense.

The promotion that Bab had been so proud of at first had lost its charm for her, and what was once a pleasure became drudgery. How different it would have been if he had only entered into her work with her and approved of it! He had never acted that way before.

After a week of unbearable silence he telephoned and invited her to the "movies," and when he came he was the same happy Jim he had always been—as tactful and considerate as ever, but somehow he seemed more impersonal. No mention was made of her work, and she returned the compliment by failing to inquire about his as she usually did.

The next morning Mr. Bliss, her employer, summoned her to his private office.

"Miss Forth," he began without any preliminaries, "you haven't had all the papers on the Watkins case filed. When I sent for them yesterday they weren't to be found—and several important letters I dictated to you have come back because they were improperly addressed. These are not the first errors that have come to me either. I evidently made a mistake in promoting you. I'm very sorry, Miss Forth, but I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to resign. I'm quite surprised at my own error of judgment, and for my own satisfaction I wonder whether you would mind telling me something: Is there a man—are you—er—in love?"

The quick flush that rose to Barbara's cheeks answered his question, and a smile of relief overspread his face.

Jim Wadlington was amazed to get a telephone call from Bab begging him to run over to her home at lunch, and he was still more surprised when she greeted him at the door with a woe-begone little smile and fairly threw herself into his arms.

"Oh, Jim, I've lost my job," she wailed. "Mr. Bliss said he'd made a mistake in putting me there, and that I was careless and inefficient, and he fired me; didn't even offer me back my old place. Oh, I'm no good. I haven't any brains or any sense or anything."

He held her close and comforted her.

"I'm the happiest man in town today," he told her. "Now, maybe I'll have the nerve to propose to you. The way things were I didn't feel that you needed a husband."

"Silly," she laughed. "Men are so queer—but I do like them."

"Better than jobs?"

"Lots."

Now perfectly contented and happy, he kissed her again and again. "Mine—mine—all mine!" he said unbelievably.

It was late that night before Barbara slept, but she did not care. She was perfectly satisfied to lie in the dark and dream dreams of the future.

"Dear, dense creatures," she said over and over, "and to think that neither of them ever suspected a thing!"

Offered Stolen Story to Its Real Author

The person who copies another's story that is in print and offers it for sale is a thief. He has taken something that does not belong to him. Happily the plagiarist, as such a person is called, usually has a hard time disposing of his stolen wares, and occasionally his deception comes to light in dramatic fashion. For example:

One October day, writes Augustus Thomas in the "Print of My Remembrance," a young man brought to me a manuscript that he wished to sell. I promised to read it, although I told him that the Kansas City Mirror, on which I was employed, was not buying fiction. After a fortnight he came again, and I read the story as he sat there. I was prepossessed with what I thought was its easy introduction.

As I read on I said to myself, "If I had to state that case, that's the way I should like to write it." Another paragraph and I said, "Well, that's the way I did write it!"

I looked hurriedly through the script and asked the young man if he were the author of the story. He said he was. He was not large, and behind my desk were two compositors standing at their cases and another working on the stone. So I felt courageous enough to say to the young man, "You're a liar!"

He sprang to his feet with fine indignation. I repeated my characterization and added: "That story was printed on Sunday, May 1, 1887, in the New York World under the title, 'A Leavenworth Romance.'"

The fellow could only gasp an assent.

I said: "If you will go home to the paper from which you copied this, you'll find my initials, G. T., at the bottom of that story."

He said, "Yes," and went out, dazed at the mischance that had made him bring to an obscure person sitting in a Western office a yarn that he had copied verbatim from an Eastern daily—only to discover that he had placed the stolen article in the hands of its author! And there were 90,000,000 other citizens in the United States—Youth's Companion.

Winds of Upper Air Observed by Balloons

The Royal Netherlands Meteorological Institute at De Bilt, near Utrecht, with branches elsewhere in Holland, used until some years ago, for wind observations in the upper air, small rubber balloons, which were obtained from France. Then information came from Paris that the manufacturer of these balloons could furnish no more. The institute was thus reduced to the choice of ceasing the upper air observations or having the balloons made in Holland. Experiments began at once and continued for some time, and now it is said that they have been entirely successful.

It is stated that the small and light rubber bags made in an automobile garage at Utrecht can, after undergoing a certain chemical process, be easily inflated into large balloons that are plainly visible in the air. Further, it is claimed, observations with these balloons can be made at a greater height than was ever possible with the imported ones. On favorable days, observations have been made at a height as great as 9,322 miles. As these balloons are pure white and transparent as glass, they are said to form a peculiarly favorable image in the telescope, different from the former imported balloons.

Da Vinci Wrote Backward

In an elaborate paper, read in London before the Newcomen society, upon an interesting detail of the theorizing of Leonardo da Vinci on matters relating to engineering, attention was called to the difficulty of deciphering his manuscript on account of the peculiarity of his writing.

The following particulars were noted: He wrote from right to left after the fashion of the Semitic group of languages; his writing was of the kind known as mirrored or reversed, such as would be produced by looking at normal script through a mirror; he employed an elaborate scheme of abbreviation; and he omitted the use of punctuation.—Compressed Air Magazine.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

DAVID SWIFT

"TRY David Swift," said the senior member of the banking firm of Smith, Jones & Brown to his friend; and accordingly after lunch the two men took the baffling slip of yellow paper to Mr. Smith's official decipherer of mixed code cables.

"That man eight years ago was earning two dollars a day at unskilled labor; now I pay him ten thousand a year," said the great man as he and his friend waited for the outcome over their cigars in the inner office. Then he told David Swift's story.

"Not so long ago we were actually losing money through delays in decoding messages that had been relayed from Hong Kong, or even sometimes London. That set me looking for a man who had what I call 'the habit of attack.' Well, one day after closing hour I stopped in to find a very important letter; there is just one man there working, and I told him what I was after. I admit that it seemed hopeless to me; but in ten minutes he had what I wanted."

"Now that's what I call 'attack.' I asked the head of our filing department about him next day. It seemed that the chief filing clerk's uncle had a big milk farm where eight years ago this young David Swift was a regular hand in summer—in winter he still went to high school. Eight years ago, the corn for the silo had all been cut except one big ten-acre field. That afternoon everyone was prophesying frost, the boss was away, and the men were contending that it was hopeless to start such a big job so late. But young David Swift's sporting blood was up; if three of them would help him, he said, he'd save the crop. Our clerk's uncle came back to find them cutting the last rows by moonlight, and he was so impressed by what David Swift had done that, when the boy graduated from his school the following spring, he got him a job with his nephew in our office. You see what I mean by his—what I call—'attack'?"

Just then the door of the inner office opened and there entered a square built young man whose head and shoulders had the appearance of getting ahead of the rest of his body.

"You've given it up!" cried Mr. Smith's friend disappointedly.

"It wasn't code at all, sir; simply a badly jumbled message," answered David Swift. "I think that's the reason they missed it at your office; they were looking for something hard."

As the door closed Smith turned to his friend: "Is ten thousand too high for this 'habit of attack'?" he asked triumphantly.

EVERYDAY FOODS

WHEN a few pieces of chicken are left over from the Sunday dinner, cut the meat into small pieces removing all the bones. A cupful will make a nice dish with macaroni. Prepare a rich white sauce, using two tablespoonfuls of butter melted and two tablespoonfuls of flour; mix well and add one cupful of milk with such seasonings as one likes. Take a cupful of cooked macaroni, put a layer of macaroni in the bottom of a buttered dish, cover with a layer of chicken, then a layer of white sauce. Repeat until all are used. Over the top sprinkle a thick covering of buttered crumbs and bake until brown.

Soft Molasses Cookies.

Take one cupful of molasses, one and three-fourths teaspoonfuls of soda, one cupful of sour milk, one-half cupful of shortening, two teaspoonfuls of ginger, one teaspoonful of salt and flour to roll as soft as possible. Chill before rolling and less flour will be needed.

Mutton With Vegetables.

Brown serving-sized pieces of mutton in fat. Add sliced or diced carrots, onions, potatoes, and enough water to simmer. Cover and cook for an hour or more, adding salt, pepper and a dash or two of flour for thickening. Serve with hot corn bread.

Caraway Rye Bread.

Take one-fourth of a cupful of chopped suet, melt in one cupful of boiling water, add one cupful of scalded milk, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, one-half cupful of walnut meats, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-fourth of a yeast cake softened in one-fourth of a cupful of warm water, two teaspoonfuls of caraway seeds and three cupfuls each of rye and wheat flour. The mixture is set to rise and when double its bulk the whole is baked in two loaves.

When making fudge try adding as much crisp corn flakes or puffed rice as the mixture will take. A few nuts coarsely chopped make a most palatable candy and one which may be given the children without worry.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

—Marshall Bates, '26 is confined to his home with illness.

—Donald Brackett '26 has been absent for the past few days.

—The boys of W. H. S. played baseball with Rockland Wednesday afternoon at Rockland.

—The Junior Class will hold a party tonight in the Gymnasium Hall at W. H. S. The following were elected to make plans for the party: chairman of the entertainment committee Alice Mackay. Chairman of the refreshment committee, Carl Garey, chairman of Decoration committee, George Craig.

—Miss Mabelle Barcello '26 returned to school Tuesday after a days absence.

—A convention of the Chandler's Shorthand was held at Exeter Theatre, Boston, last Saturday. A large number from the Weymouth High school chaperoned by the Misses Alice Gay and Alice Dwyer attended.

—The Senior Class of W. H. S. held an annual dance last Friday evening in the new High School Gymnasium. The hall was prettily decorated with streamers of the Class Colors, Blue and Gold, and potted plants. There were about twenty couples on the grand march led by George H. Dwyer, Secretary. Mary E. Ashton, Vice President, Robert E. Bates, Treasurer, Miriam E. Holbrook. The matrons were Mrs. Fred W. Hilton, Mrs. Thomas A. Lyons, Mrs. Earl M. Ricker, Mrs. Louis E. White, Mrs. Wallace E. Whittle, Mrs. Jacob S. Wichert. The music was furnished by Downeys seven piece orchestra of Hingham.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

The Soan-ge-ta-ha Camp Fire Girls feel well paid for the effort they made to help at the campfire booth at the Home Beautiful Exposition for their excellent work. Miss Virginia Perry won first prize and Miss Nora Spence second for the two best beaded head-bands. Miss Helen Lang won first prize for the best loaf of cake sent in on Friday (Weymouth day) and their guardian's gown won a prize also.

They are working hard to perfect the play which they are presenting soon. The council fire ceremony in the last act will be quite an attraction.

S. OF V. AUXILIARY

Auxiliary 31, S. of V., held a whist party in G. A. R. hall Monday afternoon; the winners of prizes were, Mrs. Linquist, Mrs. Lambert, Miss Newcomb, and Mrs. McEachern.

At the business meeting arrangements were made for Memorial Day. Mrs. Stoddard was reported as having had a relapse and was still in the hospital and Mrs. Mahoney was reported as a little improved.

Baked Peas Good, but Can't Supersede Beans

I like baked peas; we have them once a month, says Arthur Staples, in the Lewiston (Me.) Journal. They are not so good as baked beans that you can eat twenty times a month and have brand new four times a month in a bean pot all your own. We are not raising good baked-bean experts nowadays. They must use reasonably new beans—old beans are not so good—and they ought to be baked until they just about burst their sides with richness.

I like to see them roll out so that they gleam in the candlelight like rubies on a string. They ought to swim about like bubbles in the golden fatness, and the pork ought to look like the covers of an old book, ruddy-brown and aged with beauty.

Baked peas are done exactly like baked beans, pork and all, baked in the pot and brown as berries—though just which berry is "brown" is difficult to say.

There is another dish that my mother used to make. She used to take apples and peel, quarter and core them, put in a certain amount of brown sugar and some other things and put the whole in a bean pot. Bake them in a slow oven—she used to bake them in the old brick oven with its slowing heat that lasted for many hours. When they come out they are like a jelly. The substance is as red as the cheek of a Baldwin. My wife has tried it, but it seems hardly as good as it used to be.

New Process Hastens Marketing of Oranges

An orange may be inwardly ripe when outwardly green, and if allowed to yellow on the trees the marketing may be delayed four to six weeks and consequently a less favorable price may be obtained.

This green condition gives the satsuma orange grower more concern than others. Satsumas are raised in upper Florida, lower Alabama and lower Mississippi. Normally they are gathered about October 15, but they can be harvested earlier when artificial processes of coloring are used to get away from the persistent greenness of skin.

The United States Department of Agriculture has worked out a process for coloring oranges without harming the fruit, says the Scientific American. The process consists of inclosing the oranges in airtight rooms and subjecting them to fumes of kerosene stoves or to gasoline engine exhaust. The fumes given off destroy the green chlorophyll so that the yellow of the orange shows up.

It requires about four days to bring out the yellow of the oranges by this process. This is better than waiting four or six weeks for the fruit to ripen on the trees, running the risk of frost or storm damage and facing the probability of a lower market when the oranges are ultimately harvested.

Nile Irrigation

The phenomenon of the overflowing of the Nile occurs regularly every year, and lasts from the 15th of June to the 17th of September. After this period the river gradually subsides, leaving a rich alluvial deposit for some six miles on each side of the stream. A rise of 16 cubits is necessary to furnish the proper irrigation. An excessive rise of the river means great loss of crops and property, and sometimes of human life; while the failure of a few feet may occasion almost a famine during the ensuing year. In 1829 the Nile rose 26 cubits, and caused the death of 30,000 persons by drowning, as well as the destruction of a great amount of property. The average rise at Thebes is 40 feet; at Cairo, 27 feet.—Kansas City Star.

Belgian Education

To train Belgian young men for service in the Congo as physicians, technical men and administrative officers a "Colonial university" has been established at Antwerp by the Belgian government. This university has been developed through the successful work of a high school of commerce, which was founded two years ago by the commission for relief in Belgium and the city of Antwerp, to train boys for colonial service. This school was converted into a university last November and it is now known as "l'Université Coloniale." It has three schools devoted respectively to political and administrative science, tropical medicine and natural sciences.—School Life.

Heron Prey on Trout

Many trout in the Musselshell region of Montana have been destroyed by the blue heron, which stands in the riffles of a stream and spears fish all day long, according to J. B. Bonham, forest ranger. He recommends the killing of herons to preserve the trout.

The destruction of trout by the blue heron also was called to the attention of Minnesota sportsmen last summer. Conservationists, however, are not unanimous in their approval of an "open season" on blue heron, and the birds are protected by law.

Consumption of Copper

World consumption of copper for eight months last year gave an estimated annual rate of 2,750,000,000 pounds.

Plant Beans to Conceal

Neighbor's Chicken Coop

Would you disguise your garbage can with tropical verdure?

It is simple. It will cost 5 cents. Likewise you can conceal the garbage of your next-door neighbor if he has neglected architectural beauty. You can screen a neighboring chicken coop or an ugly back fence with one luxuriant kind of plant, the castor bean.

For 5 cents a packet of seeds containing around ten beans can be purchased. These plants should not be placed closer together than 5 feet. They grow from 6 to 10 feet tall under good cultivation and soil conditions, make leaves from 2 to 4 feet in diameter and produce ornamental fruit, all in the course of a single season. They are annual plants, grow easily from seed and can be transplanted without trouble.

The best variety for quick effect is the Zanzibar castor bean. It is catalogued usually under its botanical name, Ricinus Zanzabariensis.

In a Berwyn back yard last year two of these plants were planted to conceal a chicken house. The seeds were planted the last of April. Two plants were set out 5 feet apart. By July they had reached a height of 5 feet and a spread of 12, the huge leaves touching and overlapping. By midsummer the chicken house was hid from view in the rear of the yard. It will speedily conceal it. Other unsightly objects are quickly hidden.

The castor bean is the largest annual plant we have in the flower garden. It is always handsome and clean in foliage. Its needs are rich soil and a liberal supply of water which is always available in any city garden.

These plants are ideal specimens to fill a corner, one plant being sufficient for a striking display.

The castor bean blossom spike is inconspicuous, but the big seed pods are ornamental. To offset the lack of flowers and to enhance the beauty of its huge tropical leaves which come in various shades from light green to bronzy red, tall flowering annuals may be associated with it with good effect.

Two are unusually effective, the flowering tobacco and the spider plant. The spider plant should be planted at sufficient distance from the castor bean so that it won't be shaded and smothered by the big leaves. Four feet would be about right. The spider plant is found as Cleome Pungens in seed lists.

The flowering tobacco, Nicotiana glauca, are sweet scented, open their handsome flowers about four in the afternoon and close during the hot part of the day. They should be planted 18 inches apart. The seed is very fine, but germinates quickly and grows rapidly.

Move for Civic Tidiness

Carelessness in the matter of community tidiness seems to be increasing generally. England, always noted in the past for its neat and well-kept countryside, now complains that newspapers, lunchboxes and tin cans are thrown all over the landscape in barbarous desecration. Everybody in this country has either seen for himself or read about the unsightly state of our own main thoroughfares, our city streets and public works.

The national chamber of commerce is now pushing a movement in the United States, the purpose of which is to promote civic tidiness. It urges three methods of effecting this—education, the adequate provision of receptacles for waste and rubbish and the enforcement of the ordinances concerning cleanliness that already exist in many cities and towns.

Here is a reform that couldn't possibly have menacing accompaniments, and in which everybody, young or old, big or little, may participate. By starting at one's own doorstep and watching one's self throughout the day a lot of carelessness can be stopped. Any one who wishes can refrain from throwing paper or other litter around where it can become a public nuisance.

Locate With Care

Location of the tree may determine its selection as well as soil and climate. If there is small space which may be devoted to the future development of the tree, says the American Tree association of Washington, D. C., it would not be satisfactory to plant one which will attain huge proportions. More than any other determining feature in tree selection is the purpose which the tree is to serve. For a two-cent stamp for postage the association will send tree-planting suggestions. The planter should study trees growing in his immediate neighborhood and pick out the variety which will best serve his needs.

Rural Mail Box of Concrete

Roadside rural mail boxes are subject to collisions from careless driving, and a box of such a nature that it will do more harm to a colliding vehicle than it will suffer itself, will make the driver more careful. A receptacle of this kind being used in the western states, is one in which both the box and the support are solid concrete of substantial proportions. It is also ornamental, being formed to represent a tree trunk with the box resembling two small logs.

Chic Afternoon Gown Is Made of Crepe de Chine

This charming afternoon gown is developed in flesh-colored crepe de chine. It is banded with moire ribbon of the same tint.

Late Fashion Notes of Interest to All Women

The skirt with a bodice top has returned to style.

Flesh satin makes up an attractive pair of the newest evening slippers to be worn with nude hose.

The Russian tunic effect is becoming more and more frequent. It is seen not only in chic frocks, with a swirl of fur at the hem, but also in long, somewhat loose coats, especially for evening wear.

Included in the list of new laces is a lovely one in black and cream, the foundation being cream and the pattern black. Lace overdresses made of this material are worn over slips of peach or cornflower satin.

Soulie has created a sensational spring fashion by a combination of straw and fur. One hat by this Paris designer, with a crown and brim of soft light straw and a straw bow standing up behind, has the wide brim bordered with a thick band of black fox.

The Russian coronet effect, so becoming to most women as an ornament for the evening coiffure, is not now built of jewels. So fond have women become of satin flowers that these coronets are made from buds and blossoms of satin velvet, and sprinkled with brilliants.

Felt Popular Novelty in Gowns, Jackets, Hats

It is in the sports clothes that the most fetching styles for young women are designed. Felt is the novelty in gowns, jackets, hats, in accessories and trimmings. Those things which are not in reality made of felt are of something similar in character, so Paris announces.

In the sports dresses are the easy, straight slip-ons, the sort of frock that appears to have no shape or fit, but the success of which depends, nevertheless, upon the proper cut, length, hang and shoulder fastening. To the degree of attention given to the fit of this type of gown is due the style, or the lack of style, of the woman who wears it.

It is shown in the softer materials and in grades of twill, flannel and crepe-knit. Some conspicuous examples of the new felt applique, stitching and embroidery are imported by the leading houses, but the better styles tend to plainness.

Coats, resembling the once popular blazer, of gay striped or bright-colored flannels, are among the new things. They are almost invariably cut straight and boxy, high at the neck and with long coat sleeves.

Flower Garnitures Are Among Late Novelties

Fetching things in flower garnitures are among the latest novelties received from Paris. The popularity of artificial flowers for trimming evening gowns, for the hair and for boutonnieres has enhanced the importance of this decorative feature, and many beautiful and costly things are shown.

For a single motif on an afternoon or evening gown or wrap there is a large flower in the form of a conventionalized wild rose, made of black velvet with a center of silver dust and a line of silver outlining the petals. It is a stunning "high light" to form the only trimming.

Countless lovely blossoms—single and in spray—are fashioned of silk ribbon and metal. Few of the sheer gowns, especially for evening wear, are seen without this floral touch. Nothing could be more entrancing than a frock of crisp tulle with skirt of many layers, trimmed with trailing sprays of these flowers. The effect is quite fairylike.

White and Colors in Dainty Frocks

Used in Combination for Gowns, Sweaters, Coats, Hats and Accessories.

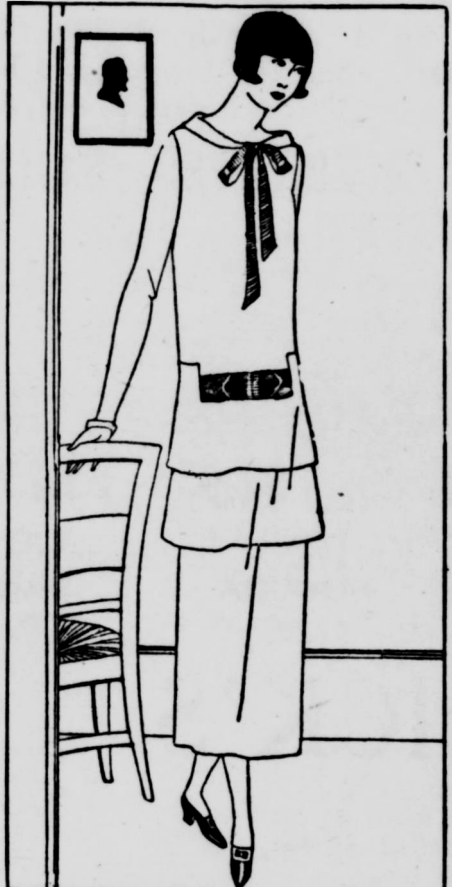

White is apparently a foundation for the newest styles, notes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, for it is not only worked out in every type of dress—gowns, sports suits, sweaters, coats, hats and accessories—but it is also combined with colors in the most effective, often the most striking manner.

Nothing more charming, more swaggy, more flattering and more generally satisfactory is seen than the all-white flannels, crepes, silks and knitted frocks and suits. But there are exceedingly smart combinations and contrasts, of which black-and-white is the most popular. White voile or crepe gowns are covered with a cut-out design in black cloth or felt, stitched on flat. In others the colors are reversed, and stunning things in coats, sweaters, even stockings, shoes and gloves, are shown in sharp black and white, or white on black.

This is as good for the misses' as for the more mature styles, but bright, lovely combinations are used in the younger models; jade and white, orange and white, and much scarlet with white. That green jade, in many tones, is all the rage is the last word from Paris, and is already indicated in the leading houses of New York.

A beautiful, very young model in jade green chiffon is embellished from the décolleté neck to the hem with a pattern in darker green leaves of silk applique and joined with traceries of fine crystal beads, the edge of the skirt trimmed with a narrow band of white fur. With this artistic gown of sylph-like lines is a cape of jade green chiffon, gathered into a band at the neck, which is concealed by a full ruff of the chiffon. The cape is finished at the bottom with two tucks and a wide hem.

The one-piece tiered, draped or tunic model is well received, but the one-piece chemise dress is obviously the choice of the younger set. It is beltless and made in an unbroken line from throat to instep, the tendency being toward a shorter skirt line.

One shown in an exclusive shop is made of pale green chiffon, high décolleté, and is cut absolutely straight, over two paler shades, one of taffeta, the other of chiffon, and a knot and long ends of ribbon in a slightly deeper shade of green are attached over the hip at one side. Nothing could be more daintily severe, nor appeal more definitely to one of slender, youthful figure.

In simpler gowns, the whole effect is in the fabric, fine crepe or chiffon, and in the grace with which the drapery is arranged. Lace in a finishing collar about the neck, deep cape-collared or bertha, is seen on some of the new modes, and is charming. Organdie is coming into its own, and some girlish frocks in pale green, rose and yellow organdie, made with rather full skirts, wide hem and tucks, with a lace or muslin frill finishing the round neck and sash of ribbon, are among the sweetest things for girls shown by a shop that specializes in clothes for young people.

New Cotton Fabrics for Little Misses' Frocks

To mothers who take pride and pleasure in fashioning adorable frocks for the tiny daughter the new cotton fabrics suggest innumerable possibilities. There are smart little plain and checked ginghams guaranteed not to fade so that they are excellent for practical play dresses. English prints have a charming quaintness that makes them especially suitable for children's clothes, while the latest version of dress sateen shows a wide crinkly stripe and scattered motifs of gay flowers in a formal arrangement.

For little afternoon dresses one may choose embroidered grass cloth that has small conventional designs formed by dots embroidered in color. The range of embroidered cottons is exceptionally wide this spring and the loveliest show formal motifs in the brightest colors at widely spaced intervals.

WHY

There Are Fewer Nobles in Scotland Today.

The Scottish peerage, once the strongest and most flourishing of Great Britain, now contains only 80 members, says the new issue of De-brett. At the time of the union of the parliaments of Scotland and England in 1707, the peerage enrolled 154 members, which included almost all the wealthiest men of Scotland, the clan chiefs and political leaders of the country. These peers were in almost absolute control of the country and owned most of the shipping interests, then the greatest commercial enterprise of the British isles.

Attainder, extinction and dormancy have since then reduced the number, and the growth of new commercial interests has taken away the influence of the peers.

As no Scottish peerage could be created since 1707, to be a member of the Scottish peerage is a greater distinction than to be a member of any other British peerage. Forty-nine of the Scottish peers have been made peers of England and therefore allowed to sit in the house of lords, which prerogative is not accorded to the Scottish nobles. The remainder are allowed to elect 16 of the number at the beginning of parliament to represent them in the house of lords.

At the present time the peerage is composed of four dukes, four marquises, forty-two earls, two countesses, four viscounts, twenty-one barons and four baronesses.

Why Did He Write This?

Watch a trolley car or subway or elevated train discharge and take on passengers in New York or any large city, writes Mitchell Bronk in the North American Review. As a rule these two transactions are carried on in such a way that the entering crowd jams itself against those who are coming out of the car, to the delay, discomfort, and sometimes injury to all concerned. Time and again I have asked officials and employees of these lines of travel why the passengers could not pass out through the front and enter by the rear doors, simultaneously, as is done on most railroads. I never get an answer, unless a dull look of incomprehension and wonderment be regarded as such. Again, there is the little, insignificant matter of our copper coins. Why can we not have, as we have been clamoring for years to have, two and three-cent coppers, and so be spared the bother of going down twice or thrice into our trousers pocket when we buy a newspaper or when a collection plate passes by? Why, because some one has not sense enough to give them to us. Or why are buttons still sewed upon our coats with perishable thread, as our grandmothers did it? Or why are not puncture-proof automobile tires manufactured? Or why don't the writers of our jazz music give more variety to their productions? Or, even, why doesn't a plumber bring his tools with him to a job? For the same reason—because so many people are, frankly, darned fools.

Why He Used Paper Money

In 1651, a year before John Hull set up his mint in Boston which produced the famous pine-tree shilling, one William Phipps was born of lowly pioneer parents in the Maine wilderness. At the age of thirty-three he secured a royal warrant and organized an expedition to search for a sunken treasure ship.

The extraordinary thing is that he found the ship and recovered from it treasure to the value of 300,000 pounds. His share made him rich, and in acknowledgment of the exploit he not only knighted him, but appointed him sheriff of New England, says Will Payne, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Being now a leading citizen from every angle, Sir William induced the Massachusetts general court to fit out an expedition with him in command, against French possession in Canada. Port Royal was easily captured in the spring of 1690. A much more ambitious expedition was at once launched against Quebec and Montreal. It failed disastrously.

The surviving volunteers demanded the pay which had been promised them—and which the general court had been expected to realize out of the spoils of victory. The general court met the crisis with a politicians' expedient by issuing 7,000 pounds of paper money.

Why Atlas Carried World

Atlas was the son of Iapetus and Clemea, and brother of Prometheus and Epimetheus, according to ancient mythology. He was one of the Titans and the father of the Pleiades and Hyades.

Having attempted to scale the battlements of Olympus, he was condemned by Jupiter to bear upon his head and hands the celestial vault.

A volume of maps bound together is called an atlas, probably from the representation of the Titan "Atlas" supporting the globe, with which the title pages were formerly adorned.—Detroit News.

Why Is Rice Thrown?

Throwing rice at a wedding is an old Hindoo custom. In India, rice is a most important staple and the use of it in ceremonies was emblematic of life and fruitfulness. It served, therefore, as a very appropriate symbol for the conveyance of good wishes on the occasion of a marriage.

Navajo Monument in Northwestern Arizona

The Navajo national monument is within the great and little known Navajo Indian reservation in northeastern Arizona. It comprises tracts of land, each of which contains the ruins of a remarkable prehistoric cave pueblo or cliff dwelling in a good state of preservation. These are known as Betatakin (the Navajo name of side-hill house), Kistsil (meaning broken pottery) and Inscription house. The latter ruin derives its name from an inscription scratched into the clay plaster of a wall. It reads: "S-hapeiro Ano-Dom 1661."

Betatakin is situated at an elevation of 7,000 feet in a great cave 450 feet long, with a maximum depth of 150 feet, in the side of a soft, red sandstone cliff, which forms the walls of a most picturesque and beautiful canyon, says the Detroit News. The cave roof projects far out over the village, which originally contained 120 rooms and occupied every foot of building space, but is so high that swirling storms have caused shrubbery to grow up to the very foundations of the ancient homes.

Kistsil is the largest of the cave pueblos and is appropriately named, as the open spaces between the apartments are strewn with broken pottery of the finest type produced by the ancient cliff dwellers. The village completely fills a cave 350 feet long and 50 feet deep. There are 148 rooms in all. Similar circular ceremonial chambers or kivas at the front of the cave and below the level of its floor indicate that the tribe occupying it was different from the clan that lived at Betatakin, as in the latter there are no rooms of this type. Kistsil is situated in a wooded canyon, the walls of which are warmly colored.

Dairymen of Jutland Find Co-operation Pays

Randers is a city of 27,000 inhabitants situated in the east central part of Jutland, writes E. F. Frazier in the Southern Workman. The co-operative dairy located there is an excellent example of how producers and consumers can meet in co-operative enterprises.

This dairy was established in 1913. At present it receives about 11,000,000 pounds of milk from 400 members living within a radius of between six and seven miles of the city. Each member pays an entrance fee of $10 per cow. The society owns 12 retail stores in the city and supplies 12 besides its own. Besides the annual dividend from the surplus each member receives three-fifths of a cent more per kilogram (2.2 pounds) than is offered by the privately owned dairies. The dairy supplies 65 per cent of the city's consumption, besides exporting 2,000 pounds of cream and 8,000 pounds of butter daily to be sold in its stores in England. In 1922 the society was able to pay its members a dividend of 17 cents on each 100 pounds of milk brought to the dairy.

By such an organization of production the smallest producer is afforded the same advantages as the largest, and all consumers are guaranteed a standard product.

Elephants Increasing

The elephant is a very useful animal, both for draft purposes and for ivory. A few years ago 70,000 were slaughtered annually for their tusks, so that it seemed as though there was a good chance of the big animals becoming extinct. Wise laws, however, have checked the destruction so that the number is increasing. The war gave the elephants their chance and the British authorities in East Africa have also protected them. South of Zambesi the elephant is virtually extinct and the Cape market for ivory has ceased to exist. At present Mozambique is the center of the ivory trade. Oddly enough the Portuguese, through whose hands it comes, send nearly all the ivory across to Bombay, where it is sorted and cut and dispatched to the European markets. The world's supply of real elephant ivory is now about 250 tons a year.—Scientific American.

Winter Wheat in France

If experiments now being made in Brittany are satisfactory, France will soon be growing American wheat. Brittany, one of the important wheat-growing districts of France, needs harder and sturdier wheat. The crops there have been good only every other year and with the co-operation of the French government officials, experiments have been made in testing samples of hard winter wheat. These samples, supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture, were from the state of Washington, which has about the same climate as Brittany.

Short and Sweet

The talk had turned on the subject of theatrical first nights and speeches at the fall of the curtain.

"I have had four plays produced," a playwright exclaimed, "and when I say authors should not make speeches, I know what I am talking about. But if you must speak, let your speech be as short as possible. I only once made a speech during those four unforgettable occasions, and it contained four words."

"What were they?" he was asked.

"And boo to you," he replied.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

YOUR IMAGINATION

GIVE your imagination free rein, especially if it is of the constructive kind, taking you to new heights beyond those of yesterday. The greatest achievements of yesterday, if we are to progress, must be outdone today.

An original thought is but one more step towards another, destined, perhaps, to revolutionize accepted standards and set at naught much of our boasted knowledge with its many deficiencies of precise information.

By imagination the countries of the world have been brought closer together. News that was once brought by mounted couriers riding day and night, is now flashed through the air by means of electricity, reaching to all parts of the world and surpassing in its flight the speed of light. When Samuel Morse dreamed of the telegraph he annihilated distance and brought the poles of the earth together.

Thousands of miles from the forecasting station, millions of people listen daily to the radio carrying its blitting music and stirring voices through invisible paths of air.

These modern wonders, mystical, startling, had their birth in the imagination of men who continued to pay court to fancy, while their narrow visioned friends jeered and mocked.

Do not criticize the boy who goes castle-building, or prefers by choice to dwell apart from others.

Manifest interest in his thoughts and give him encouragement.

You cannot surmise where a boy of this type may be leading, or what in future years he may do for the uplift of the world and the comforts and delights of its peoples.

That the boys of today are destined to surpass the boys of yesterday, may be accepted as a foregone conclusion; indeed, it can be counted upon as a certainty.

The result of their imagination, heightened by better schooling, and let us hope greater encouragement, will be seen in the next generation in the revelation of things which the visionist of today has not yet dreamed.

Every analysis of what has been done in the past reveals the probability of something more startling awaiting the imaginative brains of the boys of today. Give them an opportunity to show their ingenuity. Encourage their imagination and cheer them on!

A WOMAN IN THE HOUSE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A WOMAN in the house, to me, is like the sunlight on the sea, is like the roses by the road, is like the laughter with the load.

As stars make beautiful the night, And flowers, gardens give delight, Yes, all that beauty does for you A woman in the house will do.

A woman in the house will make An altar there for hearts that ache, Will build a shrine amid life's strife To worship God, and ask Him in.

For you who wander, you who weep, A woman in the house will keep A candle burning evermore— She is a lighthouse on the shore.

A woman in the house is like The sun's declining rays that strike Your windows when the day is old, And turn your window panes to gold.

A man may build a house of his; A woman in the house it is, Through joy and sorrow, dawn and gloom,

That makes his house and makes it home.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

MARRIAGE is the ultimate proof that "It is better to fish a little than to be unhappy much," and most women that it is better to be deceived half the time than to be lonely all of the time.

The flavor of the lipstick is becoming almost as necessary to a kiss as the boudoir scene to a popular comedy.

When a bald-headed man refuses to employ a bobbed-haired girl, can't you just picture Adam swallowing the last morsel of the apple, and then gravely reproving Eve for having taken the first teeny bite?

A man may risk his life for a woman, for the sake of a fight; but, when he gives up his personal comfort or one of his pet habits for her, it is purely for love's sake!

Lots of marriages last until death, simply because two persons decide that it is easier to stick together and suffer than to get a divorce and run the risk of marrying unhappily all over again.

A woman is like a flower: to a poet, something to rhapsodize over; to a scientist, something to dissect; to the average man, just something to take home and leave around the house.

The kiss of today is the hope of yesterday, the regret of tomorrow, and the flattering memory of all the days after.

The Romance of Words

"CRAVAT"

WHILE the English or Anglo-Saxon "necktie" is far more generally used in this country than the French "cravat," the latter has a history more striking than could be attributed to the combination of the two mono-syllabic words "neck" and "tie."

The cravat is so-called from a famous French regiment of light horse, named "The Royal Cravates," because they were attired in the fashion of an Austrian province who made up a large portion of the Austrian army. In 1633, the French regiment bearing this name was in uniform in imitation of the Croatian troops, precisely as the Zouaves of a later day took their name and their uniform from a savage tribe in South Africa—and when the neckties worn by these troops became fashionable in civil as well as in military life, the name of the regiment was given to the tie. The regiment has long since disappeared from the roster of the French army, but the name persists, even in English, as a reminder of the Austrian troops who first wore this style of neck adornment.

Met Misfortune With True American Spirit

They had shut off the largest oil well in America three days before. There were not enough pipe lines to handle the flow. It had filled a 1,000-barrel tank in 20 minutes; then, to prove that its performance was no flush production freak, had filled three more tanks in exactly one hour. When we arrived the monster was still, but preparations were being made to open it up, writes Max Bentley in Harper's.

They opened it up cautiously when they were ready. They thought they were ready. The driller waved an imperious signal. The chief roughneck on the rig swung a lever.

"Stand back, everybody!" Gas, faintly blue and transparent, sprayed thinly from the flow pipe. With an ear-splitting roar the oil came. A six-inch stream shot from the pipe against the splash box. The pipe trembled, buckled, reared backward. Then as we looked, rooted to the spot, came disaster. The top of the well blew off. Through every obstacle that man had assembled the ruthless monster tore its way to freedom. A jet-black stream leaped cleanly upward until it attained a height of 200 feet. As the oil began falling the deep green of the pine trees was blotted away. On the instant they were turned a greasy black and their befouled branches literally rained oil.

The owner of the largest oil well in America had watched the proceedings from a convenient hillside. Sitting loosely in his saddle, hat pulled down, he had idly overseen the preparations. It meant a lot to him to save that well, but he gave no sign. He could only lose; it is to his everlasting credit that, losing, he lost cleanly and gamely.

Made Stable in Cellar for His "Nice Mules"

William Conquest so loves his two mules that he keeps them in the cellar of his house at Queens boulevard and Tremble street, Winfield, Queens, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals worried about them so that Conquest was taken before Magistrate Doyle in the Flushing court, says the New York Herald-Tribune. L. Ray, an officer of the society, said that somewhere in the case there was undoubtedly cruelty to animals, but Conquest said not.

"They are nice mules," he said, "and they have a good time in the cellar. They like to stay there. Every time I put them in the stable they are uncomfortable, and as soon as I leave the door open they go back to the cellar."

"Why not put them in your dining room?" asked the magistrate.

"Well, I might," said Conquest.

"They're nice mules. But they prefer the cellar."

"But the officer says their health is endangered," said the magistrate.

"You can't hurt a mule," said Conquest.

"They're just mules. They haven't any health. Mules don't get sick. They're just mules until they die."

As no evidence was offered to show that the mules were other than frisky and happy, the magistrate dismissed the charge. He directed the officer, however, to keep an eye on the mules and see how they were treated.

One of the Reels

Mrs. Richard C. Cabot of Boston, the society leader who conducts a course in "human relations" in a fashionable girls' school, said at a dinner party:

"The object of my course is to bring about happy marriages, and I have been very successful, indeed. I point out the reefs on which the marriages are often wrecked."

"A man," Mrs. Cabot went on, "said to a group of women at a tea:

"Before I was married I could never save a cent."

"The women above their teacups exchanged triumphant smiles."

"I managed to keep out of debt, though," the man added.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Operates Itself

Operating without human control, halting while minor difficulties are adjusted, and stopping altogether if something goes seriously wrong, a new electric power station at Searsburg, Vt., embodies astonishing mechanical intelligence, says Popular Science Monthly.

The turbine of the plant drives a generator with a capacity of 6,500 horsepower. The only help from human beings is occasional inspection, lubrication and regulation of the governor mechanism. The turbine starts when sufficient water arrives, and shuts down when the flow falls below an efficient limit.

Fifth Reel

A friend who had been reading about a well-known director's divorce case, thinking to set himself in strong with the director, ventured to say some uncomplimentary things about the wife, whereon, to his surprise, the director replied: "Man, she's an angel!"

"But," stammered the friend, "I thought—"

"She's an angel," continued the director, "because she was always up in the air, she was always harping and she never had anything to wear."

Matter of Judgment

Success is gauged by a person's judgment percentage. If your judgment is 90 per cent good, it won't be long before you'll get ahead; if your judgment is 90 per cent bad, you'll continue to be in debt and work for the other fellow. Ever think of it that way?—Enterprise Ledger.

WILBUR THEATRE

Fay Bainter is starred in a new musical play this season at the Wilbur theatre, Boston, starting on the second week beginning Monday, May 19, before its official opening in New York. The name of it is "The Dream Girl," a musical play by Victor Herbert and Rida Johnson Young which has been adapted from the play, "The Road to Yesterday," Walter Woolf, who was in "The Lady in Ermine" company, is the featured member of the supporting company which includes many well known musical comedy favorites and a chorus of thirty American tourist girls.

The story of "The Dream Girl" takes place in England and concerns the experiences of a group of American girl students who have gone to England to study. Elspeth, one of the girls, is introduced to Jack Grex, an American athlete, at a party which is given at the studio of a young English artist.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

Joseph Schildkraut, whose acting in "Lilliom", "Peer Gynt" and "The Pagans" won him large favor among playgoers, seen for the third week at the Majestic theatre, Boston, beginning Monday night, May 19, in the gay love comedy "The Highwayman", a play which affords the young actor ample opportunity to exhibit his handsome features and display his zestful flair for comedy.

"The Highwayman" is a sparkling, modern spoken comedy which races along with pinwheels of repartee, skyrockets of amusing situations and a giant cracker or two of drama, all exploding at the proper junctures.

Lotus Robb, who made such a big hit in "Rollo's Wild Oat", and "The Green Goddess", occupies the lead opposite the star.

"The Highwayman", the work of Lajos Biro, reaches Boston after 300 consecutive nights in Vienna and long runs in Chicago and Philadelphia. It will be exhibited before New York audiences at an early date. It is under Lester Bryant's direction.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE, BOSTON

Mrs. Fiske, the delightful artist, is playing at the Plymouth theatre in "Helen's Boys", a comedy written by Ida Lublenski Ehrlich from a short story by Mary Brecht Pulver. Those who know and love the theatre remember immediately at the mention of Mrs. Fiske's name evenings filled with charm and stimulated with wit, the playwright's sometimes, Mrs. Fiske always because as James Whitaker wrote recently in the New York American "Mrs. Fiske has gone all the way through the territory of her art and come out on the other side, where she has found the artist's final triumph—a familiarity with and a kindly dubious contempt for the muse she once worshipped." It may be folly to attempt to interpret another's phrase but this seems to mean that Mrs. Fiske collaborates with her playwrights and brings to their works an understanding of human nature which equals when it doesn't surpass their own understanding of their characters.

"Nodule" is the name of a small rounded body on the roots of legumes, such as clovers and alfalfas, in which nitrogen-gathering bacteria thrive. They make the nodule a workshop for getting nitrogen and converting it to the use of plants. One can see the nodules even in fair-sized masses, like miniature potatoes, on alfalfa roots.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Being One of a Series of Talks or Bills and the Prompt Payment Of Them. Do you owe any Bills That Are Overdue?

"LET'S HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING"

No credit man will turn a debtor down who tells the TRUTH. For TRUTH is the foundation of CREDIT. YOU owe an account—YOU have owed it for several months—it is long past due—YOU want to pay it—circumstances, perhaps, have been against you—then in all fairness to the credit man make a frank statement of your conditions.

You will find the credit man willing to help the honest debtor, if he can. More often his hands are tied. The debtor will not make any attempt to make PROMPT PAYMENT of his account. He, therefore, can not expect any consideration at the hands of the Credit Man.

If you are not willing to make a "clean breast" of your actual conditions, you have not good reason for thinking you will receive any consideration at the hands of the credit man.

It is useless to dodge the issue for every credit man in Plymouth, Norfolk and Barnstable Counties are acquainted with your method of paying credit obligations. He knows just how you stand with every firm doing business in both counties.

If you don't pay—if you won't be honest enough to give facts—if you don't make any effort whatever to reduce your indebtedness, you may be sure that the credit man is "GOING AFTER" the money due his firm.

Sometimes drastic measures are necessary to collect an account. You can save yourself lots of trouble and much embarrassment by paying your bills promptly, or by giving the credit man valid reasons for your delinquency.

Don't let your bills accumulate! KEEP THEM PAID-UP

WEYMOUTH, MAY 16, 1924

The first Legion post to decide to take its band to the St. Paul convention of the Legion this fall is the Phoenix organization. According to present plans the special train on which the Arizona delegation will travel will stop in El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Fort Worth,
Wichita, Kansas City, Des Moines, Council Bluffs and Omaha before reaching the convention city. The band will represent the entire state of Arizona.

Inclusion of military drill in the curriculum of High school instruction is sought by the Cambridge American Legion. Ralph Robart, who presented the Legion's request, declared that crime in the city, much of which is committed by youths from 17 to 25, might be checked if the boys were given military training.

Definite regulations for controlling air traffic have been presented to the city commission by the Lamar Y. Mc-Leod post of the Alabama American Legion, with the request that these be enacted to control flying above the city. The Legion men told Mayor Taylor that the regulations had been formulated from those used by other cities, and had been recommended by the National League of Aeronautics.

Members of the Philadelphia American Legion make their second annual pilgrimage to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National cemetery May 18. A short ceremony will be held at which prominent members of the organization will speak.
A special train will carry the Legion-naire pilgrims.

Greetings and congratulations to the American Legion have been forwarded as a result of a resolution unanimously passed by the Polish veterans association which fought under Gen. Josef Hallor in the World War. General
Hallor was the guest of the American Legion at its fifth national convention in San Francisco last fall.

The American Legion post at Chase
City, Va., has bought a tract of ten acres and turned it over to the city for a public park and playground.
The post reserves to itself one quarter of an acre on which it will erect a community center, the center being also a Legion clubhouse.

When a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kessinger of Charleston,
W. Va., the child was named John
Quinn Kessinger after John R. Quinn,
National Commander of the American Legion.

A stadium capable of seating 25,000 people is proposed by the American Legion at St. Petersburg, as a World War memorial.

GEN THEATRE

The Gem theatre offers some very fine pictures for the coming week.
"This ain't such a 'hick burg.'" One crook saw a pretty girl; the other saw a diamond tray. See the Universal crook drama, "The Breathless Moment", with William Desmond at the Gem Saturday.

His wife was fat and forty; the manicurist was fair and twenty; the barber said "Come on, girlie, let's ditch the wif." See Gladys Walton in "The Near Lady" Saturday at the Gem.

At the Gem Sunday Lloyd Hughes and May McAvoy, playing leading roles in "Her Reputation", Thomas H. Ince's latest picture, seek refuge, in one of the scenes, on the roof of a floating barn during a Mississippi river flood. Unknown to the other, each spends the night on his respective side of the roof. Another case of not knowing "how the other half lives!"

The miller, wealthiest man of St.
Agneten, hated him, because he scorned money for a sketch he drew of the miller's daughter. When the millhouse burned, Jackie was accused.
The customers of his milk route deserted him. Friendless but for his great Flemish dog, Petrasche! You'll love Jackie Coogan as never before in his latest Metro production, "A boy of Flanders", now at the Gem theatre on Wednesday.

Record Attendance
at K. T. Inspection

Before a record-breaking attendance that filled Masonic hall to its capacity the annual inspection of South Shore commandery, No. 31, was held on Thursday night before the division commander of the sixth division, Em. Sir Benj. F. Downing 3d and in the presence of the Grand Master of Massachusetts Charles R. Hunt accompanied by the following suite: James S. Higgins, Asa C. Jewett, E. Stanley Swift, H. Emerson, George W. Sprague, Charles W. Pike, David W. Battles, Frederick C. Graves, Frank H. Jenkins, Frederick P. Thresher Jr., George B. Deshimer, Frederick A. Kingston, Andrew Duncan, Raymond E. Bolles, Edward S. Estes.

A supper was held in the lower hall preceding the reception of the grand officers upstairs.

At the roll call there were 179 knights in full regalia thus assuring the South Shore commandery of a high percentage mark.

The speeches of the visitors spoke well of the fine showing by this commandery and its fine attendance.

Lyman F. Garfield is commander this year, Newland H. Holmes Generalissimo, William J. Holbrook Captain General, J. Leonard Bicknell and Walter V. Reed wardens, Gardner R. P. Barker Prelate, W. Edward Gutterston Treasurer and Eben H. Cain Recorder.

On the reception committee for the Grand officers were the following past commanders: T. John Evans, Francis A. Bicknell, Eben H. Cain, Gardner R. P. Barker, Charles G. Jordan, Josiah B. Reed, Harry J. Beck, and Henry P. Tilden.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The class play entitled, "The Butlers" is being rehearsed.

Miss Margaret Stevens '24 was the week-end guest of relatives in Acton.

Miss Alice Murphy '23 of Dean Academy, Franklin was the week-end guest of her parents.

The Senior class held a meeting Tuesday noon, Joseph Cushing, Orelly Melville and Grace Gay are on the Class Historian committee; Motto committee, Ira Markarian, chairman; Lester Lindblow, John Daly, Isabel Young and Ruth Tirrell.

William Branley '26 has returned to school after a few days absence.

Russell Miffin '26 has been absent for the past few days.

Evelyn Johnston '26 is confined to her home with illness.

Miss Mae Donovan '26 was absent Monday.

Miss Ruth Tirrell will be valedictorian of Class '24 and Miss Margaret Stevens will be salutatorian.

Miss Tirrell averaged 377 points. Miss Stevens averaged 371.

Miss Helen Dooley '26 has been absent during the last week.

The Junior class held their party last Friday night in the High school gymnasium. The hall was prettily decorated with the class colors, "Green and Gold". Games were played and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served by the committee. Music was furnished by De Neil's orchestra.

Please forward news and advertisements earlier next week, as the Gazette-Transcript will be printed and delivered 24 hours earlier.

ACCIDENTS

An auto driven by Oliver B. Stackpole of Randolph street collided with a motorcycle ridden by Maynard O. Leonard of 201 Wildwood street last Sunday near the Pratt school. Dr. Sweeney of Hingham, who was passing, treated the injured.

Another accident on Washington street when a sedan operated by John Kaski was struck by the machine of John Moshnicka. The cars were only slightly damaged.

On Tuesday Edward Quinn, son of Thomas Quinn of Shawmut street, was struck by a truck on Broad street. He luckily escaped with a few bruises on his leg.

WEYMOUTH HIGH WINS

Weymouth High defeated Belmont High on Wednesday at Clapp field by the score of 7 to 2. Churchill, a new pitcher, held the Belmont team to six hits.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

The H. G. L. club held their twelfth whist party of the season at the home of Mrs. Clarence Pratt on Monday evening. The first prize was taken by Mrs. Pratt, the second by Mrs. Bessie Mabee of Cohasset and the third by William Dacey, the consolation going to Mrs. Alexander Gold. Special prizes for the highest and lowest scores for the series of parties were awarded, these being won by Mrs. Joseph Black, highest, and Mrs. Pauline Cope, lowest. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening spent.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Freeman have been in Duxbury in their summer home recently.

Mrs. R. Edward Bates of Braintree with her daughter Eleanor are making a few weeks visits with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Freeman.

Mrs. Susan Ries of Chard street entertained the Christmas club last Monday evening.

The Church Street Whist club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Joseph Teague of North Weymouth last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ralph Moulton and Mrs. Teague being the hostesses. Refreshments were served and a jolly evening spent.

Mrs. Karl Hurlburt gave a party at her home on King Oak hill Monday afternoon. Whist was enjoyed and an appetizing luncheon served.

Many have received invitations to the wedding of George B. Bicknell of Weymouth Heights and Miss Doris Gaffney of North Abington to take place at the North Abington Baptist church Saturday, May 31, at 1.00 P. M.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society connected with the First church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. M. Taylor. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: Mrs. Stanley Marple, president; Mrs. J. B. Jones, first vice-president; Miss M. M. Hunt, second vice-president; Mrs. John Clark, secretary; Miss Margaret Blanchard, honorary secretary; Mrs. Rufus Bates, treasurer; Miss Adie J. Taylor, junior lookout.

Thomas J. Wallace, a life-long resident of Hingham, died at his home there Monday after a lingering illness. Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons and a daughter, the eldest of whom is Thomas G. Wallace, a resident of East Braintree.

There are probably in Weymouth a number of men who know Mr. Blake personally. Soon we will all know him quite well. The Veterans Bureau will have charge of the Soldiers Bonus and as we have twenty years to become acquainted, etc.

The first twenty years are the hardest.

SUMMER
ASSURED

At the annual meeting of the Union Men's club of East Weymouth held Wednesday night at the Congregational church these officers and committees were elected for the new year:

OFFICERS

President
Charles H. Chubbuck
Vice President
Arthur Cunningham
Secretary
Ralph P. Haskins
Treasurer
Charles R. Denbroeder

The object and purposes of the new club as contained in Article 1 of the bylaws says:

We, the men of East Weymouth, Mass., do hereby establish this constitution and by-laws of the Men's Club organized for the purpose set forth in the following articles.

Article I—Name

This organization shall be called the Union Men's Club of East Weymouth.

Article II—Purpose

The aim of this organization is to effect the mutual improvement of its members by religious, social, and literary culture; to promote the spirit and practice of Christian brotherhood; to increase fraternal interest among men; to develop their activity in all that relates to social, civic, and industrial betterment and to build up the community in particular by leading men into fellowship.

The first step towards the civic good and welfare of the community will be a summer school. A school of about six weeks, five days a week, three hours every morning at which school the young people between the ages of 6 and 14 years can go and receive proper guidance, help and instruction under experienced and trained teachers. The school is supported by the voluntary pledges of members of this club.

The teacher in charge will be Miss Harriet Yarrow, a student at Wellesley college, who has had over two years experience as teacher in the summer school work and a year at Northfield seminary.

AMERICAN LEGION

About 200 couples attended the Legion concert and dance held in the Gem theatre last Friday evening. The concert consisted of a tenor soloist, a contralto and a pianist. The Weymouth Post band rendered several numbers and made a decided hit with the audience. Immediately following the concert the Jazz Jonah Orchestra took the stage and the dance was on. It was a very enjoyable evening for all.

Monday night Weymouth Post held their monthly social meeting at the Grand Army hall. Comrade W. H. Blake of Brookline Post, who is chief administrative officer of the Veterans Bureau in New England, was the speaker.

Comrade Blake explained fully the workings of his department which has to do with the hospitalization and vocational training of disabled service men. He praised the bureau for its work and told how they had to contend with the inadequate system which governs it. He also spoke highly of the Legion because of the help which his department receives from the Legion. It was a very interesting and instructive talk and all were pleased with his manner in delivering it.

There are probably in Weymouth a number of men who know Mr. Blake personally. Soon we will all know him quite well. The Veterans Bureau will have charge of the Soldiers Bonus and as we have twenty years to become acquainted, etc.

The first twenty years are the hardest.

POLICE
BIG HAUL

Soon after daylight the alertness of the Weymouth police discovered a truck marooned near the Edison plant, North Weymouth. On closer examination it was found to be loaded with over fifty cases alcohol that have probably been landed during the night and but for the breakdown of the truck would have been loaded and departed before morning. About 10 A. M. the truck was driven to the police station at East Weymouth. The registration B38869 shows it to belong to Costa Rangos of 359 Market street, Lowell.

BOY SCOUTS

Troop 4 of Weymouth has registered for the year with the following boys: Paul H. Bates, Gardner L. Larsen, Ethelbert C. Nickerson, Joseph W. Merchant, Arthur G. Rudolph, Lynwood Teague, Theodore S. Bancroft, Lawrence K. Ranch.

Rev. Stanley Marple has registered as scoutmaster with the following men as troop committee men, H. W. Bancroft, J. B. Merrill, A. C. Emery. Robert Thibadeau is assistant scout master.

Old Colony council, B. S. A., held an indoor meet Friday, May 9, in attendance by scouts from all parts of Hingham armory, which was largely the council.

A Boy Scout band from Brockton under the direction of Mace Gay furnished most excellent music. President Hartley White of Braintree gave a short address of welcome and also presented to Scout James Reed of South Braintree a certificate for life-saving on behalf of the National Council of Honor. Bugler Francis Walden of South Weymouth won a silver cup in the bugling contest. Scout Executive Duncan MacKellar of Quincy, who has charge of all troops in Old Colony council, was in charge of the meet.

Weymouth council, B. S. A., will enjoy an overnight camping trip to Widgeon pond, below Plymouth Saturday afternoon and Sunday. It is expected that from 75 to 100 scouts, representing all parts of Weymouth will make the trip. Scout Executive MacKellar will conduct services on Sunday. Camping Director Oliver E. Peaslee has charge of camping arrangements.

Boy Scout Fund

Owing to unforeseen delays the report of Weymouth council on the recent campaign for funds has not before been available. To all those who subscribed and to those who helped in the campaign Weymouth council extends its thanks and appreciation.

Inspection at Weymouth Hospital

With a forenoon that threatened rain but with the afternoon clear and the sun shining, Weymouth Hospital threw its doors wide open for the people of Weymouth to visit their hospital. Perhaps for many it was the first time. Others came to see the new and splendid Raymond addition. This all served to keep the faithful nurses busier than ever. And to the many patients it meant a procession of callers and many people to watch. Even the little ones in their play room seemed to squeal delight to all the interested friends.

One little realizes or can appreciate the amount of work that has been accomplished by the Weymouth Hospital in its short career of two years. Last week's Gazette-Transcript spoke of over 250 babies that this institution has safely started on their life's journey. Of the many cases of sickness perhaps no better or warmer words can be spoken or written than those that come from people who have been treated there. In untiring and faithful performance to duty the superintendent, Miss M. M. Schofield, has labored and worked unselfishly. Many nurses have of course served there and gone to other positions. These are now on the staff and two of these we notice have been there almost since the institution opened.

Miss Minnie M. Schofield, superintendent, Miss Lillian Baker, Miss Alice Stuart, came in 1922; Miss Nellie Lockhart, Miss Margaret Dixon, Miss Mary Garrity, came in 1923; Miss Esther Wickstrom, Miss Anna Barabara, Miss Ellen McKenna, Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, Mrs. Mary Litch, Miss Anna McCabe, Miss Beatrice Mason, came in 1924.

For the present staff, as is true of many that have gone, the patients have but the highest words of praise, for the splendid corps of nurses is ever willing and obliging.

Mrs. Talbot has seen to it that the patients have had plenty of good food so tasty as to tempt failing appetites.

Thus have passed two years of Weymouth Hospital; may the next 20 or 200 be as successful and fill that niche in life that where there are ills, Weymouth is not neglectful but is ready with the proper care in the right and proper place. So prosper and continue the good work, Weymouth Hospital—your hospital, our hospital.

We cannot adequately thank the parties whose foresight and labors have finally established it; yet we all can support it, in words at all times and with funds and gifts when requested.

Among the interested guests at the hospital was Josiah Quincy Spear who has furnished the funds necessary to equip one of the new rooms in the Raymond Annex. His visit convinced him that he could not have given to a better cause, and his only regret that he could not double or even triple his previous gift.

On the opening day President Eagle Secretary Holbrook, several of the directors and trustees were present as were many of the doctors of Weymouth.

It is estimated about 200 visited the hospital Thursday afternoon.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Weymouth Historical Society met at the Fogg Library, South Weymouth, Wednesday evening. The president, Howard H. Joy, presided. The committee appointed by the town to interview Mr. Bradley in regard to more land at Great Hill park, North Weymouth, reported progress. Clarence Flaring gave an address on "The Impressions of an old-time superintendent of schools". Other speakers were Mr. Jackson, formerly superintendent of schools in Lynn and Parker T. Pearson, superintendent of the Weymouth schools.

Weymouth chapter, No. 123, W. O. M. L., entertained Quincy chapter on Wednesday afternoon at G. A. R. hall East Weymouth.

After the regular business meeting an entertainment was enjoyed. Mrs. Rose Holbrook chairman, with the following program:

Turnpike Lance,
Miss Mabelle Barcello
Violin Solo, Miss Grace Baker
Foe Dancing, Miss Phyllis Barcello
Readings, Miss Ethel Peers
Fancy Dancing, Miss Audrey Reidy
Accompanist, Mrs. Bertha Bailey
After the entertainment the ladies adjourned to the lower hall where a collation was served by Mrs. Bertha Maynard and a committee from the chapter.

"TAPS"

By Maitland LeRoy Osborne

They are marching with a halting step,—

A halting step and slow;
And many in those blue-clad ranks
Have hair as white as snow;
Their youth lies on the battlefields
Of fifty years ago.

The passing years speed swiftly,
And silence 'round them wraps;
And to their listening ears there comes

No sweeter song, perhaps,
Than when the battered bugle sounds
Again the old call,—"Taps."

May 21, 1924

General Order No. 1.

I. In compliance with General Order No. 3, National Headquarters, supplemented by General Order No. 2, Headquarters Department of Massachusetts, G. A. R., Memorial Day will be observed Friday, May 30. Again with tender memories we visit the resting places of the dead, bringing our floral tributes and offerings, not only for those who participated in the Civil War, but for those who have given their lives in the years just passed in defence of the principles for which this nation stands; and for those who sleep on foreign soil.

II. We earnestly request the attendance of our Comrades at the Memorial Exercises in our public schools. You will not be required to speak. The sight of the old soldier in his uniform is an inspiration to the children, and your presence is a benediction.

III. By invitation of the Trustees of the Second Universalist Church, South Weymouth, the Post will attend divine service in that church on Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 2.30, and be addressed by Rev. William Dawes Veazie, pastor. Post No. 58, and Associate Members, with all allied organizations, are requested to meet in the vestry at 2.15 P. M. Post 79, of the American Legion are invited to be present with the Post and participate in the services at the above church on Sunday, and also gather and be one with us in the public service on May 30, in the First M. E. Church, East Weymouth, and other services of Memorial Day. Extra coaches will be run on Sunday, May 25, from East to South Weymouth.

IV. Order of exercises on Memorial Day is as follows: Comrades and Associates, with Sons of Veterans and invited guests, will assemble at Thomas Corner, North Weymouth, on Friday morning, May 30, at 8.00 o'clock. Flowers will be presented to each Comrade by Dorothea L. Dix Tent, No. 32, Daughters of Veterans. The Post will then take autos for the North Weymouth cemetery.

V. Carter's Band of Boston will report to Officer of the Day at the same hour and place.

VI. A sufficient number of autos will take the South Weymouth Comrades at Columbian Square at 7.25 o'clock. The Weymouth Landing Comrades will be ready at Lincoln Square at 7.40 o'clock, and the East Weymouth Comrades at the Post Hall at 7.45. Chief of Police Pratt has kindly consented to take charge of parking of autos at the various cemeteries.

VII. The Sons of Veterans will act as escort to the Post, and they will, with the Boy Scouts, the school children, and the Band, march from Thomas Corner to the Old North cemetery.

VIII. After decorating the graves at the North Weymouth cemetery, the Post will proceed to the Village Cemetery, arriving at 9.00 o'clock; thence to Catholic Cemetery, arriving at 9.30; thence to the Highland Cemetery, arriving at 10.00 o'clock; thence to Lakeview Cemetery, arriving at 10.30; thence to Elmwood Cemetery, arriving at 11.00 o'clock; thence to Mt. Hope Cemetery, arriving at 11.30 o'clock; thence to Fairmount Cemetery, arriving at 12.00 o'clock; thence to Post Hall, arriving at 12.30 o'clock.

The above schedule is subject to delays. The Associate Members and the chauffeurs are invited to dine with the Post. Dinner will be served by the W. R. C. and allied organizations in G. A. R. Hall at 1.00 o'clock. After dinner, a band concert will be given on lawn of G. A. R. Hall, to which the public is invited.

The afternoon service will be held in the First M. E. Church, East Weymouth, in charge of Commander Licknell, and will be open to the public. Rev. J. Caleb Justice will deliver the oration. Chaplain Bradford Hawes will read General Logan's General Adjutant Turner will recite Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address". Order for Memorial Day observance. Music will be furnished by Carter's Band. Solo, "The Star Spangled Banner", by soloist; chorus by audience. Trooping of colors by Officer of the Day David Dunbar.

IX. The Honorable Board of Selectmen of Weymouth; P. T. Pearson, Superintendent of Schools, and the editor of the Gazette are cordially invited to attend Memorial Services on Sunday, May 25, and with Rev. J. Caleb Justice, Rev. J. B. Holbrook of the Post on Memorial Day, are requested to assemble at Thomas land, Rev. E. E. Story, Rev. K. A. Handanian, and other guests Corner Friday, May 30, at 8.00 A. M.

X. All flags will be displayed at half-mast until 12.00 o'clock, when they will be placed at the peak—per orders received from National Headquarters.

A large delegation of Boy Scouts, under command of Scout Master Johnson will report at Thomas Corner, and accompany us through the entire route; other members of the Scouts will meet the Post at the various cemeteries and assist.

XI. The school children will meet the Comrades at the several cemeteries and assist the Comrades in decorating the graves, and as far as they may be able, to procure flowers and bring them with them for that purpose.

Memorial Day

By R. J. McLaughlin
in Detroit News

THEY had no part in fashioning the strife. Whom we shall mourn today in reverent wise. But willingly laid down each single life Nor deemed too much this utter sacrifice.

And how shall fitting honor then be done? Are tears sufficient, or enough our praise To glorify the memory of one Whose death has guaranteed these peaceful days?

Not so; though flags be everywhere unfurled And grand processions throng a thousand streets, Though anthems, rising from a grateful world, Shall startle angels on their golden seats.

Let rather, from a nation's bended head, Arise another anthem's strong refrain. Singing, "Behold, our consecrated dead Have died, but lo! their death was not in vain."

Before their memory may conflict cease, Today be friends where yesterday were foes, Let reason, friendship, tolerance and peace The pillars of their monument compose.

Grave of an American in Scotland Cemetery

More than a score of American soldiers and sailors of the World war lie in the Craigton cemetery, Scotland, where, as in other cemeteries in foreign lands, American soldiers' graves are not forgotten.

MAY USE WORDS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Suggestion That Portion of Speech Be Pronounced.

BEFORE the idea of Memorial Day was ever conceived, Abraham Lincoln expressed the finest statement of the ideals of this day in his famous Gettysburg address. Thus, the American Legion Weekly suggests, the following words originally uttered at the National cemetery, amid the Pennsylvania hills, many years ago, can again be pronounced this Memorial Day on the gentle slopes of Romagne, between the Argonne and the Meuse, as though they were now uttered for the first time:

"But, in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion, that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Should Remember Living
Memorial Day is not only a remembrance of the works of heroes, but an accusation against mankind for the way in which it has sacrificed them. The Memorial Day of the past remembers the dead; the Memorial Day of the future should remember the living and be a celebration of enriched civilization by its victories for peace and happiness.

SOUTH SHORE LEAGUE

The South Shore League of Universalist young people held its monthly meeting Sunday evening at the Universalist church in Norwell, presided over by Mr. Leggett, president of the local Young People's Christian Union. Large delegations were present from Quincy, North and South Weymouth, and Weymouth Landing. After devotional exercises, Professor Skinner of Tufts college gave an address on "The Youth Movement" declaring it to be one of the most hopeful and inspirational movements the world has ever seen. The speaker traced its rise as one of the effects of the World War, due to the disillusionment experienced by the young men who had fought for high ideals only to find on their return home that victory was an empty thing, and that the war had left in its train suffering and disease and death. He showed how the youth of most of the countries which had been engaged in the war were banding together for the purpose of outlawing war, and that by discussion and prayer and oath they were influencing hosts of young people everywhere to take a determined Christian stand against this useless method of settling disputes. The objects of this youth movement are (1) Rejection of the old methods of solving international problems (2) Opposition to all economic systems of exploitation (3) Destruction of race prejudice (4) A renaissance of religion based on fellowship in love, the drawing together of all people in a passion for truth and righteousness. The address thrilled the young people, and at its close a resolution was adopted to make the subject the topic for discussion at the devotional meetings of each union in the league. A business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. Olsen of Quincy after which refreshments were served by the Norwell young people. The next meeting will be held at Norwood on the fourth Saturday evening of October when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

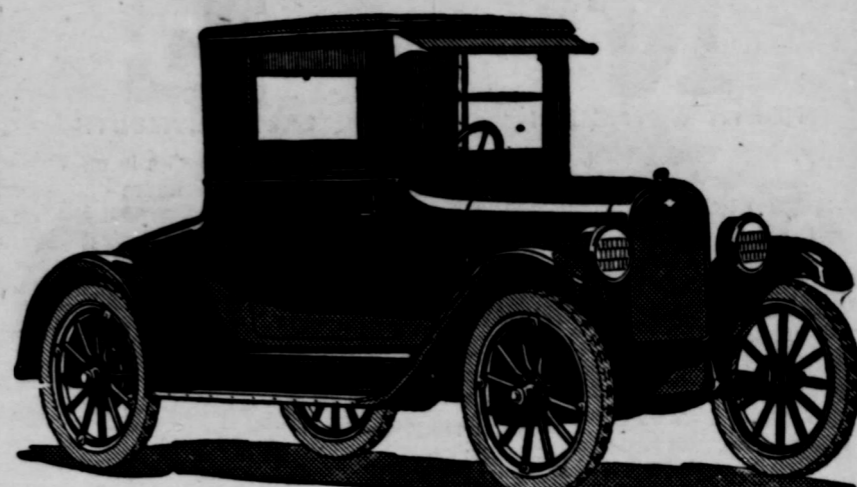

Miss Elizabeth Hall of Weymouth was appointed a delegate to represent the league at the National Young People's convention to be held in July at Ferry beach, Maine.

On Sunday, June first, there will be a pilgrimage of young people from this section to the Clara Barton Home in Oxford, with religious service at the First Universalist church in Worcester en route.

STUDEBAKER offers a world-famous Six, a car embodying the best men know, at a price that makes it folly to deny yourself a fine car.

Here is the thrill of a powerful six-cylinder L-head motor; the comfort and luxury of a big, roomy body—deep cushioned and restful; beauty that characterizes the most costly cars.

Now in justice to yourself, look at this car. Compare it with competitive cars at its price—then with cars selling for several hundred dollars more.

Compare it for beauty, comfort, roominess, upholstery, for obvious refinements.

Compare it, too, for ease of handling, flexibility, power, quietness, lack of vibration. See for yourself what you can buy with little money in a fine car today.

Ride in this car, ride in competitive cars. Comparison is the surest way to judge an automobile. Studebaker will place a Light-Six at your disposal for this purpose any time you name.

Buy no car at $500 or more without making this test. Don't buy blindfolded.

—Considerable excitement prevailed on Curtis avenue Thursday evening last week when at about 10.30 o'clock Dr. Bertha L. Guild of Union street, a well known resident of this town, had a rather disagreeable experience with three men, representatives of the Henley-Kimball Co. of Boston. Although court action was pending in connection with an auto sale on which Dr. Guild had already appeared in the Quincy district court on a criminal complaint these three representatives of the auto concern attempted unsuccessfully to take the car, in which the doctor and two friends were keeping an appointment, by force and without legal authority for their action. As a result several local people appeared in the court at Quincy Friday morning, May 23, to testify in the doctor's behalf as the result of action taken against the three men, who were charged with assault and battery. It is believed that the timely arrival of Officer Edward B. Mathewson, who was notified of the disturbance, prevented what might have been serious.

WEYMOUTH

—The May supper and social of Trinity Parish Guild in Pythian hall May 19 was well attended. An excellent supper was served by Mrs. Chas. Beltrino and Mrs. Thomas Payne with assistants. A pretty entertainment was given by Jane and Edwin Brooks, violin and piano; Helen Sullivan, reader, and Barbara and Myrtle Pray, costume dancers, ably accompanied by Miss Nellie Chase. An informal dance followed with music by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacNeil and daughter, Miss Arline, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bandy of Crescent avenue, Dorchester.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Long of Worcester have been in town on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Maria Hart of Hart avenue, who has been ill for several weeks, but is now much improved and able to be about the house.

—Traffic Officer Charles H. Baker, who is a member of the patrol of Alepo Temple Mystic Shrine of Boston, starts Saturday, May 31, for Kansas City, Mo., when the annual session of the National Council will be held.

—Mrs. Sarah Clapp, for years a resident of this town, but who for several years past has been living with her sister in Wethersfield, Conn.; died in that place a short time ago.

—Frank J. A. Perry of Summer business trip to the Pacific coast. Mr. Perry is a shoe manufacturer in Lynn.

—A large number of the friends of Miss Lillian DeCoste tendered her a miscellaneous shower at her home on Pratt street Tuesday evening and presented her with a number of handsome gifts. The evening was very pleasant, spent with games, a program of vocal and instrumental music and a lunch was served.

—George Fitzgerald has resigned his position as chauffeur with I. Bloom & Son and Francis Sweeney has taken his place.

—The annual Memorial Day exercises of the public school will be held at the C. I. C. theatre next Wednesday afternoon.

CLUB and SOCIAL

—Mrs. Jane Perkins has returned from a visit with relatives in Swampscott and is at the home of her son, S. A. Perkins on Bridge street. Mrs. Perkins has recently celebrated her 91st birthday.

—Mrs. Roy Vining of Sea street has had as a guest during the week, Mrs. Emma Lewis of Rockland.

—Mrs. Charles Emerson has returned to her home in Derry, N. H., having been the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Petersen of Lovell street.

—Mrs. Arthur Wise was hostess to the R. F. Whist club at her home on Norton street Wednesday evening. The winners were: Mrs. Kate Day, Mrs. Henry Dewey, Mrs. Richard McKee, Mrs. William Morse.

—The L. A. K. C. Boat club held an all-day meeting at the clubhouse on Wednesday. Mrs. Dora Everett had charge of the dinner served at noon.

—Mrs. Isadore Bloom entertained the members of the Wednesday Whist club of Quincy of which she is a member, at her home on Washington street.

—The Social Six were entertained at the home of Mrs. Sarah Schlimper of Union avenue on Tuesday.

—The members of Weymouth Circle, D. of L., enjoyed a social in K. of C. hall last Tuesday evening, which was given by the South Weymouth members, under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Leary. A fashion show was given by the A. E. Brady Co. of Brockton. Gowns were displayed by McCaffrey Co. of Brockton; shoes by A. Sandler of Brockton and the Stetson Shoe Co. of South Weymouth and hats by the A. E. Brady Co. of Brockton. The models were Miss Mary Gardner, Miss Marion Melville, and Miss Mary Mielbye of South Weymouth. Solo dancing was given by Ethelmae Brady and Merl Farrar of Brockton and the Misses Gwendolyn and Dorothy McMurray of Hingham. Mrs. Mildred McGrory accompanied them on the piano. A dainty collation was served by the refreshment committee and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by the D. of L. singing orchestra under the direction of Miss Agnes Lyons.

—A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Dorothy V. Simonds by the Girls Club of which she is a member at the home of Miss Olive D. Sylvester Thursday evening last week. Miss Simonds received many pretty and useful articles together with much advice for her future happiness. A small bride and groom adorned the table which was decorated in orchid and green. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

—Miss Lillian DeCoste was pleasantly surprised at her home on Tuesday, May 20, when her friends tendered a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. F. J. Ferguson of New York. Refreshments were served. After a social evening the guests departed, wishing her much happiness in the future.

—The So-and-a-ha Camp Fire Girls feel well paid for the effort they made to help at the Camp Fire booth at the Home Beautiful exposition. They received four prizes for excellent work. Miss Virginia Perry won first prize and Miss Nora Spence second prize for the two best beaded bead bands. Miss Helen Lang won first prize for the best loaf of cake sent in on "Weymouth Day" and their guardians won a prize also. They are working hard to perfect their play "The call of the Helo" to be given this evening at Lincoln hall.

—Mrs. Granville W. Tinkham of Allston entertained the Unity Circle of Kings Daughters of which she is a member, at the last meeting of the season, at the home of Mrs. Harriet B. Bachelord, Washington street, and a goodly number were present who worked on table linen for Pond Home. The home is located in Wrentham for aged couples and is supported by the Kings Daughters of Norfolk County. The circle also voted a substantial sum for the "Donation Day" which is to be held the first Saturday in June.

STATE FEDERATION

Mrs. Jennie B. Worster, the delegate from the Monday Club to the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation held in Swampscott last week reports a wonderful meeting. The hall seating 2500 was filled at each session. There has been $85,000 spent for charitable purposes during the year.

There were wonderful reports read by the chairman of different committees telling the immense amount of work done by each committee. At the reception 1050 women passed the line. Mrs. Poole, the retiring president, will be greatly missed. She was always ready with the right word at the right time; always on time and parliamentary equal to any emergency. Mrs. Smith, the incoming president, promises well having served on the board in different capacities for four years. The New Ocean House is certainly an ideal spot for the meeting. It is so vast that all can be accommodated under one roof making it seem like one large family.

GIRL SCOUTS

Eleven of the South Weymouth Girl Scouts accompanied Captain Metcalf to the annual review at the Arena where 4000 Girl Scouts were addressed by Gov. Cox and Mayor Curley. Mrs. Juliette Low, founder of the organization, was there and presented the prizes to the winning troops in the contests. To these 4000 Scouts gathered from all parts of the state, who crowded the Arena, Gov. Cox gave encouragement and praised the women who are doing so much for the girlhood of the state and urged that the organization be given the support of all good citizens.

At a business meeting of the South Weymouth troop they decided to play tennis this summer and voted to buy racquets and balls for the purpose. The Norfolk Club has again shown their courtesy to the troop by permitting them to play on the Norfolk Club court when it is not being used by the members of the club.

The secretary, Marjorie Howe, has resigned and Marguerite Sweet was chosen to fill that office.

The troop decided to enter the contest of winning the merit badge given for knowledge of bird-life gained by study in the open fields and woods.

Six girls of the troop are enrolled for a term at summer camp at Dunstable managed by officers from the state organization. Their time allotment is the last two weeks in August.

This regular camp is a boon indeed to all who are privileged to attend at a surprisingly low rate. All the advantages of camp life are enjoyed. Lessons in sports and observation are regularly given and the greatest care is exercised in caring for the individual girl. Long may these camps flourish and parents who take the trouble to inform themselves must surely appreciate the advantage of allowing their daughters to attend.

Henry Sweet, who owns a fine estate at Dover on the Charles river, has a fine camp established and furnished that he offers to Girl Scout troops for periods of one week each at a nominal sum. Captain Metcalf has made application for her troop for the first week in July where as many as can may go for the camp experience for a few days. Regular camp methods will be carried out by Mrs. Metcalf and her assistants.

The girls make another trip to the Brockton swimming tank on Saturday (tomorrow) and another test for the merit badges for swimming is sure to result in success for some of the contestants.

A party of scouts took advantage of the May time to show their love for Mrs. Metcalf. The troop stole to her home on Union street and hung a beautiful huge thistle Maybasket with eight smaller thistles as tassels. Sweetmeats bulged the larger thistle.

Miss Dorothy Pratt is serving as acting captain in the Wild Rose troop of young girls who already make a promising band of scouts. Frances Holt is acting lieutenant to Captain Metcalf with her large troop.

The Girl Scout committee is still looking and hoping for older volunteers in this splendid work where there are many useful places to be filled.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The monthly trip to the West Roxbury Hospital has been taken and gave the usual pleasure to the boys. This was North Weymouth month and the pupils of the Athens school gave liberally and things of so many kinds that it seemed as if everybody in the hospital might be satisfied. Mrs. Albert Gladwin of North Weymouth carried in the members of the committee and the goodies and gave her help in distribution. The Auxiliary appreciates the help given by those having cars for it is impossible for the women to carry in all the good things, and if anyone wishes to offer the use of a car the chairman of the welfare committee, Mrs. Draper (tel. Wey. 0807W) will be glad to explain details.

Our council meeting is to be at Norwood tomorrow and those who went last year know what a delightful place the town is and the warm welcome given.

Plans are being made for the lunch for the boys on Memorial Day and we hope they will prove satisfactory, but "the proof of the pudding is in the eating".

WEYMOUTH NIGHT

A Boston paper says this of Weymouth's night at the Edison Broadcasting station: A real, old-time minstrel show by the Weymouth Baseball Athletic Association. Quite a bit of popular music artistically handled by amateur talent. Helen Studley's work on the ukelele was outstanding, it seemed to me. There is something particularly adaptable for broadcasting in that instrument. Consistent enthusiasm on the part of end-men compensated in full for any frailties in voices. Freddie Smith, boy tenor, was rather pleasing, too. The Gazette regrets that space does not permit a fuller account of the program in detail; it was ready in type, but could not be squeezed in.

Some of the artists were:
Jim Gilligan Charles Gibson
Rita Colson Alice Chase
Margaret Donohue John Smith
Reggie Belcher James Smith
Helen Studley Marion Miller
Norman Butler Albert Humphrey
Malcolm and Sam French
Bertha May Gibson
R. Belcher and chorus

$250,000 First Mortgage Ten-Year Gold Bonds with interest not to exceed six per cent (6%) per annum.

The Bidder to specify interest rate for bonds upon which the bid is promised.

Weymouth Light & Power Company invites sealed proposals for the purchase of $250,000 face value of its First Mortgage Ten-Year Gold Bonds, to be dated June 1, 1924, and due June 1, 1934, with interest payable semi-annually on the first days of December and June. Bonds to be callable on any interest date on a four and one-half per cent (4½%) basis.

Said bonds are to be secured by a first mortgage upon all the assets and property of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired, including its franchise and to this end the Company will execute an Indenture of Mortgage in appropriate form to and with the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, as Trustee. Bonds either temporary or permanent are to be delivered and payment therefor is to be made at the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston at Boston, Massachusetts, on June 1, 1924, or at such later date as may be agreed to by the purchaser and the Company. The Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by a decision dated May 14, 1924, has approved of the issue of the Weymouth Light & Power Company of the said issue of bonds.

All proposals must be received at the office of the Treasurer of the Company, 150 Congress Street, Boston, Massachusetts, before 12 o'clock noon on Monday, May 26, 1924, and all persons interested are invited to call at said office for further particulars of and information concerning said issue.

The Company reserves the right to reject any such proposals.

A big summer's business awaits advertisers who have the get-up to go after it.

One of the tried and proven ways of going after business is through a liberal use of newspaper advertising.

YOU ARE IN THIS LIST SOMEWHERE!

Now is the time to step on the gas for late spring and early summer stuff! Now, or never! Tell 'em what to plant in city gardens: it would surprise you to know how much green stuff is raised by householders (as it should be) even in our greatest cities. This is the season for hardware and paints.

Used cars are in the market, to make way for new ones. Roofs need the plumber's attention. Home-hunting is the objective of many of the springtime's Sunday afternoon outings.

Mother is interested in electric equipment for the kitchen, against the summer's promised heat. Camps are now being organized by boys' and girls' clubs.

Printer's ink is a splendid means for getting after this business. And, keep hammering away at—

IS YOUR WORK HARD?
Many Weymouth Folks Have Found How to Make Work Easier.

What is so hard as a day's work? Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn?

There is no peace from that dull ache. No rest from the soreness, lameness and weakness.

Many folks have found relief through Doan's Pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Weymouth people recommend Doan's.

James E. Fitzgerald, 37 Summit street, Weymouth, says: "I was in a bad way with my kidneys, caused by heavy lifting. My back was constantly lame and sore and I couldn't stoop or lift. The pains seemed worse at night and mornings; it was mighty hard for me to lace my shoes. My kidneys felt dull and I had to pass the secretions too often. I heard of Doan's Pills from a friend and got a couple boxes from Kemp's Drug Store. After using a few more boxes I was completely cured."

Commonwealth of Massachusetts Norfolk, ss. Probate Court

To the Honorable the Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Frank A. Harlow of Weymouth, in said County, that he was lawfully married to Mary A. Harlow now of parts unknown last reported as somewhere in Pittsburg, Pa., at Boston the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1898, and thereafter your libellant and the said libellee lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Hull and Wakefield and other places; that your libellant has always been faithful to their marriage vows and obligations, but the said libellee being wholly regardless of the same at Wakefield on or about the fifteenth day of April, A. D. 1918, utterly deserted the libellant and has not since returned to the said libellant although the libellant has always been ready and willing to resume marital relations, and the libellant further alleges that the said desertion has continued for a period of more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of the libel; that there has been born to them no children.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bond of matrimony between your libellant and the said libellee, Mary A. Harlow, be decreed. Dated the tenth day of May, A. D. 1924.

BONUS VOTED TO VETERANS

It is estimated that 3,038,283 veterans will be entitled to the insurance policies provided by the soldier bonus bill enacted into law this week, while $39,583 will be paid cash of $50 or less.

The bill also provides for payment to dependants of deceased veterans of the amount of adjusted service compensation to which they would have been entitled.

Adjusted service compensation is figured on the basis of $1 a day for home service and $1.25 a day for overseas service. The first sixty days cannot be counted. Also a maximum of $500 would be allowed.

All veterans up to and including the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenant in the navy are eligible for the bonus.

It is estimated that the average insurance policy would be valued at $962, while the maximum value of the policies would be about $1900 for overseas service and $1600 for home service.

The value of the policy would be equivalent of the amount which the adjusted service credit plus 25 per cent would purchase at regular insurance prices based on 4 per cent interest compounded annually. To determine the latter computation a table of factors has been compiled by experts. Multiplication of the proper factor by the amount of adjusted service compensation, due the veteran, plus 25 per cent would give the face value of the insurance certificate. Each certificate, of course, would vary according to the length of service of the veteran and his age at the date of issuance of the policy. The policies would be dated next Jan. 1.

Application for the bonus may be made at any time before Jan. 1, 1928, but the cash payments will not be distributed until after next March 1.

Loans may be made on the policies up to 90 per cent of their current face value any time after two years from the date of issuance. Thus on a $1000 policy, at the end of two years, a loan of $87.93 could be made. On this same policy at the end of 19 years a loan of $831.23 would be possible. The loans may be made at any national or state bank.

Service between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919, may be counted in computing the adjusted service credit, although enlistment must have been made before Nov. 11, 1918.

Although administration of the bill will center in the veterans' bureau, the veteran will have to send his application to the war department, if his service was with the army, and to the Navy Department if service was with the Navy or Marine Corps.

Women who served as yeomen in the Navy and Marine Corps also were included in the bill as eligible to receive its benefits.

The bill stipulates that no one shall be entitled to its benefits for service as a civilian officer or for membership in the reserve officers' training corps or the student army training corps.

Do not pay fees other than a notary charge, runs the language of an emphatic notice which will be circulated everywhere. The law prohibits any persons from charging a fee or assistance in the connection of the compensation.

JUSTICE AT LAST

"After five years of effort during which the American people have been wholeheartedly with us," said Commander Quinn, "Justice has at last been done the veterans. We do not stop to gloat in triumph for great work remains for the Legion to do—work which makes the Legion the greatest constructive force for good in America today."

LEGION NOTES

As a practical demonstration of their peace-time patriotism, members of the American Legion have undertaken to clean up the shores of Lake Menominee, Wisconsin. Several quads already have cleaned the underbrush away from the shores and work will not cease until the lake is lined with clean, wholesome beaches.

Two destroyers and a detachment of marines will attend the American Legion department convention to be held at Savannah, Ga., in June. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt ordered the detail at the request of department officers of the Legion. The marines will bring their own band.

Each member of the American Legion in Spartansburg, S. C., has pledged one day's work to the relief of the sufferers whose homes were destroyed in the recent tornado which wiped out the Walnut Grove community near that city. World War veterans are being registered for the work. A special Legion committee has been appointed to supervise the activities, and plans for the work already are partly under way. The Legion post includes in its membership artisans from all the trades.

Federal and State officials have joined in the movement to investigate the circumstances surrounding the commitment of World War veterans of Massachusetts penal institutions. The investigation was first urged by Massachusetts members of the American Legion. Col. William J. Keville, J. S. marshal, is one of the strongest advocates of the movement.

"You cannot teach a man the art of killing and destroying and then, overnight, pass him back to civil life and expect him to take up normal pursuits," noted the Ways and Means committee of the lower branch of the State Legislature.

The assumption of those urging the investigation is that hundreds of World War veterans have been incarcerated in penal institutions when they should have been sent to hospitals for the insane.

Stamps Stamps
IN YOUR ATTIC

Stamps worth many dollars and cents are many times found in forgotten places.

I want to buy all the old stamps which you may have. Especially are wanted old envelopes and papers with United States and foreign postage stamps on. Also encased stamps, stamp albums, and accumulations of stamps.

In such places as your attic, stored away in old trunks, bureaus, and old chests, might be just what I am looking for.

I am taking this means of completing my private collection. In many cases I require hundreds of stamps of the same issue.

If you have but a few or hundreds, write and I shall call and pay the highest cash price.

NEW MOVIES AT GEM THEATRE

On the eve of his marriage, his fiancée eloped with another man. His every dream shattered, ambition gone, he drifted to pearl hunting on the outskirts of the world. Until he rescued a woman from the beastly desire of his partner, and with her went back to face civilization. Then they met again—the woman who had thrown him over. But what was she now? See "The Uninvited Guest", the Metro picture at the Gem theatre Saturday, May 24.

"Don't Call It Love" Sunday, May 25. Which type of woman does man really prefer—the sweet, old-fashioned kind—or the passion wildflower? Here's the story of a man loved by both, and captured by—? Filmed against a rich society background.

Screen play by Clara Beranger. From the novel "Rita Coventry" by Julian Street and the play by Hubert Osborne.

In "The Next Corner", which comes to the Gem theatre on Wednesday Miss Mackaill transforms herself from a young American girl, unadorned by paints or powders, into a woman of the ultra-fashionable Parisian type. It is said to be the most complete lesson in modern make-up which has ever been shown on the screen.

Featured with Miss Mackaill in the principal roles of this production are Conway Tearle, Lon Chaney, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser.

MOVIES

Shall man-made laws defy Divine Command? This is the text of the picture, "Let not man put asunder", which comes to the Quincy theatre Monday for a three-day run.

It is taken from the famous novel of Basil King and Lou Tellegen and Pauline Frederick are co-stars in the production.

Not only is it a masterpiece of camera art, but it is the production that set the nation talking.

It is a daring exposition of the eternal question which has baffled men and women of all times. Divorce treated from several angles and woven into an intensely dramatic photodrama that grips the spectator because it is intensely real. A strong, convincing story, enacted against a background of splendor, spectacular effect and society. The local shifts from American civilization to European culture in a chain of dramatic sequences in which Pauline Frederick and Lou Tellegen achieve new heights and win added laurels. It is the first time these two idols of the screen and stage have played opposite each other.

BRIEFS

—At the 31st annual meeting of the Fire Chiefs club of Massachusetts on Wednesday the Brockton chief was elected president, chief Mead of Quincy a director and District Chief F. O. Whitmarsh of East Braintree sergeant-at-arms. Weymouth was represented by Chief Collyer.

BENEFIT DAY

Benefit day for the Weymouth Hospital was observed at the King Cove clubhouse last Saturday by the King Cove Boat club and the ladies Auxiliary. At the whist party in the afternoon favors were awarded to the following: Mrs. Carrie Gardner, J. C. Goodfellow, Mary Flint, Lillian Dorley, Hannah Pratt, Bessie Tobey, Henry Dewey, Ethel Lindsay and Annie Sherman.

An excellent supper was served at 6.30 by Mrs. Sadie Miller and a corps of assistants.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, the King Cove orchestra furnishing music.

CIVIL WAR RECORD

Weymouth was one of the first towns, as Massachusetts was the first state, to respond to President Lincoln's call for troops in 1861.

The first action taken by the town was at a citizens meeting April 29, 1861, when it was voted to raise $5000 for military purposes.

At a meeting held a few weeks later, the Selectmen were instructed to aid families of volunteers $15 per month.

Weymouth furnished 918 volunteers during the Civil War, 90 in excess of the number accredited to her, being 38 above all demands.

Thirty of the above were commissioned officers, as follows:

- One brigadier general
- One colonel
- Two majors
- Seven captains
- Twelve 1st and 2nd lieutenants

Weymouth expended for military purposes during the Civil War, $106,639.91, of which $6500 were contributed by citizens.

Massachusetts furnished 132,836 volunteers for the Army and 26,329 for the Navy; a total of 159,165.

Massachusetts furnished more than one third of the entire Navy.

Every city and town in the Old Bay State furnished its full quota with the exception of twelve, a surplus of 15,178 for the State.

Up to 1884, Massachusetts had expended in bounties and interest on account of Civil War, $21,729,975.50;
State aid and interest, $30,322,328.53; a grand total of $52,052,304.03, and continues to this day to furnish State aid and soldiers relief, although most of the states stopped payments before 1875.

Reynolds Post 58, G. A. R., was organized July 2, 1868, and in 1884 had 318 members, and the largest relief fund of any post in the State, if not in the country —$12,569.59.

The present membership of Reynolds Post, G. A.
R., is 35 members divided as follows: fifteen from East Weymouth, five from North Weymouth, five from South Weymouth, three from Weymouth, and surrounding towns seven.

FRIDAY HOLIDAY NOTICE

Another holiday falls on publication day, and therefore it will be necessary to issue the Gazette-Transcript next week on Thursday, 24 hours in advance of the regular day. Plans have been made to print some of the paper as early as Monday so that advertisements and special articles should be forwarded early in the week; on Monday, if possible.

A THOUGHT

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick; but when the desire cometh, it is a tree of life.—Prov. 13:12.

Hope awakens courage. He who can implant courage in the human soul is the best physician.—Von Knebel.

CHILDREN'S OUTING

"It is almost impossible for those who are most vitally interested in the annual outing for crippled and orphan children, given each year by the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, to make it a thorough success unless they have the united support of the individual automobile owners," says Chester I. Campbell, who is in charge of this annual event.

"Although each year has brought very generous response to the call for automobiles, many children were disappointed in the past as even more cars were needed. This year there have been so many requests from the children that more than 600 cars will be required in order to take care of all the little ones who have a right to this year.

"It will take place Wednesday, June 11, at Nahant Beach. If you could only near the happy children fairly shrieking from sheer delight in spite of their infirmities as the cars started from Boston; if you could only see the pleasure and admiration of the little tots as they pass through the beautiful country; and if you could only witness this, one perfectly happy day for these poor unfortunate children you would be more than repaid for the loan of your car for this most worthy of charities."

Plans are being made to make this outing even greater than last year and more than 3000 children are dreaming and waiting for June 11, when they will be taken from the hot, dusty city, through beautiful country to the cool seashore. Many of these children have never even seen the water before.

Not only are cars necessary but the expense of providing lunches for this large army of children is by no means small. Of course the first requisite is motor cars. If you have an automobile won't you kindly lend it to the orphans for one day in the year?

If you have no car, or if yours is being used on that particular day, then the committee will be grateful to receive a slight monetary donation. That will help out immensely and furnish to the children some of those pleasures which are foreign to them although an every-day occurrence to the more fortunate.

The donations will be used toward renting additional cars and also purchasing a few delicacies for the children.

All donations for cars or other help in this worthy cause should be sent to Chester I. Campbell, Park Square Building, Boston, or telephone Back Bay 9880.

"Legumes" are plants of the pea or bean family; they include clovers, alfalfa and even trees such as the locusts. Legumes help improve the soil, and furnish nutritious foods and feeds.

Last Message of General
Logan's Widow Urges Decoration of Graves.

THAT Gen. John A. Logan founded the observance of Memorial Day, in honor of the soldiers and sailors killed in the Civil war, is not generally known to the children. At a meeting of the Chicago chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker presented the last message of her mother, the widow of General Logan ("Black Jack"), prepared by her for the children, telling how the day was first established.

Exactly fifty-two years ago, on the 30th of May, Gen. John A. Logan, commander in chief of the organization of the Civil war veterans known as the Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order that the 30th day of May should be observed as Memorial Day for the soldiers and sailors who had died for their country in the Civil war. He also ordered that their graves should be decorated with flowers and that Old Glory should fly over them.

General Logan died many years ago, but the Memorial Day he instituted still lives, and this year the memory of the brave soldiers and sailors who died in the recent war will be honored with those of the past. For many years Mrs. Logan decorated the grave of her husband each Memorial Day, and she carried flowers to the last resting place of many other heroes of the Civil war.

Mrs. Logan left the following message for Memorial Day to the children of America:

"I wonder if you are old enough to understand the meanings of the blessings you enjoy, and if you realize to whom you are indebted for them. You owe a never-ending debt of gratitude to the brave and wise men who first conceived the idea of free government for the people and by the people, and who offered their lives in the days of the American Revolution for the establishment of such a government to be known as a republic.

"The descendants of those men have from time to time during the long years since the Declaration of Independence responded to their country's call for its defense against all foreign or domestic foes. Each generation has had its heroes who have rushed to arms to keep the symbol of liberty—our American flag—waving aloft for the protection of all mankind from the ruthless hands of tyrants.

"Many of you children are the great-grandchildren of the loyal men who fought, bled and died for their country. Their loyalty and gallant deeds are your greatest inheritance. Do not prove unworthy of this enviable gift. A greater responsibility rests upon you than upon your forebears because of the advancement of the age in which you live.

"General Logan foresaw what would come in the future and therefore made his appeal in his Memorial Day order as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic to keep alive the memory of the patriotism and dauntless deeds of their ancestors. He trusted that you children might emulate your brave forefathers when the hour of conflict should come for the preservation of civilization, humanity and liberty. Children though you may be, remember that what you are now you will be when you are grown. The record you make for good citizenship now will stand for or against you for evermore.

"Cover the graves of the soldiers buried in the national and home cemeteries near you with as many flowers as you can gather for May 30. In doing so think of the men who have recently died for their land. Have for your motto those heaven-inspired words: My country; May she ever be right; but, right or wrong, my country for ever."

Soldier Sons

By Minna Irving

HE MAY have been a grocer's clerk,
Who dealt in tea and lard.
He may have been the gawky youth,

Who raked a village yard;
However humble his estate,
He is exalted now;

The unknown soldier o'er whose dust
Memorial Day we bow.
He may have fought in Union blue,
With Grant or Sheridan;

He may have charged with Roosevelt up
The hill at San Juan;
He may have died on Flanders Field,
Where scarlet poppies spread

Their silken petals like a tent
Above the gallant dead.
His comrades may have called him
Pat,

Or Dominick or Bill
Before he heard the bugles sound
Their summons loud and shrill;
War reached a bloody finger out
And smeared away his name;

But freedom folds him in the flag
And loves him just the same.
So on this day of memories
When lavishly we strew
Gold-hearted daisies over him,
And lilacs starred with dew!

We think not of the past he played
In battles lost or won,
But that beneath the garland sleeps
Some mother's soldier son.

Preceding Memorial Day every year boy scouts in every section of the country journey to the cemeteries and silently pass from one grave to another, placing a small flag at each, to indicate the service rendered and that flowers are to decorate the little mound.

DECORATION DAY IS TIME TO REMEMBER

Period That Marks Deeds of Nation's Brave Men.

"DECORATION DAY," as so many of us love to call May 30th, was, first of all, a day set apart as sacred to the memory of our fallen heroes of the Civil war. It was a day on which with ceremonial gatherings and floral offerings we honored the nation's dead. Lessons of patriotism and loyalty were instilled into the minds and hearts of our young people and we were all made conscious of the debt of gratitude which we, as American citizens, owe to those who had given their lives in the service of their country.

And if, at the present time for many of the younger generation, the day has come to be more like a national holiday devoted to games and amusements, it still holds a sacred significance in the hearts of many, not as a holiday, but as a day given over to sweet and tender memories of the ones who have passed away from our mortal sight, but to whose lowly resting place we may carry our flowers, as a fragrant testimonial of our love and affection. Few there are but on "Decoration Day" make this pilgrimage of love to the last resting place of some dear one, and for this reason May 30th is a day that brings all human hearts together in a bond of mutual sympathy and friendliness. We never forget the dear ones we have loved and lost, but it is well that on this day we pay especial tribute to their memory.

But there is another special feature of "Decoration Day" that is not observed as it should be by many people. We still have with us a few of the veterans of the Civil war, bent and feeble they are, and every year their ranks are growing thinner, and these, too, deserve to be remembered and honored on "Decoration Day." They should not be felt to feel forgotten and unremembered, and so, on this "Decoration Day" of 1924:

Let us turn to the war-scarred veterans in the rank and file today.
The few that are left of the many Who bravely marched away.
Let us tender our grateful homage.
And garland each honored head.
Let us cheer the living heroes
While we honor the nation's dead.
—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

HOW

PATIENTS SLEEP WHILE IN HOSPITAL NOTED BY M. D.

What is the ideal position for the sleeper and is it possible to cultivate it? Doctors, I know, have no very helpful suggestions to make. One prepared for me, however, this list of twelve sleepers under his care at a certain hospital. None suffered from a complaint which would have marked influence on normal sleeping habits:

Off pillow. Apparently liked head on level with rest of body. Mouth open. Hands clutching sheets and blankets.

Under bedclothes. Invisible. Did not disturb, as patient rarely could sleep.

On back. Head thrown well back, so that pillow was rarely at neck. Chin thrust out. Hands across middle, nearly clasped.

Hands held bedclothes up to mouth. Head bent forward on left side. A very old man, this.

On back. Knees drawn high up. Hands loosely lying outside bedclothes.

Left cheek rested on open palm of left hand. Right hand hung behind the body.

Pushed close up against wall, so lying on edge of metal bed. Clothes pushed contemptuously away. This one had been accustomed to roughing it.

Two extra pillows. Sleeping, or endeavoring to sleep, practically sitting up. Nurse said patient rarely did more than doze.

On face, arms over head, knees drawn under, so that sleeper seemed to be burrowing.

An exact Z. Head and shoulders bent down and legs turned back from the knees. Hands outspread as if pushing something away.—Continental Edition of the London Mail.

How Device Solved Problem

Through the invention of a unique differential, or "two-way" color wheel, by Dr. E. B. Twitmyer of the department of psychology of the University of Pennsylvania, a problem which has defied the efforts of scientists for many years has been solved. It is generally known that the study of the psychology of color is important in many industrial fields, the textile trades, the advertising fields, etc., and this newly perfected device permits of more delicate determination of color combinations and color effects than were ever before possible. One of the remarkable features of this machine is that exceedingly fine adjustments of color relations can easily be made on a whirling disk while the machine is in motion. For example, a yellow disk is placed on the color wheel, and over this is partly placed a blue disk. The two colors blend when the wheel revolves, and the proportions of each color can be shifted by the operator without removing the disks or stopping the machine, this work being done with the aid of an ingenious system of levers and cams.

How a Lion Hunts Buffalo

In his "Memories of an African Hunter," D. D. Lyell has many strange things to tell of a hunter's life in Central Africa. His description of how a lion hunts buffalo is worth repeating.

He approaches near enough to the buffalo not to be heard, and then squats or waits behind a bush or in the grass. When an animal gets near enough, he makes a sudden rush, which may start off his victim. Owing to his great muscular development, the lion accelerates quickly, and is soon up to the buffalo, when he rears up on his hind legs, and seizes his prey by the nape of the neck fairly far back, using (if on the left side) his left paw to drag the buffalo's face toward him.

"If the buffalo is still moving, the lion still keeps his hind paws on the ground, advancing with the buffalo by hops, so to speak. The weight of the lion and the tearing of the face backwards makes the buffalo stumble, with the result that he often, although not always, breaks his neck."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

How Tramps Travel

There is no record of the first appearance of the tramp in America, but his first statutory recognition was in New Jersey in 1876. He was soon recognized legally in 21 states. The American tramp differs from the beggar or vagrant of other countries in his fondness for stealing rides on the railroads. In a five-year period there were 23,964 trespassers killed and 25,236 injured by railroads in the United States, a number in excess of the total numbers for employees and passengers. From one-half to three-fourths of trespassers are tramps.

How Day Was Divided

In Rome up to the Fifth century the day was apportioned into periods of sunrise, noon and sunset, the noon period being marked by the arrival of the sun between the rostra and a place called Grascotosis, where ambassadors from Greece and other places used to stand.

Points on Tree Planting in City Given in Bulletin

A new Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1208, "Trees for Town and City Streets," by F. L. Mulford, horticulturist, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, describes in detail the various oaks for street use in different regions, as well as about 100 other trees or varieties. Elms are given second place in desirability for city streets, and sycamores third. Maples are considered less desirable than has been generally supposed. Except the Lombardy poplar most varieties of poplar are not recommended.

Before ornamental tree-planting for town or city streets is undertaken, a number of important points must be given attention. Trees native to one part of the United States may not thrive in another region. Some trees are objectionable because their roots penetrate defective sewers, while others grow their roots so near the surface that they have a tendency to heave or crack sidewalks.

Only vigorous trees that will withstand the dust and smoke of a city should be planted to ornament the streets. The root system should be hard, not easily affected by unusual soil conditions, by restricted feeding areas, or by root pruning in case street improvements are made. The shape of the top of the tree when full-grown should be suited to the width of the street. The foliage should not be too dense, and should be of a pleasing texture and color.

Where there is a lack of sunshine in winter it is desirable to admit all the light possible by using only deciduous trees. The bulletin gives a table showing the differences in fall coloring and the date of dropping of all foliage. Narrow streets, it is pointed out, should be planted with tall, slender trees like the Lombardy poplar or small trees. Broad streets may be planted with spreading trees.

In the heart of a city, where the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting trees to grow, the ailanthus will probably thrive when nearly all other kinds fail. The sycamore and the London plane are also good. The Carolina poplar will frequently grow in such places, and its use may sometimes be warranted. Consultation with the nearest state agricultural experiment station or with the United States Department of Agriculture would be advisable before deciding upon extensive tree-planting.

Tenants' Basement Garage

No American motorist who has driven in the busy district of any big city has failed to realize the seriousness of the parking problem which the tremendous popularity of the motor car has created in recent years. Streets, laid out before motor vehicles were dreamed of, prove utterly inadequate for accommodating the cars which the public would like to park in the business district. That some solution must be found at an early day is manifest. Of peculiar interest, therefore, is the practical solution which has been worked out by the management of a new office building in Los Angeles housing thousands of persons, a large number of whom use motor cars. Not only has provision been made for tenants of the building, but for patrons of the tenants as well, thereby giving occupants of this big structure a decided advantage over those in other buildings.

In the construction of this skyscraper an underground garage was built at the rear of the lot and adjoining the office building. This fireproof storage space accommodates nearly 200 cars and is reached from the street by broad ramps. Stalls in the garage rent for $20 per month. Here a moderate temperature obtains at all times and a car and its contents are safe from exposure to the elements and also from thieves.—Popular Mechanics.

How to Figure Repair Costs

One of the most complete and concise paragraphs ever printed for the advice of the prospective home owner regarding maintenance costs and expenses of home ownership appears in the recently issued pamphlet titled "How to Own Your Own Home," prepared by the division of building and housing, Department of Commerce. It advises:

"In addition to payments on principal and interest on a home, allowance must be made for some or all of the following expenses: (a) Renewals and repairs, (b) property tax and special assessments, (c) insurance, (d) water tax or rent, (e) accessories and (f) improvements. In addition to the above, some owners add in the interest which they would otherwise receive on the amount of their cash payment or equity."

Jay Walking Ordered

In many large cities pedestrians are subject to arrest for crossing streets except at regular crossings. In Greece, however, at stated intervals jay walking has been requested by the authorities. This was whenever the town became crowded with refugees and their regular citizens were asked to jay walk to avoid rubbing against the crowds of refugees who were suspected of carrying typhus germs. The sidewalks swarmed with women and children begging charity.

What makes a tire go bad when it looks as sound as new?

A COUNTRY road! No garage or repair shop within call! A time perhaps when every minute counts! A blow-out comes! And you thought the tire was as sound as new!

What is it that causes such a tire to go bad? A few years ago four tire experts in the Thermoid Rubber Company decided to find out. They learned that the whole life of a tire hinges on the evenness with which the necessary strengthening materials are mixed with the pure rubber gum. If the resulting compound is filled with "lumpy" formations, the tire rapidly weakens and "blows out." If the compound is blended evenly and smoothly, the result is greatly increased wear.

Knowing this, the Thermoid scientists then perfected Crolide—a rubber compound that reduces "lumpy" formations to a minimum—that eliminates premature tire troubles.

Crolide Compound is today used exclusively in Thermoid and Rexoid Cord Tires.

You are invited to call and see these tires for yourself—also the famous Crolide Compound Tubes.

MOTHERS DAY

Mrs. Carrie F. Loring, past Department president of the W. R. C. of Massachusetts, accompanied by the following ladies: Mrs. Jennie L. Keene, Mrs. S. Lizzie Burr, Mrs. Della Caulfield and Mrs. Alice Sholes, serving as color bearers from Reynolds Relief Corps, No. 102, attended the observance of Mothers Day held in Boston under the auspices of the Volunteers of America.

A reception to Miss Anna Jarvis, the originator of Mothers Day, was held at the Copley Plaza hotel where 300 members of patriotic orders greeted the guests. The color bearer of Corps No. 102 did escort duty at the reception and later at the Parkman bandstand where the exercises were held. Lt. Gov. Fuller, Mayor Curley, Mrs. Fannie Hagen, an army nurse of the Civil War, were among the speakers. Presentation of flowers to special guests were among the prominent features of the occasion. The Gold Star Mothers were present and received splendid recognition.

Although the weather was unfavorable for outdoor exercises a large number of members of patriotic organizations and citizens assembled to pay their tribute of love and respect to the greatest of all women—our mothers. The beautiful music rendered by the band, inspiring speeches flags raising and the splendid spirit manifested throughout the services was an occasion long to be remembered.

NEW ROUTE TO DEDHAM

The Norfolk County Commissioners have decreed that Union street between Weymouth and South Braintree, the scene of two fatal accidents lately, shall become a county road, when it will be rebuilt to a width of 60 feet, straightened and improved.

No work will be done until the town of Braintree appropriates about $8000, to pay the first cost which will be refunded by Norfolk county later.

When Union street is improved it will make a new and convenient parkway drive from the South Shore via Weymouth and South Braintree, West street and Granite streets to the Furnace Brook parkway through West Quincy and Milton.

And when the proposed new road, projected by the Metropolitan Park Commission is built westerly across the southern side of the Blue Hills Reservation, it will offer a more direct route to Dedham, Wellesley, Needham, Worcester and the Mohawk Trail.

Recent Court Decision On Fogg Trust Fund

A recent issue of the Banker & Tradesman contained a decision of interest to the members of the Union Congregational Society of South Weymouth, also the Old South Congregational church and others. Judge Carroll sustains the trust created and the payment of the interest will continue. The decision follows:

John S. Fogg, late of Weymouth, died May 16, 1892. By the third clause of Item 6 of his will, dated January 10, 1891, and allowed on June 8, 1892, he established a trust fund of $25,000, the trustees being directed to pay the income of the fund quarterly "to the treasurer of the Union Congregational Society of Weymouth, the church where I now attend, so long as it shall remain of the same denomination or faith, or in the event of the removal or destruction of its present church edifice and the said Society uniting with another Society of the same denomination within the limits which now constitute Ward Five, and such new Society adopting the name of the Union Congregational Society of Weymouth and not otherwise," for the following purposes: To keep "the church edifice in good repair," the income to be "first applied to keeping the church in such repair as shall render the buildings attractive and durable," to provide for its insurance, to pay a sum not exceeding $500 a year "for an organist for the church," the remainder to be used for repair of walks and the adornment of the grounds around the church.

It is agreed that the Union Congregational Society is of the same faith and denomination as of the time of John S. Fogg's death, and that its church building, erected in 1872, is still standing in the original location. The Second Congregational Church, known as "Old South," was organized in 1733 and incorporated in 1892 as the Old South Church of Weymouth. Its church edifice, as well as that of the Union Congregational Society, is located within the territory known as ward 5 at the time of the testator's death. In 1918 a plan of merger of both societies was agreed upon, and the property and funds of the Old South Church were transferred to the Union Congregational Society.

Since November 30, 1918, Sunday morning services have been held in the Old South Meeting House, except on Easter Sunday in the year 1922, when they were held in the building of the Union Congregational Society. Since November, 1918, the building has been used for the meetings of societies connected with the church, for entertainments, and on one occasion for funeral services.

Prior to the so-called merger, a portion of the Union Church building was fitted up as a gymnasium, and part of it is now used for such purposes; it is open every day and the Old South Meeting House is open only on Sundays.

The trustees petitioned to be instructed as to the disposition of the income of the trust fund. The contention of the appellant, the testator's only heir at law, is that the trust has failed and that he is entitled to the fund. The Union Congregational Society contends that the income should be paid according to the terms of the will and that nothing has occurred to affect the disposition of the income. In the Probate Court a decree was entered directing the trustees to pay over the income to the Union Congregational Society of Weymouth, "to be used by said society for the maintenance and repair of its church building or buildings and for the care of the grounds about the same."

The Union Congregational Society of Weymouth was to receive the income of the fund while it remained in the same faith and was of the same denomination as it was when the will was made. It has not changed in this respect. It has continued in the same faith and belongs to the same denomination.

The conveyance of the funds and property of the Old South Church of Weymouth to the Union Congregational Society, and its reception of new members, did not deprive it of the testator's gift. He gave this fund of $25,000 to the trustees, to be used for the benefit of the society to which he belonged, for the care of its church which he attended, to "render the buildings attractive and durable," to provide for the insurance of the church edifice against fire, to pay the salary of an organist, and to adorn the church grounds.

The event which the testator provided for in the clause relating to the removal or destruction "of its present church edifice," and the uniting of the Union Congregational Society with another society, has no application to existing conditions. There is nothing in the will precluding the Union Congregational Society from uniting with the Old South church a society of the same denomination, and worshipping within the same territory designated in the will. It was not inconsistent with the intention of the testator, expressed in his will, that the society of which he was a member should unite with others of the same faith.

The Union Congregational Society, of which the testator was a member, has not ceased to exist, as contended by the appellant. The fact that the church building has not been removed or destroyed, and that the society holds its Sunday services in another building, do not cause the trust to fail. The cy pres doctrine is not applicable. The trustees are to pay the income of the fund to the treasurer of the Union Congregational Society for the uses mentioned in the will.

The decree of the Probate Court is to be modified by directing the trustees to pay the income to the treasurer of the Union Congregational Society for the purpose of keeping the original church edifice of the Union Congregational Society in repair, insuring it against fire, paying the salary of an organist for the church where the Union Congregational Society worships, not exceeding $500 a year, keeping the walks in good repair, and adorning the grounds around said church edifice, known as the Union Congregational church; and as so modified it is affirmed.

Ordered accordingly.

Wellman & Wellman for plaintiff.
Geo. W. Kelley and Francis J. Geogan, for defendant.

QUINCY THEATRE

The lavish production "Under the Red Robe," produced at a cost of $1,500,000 to bring back to life this exciting and beautiful drama of Old France, also sees Robert Mantell appear once again in a film portrayal of a famous story.

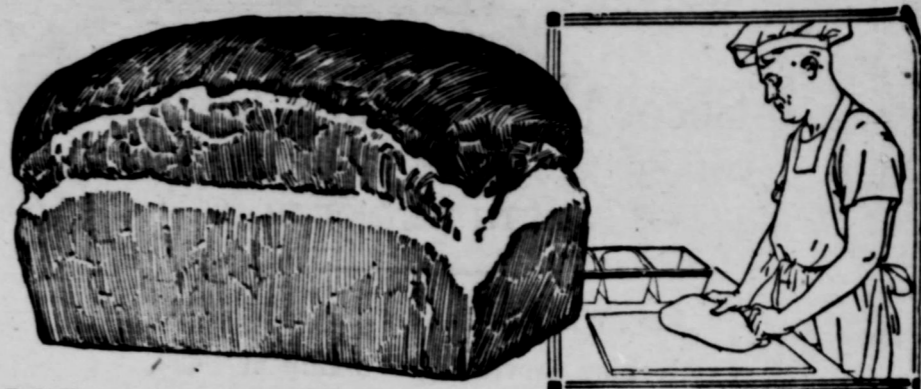

Engaged to play the part of Cardinal Richelieu because of the fame of his stage impersonation of the same character in Bulwer-Lytton's play, he surpasses in vividness and intensity his stage characterization.

When the picture begins its three days showing at the Quincy on next Thursday it means the brightest gem of the week in any theatre program in the Boston district.

It deals with a period in history which has never known a richer time of romance than the bold, riotously extravagant days when the Cardinal's red robe of power encompassed all of France.

With Mantell is John Charles Thomas and Alma Kruger and a most distinguished cast of favorites on the legitimate and screen stage.

Jodine stains are easily removed. If the stained material will stand it, wash thoroughly in a large quantity of water; if not, sponge with alcohol. If the stain is on starched material, soak in diluted ammonia.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN values anything, from a kiss to a heart, according to the trouble he had in getting it; a woman according to the trouble she has in keeping some other woman from getting it away from her.

Judging from the prompt way in which they begin "checking up" on one another right after the honeymoon, marriage is the miracle that turns a soul-mate into a checkmate.

Eve was the first woman to be blamed for whatever went wrong in the garden; but, as the wife of every suburban amateur Burbank can testify, Heaven knows she wasn't the last!

Man's life is a series of shocks—Yet, let not young lovers despair, Till the mermaids start rolling their socks, And the Lorelei bobs her hair!

Alas, what can a poor wife do? If she lets a man cling to all his little bad habits, he is apt to lose his chances in the future life, and if she makes him give them up, he is sure to lose all his interest in THIS one!

A woman's heart is a "one man" affair; but no man was ever so completely absorbed in one woman as to denude his subconscious interest in the possible "next woman."

Marriage is the only condition that affords a woman the pleasure of company and the delightful sensation of solitude, at the same time.

Dancing pumps leave very few foot-prints on the sands of time.

A BIT OF BOTH

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

"YOU'LL rise and fall," my mother said,

"Have happiness and woes;
No man has known just luck alone,
Whatever folks suppose.
You'll smile and sigh, and laugh and cry,

Whatever height you reach,
Have loss and gain, have joy and pain,
A little bit of each.

"You'll fall and rise," my mother said;

"That makes it worth the while.
For every loss and every cross
I know you'll know a smile.
Don't think to find the world so kind
When you have got your growth;
You'll find the earth is sadness, mirth,
A little bit of both.

"But, rise or fall," my mother said,

"You'll never fall so far
If you are wise and realize
Like all the rest you are,
You'll take the joy and pain, my boy,
And both will serve to teach
That life all through will bring the two,
A little bit of each.

"Then, fall or rise," my mother said,
"You'll never grow so proud
But you'll recall that, after all,
You're part of all the crowd.
If work and play make up the day
You'll labor, never loth,
A little glad you always had
A little bit of both."

"I don't approve of depriving men of the vote. You know, all men were created equal."

"I admit it but that doesn't make them the equals of women."

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: An unmistakable gentleman; you know it the moment you set eyes on him. He took you to dinner and actually ordered from the word side of the column. He did it with pride like an artist—he enjoyed it more than you wished; for you'd rather have him talk of you than of "strawberries out of season." He loves restaurants—all the head waiters love and flock to him as he enters the room. You are proud of him. Every place he goes he invents new ways to tip.

IN FACT

He is generosity and public spiritedness personified.

Prescription for his bride:
Love your home every night with resignation.
Save on everything but clothes and the car.

FRIDAY HOLIDAY NOTICE

Another holiday falls on publication day, and therefore it will be necessary to issue the Gazette-Transcript next week on Thursday, 21 hours in advance of the regular day. Plans have been made to print some of the paper as early as Monday so that advertisements and special articles should be forwarded early in the week; on Monday, if possible.

A NEW COURSE

It is of great interest to see a Normal school advance along many lines. Keene Normal school of New Hampshire is planning a new and interesting course.

A large majority of young men are not able to go to an engineering college. Mr. Mason, the director, has become interested in this problem.

Therefore, he has in view a course open to young men whereby they can know, understand and be able to teach intelligently, the use of machinery, printing, shop work and cabinet making.

This training enables them to hold fine positions in factories, where skilled labor is needed, or to become teachers who would be in demand in many schools for boys. This course may solve your problem.

Two students of this town attending Keene Normal school are the Misses Martha Whittle and Elinor Watson.

MEETING OF SELECTMEN

The weekly meeting of the Selectmen was held Monday afternoon. All members were present.

There was a hearing on petition of Irving Bates to erect six auto stalls on his land rear 191-193 Washington street. Two of the three abutters recommended the petition be granted and as no remonstrants appeared the board voted the permit. A hearing was also held on petition of John S. Bryant for a filling station at his property, 521 Washington street, formerly the O'Brien estate. The petition was granted.

Warren R. Keith of 49 North Main street, Brockton, asked for a license for a filling station at Main and Pleasant streets, Independence Square, South Weymouth. Mr. Keith representing the Keith Oil Corporation. A hearing will be held Monday, June 9.

It was voted to have locations defined of the Beacons.

The Weymouth Light & Power Co. ask for permission to place poles on Summer and Prospect streets and a hearing will be held Monday, June 9.

It was voted to approve of the layout of Babcock street, 40 feet wide, continuing to the water as submitted by plans of town surveyor, Russell H. Whiting.

An application was received from residents of Broad street for a fire alarm box on that street near the laboratory of E. S. Hunt & Sons, Inc., and it was voted to insert in the warrant for the next town meeting.

John S. Bryant was granted a victualler's license.

Charles A. Shaw, 63 Tower avenue, Donald C. MacAndrew of 54 West street, Braintree, and Oscar S. Saunders of 235 Pilgrim road were appointed special police.

CRACK DEGREE TEAM

Weymouth Hibernians witnessed their snappy new degree team at work in K. of C. hall last Friday evening. Three degrees were conferred on a class of nearly 25 candidates.

Peter Morrissey of Dedham, Norfolk County president, was on hand to see the work performed, and was most generous with his praise, and invited the staff to go to Canton, where degrees will be performed next month. He said that it won't be long before the Weymouth degree team will be showered with invitations from all over Massachusetts. William Slattery, son of State President Dennis Slattery, of this town, is in charge with the title of Chief of Escort. They have rehearsed two nights a week for many weeks with fruitful results. James Knox, Thomas Slattery, Thomas Hayes and Connolly also assisted in the degree work.

It was also the 48th anniversary of the establishing of Division 9 by Dennis Slattery, who has since acquired a national reputation in Hibernian circles. John Cullen was the other charter member present in the hall. The ladies auxiliary to the Division was also present, making a crowded hall.

Thomas Slattery, president of the division, was chairman. The State president gave reminiscences of his long years of service in the order. Rev. Patrick J. Dawson also spoke. Two young men rendered songs in duet, solo and trio accompanied by a lady pianist—the Keith Trio.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the ladies auxiliary under direction of Miss Helen Condrick. Dancing was enjoyed; the waltz and Virginia Reel proving popular.

An orchestra, made up of Weymouth Hibernians, played for the degree work and the dancing until 11.15.

Grand finale Ensemble
The first grand minstrel show of the Weymouth baseball club at Fogg Opera House was a decided success. It was managed by Frank C. Torrey and directed by Joseph A. Crossen, who has had much experience in this line of work. They were assisted by the following committees:

Tickets
Edward Marr
Charles T. Gibson
Harry Boyle
Charles Ware
Stanley Hersey
Programs
Stage Manager
Costumes
Chairman Reception Committee
Much credit is due Mr. Crossen in his work of directing the show and it is all the more remarkable in that the cast of 100 persons had but eight rehearsals, covering a period of only three weeks. Some of the features of the entertainment include Miss Helen Studley of Rockland in "Going South", encoiring with a ukelele number; Samuel and Malcolm French in a request number "Mellow Moon"; "Barefoot Days", a character song sung by Hazel Coleman and Helen Hudson, requiring several encores; James Gilligan assisted by his nephew, Edward, in vocal, tambo and clog numbers; the Barcello girls in fancy dancing skits; Miss Margaret Donaghue rendering a ballad entitled "Dreaming of you at twilight", and the closing number in the first part, an ensemble with Edward Cleary as soloist, followed by a patriotic tableau. The opening of the second part a number entitled "In the land of King Tut", featuring Norman Butler, vocalist, and Doris Howe, dancer, was assisted by sixteen girls appropriately costumed, was enthusiastically received. James Smith of Weymouth, a 7-year-old tenor, was warmly applauded in his offering "Dreaming of Mother". The closing number of the second part was an ensemble of the entire cast, with Reginald Belcher, soloist.
The show was to be repeated Thursday night, May 29, at the Gem theatre.

Former Selectman Dead J. Willard Dunbar

The flag was at half mast at the Town Offices Thursday for Willard J. Dunbar, for six years a member of the board of Selectmen, and a gentleman who filled with credit several other town offices and served in the Civil War.

Mr. Dunbar died on Tuesday at the age of 84 at his home, 802 Broad street, East Weymouth. He was born in East Weymouth Dec. 22, 1839, one of 11 children, 10 daughters and one son, of Ebed and Sophia (Nash) Dunbar. In 1862 he enlisted in Co. A, 42d Mass. Regiment, and saw service in New Orleans. He was honorably discharged on Boston Common in 1864. He had served as an aide-de-camp on the staff of the national commander of the G. A. R. with the rank of colonel.

He had served as tax collector 11 years, agent for indigent soldiers 15 years, a member of the Fire Department 17 years, and a member of the Board of Selectmen six years. He was a member of Orphans Hope lodge of Masons, Pentalpha chapter, R. A. M.; Delphi council, R. A. S. M.; South Shore commandery, K. T. and Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine of Boston.

He was a trustee of the Methodist church, the East Weymouth Savings bank, a charter member of Mechanics Temple of Honor and a member of the Wessagusset Social club. In December, 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar observed their golden wedding anniversary with a public reception. Mrs. Dunbar died several years ago. He leaves a son, Charles W. Dunbar, a partner in the undertaking business, and one grandson, Francis Willard Dunbar. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were attended by a delegation of the Grand Army, other organizations and friends.

WILLARD J. DUNBAR

CAMP FIRE GIRLS
"The Call of Wobelo", a three-act play, presented by the Soangetaha Camp Fire at Lincoln hall, Weymouth, last Friday evening was heartily enjoyed by a large and enthusiastic audience.

Under the efficient management of Mrs. Fred Whittemore, who directed them, the girls acted out their parts superbly and gave to their listeners a clear idea of what Camp Fire means to a girl.

In the last act the ceremonial meeting around their council fire with the girls all dressed in their gowns and beaded headbands was a very impressive service and caused many mothers present to want their girls to join Camp Fire and many girls themselves to wish to be in the circle.

It has been suggested to the girls that they repeat their play at some future date in East Weymouth.

A substantial sum was realized from the sale of tickets and home-made candy. Another group of eager girls are waiting patiently for someone to offer to be its guardian.

WHY EVERY EX-SERVICE MAN SHOULD JOIN THE
AMERICAN LEGION

1. That the flag of the United States may forever fly over a free nation of free men. One star in that flag is Massachusetts.
2. That the ideals and traditions for which we fought may be enjoyed by generations to come.
3. That the memory of the dead may be honored by service to the living.
4. Because the cause of the disabled is the cause of right and justice.
5. That the spirit of patriotism be fostered for coming generations.
6. Because there is personal satisfaction in doing good, and a feeling of pride in wearing the emblem of the Legion—an organization universally recognized as a power for good in every community.
7. Because a country worth fighting and dying for is worth working and living for. Unity and organization give strength and courage in peace time work.
8. So that no foreign power may ever jeopardize the Constitution of the United States of America from without—nor radicals and other foes within. So that all comrades of the great war may unite for all worthy peace time endeavors, such as—
Advancement of education
Americanization of worthy aliens
Visiting and cheering sick comrades
Securing legislation to help comrades

—Aunt Ada's Axioms: The baby who has all the toys he thinks he wants at once also gets a vacillating disposition.

WEYMOUTH HIGH BASEBALL

Weymouth High school played Quincy Monday afternoon with Quincy scoring three runs in the first inning. It looked as though the game would walk away, but the team tightened up and after tying the score in the second there was no more scoring until the seventh. Quincy got one and Weymouth in their turn got two runs as a result of two well placed hits by Dorey and a single by D'Alessandro. In the eighth Quincy got three runs by hits from Herbert, Nicholas, and Jorstrom, ending the score 7 to 5 in favor of Quincy. The summary:

Predicts the Passing of Billboard Advertising

If one may judge from advance hints casually dropped here and there, the advertising men from the United States who are to visit England en masse during the coming summer will be shown in a convincing manner the results of psychological researches made by British savants into a science and art of which the visitors themselves are generally regarded as the chief exponents.

The experiments, which have been conducted on a wide as well as an intensive scale, will, it is predicted, lead to the inevitable conclusion that before many years have elapsed advertising by billboards will have largely disappeared. The evidence regarding the billboard, at least, is conclusive, for the outcry against the desecration of rural scenery has led some of the biggest users of that method of catching the prospective customer's eye to announce a speedy and wholesale withdrawal, on both sides of the Atlantic, of the occasion of offense.

A sense of the artistic fitness of things on the part of the heads of corporations and other concerns, as well as a desire to comply with public sentiment and demand, was supposed to be behind this important decision, and due credit must be allowed for so honorable a motive. In addition, however, it now appears likely enough that another compelling cause was a feeling of wasted effort and a realization that the billboard as a means of effecting sales was not all that it was expected to be, and did not, in fact, warrant the outlay it entailed.—Washington Post.

Know Your Own Town First

The story is told of a city man who was put to shame by a country cousin because the latter, in only a few days in the city, had observed more of the city's noteworthy features than the other. Then the city man had a bright idea and proceeded to quiz his rural relation.

It developed that the countryman never took time to visit several spots of scenic beauty near his farm, that he had never visited another place of true historic interest only five miles from his land, and that, on the whole, he was just as remiss in his appreciation of his own community as was his city friend.

If the two had pressed their comparison a little further, no doubt, each would have found the other ignorant of some of the shortcomings of his own community, too. What improvements were needed in sanitation, in the schools, in traffic regulations and so on, would probably find neither man so well informed or thoughtful as intelligent citizenship requires. A know-your-own-town campaign would be productive of beneficial results in almost any community of any size.—Elkhart Truth.

Architecture Neglected

Architecture is perhaps the most neglected, perhaps the most observed of all the arts.

Magazines do not fail to chronicle the latest achievements in the field of drama, painting, sculpture and literature, and now moving pictures, our latest form of art expression, daily require more and more front-page space, due, in large measure, to the extra curriculum activities of their exponents. But of architecture we hear little except in the journals devoted exclusively to the interests of the profession, writes George S. Chappell in the New Republic.

This apathy on the part of the average man is often only his fear of becoming involved in the technicalities of this most complicated calling. A conversation between brother architects frequently abounds in references to such mysteries as spandrels, soffits, pendentives, fenestration and architraves, which leave the casual listener cold not to say bored.

Plant Trees That Fit

If a cottage be modest, cozy, almost diminutive, it should not be frightened by the presence of somber old trees of architectural tone that will grow to gigantic size, dwarfing and lessening its original charm. Houses of medium size and yet simple, unpretentious design, should be surrounded by simple, dignified elements, such as a lawn with bordering trees and shrub masses, avoiding a show of overrich color or texture in plant materials—in short, the garment should fit the individuality of the structure.

Mansions or homes of stately dimensions demand plants and flowers of dignity. Dense, upright growth forms, richness and fullness of texture, nobility and masculinity of line, tone and color are their fitting accompaniments.

Red Oak a Favorite

The red oak comes nearest of any being the best shade tree for the eastern half of the United States, says the American Tree association of Washington, D. C. The red oak grows more rapidly than other oaks and adapts itself to a wide diversity of soil conditions. Its trunk is straight and strong, its top symmetrically oval or round, and foliage luxuriant and turning a bright red with the approach of cold weather.

SOFT TIRES ARE VERY EXPENSIVE

Proper Inflation Will Give More Miles and Decrease Gasoline Consumption.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

Tires form a very important part of an automobile, this point being brought to our realization when on a beautiful day for motoring we spend an hour or so struggling on a hot road rectifying the wrongs of a sadly neglected or badly used tire, involving the loss of a perfectly good temper.

Don't drive your car with tires that are soft or not properly inflated or you will be well started on the road to tire trouble with the following results to your tires, and your pocket-book:

Sliding of the tires on the rim when the brakes are applied suddenly, causing the tube to tear around the valve stem.

Tread loosening from the fabric due to arc of bend in transverse direction to arc of circumference.

Tires puncture much easier when not properly inflated.

Tire heating which destroys the valuable chemical elements necessary to both rubber and fabric.

Cracking of the side walls and rim cutting and in some cases pinching of the tube.

When tires are not properly inflated they create a drag and the car is slow to pick up speed or if on the front wheels steering is made harder. The engine has to work much harder, gasoline consumption is greater and many other effects make themselves known.

Turns Out of Course.

Did you ever drive your car along a smooth road with one of the front tires soft? You noticed the car had a tendency to turn off its course in the direction of the side on which the soft tire was. The cause of that is this:

When a tire becomes soft it decreases the overall diameter of the wheel, that is, if the tire becomes soft enough to allow the axle to settle one-fourth inch on one side, you have in reality a wheel that is one-half inch smaller than the wheel on the opposite end of the axle, therefore the smaller wheel must travel faster or turn a greater number of revolutions to travel the same distance as the other, or leave its true course of direction. The other wheel with the tire properly inflated on the other end of the axle, being larger, travels a greater distance in the same number of revolutions, and if not joined to the car it would follow the smaller wheel off its true course and gradually turn in a circle around the smaller wheel, using the latter for an axis around which to rotate. But both wheels being firmly fastened to the car, they are forced to travel in the true course of the car; thus the smaller wheel (or the one with the soft tire) is forced to travel the same distance as the larger one, thus causing more wear on both.

Keep Well Inflated.

So keep your tires well inflated but not over-inflated as one is as bad as the other. Be sure to keep them inflated to the pressure that is specified on the side of the tire by the manufacturer, and you will get more mileage and decrease gasoline consumption and have a smooth running car with less trouble on the road.

Method for Polishing Dulled Metal Fittings

After the car is first brought out of its winter storage, the metal fittings are usually dull and tarnished. They may be restored by the following method: First apply a weak solution of oxalic acid and water to the tarnished surfaces by means of a cloth wrapped around a stick. Any acid accumulations are then loosened and may be cleanly removed by sample wiping. After this ordinary metal polish used for brass work should be applied with a linen cloth and the polishing carried out with soft woolen cloths. If the surfaces are slow to respond to the polishing, try a good carriage maker's polish made as follows: Twenty parts of whiting, one part of soda, one-quarter part of citric acid. This compound is moistened with water for using.

Occasional Spray Will Keep Radiator Bright

Through serving as a sieve through which dust is constantly drawn by the suction of the fan, the radiator core becomes prematurely old in appearance, particularly as viewed from the front. Often one will see an otherwise spotless car with a dull or spotted radiator core.

By the occasional use of a pump spray, the front of any car may be kept solid black, aluminum, or any desired color with little attention or expense. The spray is filled with liquid lamp black, or with ordinary paint of the desired color, thinned with equal parts of gasoline. The gasoline lightens the coat applied, and assists its penetration back into the crevices in the core which cannot be reached with a brush. By operating the pump handle the paint spray is distributed evenly over and into the surface of the radiator core, and a new effect is secured in a few minutes. A piece of wrapping paper should be placed behind the radiator to protect the engine.—Motor.

Speed-Mania Mystery

Why does a shrewd business man drive at a desperate speed over rough roads, try to beat a railroad train to a crossing, dodge around a street car or pass another automobile without warning, when he knows that a sound business maxim is to take things slowly?

Why does a man cautious in having units of his car showing wear instantly repaired drive away from the repair station and take all manner of chances?

Why does a man think it is an accomplishment to drive with his brakes, or think his perfection as a driver depends on how quickly he can jam them on and bring his car to a halt?

Carelessness Cause of Many Big Forest Fires

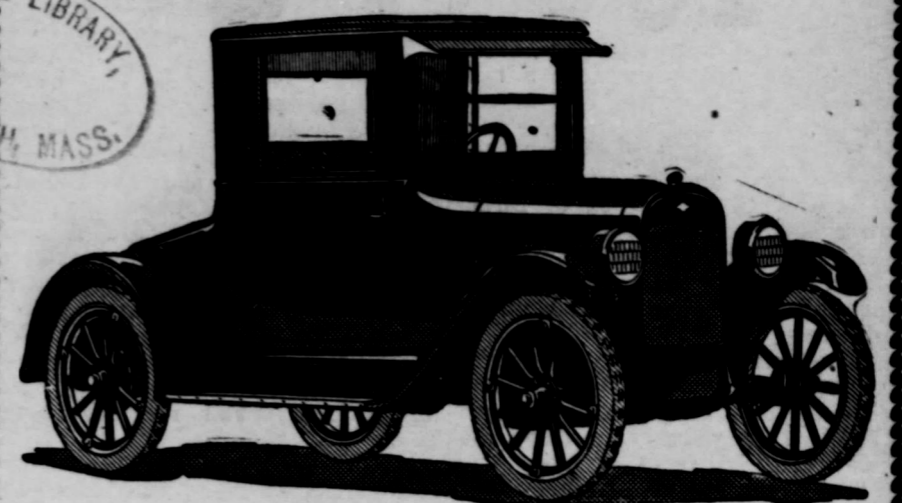

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The forest service, United States Department of Agriculture, says that 36,000 forest fires every year destroy timber and property valued at $16,500,000 besides costing many human lives. Nearly 9,000,000 automobilists visited the national forests during 1923 for recreational purposes, and many fires were directly traceable to carelessness on the part of the visiting automobilist.

Here are simple rules which if observed will help prevent forest fires:

1. Be sure your match is out—break it in two before throwing it away.
2. Don't throw cigars, cigarettes and pipe ashes over the side of your machine. Provide a closed receptacle. A tin can will do.
3. Build small camp fires on bare ground or on rocky surfaces away from brush and trees. Scrape away all inflammable material.
4. Never leave your camp fire unwatched. When you are finished with the camp fire be sure it's dead—then bury it with dirt or gravel and not with inflammable leaf mold.
5. Keep in touch with the forest ranger. Report all fires you may see however small. Consider the ranger as your friend whose duty it is to protect your forests.
6. Inquire about fire regulations. In some states the law requires permits before camp fires may be built.
7. At all times and under all circumstances be as careful with fire while you are in wooded areas as you would be in your own home.

TODAY—Ride in this Remarkable Six

Scientifically balanced, holds the road at all speeds. All-steel body. One-piece windshield. Luxurious, genuine leather cushions, ten inches deep. Cool lights. Standard non-skid cord tires.

Now here's a car to put the song of the open in your heart!

HERE is the open of the country, the quiet of star-leavened skies, the power of a thousand giants to transport you magically to the land of dreams-come-true.

A car world-famous and distinguished, the product of a vehicle-maker internationally acclaimed for the supreme in fine carriages since the days of Lincoln and Grant.

All the luxuries of a fine car—for it is a fine car. The same steels, the same engineering as the most costly Studebaker models—and that means the best men know. The same ease of handling, the same quiet, smooth operation, long life, low upkeep cost.

Now ride in it. Note its quick response to the slightest touch of the accelerator. Feel the thrill of its tremendously powerful six-cylinder motor. Mark its ease of handling, its comfort, its fine car refinements.

Then note its price is well within the limits of economy—the cost of upkeep low. The terms of payment liberal. It offers the supreme value of today in the $1000 field.

We invite you to take out a Light-Six model for comparison with other cars at near its price. Then with cars selling for several hundred dollars more. We'll place a Light-Six at your disposal for this purpose any time you name.

CLUB and SOCIAL

A farewell reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilder and family at the Church of Good Tidings on Tuesday evening. The parlors were prettily decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Music was furnished by Ames' orchestra. There were readings by Miss Rachel Sampson of Quincy; vocal solos by Raymond Stein and Mrs. Helen Stanton and songs by the Wilder boys. In behalf of the friends assembled Rev. John Brush presented Mr. and Mrs. Wilder with a traveler's clock. Refreshments were served and a social evening enjoyed by all who met to wish Mr. and Mrs. Wilder a pleasant trip and success in their new home in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gladwin of Bridge street were week-end guests of relatives in Milford.

The S. K. club held its regular meeting at the home of Miss Mildred Callahan on Mill street. During the evening plans for a week-end party were discussed and refreshments served by the hostess.

Mrs. George Bean of North st. has as guests Mrs. George West and son Maurice of Concord, N. H.

Traffic Officer Charles W. Baker, a member of the patrol of Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine and Charles E. Leavitt, a member of the Shriners band, leave tomorrow evening with the members of the Temple for Kansas City, Mo., where the national council is to be held. They will return a week from Saturday.

Mrs. A. E. Beals entertained a party of ladies at mah jongg at her home on Sea street Monday afternoon.

The Primavera Whist club held the last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Charles McCarthy on Lincoln street. Prizes were taken by Mrs. Sarah Gray, Mrs. Charles McCarthy, Mrs. Margaret Hill, Mrs. Thomas Dolan. A social hour during which refreshments were served was enjoyed by the ladies.

A number from here attended the class day exercises Wednesday in the Suffolk theatre, Boston, of the senior class of Suffolk Law school. Russell Sullivan Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Riley of Foye avenue, was one of the graduates and vice-president of the class.

Mr. and Mrs. William Strange and Miss Rena Bunker have returned to their homes in Cape May, N. J., having been the guests during the past two weeks of Mrs. Alfred Cadman at her home on Norton street.

Mrs. Harry Johnson of Pearl street entertained the Weymouth Heights Girls club at her home on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Austin of Rose Cliff announce the birth of a daughter at their home on Sunday.

Patrolman John A. Hutchinson has moved into the apartments on Vine street recently vacated by Harold Gloster, who has purchased a house on Norfolk street.

There will be a meeting of the Service Star Legion, Old Colony chapter, at All Souls church, Braintree, Monday, June 2, at 2 P. M. It is important that every member should attend as the new officers will be elected at this meeting. Following the meeting there will be a food sale which will be open to the public at 3 P. M. This sale was scheduled for May 12, but owing to the inclement weather it was postponed until June 2. As was formerly stated the proceeds will be used for Memorial Day and welfare work.

An agreeable surprise was given Mrs. Harriet S. Berry at her home Friday evening when the retiring officers of the Weymouth Catholic Club presented her with a string of pearls in appreciation of her service as president for the last two years. A social evening was enjoyed and refreshments served by the hostess.

A very successful pop concert was held in the vestry of the Universalist church Wednesday evening under auspices of Squad 1. Miss S. Lizzie Fisher, captain. An orchestra led by Hazel Clarke Leonard furnished music during the evening. Readings were given by Miss Dowling of the Emerson School of Oratory. Refreshments were on sale.

MAY PARTY

The large assemblage of persons gathered at the Fogg Opera House last Monday evening to attend the May party under the auspices of St. Francis Xavier parish, spent a very enjoyable evening.

The concert by the St. Cecilia Quartette of Boston was highly pleasing and the music for dancing was particularly well rendered. The concert program was: Accompanist, Lillian M. Kivnan. Orchestra Selections, Elmore Nash Orchestra. Tenor Solo Mr. Alfred McGuire. "Ah! Moon of my delight" (Lehman). Contralto Solo Miss Nora F. Burns. "My heart at thy sweet voice" (Samsar and Delilah Saint-Saens). Baritone Solo, Mr. William H. O'Brien. "It Is Enough" (Mendelssohn). Soprano Solo Mrs. Joan Parsons. "The Wren" (Bendict).

PRIZES FOR C. M. A. BOYS

Wednesday night was a happy occasion for over thirty youngsters that have taken part in athletic sports the past winter at the Edwin Clapp Memorial. Records were kept, the boys having previously been divided into two groups, large and small juniors, the first five of each class received prizes. The first three prizes for each group were cups, the next two, each group, were medals.

The boys gathered at 6.30 P. M., sat down to a roast beef supper of the usual Clapp Memorial fame, after which they listened to Father Dawson, Wm. A. Hodges, Director Fabian and Benj. Osthus of Medford, known locally and nationally for his participation in athletic events.

Among the boys present were: Morrill E. Reed, Thomas A. Banks, Harrison L. Burke, Edward F. Curtin, William Curtin, James Doherty, Warren W. Fabyan, Elmer Fisher, Clifford R. Foksett, Norman Foksett, Albert O. Fraher, Michael Guidice, David Gunville, Edward P. Higgins, Philip Jones, Gardner Larsen, Ethelbert C. Nickerson, Richard C. Ostrowski, Edward F. Carroll, Michael Cicchese, John J. Downs, Charles W. Duffy, Joseph L. Kelly, Uno Nystrom, John E. Cantara, P. Augustus Conathan, Kenneth V. Dalton, Nunzie Daniele, William H. Edwin, Edward B. Hall, Joseph J. Kebbis, Robert Harrington, Arthur Pupolo.

Father Dawson was glad to be present to advise and encourage the boys urging them to live clean lives for it will always help.

The boys were fortunate to have this good gym and should always remember and show appreciation to the benefactors. The boys these days have a lot more than when he was a boy. The famous Marathon runner, DeMar, leads a good clean life. He is a good leader and one interested in the progress of boys. Doc Fabyan, Mr. Drinkwater, the Clapps, Mr. Goodspeed are all interested in you. Be strong, honest, straight forward—it always means clean minds for you. Take good care of your body and your soul and mind will follow. Play your games intensely, hard and often; be honest and fair; always smile, as you play. A good athlete makes a good executive.

Mr. Hodges was glad to give up a previous engagement to be with the boys. He was glad to see so many present and hoped next year would see many more present. His advice was to start young to build a good, honest, clean healthy body, to be prepared for one's life work.

Ben. Osthus in his day a fast sprinter and has not forgotten his days of sport, but is often seen at all important athletic events, spoke interestingly to the boys. He said clean sport is the only kind. Hard work never hurts, but keeps one in trim. Even today boys do not know how to play marbles, no interest and no life, just moves of least resistance. He spoke of playing on the first basketball team when it was introduced here.

Games are all healthy sports; play them, play them hard. Boxing is good, all around exercise, but do not try to make a living out of it, it cannot be done. He spoke of getting up as early as 5.30 to play ball. He told the boys to play clean, fair and hard. Do not be the whole team. Team work is the best. Play to have the team win and not to shine yourself. One of the reasons of the brilliant success of the Medford football team the past year was team work. Incidentally Doc Fabyan remarked they have a graduate of Clapp gym Arthur Sampson, as athletic coach. Mr. Osthus told the boys they were fortunate to have such a fine gym. It was a wonderful place as compared with those and none of earlier days. He urged the boys to take plenty of drills, setting up, clubs, etc. Build up good, strong bodies and you will have good health.

Doc Fabyan then announced the prize winners and Ben Osthus gave them to the boys with words of praise and encouragement to keep it up. The winners were:

Small Juniors
Edward F. Carroll	33 points
Elmer Fisher	29 "
Edward F. Curtin	28 "
Albert Pratt	27 "
Gardner Larsen	25 "
Large Juniors
Warren Fabyan	45 points
Foksett	36 "
Michael Cicchese	24 "
Nunzie Daniele	19 "
P. A. Conathan	15 "

Quartette "Rigoletto (Verdi)" "Goin' Home" (Fisher) Orchestra Selection, Selected. Dancing until 12 o'clock followed. The decorations, banked at the sides of the stage, were very attractive. The mingling of the delicate white lilacs with the more rugged potted palms produced a dainty harmony of colors rivaled only by the pretty gowns of the ladies.

The success of this party in a large measure is due to the efforts of the Rev. John Duran, who had charge of the concert and to the help of an efficient corps of aids.

—It's tough to be in a crowd of radio and Mah Jong fans when you understand only English.

—Some buy spring tonics at the drug store, and some go out and dig dandelion greens.

—Uncle Ab says he's never known anybody who didn't improve on acquaintance; those he first thought good proved even better; and those he thought wholly bad showed some good traits.

A big summer's business awaits advertisers who have the get-up to go after it.

One of the tried and proven ways of going after business is through a liberal use of newspaper advertising.

YOU ARE IN THIS LIST SOMEWHERE!

Now is the time to step on the gas for late spring and early summer stuff! Now, or never! Tell 'em what to plant in city gardens: it would surprise you to know how much green stuff is raised by householders (as it should be) even in our greatest cities. This is the season for hardware and paints.

Used cars are in the market, to make way for new ones. Roofs need the plumber's attention. Home-hunting is the objective of many of the springtime's Sunday afternoon outings.

Mother is interested in electric equipment for the kitchen, against the summer's promised heat. Camps are now being organized by boys' and girls' clubs.

Printer's ink is a splendid means for getting after this business. And, keep hammering away at—

POND HOME DONATION DAY
The 22d annual donation day of the King's Daughters and Sons of Norfolk county for the "Home for Aged" will be held as usual at the Home in Pondville Saturday, June 7 from 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. Friends interested in this worthwhile philanthropy are invited to drive over. Lunch of sandwiches, hot coffee, doughnuts, ice cream and cake may be purchased at a nominal cost and there will be fancy articles and candy all for the benefit of the Home.

NEW MOVIES AT GEM THEATRE

"That Brat don't belong to the Captain at all. He's probably one of those kids that nobody wants because—" The sentence was never finished. Like a battering ram the captain's fist hit his jaw, and he fell to the deck. And then—wow! See "Half-a-Dollar" at the Gem Saturday, May 31.

The backbone of any picture is the story—and here's a story with the strength of Gibraltar! And so different!

A more engrossing plot has never been invented, and the climax—!

But we're not going to spoil it for you by telling too much. Just take a tip and get acquainted with "The Stranger."

From vaudeville to a screen classic. This is the leap of Charlie Murray, erstwhile maker of laughs with the team of Murray and Mack, later screen comedian, and now, in "Fools' Highway", showing at the Gem theatre, depicting one of the most sympathetic roles ever put on the screen. He plays the old father of Mary Philbin, who stars in the new Universal production adapted from Owen Kildare's celebrated novel, "My Mamie Rose", a colorful story of the old Bowery Wednesday, June 4.

EXECUTRIX'S NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executrix of the will of

JAMES P. BURNS late of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, testate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

HELEN M. BURNS, Executrix
(Address) 111 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.
May 16, 1924 3t,M23,30,J7

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court
To the Honorable the Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Frank A. Harlow of Weymouth, in said County, that he was lawfully married to Mary A. Harlow now of parts unknown last reported as somewhere in Pittsburg, Pa., at Boston the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1898, and thereafter after the libellant and the said libellee lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Hull and Wakefield and other places; that your libellant has always been faithful to their marriage vows and obligations, but the said libellee being wholly regardless of the same at Wakefield on or about the fifteenth day of April, A. D. 1918, utterly deserted the libellant and has not since returned to the said libellant although the libellant has always been ready and willing to resume marital relations, and the libellant further alleges that the said desertion has continued for a period of more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of the libel; that there has been born to them no children.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bond of matrimony between your libellant and the said libellee, Mary A. Harlow, be decreed. Dated the tenth day of May, A. D. 1924.

FRANK A. HARLOW
Subscribed and sworn to before me this tenth day of May, 1924.

HERBERT S. AVERY,
Notary Public
Commission Expires Oct. 1929

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court

Upon the foregoing libel, ordered, that the said libellant give notice to said Mary A. Harlow, by causing an attested copy of said libel, and of this order thereon, to be published in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, once a week for three weeks successively the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the return day of this Court, at Brookline, within the County of Norfolk, on the twenty-fifth day of June, A. D. 1924, and by mailing forthwith, by registered letter to the libellee at her last known address, an attested copy of said libel and of this order thereon: that she may appear at said Court within six months from said twenty-fifth day of June and show cause, if any she has, why the prayer of said libel should not be granted.

Witness, Joseph R. McCoolle, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

THOMAS V. NASH, Register

The foregoing is a true copy of said libel and of the order thereon.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Sidney F. Hooper of Winchester, Mass., to Robert M. Dobbins of Boston, Mass., dated Sept. 8, 1923, recorded with Norfolk County Deeds Ljb. 1569, Fol. 169, and duly assigned to the undersigned, and for breach of the conditions thereof, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Saturday, June 14th, 1924, at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described as follows:

"The land in that part of Weymouth called North Weymouth, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, with the buildings thereon, shown as Lot B on plan of land in North Weymouth, Mass., belonging to Mary J. Shaw by Russell H. Whiting, C. E., dated March 30, 1912, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, at the end of record book 1208, and bounded: southwesterly by Pecksnot Road, thirty-five (35) feet; Southeast by lot C on said plan eighty (80) feet; northeasterly by land now or late of Ella H. Eppler twenty-nine and 83-100 (29.83) feet, and northwesterly by land now or late of George E. Hunt thirty-four and 35-100 (34.35) feet, and by lot A on said plan forty-five and 85-100 (45.55) feet. Containing 2632 square feet. Being the same premises conveyed to me by Emma F. Moses by deed dated March 25, 1921, and recorded as aforesaid book 1490, page 235, and subject to the restrictions set forth in deed from John V. Scott et al. Trustees to Olga E. E. Blasser, dated July 18, 1899, recorded as aforesaid book 849 page 275, so far as the same are now in force or applicable."

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes or assessments and to a prior mortgage to the Real Estate Co-operative Bank for $1500 recorded as aforesaid book 1550 page 129.

Terms $300 cash at time and place of sale, other terms at sale.

"Flower in the crannied wall,
I pluck you out of the crannies,
I hold you here, root and all, in my hand
Little flower,—but if I could understand
What you are root and all, and all in all,
I should know what God and man is."—Tennyson

It is the infection of excellence."—Whitney

4. Life is not so short, but that there is always time enough for courtesy."—Emerson

5. "Look one step onward, and secure that step."—Browning

6. Reputation is what men and women think of us; character is what God and the angels know of us."—Paine

7. I will hope for the best and provide for the worst."—Seneca

8. SUNDAY

"He prayeth well who loveth well
Both man and bird and beast,
He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small,
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all."—Coleridge

9. "Every man feels instinctively that all the beautiful sentiment in the world weighs less than a single lovely action."—Lowell

10. It is not required of every man and woman to be or to do something great; most of us must content ourselves with taking parts in the chorus as far as possible without discord."
H. van Dyke

11. "He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause."
—Beecher

12. "Happiness quite unshared can scarcely be called happiness;
it has no taste."—Gaskell

13. "The finest life lies oft in doing finely a multitude of unromantic things."—Anon.

14. "Wanting to have a friend is altogether different from wanting to be a friend. The former is a mere natural human craving, the latter is the life of Christ in the soul."—Miller

15. SUNDAY

"The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday
Among the clover-scented grass,
Among the new-mown hay.
Among the huskings of the corn
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where ill thoughts die,
and good are born,
Out in the fields of God."—Mrs. Browning

16. "It was never yet loving that emptied the heart,
Or giving that emptied the purse."—Greenwell

17. "Fasten your smile so high that constantly
The smile of your heroic cheer may float
Above the floods of earthly agonies."—Browning

18. "Go put your creed into your deed,
Nor speak with double tongue."

19. "What in me is dark,
Illumine! what is low, raise and support!"—John Milton

20. "When man hath tamed nature, asserted his place
And dominion, behold! he is brought face to face
With a new foe—himself."—Owen Meredith

21. "Give, if thou canst, an alms: if not, afford Instead of that, a sweet and gentle word."—Herrick

22. SUNDAY

"He gives nothing but worthless gold
Who gives but a sense of duty;
But he who gives a slender mite,
And gives to that which is out of sight,
That thread of the all sustaining beauty
Which runs through all and doth unite,
The hand cannot clasp the whole of its alms,
The heart outstretches its eager palms,
For a God goes with it, and makes it store
To the soul that was starving in darkness before."—Lowell

23. "Trust thyself; every heart vibrates to that iron string."
—Emerson

24. "There is nothing that makes men rich and strong but that which they carry inside of them. Wealth is of the heart, not of the hand."—Milton

25. "No soul is desolate as long as there is a human being for whom it can feel trust and reverence."—Elliot

26. "This life is not the play, only the rehearsal."—Shorthouse

27. "The moment we can use our possessions to any good purpose ourselves, the instinct of communicating that use to others rises side by side with our power."—John Ruskin

28. "Never bear more than one trouble at a time; some people bear three kinds—all they have ever had, all they have now, and all they expect to have."—Avebury

29. SUNDAY

"One adequate support
For the calamities of mortal life
Exists, one only!—an assured belief
That the procession of our fate, however Sad or disturbed, is ordered by a Being
Of infinite benevolence and power,
Whose everlasting purposes embrace
All accidents, converting them to good."—Wordsworth

30. "The making of friends, who are real friends, is the best token we have of a man's success in life."—E. E. Hale

GET UP AND START OVER

Get up and start over whenever you fall.
For one little bump is just nothing at all.
One foolish temptation, one silly mistake,
That isn't a matter to make or to break.

Get up and start over, get back on your feet,
And show 'em a fellow the bumps couldn't beat.
Get up and start over whenever you slip,
For life is a ticket that's good for the trip.

Don't alter your purpose, abandon your load—
Get out of the brambles, and back on the road!
Get up and start over, and show 'em a man
Who's good at the finish, how'er he began.

Get up and start over!—the thing, after all,
Is always to rise, and not ever to fall.
Get up and start over! Don't foolishly think
The rest lived a life that was perfectly pink.

We mostly are mortal, we're human a lot—
A man's often made by the bumps that he got.
Get up and start over. Get back on your feet!
And show 'em a fellow the bumps couldn't beat.

THEY ALL ADVERTISE

By Ellis Hayes

A hen is not supposed to have Much common sense or tact,
Yet every time she lays an egg
She cackles forth the fact.
A rooster hasn't got a lot
Of intellect to show,
But none the less most roosters have Enough good sense to crow.
The mule, the most despised of beasts,
Has a persistent way
Of letting folks know he's around
By his insistent bray.
The busy little bees they buzz,
Bulls bellow and cows moo,
The watchdogs bark, the ganders quack,
And doves and pigeons coo,
The peacock spreads his tail and squawks,
Pigs squeal, and robins sing,
And even serpents know enough
To hiss before they sting.
But man, the greatest masterpiece
That nature could devise,
Will often stop and hesitate
Before he'll advertise.

WOULD ANNUL MARRIAGE

Weymouth people have been interested this week in a trial in the Middlesex Superior court for annulment of the marriage of Mrs. Laura J. Brown, 71, and George F. Brown, 41, a furniture mover of Weymouth.

The Herald says: The Rev. William Hyde of the Weymouth Episcopal church, the clergyman who married the couple, testified before Chief Justice Hall in the divorce session of the superior court Monday that the elderly bride appeared normal, looked more than 53, the age given in the marriage license, and acted neither "girlish or giggley".

Mrs. Brown was adjudged insane last November and her present guardian, Charles W. Hapgood of Brookline, is seeking to have the marriage annulled on the grounds of a presumptive mental condition of the bride at the time of the marriage.

The Rev. Mr. Hyde said that after the ceremony Mrs. Brown paid him a fee and Mr. Brown also paid him a fee, but that he returned the fee paid by Mrs. Brown.

Brown took the stand late in the afternoon. He told the court he met Mrs. Brown when she was visiting a cousin in Weymouth and at her request visited her two or three times a week while she was there and also visited her in Vermont. He said he did not go to the town clerk to get the marriage license, but that Mrs. Brown went with his mother.

Dr. Ralph O. Brock of Watertown, Mrs. Brown's son, testified earlier in the day concerning his mother's mental condition just prior to her marriage. A letter written by him to his mother was introduced in evidence. He admitted he wrote the letter, but said he was "sore" at the time because of his mother's actions with Brown and did not know then that she had already married him. Parts of the letter were as follows:

"I would rather that you would have died last fall than to live and disgrace yourself at your age and lower yourself to the level of this common, illiterate laborer. So far as you and this Brown are concerned, I want you to know where I stand, although I know it don't make any difference. When you will make a laughing stock of yourself as you are doing, what I think will have little to do with it."

"It is reported it is very probable you may marry him. When you do I am done forever, and I never want to see you again, dead or alive."

"However, you can tell him that he will never get his hands on the money he is after—never; for I have taken care of that. Whatever there is you will have the use of while you live, and if there is anything left after that I shall use it."

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Charles H. Locke and Jean C. Locke, wife of the said Charles H. Locke, in her own right, to Randolph Trust Company, dated June 28th, 1920, and recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, Book 1460, page 231, and for breach of the conditions contained in said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on

SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1924
at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Randolph Street in that part of said Weymouth called South Weymouth, and bounded and described as follows:
Southerly by Randolph Street; Westerly by land now or late of Longfellow; Northerly by land now or late of Longfellow and Easterly by land now or late of the heirs of Alfred Threl, deceased. Containing by estimation one-half an acre of land, more or less.

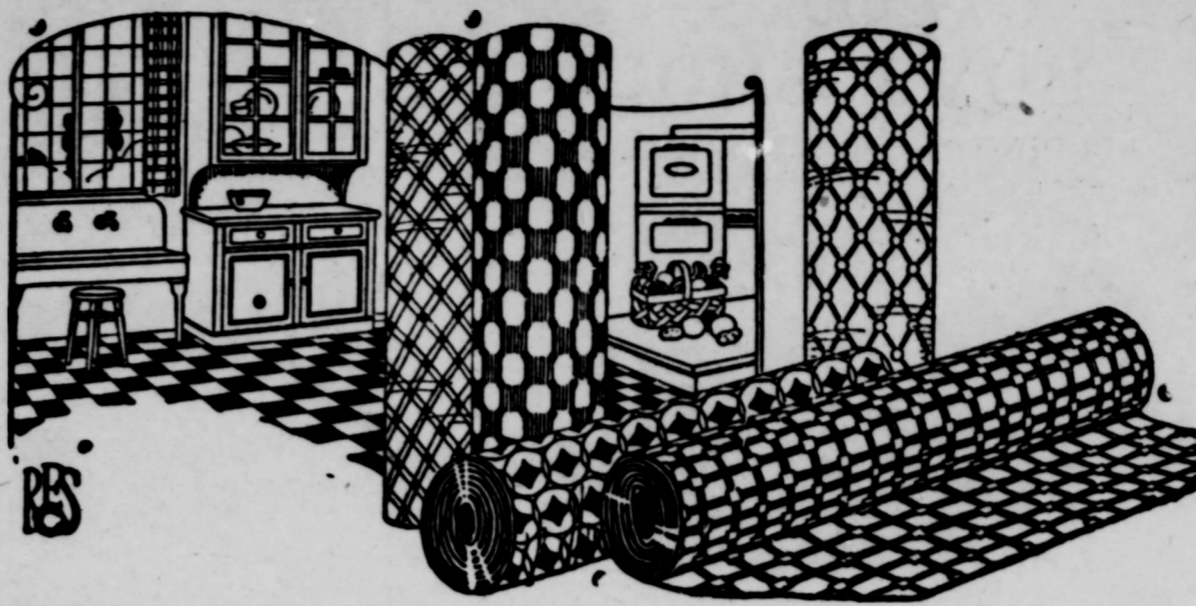

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and other assessments.

Five Hundred Dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of the sale.

RANDOLPH TRUST COMPANY,
Present holder of said mortgage.
Flye, Grabbill, Buttrick & James, Solicitors, 68 Devonshire Street, Boston, Massachusetts. 3t, M30, J6, 13

—Display space used with a proper illustration has both an attention compelling force and a selling angle that is possible in no other form of copy. The person who questions the selling value of display space is hardly worth wasting time with. They are driving a one-horse shay, eating bulk oatmeal, bathing when the water gets warm in the creek, and depending upon the pony express to give them rapid transportation.—Exchange.

"TAPS"

By Maitland LeRoy Osborne

They are marching with a halting step,—

A halting step and slow:
 And many in those blue-clad ranks
 Have hair as white as snow;
 Their youth lies on the battlefields
 Of fifty years ago.

The passing years speed swiftly,
 And silence 'round them wraps;
 And to their listening ears there comes

No sweeter song, perhaps,
 Than when the battered bugle sounds
 Again the old call,—"Taps."

General Order No. 1.

I. In compliance with General Order No. 3, National Headquarters, supplemented by General Order No. 2, Headquarters Department of Massachusetts, G. A. R., Memorial Day will be observed Friday, May 30. Again with tender memories we visit the resting places of the dead, bringing our floral tributes and offerings, not only for those who participated in the Civil War, but for those who have given their lives in the years just passed in defence of the principles for which this nation stands; and for those who sleep on foreign soil.

II. We earnestly request the attendance of our Comrades at the Memorial Exercises in our public schools. You will not be required to speak. The sight of the old soldier in his uniform is an inspiration to the children, and your presence is a benediction.
 III. By invitation of the Trustees of the Second Universalist Church, South Weymouth, the Post will attend divine service in that church on Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 2.30, and be addressed by Rev. William Dawes Veazie, pastor. Post No. 58, and Associate Members, with all allied organizations, are requested to meet in the vestry at 2.15 P. M. Post 79, of the American Legion are invited to be present with the Post and participate in the services at the above church on Sunday, and also rather and be one with us in the public service on May 30, in the First M. E. Church, East Weymouth, and other services of Memorial Day. Extra coaches will be run on Sunday, May 25, from East to South Weymouth.

IV. Order of exercises on Memorial Day is as follows: Comrades and Associates, with Sons of Veterans and invited guests, will assemble at Thomas Corner, North Weymouth, on Friday morning, May 30, at 8.00 o'clock. Flowers will be presented to each Comrade by Lorothea L. Dix Tent, No. 32, Daughters of Veterans. The Post will then take autos for the North Weymouth cemetery.

V. Carter's Band of Boston will report to Officer of the Day at the same hour and place.

VI. A sufficient number of autos will take the South Weymouth Comrades at Columbian Square at 7.25 o'clock. The Weymouth Landing Comrades will be ready at Lincoln Square at 7.40 o'clock, and the East Weymouth Comrades at the Post Hall at 7.45. Chief of Police Pratt has kindly consented to take charge of parking of autos at the various cemeteries.

VII. The Sons of Veterans will act as escort to the Post, and they will, with the Boy Scouts, the school children, and the Band, march from Thomas Corner to the Old North cemetery.

VIII. After decorating the graves at the North Weymouth cemetery, the Post will proceed to the Village Cemetery, arriving at 9.00 o'clock; thence to Catholic Cemetery, arriving at 9.30; thence to the Highland Cemetery, arriving at 10.00 o'clock; thence to Lakeview Cemetery, arriving at 10.30; thence to Elmwood Cemetery, arriving at 11.00 o'clock; thence to Mt. Hope Cemetery, arriving at 11.30 o'clock; thence to Fairmount Cemetery, arriving at 12.00 o'clock; thence to Post Hall, arriving at 12.30 o'clock.

The above schedule is subject to delays. The Associate Members and the chauffeurs are invited to dine with the Post.

Dinner will be served by the W. R. C. and allied organizations in G. A. R. Hall at 1.00 o'clock. After dinner, a band concert will be given on lawn of G. A. R. Hall, to which the public is invited.

The afternoon service will be held in the First M. E. Church, East Weymouth, in charge of Commander Bicknell, and will be open to the public. Rev. J. Caleb Justice will deliver the oration. Adjutant Turner will recite Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address". Chaplain Bradford Hawes will read General Logan's General Order for Memorial Day observance. Music will be furnished by Carter's Band. Solo, "The Star Spangled Banner", by soloist; chorus by audience. Trooping of colors by Officer of the Day David Dunbar.

IX. The Honorable Board of Selectmen of Weymouth; P. T. Pearson, Superintendent of Schools, and the editor of the Gazette are cordially invited to attend Memorial Services on Sunday, May 25, and with Rev. J. Caleb Justice, Rev. J. B. Holland, Rev. E. E. Story, Rev. K. A. Handanian, and other guests of the Post on Memorial Day, are requested to assemble at Thomas Corner Friday, May 30, at 8.00 A. M.

X. All flags will be displayed at half-mast until 12.00 o'clock, when they will be placed at the peak—per orders received from National Headquarters.

A large delegation of Boy Scouts, under command of Scout Master Johnson will report at Thomas Corner, and accompany us through the entire route; other members of the Scouts will meet the Post at the various cemeteries and assist.

XI. The school children will meet the Comrades at the several cemeteries and assist the Comrades in decorating the graves, and as far as they may be able, to procure flowers and bring them with them for that purpose.

Per order,

FRANCIS A. BICKNELL, Commander

Official:
 WALDO TURNER, Adjutant

ACCIDENT CASES

The Police Department requests that in cases of drowning, inhaling gas, or electric shock, that they be notified promptly by telephone—Weymouth 0007—the assistance may be rendered by use of the new burg motor presented to the Police Department by the Weymouth Light and Power Company.

Only Yarn of War Ever Told by Lee

Confederate Leader's Idea of Brave and Cool Deed
by Two Scouts.

LEE was never a great talker except under one condition, and that was when he had young ladies to entertain, for then his natural gallantry got the better of him, and he was a charming companion, though not what might be called loquacious, and he did not care to talk of the war, preferring to choose other topics. It was in camp, however, that he so far yielded to the desires of a couple of fair visitors as to spin a yarn. He had invited two young ladies, cousins of his, to dine with him, and it was to them and at their persuasion that he told the story of the "Two Confederate Scouts," which a writer in the Philadelphia Times who knew the great Confederate intimately declares to be the only war story ever told by him.

Carefully arranging his napkin on the table, in front of him and sitting perfectly erect in his chair, as was his custom, General Lee said: "When this war is over you will hear a great deal of praise given the leaders of the armies, and in the attempt to do them honor the private soldier will to a certain extent be overlooked. This is unfortunate, since some of the noblest and most daring deeds of the war were done by privates on both sides. I was once in absolute need of positive information as to the movements of the enemy. My regular scouts were out, so I had to select from a regiment of men who were familiar with the section of the country, if not with their mission.

"After ferreting out the secrets of the enemy they started on the return trip, but were detained by a terrific rainstorm of several hours' duration, which forced them to shelter until night. When they reached the river they found to their chagrin that it was too much swollen to be crossed in a canoe, and the only thing left was to make a bed of the pine tags on the ground and sleep until morning, when they would proceed unmolested. But they had reckoned without their host. The enemy's pickets, who had also been driven to shelter by the rain, were out early next morning investigating, and seeing fresh tracks suspected something wrong. Five of them started on the trail, plain in the soft earth, and soon came upon the sleeping scouts. Feeling confident of having their prisoners secure, they thought to have some innocent fun with them and proceeded to jab them in the back with the point of their bayonets and request them to come in out of the rain.

"Hello Johnny, what are you doing sleeping out here in the wet like this? You will take cold. Come on with us out of the damp."

"But the sleeping Confederates could not be aroused, and the sentinels had a big laugh over it, particularly so when one of them would partially turn over and groan out, Oh, stop that! What are you poking me for? It isn't time for reveille yet, as if he thought he was in his own camp safe and sound. Just in the midst of their greatest outbreak the scouts, with the agility of wild animals, sprang from their couches and with their pistols shot down the two front men, then as quickly dropped the other two as the fifth man hastily retreated leaving his gun behind him.

"When the scouts heard the federal squad advancing on them they were too close to admit of retreat, so they resorted to strategy and feigned sleep, arranging between them that at a given signal both should rise and fire on different men, taking them so by surprise that the others could be shot also before they could get their guns up. The trick worked perfectly, and to it those men not only owe their necks, but the valuable information for headquarters and four good Snider rifles and warm overcoats.

"I do not believe that any deed of the war surpassed this in coolness and bravery."—Chicago Herald.

Memorial That Marks Important French Spot

France and America again joined hands at the recent dedication and unveiling of this monument marking the spot where American headquarters were established at Chaumont during the World war.

HOW

TO CLEAN VARIOUS KINDS OF FURS IN THE HOME.—Furs collect dust and dirt in quantities that would astonish us if it all could be detached and then gathered together. In a town, "blacks" descend and are duly incorporated, with the result that dark furs lose their glossiness and light furs become begrimed, dirty and unsightly.

Extremely expensive furs should be sent to a professional cleaner, but others can be tackled at home with quite satisfactory results.

Sable or skunk should be treated with hot silver sand, of the best quality. It is rubbed in with a piece of new flannel, and will, visibly, collect all the dirt. Give a second rubbing with fresh sand, and then beat the fur with a flat stick and brush it until it is glossy. It will be as good as new. Other furs need only to be rubbed against the hair, with hot bran. Brush the bran out with a stiff brush and the fur will be clean. The bran, however, will be very dirty.

Light-colored furs need a slightly different treatment. Camphorated chalk should first be well rubbed in, and then a paste of cold-water starch brushed over the hair. This should be allowed to dry, and then rubbed off with the hand. Afterwards the fur should be sprinkled with powdered magnesia, which should be brushed out with a stiff brush. A final brush with a soft brush, and the fur will be clean and glossy.

Cheap furs—which are never really cheap, of course—should be cleaned with powdered ammonia and dry whitening; mixed in equal quantities. This will remove the dirt, and brushing will complete the operation.

Finally, if any fur gets wet, wipe it very gently with a silk handkerchief, and then hang up well away from the fire. When dry, fluff up the wrong way and then brush quickly with a medium brush. This prevents any damage by wet.—London Answers.

How Mosaic Glass Is Made

Mosaic glass is produced by arranging vertically side by side threads or small canes of variously colored opaque or transparent glass, uniform lengths, so that the ends shall form a ground representing flowers, arabesques, or any mosaic design. This mass is now submitted to a heat sufficient to fuse the whole, all the sides at the same time being pressed together so as to exclude the air from the interstices of the threads. The result is a homogeneous solid cane or cylinder, which, being cut at right angles, or laterally, yields a number of layers or copies of the same uniform design.

This process was practiced with great skill by the ancients, who are supposed to have produced pictures in this way; but in existing specimens the pieces have been so accurately united, by intense heat or otherwise, that the junctures cannot be discovered by even a powerful magnifying glass.

How Parishes Originated

The Florida parishes formerly comprised a part of western Florida. In 1810 200 men, headed by Gen. Philemon Thomas, marched against Baton Rouge, then held by Spain, and were successful in obtaining control of the fort. They held a meeting and formed what they called the free and independent state of western Florida. They immediately notified the president of the United States of their act, stating that they would like to be admitted to the Union, provided their freedom was guaranteed. The United States government replied that the land that they occupied was a part of the Louisiana Purchase, and therefore, already belonged to the government. A force was dispatched to take over western Florida. Later, when Louisiana was admitted to the Union, the Florida parishes were made a part of the new state.

How Crescent Originated

The crescent on the Turkish flag was made the emblem of Byzantium after the siege of that city by Philip, father of Alexander the Great. A night attempt by the followers of Philip to undermine the walls of the city was revealed by the light of the crescent moon. In gratitude for this delivery Diana's symbol became the badge of the city. In 1453 Mahomet II captured the city and adopted the badge for the Ottoman empire.

How Did "Bible" Get Its Name

It is said this comes from the word bibulus, the name of a reed which grows in the marshes of Egypt. It was from the leaves of this reed that paper was manufactured for use in the making of books, and the word "Bible" meaning literally "book" gets its name from this reed.

Height of Orang-Utan

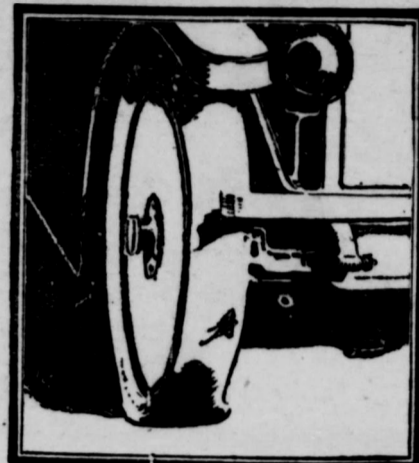

The orang-utan, the name being Malay for man of the woods, is shorter and broader than a man. The adult male stands about four feet high and sometimes weighs as much as 250 pounds.

"One weak spot and a whole new tire gone!"

The result of unseen "lumps" in the rubber

THE tread barely worn off—yet a blow-out ruins the entire shoe! What's the cause, you ask? You could actually see the answer to this question if you had samples of tire rubber under a microscope. In ordinary rubber compounds, the rubber does not mix smoothly and evenly with the necessary strengthening materials. "Lumps" are formed—every "lump" a weak spot that helps bring a blow-out like this some day. At last a rubber has been produced that reduces these "lumpy" formations to a minimum—that eliminates premature tire troubles. Four tire experts in the Thermoid Rubber Company discovered Crolide—an even-texture rubber that does not weaken with the stretching and straining that goes on inside a tire in use. Crolide Compound is today used exclusively in the manufacture of Thermoid and Rexoid Cord Tires. You are invited to call and see these tires for yourself—also the famous Crolide Compound Tubes.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Get Back Your Health as Other Weymouth Folks Have Done.

Too many people suffer from aching backs, distressing kidney disorders and rheumatic aches and pains. Often this is due to faulty kidney action and there's danger of hardened arteries, dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Don't let weak kidneys wear you out. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late! Doan's are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. Here is one of many cases in this locality.
Mrs. Emma Howes, practical nurse, 327 Commercial street, East Braintree, Mass., says: "I have used Doan's Pills for disordered kidneys and lame back. I have also recommended them to my patients and I have never heard of anyone not getting excellent benefit."

Almost four years later, Mrs. Howes said: "I use Doan's whenever my back and kidneys don't act right, and they always relieve me."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Howes had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement)

SPORTS

VICTORY FOR HINGHAM

The opening of the Weymouth-Hingham baseball game on Monday at the Clapp Memorial Field looked like a sure victory for Weymouth High, particularly as the home team scored four runs in the first two innings, and the visitors were unable to score for five innings. At the close of the eighth the score was 4 to 1 in favor of Weymouth.

But in the ninth a pinch hit by Jacobson brought in a run for Hingham which tied the score 4-4. Then Weymouth took the lead again with one run in the tenth, but Hingham went them one better and won 6-5.

Murphy and Reed were the battery for the victors and D'Allesandro and Murray for the losers.

The score by innings:
Hingham . . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 3 2-6
Weymouth . . 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 1-5
Runs made by O'Neill, Bryant, Gordon, Nisula, Jacobson, Reed, Mauro 2, Gilligan, Dorey, Kelly. Struck out by Murphy 10, by D'Allesandro 10. Umpire, O'Connell.

BLOOMER GIRLS DEFEATED

The Sandbank Boys got back at the Bloomer Girls at the Bicknell Square grounds on Monday and unmercifully beat them 20-9. The boys were credited with 15 hits and 4 errors, while the girls made 6 hits and 6 errors.

OTHER GAMES

The Mt. Pleasant A. C. was defeated at Weymouth on Sunday by the Quincy Point Tigers 8-4.

ANNUAL MEETING

Susannah Tufts chapter, D. A. R., of Weymouth held its annual meeting on Monday with Mrs. Alice P. Jewell. Reports were read by chairmen of different committees for the closing year. A paper written and read by Mrs. Jennie B. Worster at the 21st anniversary of the chapter in 1920 in which was given a resume of the chapter since its foundation in 1899 was read again at this meeting. It brought up many recollections and was much enjoyed. The following officers were chosen for the coming year.

For Regent—Mrs. L. Josephine Avery

First Vice Regent—Mrs. Caroline E. C. Saville

Second Vice Regent—Mrs. Blanche Spear

Recording secretary—Miss Harriette Nash

Corresponding secretary—Miss Annah Hayward

Treasurer—Mrs. Mary R. Walker

Registrar—Mrs. Lavonne E. Crane

Historian—Mrs. Nancy K. Wieting

Press correspondent—Mrs. Jennie B. Worster

Librarian—Mrs. Grace P. Walsh

Auditor—Mrs. Susan P. Thompson

Directors—Mrs. Harriet B. Voorhees, Mrs. Edith Brady, Miss Dora Cate.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jewell, assisted by Mrs. Emma Hall, Mrs. Harriet Bachelder and Mrs. Nancy Wieting. There was a good attendance.

W. R. C. NOTES

At the last regular meeting of Corps 102 the president initiated another candidate into full membership in our order. Committees were appointed to visit schools.

Tuesday the birthday committee met with Mrs. Brown.

Plans are being made to celebrate Flag Day on Tuesday, June 10. There will be a presentation of flags and the Boy Scouts and school children will be present to take part in the exercises.

HOLIDAY WEEK

Because of Memorial Day, the Gazette-Transcript was put to press this week on Thursday morning. The paper should reach all subscribers 24 hours in advance of the usual time.

AUTOS FOR GRAND ARMY

The Grand Army has not made its usual request for automobiles for Memorial Day, but nevertheless a few more machines may be needed at North Weymouth at 8 A. M. Friday, to make the tour of the town. They will be dismissed before 1.00 P. M.

PRIZE NEWSPAPERS

Among the Massachusetts editors at the annual convention of the N. E. A. in Oklahoma this month is Lemuel C. Hall, the ex-president of the Massachusetts Press Association, who has been awarded the third prize for perfection of editorial page, a signal honor for Bro. Hall and the Wareham Courier. The first prize was awarded to Frank Edgecomb, the blind editor of the Geneva (Neb.) Signal, and the second prize to L. D. Little of the Ada (Okla.) News. A loving cup was awarded to Charles H. Fogg of the Houlton (Me.) Times for community service.

MOVIES AT ORPHEUM

What police and social workers say is one of the finest motion picture stories of criminals ever screened comes to the Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, Saturday, May 31.

It is "White Tiger", a Universal-Jewel special production. The star is Priscilla Dean and the author-director Tod Browning, the same star-director combination responsible for that amazing underworld screen play of two or three years ago, "Outside the Law".

The Orpheum theatre, South Weymouth, June 5, will show "The Tents of Allah", an Encore picture in which Monte Blue and Mary Alden are costarred at the head of a splendid cast including Mary Thurman (in the role of Elaine Calvert), Frank Currier, Sally Crute, Macey Harlam, Martin Faust and Charles Lane.

Weymouth and East Braintree

—Henry Cleary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis H. Cleary of 71 Sterling street, is one of the seventeen Massachusetts cadets at the United States Military Academy at West Point who will receive diplomas from Secretary of War John W. Weeks June 12 entitling them to graduate as second lieutenants. His parents and other relatives will attend the exercises. Cadet Cleary was appointed to West Point by ex-Congressman Richard Olney.

—Paul Randlett of Lowell has been spending a few days with his father, Charles Randlett of Broad street.

—William P. Litchfield is spending a few days with relatives in his old home town of Scituate.

—The Men's Club of the First Universalist church held its last meeting of the season at Lincoln hall on Wednesday evening. The speaker was Rev. Clarence R. Skinner, D. D., of Tufts college, who spoke on "Prejudice what it is and what it does".

—Mrs. Henry S. Litchfield, Reta and Roy Litchfield are spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Frederick Norris in Brockton.

—A number of the friends of Miss Doris Remick tendered her a surprise miscellaneous shower at her home on Washington street Monday evening in honor of her engagement to William Duston of Canada which was recently announced.

—Susannah Tufts chapter, D. A. R., will hold its annual meeting with Mrs. Alice P. Jewell, 121 Webb street, Monday, May 26, at 2.30 o'clock.

—Weymouth banks will welcome your small accounts in case the recent ruling of the Boston banks proves a hardship.

MEETING OF SELECTMEN

The weekly meeting of the Board of Selectmen was held Monday afternoon. It was voted to call a special town meeting Monday evening, June 30, at the high school hall.

Victor's licenses were granted to Catherine C. Smith, 655 Washington street; Neil Stewart, 189 Randolph street; and Isabella Coughlin, 110 Lake street; A. Rahnell, 384 Bridge street.

Superintendent of Streets Irving Johnson, who is commander of Weymouth Post, American Legion, asked for $100 for Memorial Day expenses. It was voted that the sum be allowed the Legion from the $500 appropriated for Memorial Day.

A communication was received from H. O. Parker, district engineer of the Department of Public Works, regarding the widening on the south side of Bridge street.

The Lovell's Corner Improvement Association asked that a traffic officer be placed at that point every day in the week and that a red danger signal be suspended in the air at night. The Chief of Police states that there is to be a Beacon placed at that point, and an officer stationed there Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

It was voted to take up the jury list at the meeting June 9.

An invitation was received from the Massachusetts Forestry Association to attend the annual field day at Provincetown Saturday, May 31.

Joseph Jannell asked for a permit for a two-car garage at 323 Pond street. A hearing will be held.

A communication was received from Mrs. Alice Pierce Jewell requesting that the town remove the drain pipe on Webb street crossing her land as the land is to be filled up at that point.

A hearing was held on petition of Wilton A. Loud for a filling station on the land of Cassius Tirrell, Main street, South Weymouth. Charles S. Jackson and I. M. Brackett, abutters, appeared in opposition, and Wilton A. Loud, Minot P. Garey, and Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Tirrell in favor. The board voted unanimously to grant the permit.

Rev. Charles W. Allen, pastor of the First Baptist church; Miss Cora Graves of the standing committee of the church and Mrs. Harriet Field, an abutter, appeared before the board and asked that the permit granted Irving Bates for six private auto stalls on his land, 191-193 Washington street, be revoked. Mrs. Field had previously, as had one other abutter, asked that the permit be granted, and a protest was also received from the Weston estate when the permit was granted, no one appeared in opposition. It was voted to suspend the permit to June 9 when Mr. Bates will be given a hearing in the matter.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Willie E. French, executor under the will of his mother, MRS. French, and administrator of the estate of his father, Edward A. French, and Parilla G. French, wife of said Willie E. French, to Abraham M. Wolfman, dated December 27, 1923, and recorded with Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Book 1582, Page 276, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction at eleven o'clock A. M. on the twenty-third day of June, A. D. 1924, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

"A certain lot of land in the Town of Weymouth, containing thirty-seven (37) square rods, be the same more or less, which is bounded as follows, viz. Westerly by Commercial Street, Seventy-eight (78) feet; Northerly about one hundred twenty-five (125) feet to a stake, on a road leading from Commercial Street past the dwelling house now or formerly of Jonathan Holmes; Easterly on land now or late of John P. Lovell, about seventy-nine (79) feet to a stake; thence Southerly one hundred thirty (130) feet on a road (forty feet wide) leading from Commercial Street to what is now or was formerly the East Weymouth Depot of the South Shore Railroad. Being the same premises conveyed by warranty deed of John P. Lovell to Jacob French, dated November 12, 1893, recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 229, Page 191. Subject to two (2) mortgages to Clara A. Hunt on which there is now due not over $2171 (twenty-one hundred seventy-one dollars)."

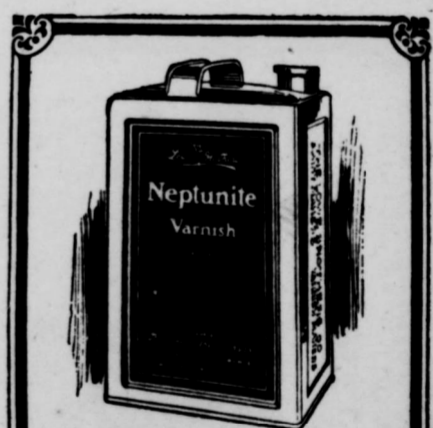

"For evidence of title see the following Probate Records for Norfolk County:—(1) Case No. 7408—Estate of Jacob French, grandfather of said Willie; (2) Case No. 23,625—Estate of Lucinda B. French, grandmother of said Willie; (3) Case No. 56,942—Estate of Edward A. French, father of said Willie; and (4) Case No. 58,128—Estate of Mary C. French, mother of said Willie. The above mentioned two prior mortgages were given by said Lucinda B. French to Joseph Totman, one being dated March 4, 1875, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 464, Page 226, and the other being dated December 5, 1877, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 495, Page 237. Said Clara A. Hunt is assignee and present holder of said two prior mortgages by instrument dated September 13, 1906, from Almon B. Raymond, Trustee, recorded with said Deeds, Book 1038, Page 209." The premises will be sold subject to the two mortgages above mentioned, and also subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments and municipal or town liens. Two hundred (200) dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance in ten days from the date of sale. Other terms and conditions of sale to be stated by the auctioneer.

ABRAHAM M. WOLFMAN,
Present holder of said mortgage,
7 Water St., Boston, Mass.

The Flowers of Memory

WILLIAM HERSCHELL

COULD they but make us hear the voice
They speak in, they would say
Forget war's fury and rejoice—
Live with the flowers today!

Spring blossoms in a country lane,
Or by a city door,
Are messengers of joy, not pain,
To soldiers gone before.

Each Maytime bud, each tender slip,
To them are living flowers
That form a Memory-comradeship
Between their lives and ours!

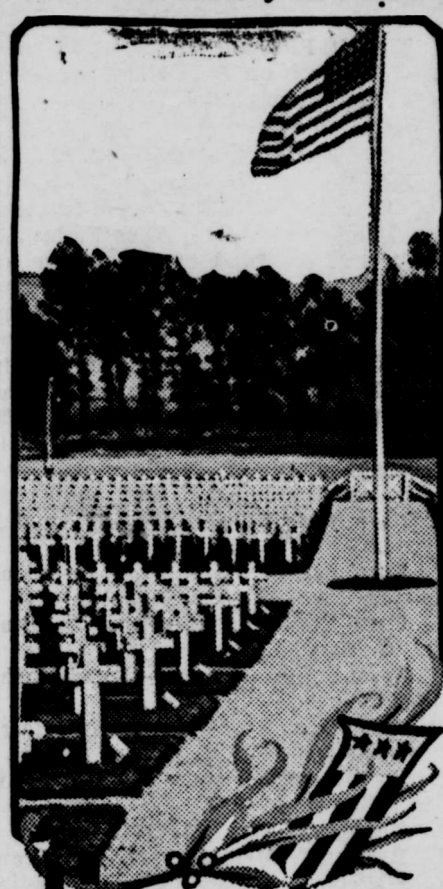

There is no death where there is life,
There is no death, I say,
Where Memory, freed of war and strife,
Lives in the blossoms of May.

The flowers we lay upon the beds
Of martial men asleep,
Are as a glory-light that sheds
A smile where we would weep.

The peace they know is far too sweet
For us to break with tears;
They hear no more the drum's wild beat,
Nor face tumultuous years.

Part of an American Cemetery in France

American cemetery near Fere-en-Tardenois, France, where graves will be remembered this year, as in the past, and for which funds have been raised by the American Legion.

MEMORIALS ERECTED TO SHILOH HEROES

Monuments or Tablets Represent Organizations.

WITH a few exceptions all the states that had soldiers in the Shiloh battle have erected monuments or tablets representing the several organizations, located on parts of the field where they were principally engaged. Some states, notably Iowa, have erected one monument representing all the troops from that state.

One of the places of interest to visitors in Shiloh park is the peach orchard, where some of the hardest fighting occurred. Here is where the Union forces held their lines against Confederates for some time before they had to give way. Here is where Gen. Albert Sydney Johnson, commander in chief of the Confederates, rode to the front to urge a general charge when he fell mortally wounded. Nearby is a monument marking the place where he fell; within a few yards is the large oak tree where he was laid; the tree is now enclosed with a high iron picket fence. A short distance away is the spring to which he was carried and where he died in about fifteen minutes after he was wounded.

The finest exhibit of sculpture and art on the ground is the monument or memorial erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy, costing $65,000. It is a design something in the nature of a pageant—a large structure of marble with figures in bronze, intended to represent the joyful anticipation of the Confederates as they went into the battle, and on the other side the gloom and grief at their defeat, with the loss of their commander in chief and thousands of friends killed in battle.
Whether this is the interpretation the artist designed to give, it is one that is readily suggested to the casual visitor. It is a picture that appeals alike to the emotions of vanquished and victor, reminding of the grief and sorrow resulting from the sacrifice on Shiloh field.—Indianapolis Star.

The Characters of Men

"I love to believe," said James A.
Garfield in a Memorial Day address at Arlington, "that no heroic sacrifice is ever lost, that the characters of men are molded and inspired by what their fathers have done."

Popular Poem Is to Blue and Gray

New York Attorney Gained Fame by Tender Tribute to Fallen Heroes.

POETS in many lands have reaped public as well as literary honors, but New York state furnishes the isolated instances of a poem which not only made an upstate lawyer famous, but was the direct means of elevating him to a seat on the bench of the highest tribunal in the state.

The lawyer was Francis M. Finch.
The poem was "The Blue and the Gray." The place attained by the author was judge of the Court of Appeals.

With the recurrence of Decoration
Day there is a revival of popular interest in the poem which may be said to have foreshadowed it, beginning:

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the fleets of iron have fled;
When the blades of grave grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead.

Two years before Decoration day became a holiday, the poem which inspired it, "The Blue and the Gray," was written by Mr. Finch, then forty years old, and living in Ithaca, on the shores of Lake Cayuga. That was in 1867, two years after the close of the Civil war. The author had been international revenue collector, but, tiring of official life, he became interested in Cornell university.

The close of the Civil war found both sections of the United States eager and craving for peace. In many pulpits the favorite text was the words from Micah: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

But there were many empty chairs at family firesides, many missing faces at the family board, and widows and orphans everywhere told the story of four years of strife, the bitter recollections of which could not be appeased by pleasant words or speeches counseling moderation and forgiveness.

Mr. Finch (unconsciously, he afterward said) struck the popular chord and keynote of reconciliation by appeal to the memory of the dead in "The Blue and the Gray," published in the Atlantic Monthly. A national convention had been held in Philadelphia to promote the appeasement of the two sections, and northern and southern men (South Carolina and Massachusetts delegates), walking arm in arm, had typified, or attempted to typify, the general spirit of renewed patriotic comradeship.

A Memorial Day, dedicated to forgetfulness of the wounds of war and to redecorating the graves of the fallen with flowers, at first was observed in the various states at different times, but usage soon settled upon May 30, which has been made a legal holiday in most of the states. This day was chosen because it was the date of the discharge of the last soldier in the Union army in the Civil war, which ended officially not with the cessation of hostilities, but with the mustering out of the last volunteer soldier on
May 30, 1866.

The concluding words of "The Blue and the Gray" are, perhaps, the ones best remembered:

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray.

Although Mr. Finch became a professor at Cornell after having been a lawyer of some note and an office holder in the federal services, to the public, he was known almost solely as the author of "The Blue and the Gray." When, some years later, there was a vacancy on the Court of Appeals bench he was nominated for it and elected. His term expired in 1896. He died in Ithaca in 1907.—New York Times.

Gettysburg Cemetery
Where 979 Unknown Lie

The little slabs shown here, and on which no names are graven, are mute evidence of the fact that 979 of the 5,663 brave men who gave up their lives in the greatest battle of the Civil war, went to graves unknown. They lie in the shadow of the monument that marks the spot where Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg speech at the dedication of the cemetery in 1863.

Stamps Stamps IN YOUR ATTIC

Stamps worth many dollars and cents are many times found in forgotten places.

I want to buy all the old stamps which you may have. Especially are wanted old envelopes and papers with United States and foreign postage stamps on. Also encased stamps, stamp albums, and accumulations of stamps.

In such places as your attic, stored away in old trunks, bureaus, and old chests, might be just what I am looking for.

I am taking this means of completing my private collection. In many cases I require hundreds of stamps of the same issue.

If you have but a few or hundreds, write and I shall call and pay the highest cash price.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The auditorium of the Second Universalist church, South Weymouth, last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock was the scene of an inspiring patriotic service. The chancel and choir loft and entire front of the church was decorated beautifully with the national colors. The comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, together with representatives from the American Legion Post, No. 73, of Weymouth, the Ladies Auxiliary and the auxiliaries and allied patriotic bodies were in attendance.

The service was conducted by the Rev. William Dawes Veazie, pastor of the church. He preached from the text, "There is no discharge from war."
The Rev. F. A. Poole, pastor of the Union Congregational church, offered prayer and pronounced the benediction.
Beautiful musical arrangements contributed much to the impressiveness of the service.

DAY OF FIRES

The members of the local fire department were some busy last Saturday afternoon. In fact the whole town department was on the jump.
The local men were fighting a big fire in the woods at Lovell's Corner together with the East and South Weymouth departments when a call came in for a big fire in the woods on the common in the rear of the laboratory of E. S. Hunt & Sons Inc.
"Chet" Foster rang up the North
Weymouth department which responded quickly, but it was several hours of hard work before the fire was out. There was a gale blowing at the time and the flames spread rapidly at one time coming very near the Hunt plant and also to houses in that vicinity.

JULIA SOPHIE LOUD

Julia Sophie (Schule) Loud, wife of Rev. Oliver B. Loud, minister of the Forest Street Union church, Methuen, passed to her reward at the parsonage Tuesday, May 13, after an illness of several months.

She was born in Elk Grove, Ill., on
Jan. 29, 1876, daughter of the late Dr.
Frederick William Schule and Sophie Henriette Marie (Kirchoff) Schule, and was married at Lawton, Oklahoma Territory, in the First Congregational church, where Mr. Loud was minister, July 5, 1906.

She became the devoted mother of four children; Margaret Helen, who died in Oklahoma, Frederick Vickery, Oliver Schule, and Marjorie Alice, who survive her.

Mrs. Loud was a sensitive, gifted and forceful Christian character.

Trained as a musician and kindergarten teacher in Chicago, where she was an active worker in the church, she early entertained the desire to become a foreign missionary, but found her opportunity for Christian service as the wife of a minister in home missionary fields at Lawton, Oklahoma, and Vernal, Utah, and later by assisting her husband in his work in the churches at Mittineague and Methuen, Mass.

Motherhood was also one of her ideals and from time her children entered school she continued working with them as they advanced through the grades until when her three children had all entered the Methuen High school she found herself a teacher there with them. She was also superintendent of the Church School where they attended. Her work will continue in her children.

Besides her husband and children
she is survived by two sisters, Mrs.
Julius Schnoor of Chicago and Mrs.
G. K. Malcolm of Philadelphia. Also three brothers, Frederick W.
Schule of Bloomfield, N. J.; Major
Paul A. Schule of Washington, D. C., and Hugo A. Schule of Chicago.

This musicale is presented by the Primary children of the Sunday School for the benefit of its Library Fund.

—Sour milk and buttermilk can be used with soda in making hot breads or sour milk can be turned easily into cottage cheese, cream cheese or clab-ber.

—Thin the vegetables while they are small; thick sowings are likely to mean spindly plants.

—Iowa farmers have spent as much for tiled drainage as the cost of the Panama Canal; it may be profitable on your farm.

—In storing winter clothes, put everything away clean and wrap and label the packages.

—Uncle Ab says he believes in cooperation because he isn't much of a singer by himself, but he can raise quite a lot of sound when other folks help carry the tune.

Marketing is the most pressing food problem before the people of New England at the present hour. Only high grade products, economically produced, can meet competition on the markets and return a fair profit to the growers year by year.

Try this recipe for Citrus Marma-lade. Use 4 large oranges, 2 grapefruit, 2 lemons. Wash, quarter, remove seeds and slice thinly, or run through a food chopper using the coarse cutter. Add 6 qts water and boil for 15 minutes. Let stand 10 hours. Again boil for 15 minutes.

Add 4 lbs sugar and boil to jelly test.
Pour into jars or glasses and seal, or when cold cover with paraffin.

—That neglected woodlot, if cleared of crooked, defective, and weedy trees may sometime return a good profit.

—Aunt Ada's Axioms Of course we fall short of what we ought to be;
but we aren't wholly lost as long as we realize that fact.
